AMBULANCE RUNS DOWN A MAN. HE IS PUT IN THE VEHICLE AND TAKEN TO THE HOSPITAL. While an ambulance of the New-York Hospital was returning to the institution last night with a patient, it ran down at Twenty-second-st. and a man, Edward O'Hara, an inspector for the Interurban Railway Company, who was crossing the street, and in endeavoring to get out of the way of a carriage stepped in front of the ambulance. Dr. Barrington, who was in the ambulance, found that O'Hara's left ankle was fractured and that he had sustained numerous contusions. He was taken to the hospital.

THE PASSING THROUG.

The death by drowning last week of the Rev. Edward L. Atkinson, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, in this city, has probably caused more widespread grief in Springfield and in Boston than at any other time here, because Mr. Atkinson had recently come here. "But I Springfield, yesterday, that if Mr. Atkinson had been known and loved in a far broader circle than that of his own church. He was in Springfield when he went to Boston, in the same city where his brother made the epiphany, and where he had his appointment as United States Superintendent of Education in the Philippines. In Boston he was well known to the members of the Epiphany Church, for five years, only a few blocks removed from the church where Father Brent labored before the appointment of the Rev. Atkinson. The church, missionary in its character, required peculiar ability, and the qualities in Mr. Atkinson were such that he was highly respected. He was brought out strongly. He was still a young man, and would, I am sure, have made a reputation in New-York, who knew him, an equally sure, will present as a cruel injustice the theory of suicide that has been advanced in some sources.

Archbishop Riordan, of San Francisco, who sailed on the Celtic yesterday, en route for The Hague, had been spending a few days at ARCHBISHOP Riordan's priests' house, at Madison Riordan's ave. and Fifty-first-st. Briefly, my mission to the Hague is to represent the accounts," said the Archbishop before sailing. "Garret McEnerny, as legal adviser, and myself are to appear before the International Court at The Hague in the claim we have brought against Mexico for the payment of the interest on California's Pious Fund, which was established by certain pious people to further the Jesuit mission work in what is now roughly speaking, New-Mexico and California. After the expulsion of the Jesuits the fund was administered by the crown through the Franciscans till Mexico won her independence. Then Mexico took over the fund. In 1821 she sold the province of Upper California to the United States, however, this payment was stopped. In 1848 was paid over by Mexico, after a suit and a decision in the Church's favor made by Sir Edward Thornton's similar. But Mexico has paid nothing since. The present suit is similar to that last one involving a sum of a million dollars. The fifth will be chosen at The Hague. Of course, the sum is considerably larger and the decision will mean much for our work in California."

SAID TO BE BEBER R. BISHOP'S GIFT. HIS FAMOUS COLLECTION OF JADES IT IS REPORTED. WILL GO TO MUSEUM OF ART. It is reported in art circles that the gift to the Metropolitan Museum of Art, which has been attracting attention, is the collection of Jades of Heber R. Bishop. Mr. Bishop, who is a trustee of the museum, is now in Europe. His collection is an extremely fine one; the minerals are beautifully shaded and delicately carved. Experts value it at more than $200,000, and say it is probably the finest collection in the world. Mr. Bishop's secretary was quoted yesterday as saying that Mr. Bishop's intention of giving the Jades to the museum was known, but that this announcement was premature.
