THE NORTH JERSEY COAST.

WARM ENOUGH FOR EVERYBODY AT LONG BRANCH—ALL READY FOR HORSE SHOW.

Long Branch, N. J., July 20 (Special).—Nobody complained to-day about the weather being too cool, not even the bathing masters. It was warm inland, yet there was a breeze on the ocean...

The opening exercises of Temple Israel this afternoon attracted many people. The exercises began at 3 o'clock. Edward Deane, pastor of the synagogue, will deliver a sermon...

BATHING RECORDS BROKEN—VIOLATORS OF SPEED LAW TO BE LOCKED UP.

Asbury Park, N. J., July 20 (Special).—All former bathing records were broken this morning at "Fountain" Bradley's several bathing establishments. FIGHTING MOSQUITOES.

THE WORK ON LONG ISLAND—HOPES OF GETTING RID OF THE PESTS.

Oyster Bay, Long Island, July 20 (Special).—Long Island is at last beginning to rid itself of mosquitoes. Hitherto many places of exceeding beauty have been practically blackened because of this pest. Whole stretches of magnificent shore and drives through charming woodlands have been almost unendurable owing to the prevalence of the mosquito.

But, fortunately, Long Island is not generally infested. There are only certain neighborhoods where the mosquito thrives in great abundance, and it is hoped the day is soon to come when even these places will be free and the whole island rid of the insect.

There were several driving parties out. Some of them went to Tokeham, outside of Paradise, while some went to Henryville, Peconic Knob, Tannersville and Knob Hill Park.

Yesterday's trains brought up a number of new people. Little use if nothing but the publishing of great reports and maps were the result. But, in the case of the mosquito, practical results have been effected, and the reports have been designed as guides rather than literary compilations on an interesting subject. It cannot be expected that extermination will be immediate and far reaching. The expense of the work has to be taken into consideration, and though in private property the cost and labor of destroying breeding places is small, there must be some appropriation from the public funds for the proper drainage or diking of the broad salt marshes. Public sentiment must accordingly be aroused. Some time must elapse before the work on a large plan can be begun for there are still many doubtful ones who are not convinced of the value of the work, which has been done by their grandfathers' lives as well as of their own, can be exterminated. Others are inclined to believe the work is a waste of money, and that the work is talked of. Still others back all that the investigators say, and follow out their instructions of their own lands, with the result that they have been greatly relieved. Indeed, it is safe to say that where the most enlightened methods have been followed, the mosquito has been effectively checked. It is so in Cold Spring Harbor, in the vicinity of the Brookhaven School, in the vicinity of Centre Island, and Lloyd's Neck. It is so where private individuals have undertaken to follow out the instructions of the scientists and destroy every place on their property where mosquitoes have a chance to breed.

THOUGHT HIM A SINGER.

"My! Ain't this just like a king's palace!" whispered an awkward little fellow at the Grand Central Station yesterday, as he gazed from the marble floor to the lofty ceiling of the big waiting room.

"Huh!" contemptuously retorted one of his small companions, with the pride of greater knowledge and experience, "this ain't no king's palace, it's just a waiting room."

"Sure it is," he added, as if to reassure himself. The two youngsters were part of a Tribune Fresh Air band of twenty boys from the upper West Side bound for Avalon Beach, Vt., on Lake Bomoseen, where they will join the summer camp of the Rutland Young Men's Christian Association.

When the announcer appeared in the waiting room and began to call out the trains in resonant tones the little East Siders were filled with admiration. Without a moment's hesitation or doubt one diminutive fellow turned to another and said: "Oh! ain't this fine? They have him, sing here."

The rest agreed, and the little fellow performed without surprise and listened with interest until the solo was finished.

The junior members of the Rutland (Conn.) Young Men's Christian Association establish a camp each year, and in the delightful open air, where boating, swimming, fishing and all the other recreances of the summer are enjoyed, they spend the summer months. They have invited a party of the Tribune Fresh Air children from the hot streets of the city to make stays of a fortnight with them.

Readers of the Tribune will be interested to learn of the quick response which followed the publication of a pathetic little incident a few days ago. Three boys from the city were invited to go to the camp of the Rutland Young Men's Christian Association, and with the first party came a little fellow all ready to go, but for whom there was no place. He had come on the chance of some of the party being missing. Two of his small brothers were in the party, and this little fellow longed so wistfully for a chance to spend two weeks in the country that he was willing to get ready and go at any moment.

Seeing the parties leave, each filled to the exact number of invitations from the country for them. On the last party, late at night, his chance came, but just as they started to file out to the train the missing youngsters appeared, and the disappointed little fellow had to go home with a heavy heart.

He had a letter from the Tribune Fresh Air Fund Office, and out of it fell the clipping from the Tribune. The letter read: "Gypsy Wylid, Big Indian, Ulster County, N. Y. Tribune Fresh Air
