

PRIMATE AT FANEUIL HALL. OLNEY AND ELIOT SPEAK.

Historic Building Crowded—Episcopal Convention Proceedings. Boston, Oct. 7.—Many citizens of Boston attended a reception to the Archbishop of Canterbury at Faneuil Hall this afternoon.

I beg leave to venture the suggestion that there is one subject upon which our distinguished countrymen cannot appear to the American people too often or too urgently. The supreme interest of this country is peace.

That God's most perfect instrument working in the world is the human mind, and that the mind is the greatest of all gifts, and that the mind is the greatest of all gifts, and that the mind is the greatest of all gifts.

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME FOR PRIMATE. The Archbishop received an enthusiastic welcome. When he could make himself heard he said:

I thank you and the distinguished speakers who preceded me for the cordiality of this greeting. I thank you for the cordiality of this greeting. I thank you for the cordiality of this greeting.

Referring to the famous buildings of the world, the Primate said that few could show a prouder record or have felt the glory of liberty in its largest sense like Faneuil Hall.

In closing the Archbishop said: "I never can forget what you have done for me this day."

FUNERAL OF H. PAYNE. Official Washington Largely Represented—Body Goes to Milwaukee.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Although it was an official funeral, the services in St. John's Church to-day over the body of Postmaster General Henry C. Payne were simple.

At 10 o'clock this morning, an hour before the services began, mounted policemen were ranged along the sidewalks to keep the throngs from entering the church.

At 10 o'clock the President and Mrs. Roosevelt arrived at the south transept door, where they were met by Major Charles McCawley, of the marine corps, who had charge of the services, and the ushers, and assigned to seats.

The funeral party arrived a few minutes later and was met at the door by the Rev. Roland Cotton Smith, rector of St. John's, and his assistant.

MANY WITH DR. CARTER. Presbyterian Clergymen Write to Express Their Sympathy.

The Rev. Dr. Samuel T. Carter, who recently sent to the Presbytery of Nassau, of which for many years he has been a member, a letter attacking the whole scholastic theology and the Calvinistic system that is built upon it, returned from a trip to the Adirondacks yesterday to his home, No. 33 West Eighty-second-st.

In a talk with a Tribune reporter Dr. Carter said that he was accountable for his letter only to Tuesday morning at Northport, Long Island. This presbytery covers the whole middle of Long Island, between Brooklyn and the east end.

Dr. Carter said, however, that he had many friends in the Presbytery of Nassau who sympathized with him in his views and in the position he had taken. He did not feel at liberty to disclose the names of these Presbyterians.

Dr. Carter continued: I have long thought that I should do what I could to help the cause of the oppressed. I have long thought that I should do what I could to help the cause of the oppressed.

LADY CURZON WORSE. Physicians Return to Walmer Castle on Special Trains.

London, Oct. 7.—At midnight the condition of Lady Curzon was grave. The patient shows no improvement.

Dr. Chapman and Cheyne returned to-day to the castle on special trains from London. The bulletin issued at 10:25 this morning at Walmer Castle said:

Lady Curzon's condition during the last week has been one of cause renewed anxiety, and the London doctors have remained in attendance. Her ladyship is not at all without danger, but slow progress is being made, and if no further complications ensue, there is good hope of her ultimate recovery.

Members of the Stanhope-Wheatcroft Dramatic School gave a matinee at the Garrick yesterday, presenting four one act plays—an adaptation from Shakespeare by Sydney Grundy, "Hortensia," a new play by W. S. Arnold; a farce by Maurice Huggins, and a comedy called "Love in Idleness," by Evangeline M. Lent.

Charles Hartley will revive Richard Gannoth's comedy, "A Message from the Past," on Tuesday evening, October 18, at the Prince of Wales Theatre. It was arranged yesterday between Mr. Hartley's representative and the Messrs. Shubert, after the latter had found themselves unable to cancel Keceley and Shannon's engagement in Philadelphia, and therefore unable to bring "Taps" back to New-York before December.

SIR H. VINCENT PRAISES METHODS. Colonel Sir Howard Vincent, who will sail for home to-day on the Campania, has spent the last few weeks in an extended observation of our public institutions. He is the author of several bills restricting immigration which he has introduced into the English Parliament. Yesterday he visited Ellis Island.

I was greatly impressed with the system, cleanliness and smooth working of every part of Ellis Island. It is a wonderful institution, and it is marvellous how you handle such large numbers in such a short time without confusion.
