SOCIAL NOTES FROM NEWPORT. [BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Newport, R. I., July 13.—It was decidedly gay in Newport to-day. There were many luncheons and dinners, and the number of cards sent out for affairs indicate that it will continue to be gay here for the remainder of the week.

This morning the cottagers interested in the establishment of a sporting park in Newport met and elected the following officers: President, F. P. Carrington; first vice-president, Reginald C. Vanderbilt; second vice-president, W. B. Hunter; secretary, J. S. Milne; treasurer, T. P. Peckham; advisory board, E. K. Sturgis, Center Hitchcock, Hamilton Fish Webster, Egerton L. Winthrop, Jr., Alfred G. Vanderbilt, Clarence W. Dehn, Henry F. Eldridge and F. M. Ware.

Among the social affairs to-day were luncheons given by Lispenard Stewart, Mrs. C. P. H. Gilbert, in honor of her daughter, who as yet has not been introduced to society; Mrs. Shirley Erving and William Hoffman, the last named being the son of Sir Archibald and Lady Edmonstone, of London, who have been spending a few days in Newport. This evening Atherton Blight gave a dinner in their honor, and they started for New-York late in the evening.
