UP TO DATE FESTIVAL.

MANY NOVEL ATTRACTIONS AT PASCAL BAZAAR—TO BE HELD AGAIN THIS AFTERNOON AND EVENING.

The good old fashioned snowstorm that ushered in the gay and up to date "snow festival" of the Pascal Institute, which opened yesterday afternoon in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria, delayed some of the arrangements, but did not deter any interested friends.

The cushion booth, at which Miss Pascal herself and her assistants are busy, is a very attractive feature. It holds everything imaginable in the way of cushions, fairy, billowy things of chiffon and floss and stout, serviceable crash covered affairs.

There is a flag "on chance" for the most popular college, and at last accounts Columbia was far in the lead. The number of young girls about the center of the bazaar is noticeable. Dolls, of course, are everywhere; scarcely a booth is without its battalion.

SHUT-IN SOCIETY'S BAZAAR.

From all over the United States, and even Canada, members of the Shut-In Society, whose silver anniversary fête at the Waldorf-Astoria closed yesterday afternoon, had sent their work to be seen by the many New-Yorkers interested in this philanthropy.

The Meriden Silver Company Silversmiths. Not content with fighting intemperance, the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union is trying, through its non-alcoholic department, to arouse public sentiment against the drug habit.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE OPPOSED.

THOSE FIGHTING TO KEEP THE BALLOT FROM WOMEN ENCOURAGED AT OUTLOOK.

There has been much in the last year to encourage those New-York women who view with favor the claims of woman suffrage. Judge by the annual report of the executive committee of the New-York State Association Opposed to the Extension of Suffrage to Women, which was read yesterday at the annual meeting of the standing committee at the house of Mrs. Gilbert E. Jones, No. 222 Madison-ave.

"There is no doubt that the majority of women are either opposed or indifferent to the extension of the suffrage," says the report, "but in reviewing the work of the seven years of its existence we cannot fail to congratulate ourselves that the arguments we base our position upon have succeeded in bringing the whole question of woman suffrage into the field of intelligent discussion.

"The old Revolutionary cry of 'Taxation without representation' sounds the first note of the first suffrage manifesto, without regard to the fact that in this republic women already had far more representation than their forefathers had as members of the Colonies.

PLEA FOR NATIONAL THEATRE.

MR. CONRIED MAKES INTERESTING ADDRESS AT UNITARIAN WOMEN'S LEAGUE.

At the New-York League of Unitarian Women, which met yesterday at the Second Unitarian Church, of Brooklyn, Hedrick Conried, director of the Irving Place Theatre, advocated the establishment here of a national theatre. Mr. Conried began with an interesting account of the Burg Theatre, in Vienna, which, he said, is the finest national theatre in the world.

He bespoke the help of the women present to start a chapter in Brooklyn. Later in the meeting Mr. Conried spoke again, this time in explanation of a scheme that he has been advocating for years, by which the Actors' Fund would be substantially benefited.

GIRLS AND THEIR SPEAKING VOICES.

"How many girls ever give thought to the pitch and timbre of their voices?" asks "Harper's Bazaar." "Straight figures, good complexion, an easy, supple carriage, white teeth and well kept hair and nails are all deservedly striven for—why not an agreeable voice? A girl can do much to compensate what may seem a naturally bad voice.

There is at once joy and sorrow in the household of Haber, at No. 48 Clinton-st., for Mrs. Becky Haber gave birth on Thursday afternoon to triplets, three bouncing baby girls, weighing four, four and a half and six pounds respectively, and the family is almost destitute.

In response to a message sent to The Tribune by a kindly neighbor a reporter visited the Habers. He found the mother, Mrs. Becky Haber, in bed. Each of the three babies was wrapped tightly in a small blanket, with only its little face exposed.

CONCHA AND THE CANAL.

NEGOTIATIONS OBSTRUCTED BY THE MINISTER.

RAPID PROGRESS EXPECTED NOW THAT MR. HERRAN IS IN CHARGE AT THE COLOMBIAN LEGATION.

Washington, Dec. 5.—The passing of Señor Concha, the Colombian Minister, it is confidently believed, will expedite the progress of Panama Canal negotiations. Señor Concha has been steadily in the pathway of progress. Secretary Herran, now in charge of the Colombian Legation, is known to have been at variance with his chief on various points, and as soon as he has full charge of affairs the officials of the State Department are confident that progress will be assured.

Señor Concha's statement, printed in Thursday's Tribune, that he had not been removed and had not empowered Mr. Herran to proceed with negotiations, fully, literally true, does not explain the situation fully. No sooner had he obtained a leave of absence and left Washington for New-York than the Colombian Government sent word to Mr. Herran to take charge, and expressly directed him to continue the negotiations.

GETS $10,000 FOR LOSS OF AN EYE.

Ten thousand dollars is the value of an eye, according to the verdict for damages awarded by a jury in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday. The verdict was rendered in favor of Frederick H. Dittman was employed in the company's power house, in East Eighth-st., Manhattan, when a piece of the belt struck Dittman in the face, destroying the sight of his right eye.
