ABRAHAM AND STRAUS
BROOKLYN.
We never have permitted and never will permit any one to undersell us or successfully to dispute our supremacy in any branch of our business.

Women's Distinctive Tailored Wear.
Style, Variety, Economy.

The greatest collection of unusual values we have had for some time—a distinguished gathering of fresh Autumn styles. There is a snap, a sort of jaunty about them that makes one feel well dressed to look at them.

Walking Suits at $11.95.
150 Suits—materials are black, navy and brown, plain chevrons and fancy mixtures in great variety, short walking coat with belt, three-quarter coat with tight or loose back, mostly lined with satin or taffeta, entirely new styles. Full sleeves. Skirts are seven and nine gore with full bottom, excellently tailored, sizes 32 to 42 in the collection. To see them is to buy them. We have a superb collection of Suits in various styles and materials at $19.75, $24.75, $29.75, much below actual value.

Our Velvet and Walking Suits have won the praise of fashion critics for variety of style, general excellence and value.
$32.50, $39.75 and $44.50 up to $98.00
Second floor, front, Central Building.

The Pedestrian Skirts have led in values the season through; the newest styles . . . $4.95, $5.50, $6.75 up to $14.75
And the greatest bargain of the season in the skirt line
500 Pedestrian Skirts of black, navy blue and Oxford gray melton cloth—excellent quality, made full, seven gore with full plaits, finished with buttons, regular value $3.00, at . . . $1.75
In Rain Coats we have the finest collection in the city. We invite comparison at prices named and to-morrow for two enticing items:
Rain Coats of Oxford and tan tweeds, collarless, with belt, and finished with buttons or with single cape and buttons . . . $8.98
A smart Rain Coat of excellent quality, Oxford gray, tan and olive, two styles, collarless with plaited back and belt, or with double cape, both trimmed with small buttons, excellent value at . . . $14.75

$1.35 Zibeline Suitings, Stylish Patterns, 69c. Yd.

A purchase of over 6,000 yards of Zibeline Suitings from one of the best known American manufacturers. These goods were woven for the most critical trade, and are absolutely perfect in weave and coloring. They are 64 inches wide (a yard and a half) and come in very stylish striped patterns, in rich, subdued colorings. For tailored suits and skirts they are attractive and serviceable, and only a surplus production made the little price possible. They were $1.35 and are now 69c. a yard.

Autumn Dress Stuffs—Rarely Beautiful Colorings.

A surprising and surprising show—the startling change from the prosaic colors of past seasons. Dame Nature has touched the trees and foliage with her magic wand and rich colors tell of the glory of Autumn. Dame Fashion has issued her decrees and the makers of the new season's materials have produced a wonderfully resembling newer ending series of hues. The showing here is unsurpassed by any store in America.

Foreign and American Broadcloths and Venetian Cloths are shown in the leather and mahogany shades, also in the new wood browns. A special showing Monday of the materials of which the Paris tailor made gowns for Fall are constructed. Smooth surface, checked patterns mostly, and all other desired fabrics. A characteristic showing of the new American Suitings for Fall wear. 50 inch American Broadcloths, fine quality of wool, and one of the season's most desired materials. The leather and mahogany shades.

Wool Crepe Albatross, Dainty Colors, 29c. a Yard.
Another welcome sale of this favorite fabric at 29c. a yard. Cream, and about thirty shades, including the dainty colors for evening and house gowns, in pretty tones of brown and blue for children's dresses.

BROOKLYN NEWS

GOSSIP OF THE BOROUGH.

Mrs. James's Ability as a Mountain Climber—Campaign Stories.

Mrs. Darwin R. James, of No. 225 Gates-ave., who is well known in church and women's work rationally, is an enthusiastic mountain climber, despite her seventy or more years. Last summer Mrs. James was at Government, on Belle Air Mountain, in West Virginia. One day a party of about fifteen was organized to climb to the summit of Slide Mountain, which is 4,220 feet above the sea level, and is the highest peak in the Catskills. The distance to the top is four miles by a circuitous and difficult path. Part way up is Wind-sock Lake, near which Judge Parker has a forest lodge. Members of the climbing party who did not know Mrs. James's reputation as a mountain climber were surprised when she suggested that she join them. Long before the top was reached their surprise was turned to astonishment at the marvelous vigor shown by her companion. Indeed, Mrs. James was the first woman in the party to reach the top, and she was not so tired but that she was able to walk around and take a few pictures. In some respects Mrs. James's mountain climbing is even more trying than the ascent, but Mrs. James accompanied the party back to the hotel on foot, and on reaching there was fresher than a majority of her companions, all of whom were young people. Mrs. James has traveled extensively with her husband, who is an importer of goods and a well known figure in the financial world in Manhattan. She began mountain climbing many years ago and has ascended some of the highest peaks of the Alps and other European mountains. It is to her love of outdoor exercise that she attributes a large share of her excellent health.

BROOKLYN SOCIAL WORLD.

The Week's Weddings, Engagements and Amusements.

Felsenheim Chapel, St. Hubert's in the Adirondacks, was the scene last Thursday of the wedding of Miss Natalie Coffin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sturris Coffin, of No. 39 Columbia Heights, and John W. de Forest, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. de Forest, of Manhattan. Miss Coffin wore an imported gown of embroidered muslin. The maid of honor was Miss Ethel de Forest, and the bridesmaids were Miss Frances Dana, of Boston; Miss Reed, of Yonkers; Miss Anna E. Matheson and Miss Margaret D. Lloyd, of Manhattan. They were frocked alike in embroidered lawn and carried white chrysanthemum stied with pink ribbons. Miss Frances Dorothy Stewart, a niece of Mr. de Forest, frocked in white tulle, and carrying pink roses, attended as flower girl. Henry L. de Forest was the best man, and the ushers were Arthur E. Whitney, Rev. S. C. H. Gilbert, Benjamin Thorne Gilbert, Willis D. Wood and Henry Johnston. The ceremony was performed at noon by the Rev. Dr. Charles Cutler, of Manhattan. The church was decorated with white chrysanthemums, combined with asparagus fern and autumn foliage. The wedding breakfast was served at 12:30 o'clock in the dining room of the clubhouse. The members of the bridal party were the guests of the Coffins at Round Top, their country place, from Monday until the 14th. Mrs. Coffin gave a dinner for the entire bridal party on Wednesday, and on Tuesday the bridesmaids were entertained at dinner by Mrs. Frances Minot Wood, née Margaret Low White, one of last year's brides. Mr. de Forest entertained a number of friends over last Sunday at his father's country place at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island. Mrs. de Forest gave a wedding breakfast to all the help at the Cold Spring Harbor place. It was served at precisely the hour of the wedding breakfast at St. Hubert's. Mr. and Mrs. de Forest will be at home on Thursdays in December at No. 1811 Wood-ave., Colorado Springs.

The wedding of Miss Eloise Babcock Smith, daughter of Mr. James Augustus Ostrom, of Chicago, and John P. Wilson, Jr., of the same city, took place on Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn. The bride is the granddaughter of Bryan H. Smith, of No. 79 Pierpont-st., and is well known in the city through her frequent visits there. Her gown was of white tulle, trimmed with large plumes, completed her costume. The maid of honor was Miss Alice Reed Bowden, who carried a large bouquet of flowers. The bridesmaids were Miss Alice Reed Bowden, Miss Ruth Howard, Miss Mary B. Bon, as bridesmaids; Miss V. Meserole, Miss Brooke's fiancée, as best man, and Eben B. Knowlton, Miss Goodwin, William Morse, Harry Marshall, M. Luther Brown, Jr., of Brooklyn; Joseph S. Freilighausen, of Somerville, Mass.; and E. Layton De Forest, of Manhattan, as ushers. The ceremony will take place at 4 o'clock in the Clinton Avenue Congregational Church next Wednesday afternoon. The reception following will be held at the home of the bride's parents, No. 26 Clinton-ave.

The wedding of Miss Helen Benedict, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Benedict, of Manhattan, will take place next Tuesday, in St. George's Church, Hanover Square, London. Miss Benedict, whose engagement to Archibald Alexander Forrester was announced last summer, spends much of her time in England. Her fiancée is the son of President Forrest of Dalhousie College, Halifax. The Benedicts' town house is No. 3 East Seventy-fifth-st., Manhattan.

A wedding in Brooklyn next Tuesday will be that of Miss Alice W. Curtis and Jesse Hatch Behrens, son of the late Dr. A. J. F. Behrens. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, No. 26 Washington-ave., at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Curtis will be attended by her sister, Miss Mary Emily Curtis, as maid of honor. Allan S. Cook will be best man, and the ushers will be Howard A. Curtis, of Philadelphia; Philip A. Howard, Kenneth R. Howard and William Howard.

CHURCH KEEPS SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Ainslee Street Presbyterian to Have Special Services This Week.

Fifty years of useful work will be celebrated by the Ainslee Street Presbyterian Church in the present week. The special programs will begin this morning, when the Rev. R. S. Dawson, the pastor, will preach his thirteenth annual sermon, devoting himself to the history of the church. This afternoon the Rev. J. J. Adams, of the Ross Street Church, will address the Sunday school. The Rev. N. W. Wells, whose father was one of the founders of the Ainslee Street Church, and assisted in the installation of all the seven pastors, will preach a remembrance sermon to-night.

On Tuesday night the Sunday school will hold a special celebration, and on Wednesday there will be a social reunion of the old members. The Christian Endeavor Society is to have charge of the Thursday evening meeting. At the public prayer meeting on Friday night the Rev. D. H. Iverson will speak. The Mutual Development Club will hold a men's social meeting on Saturday night. Next Sunday night the Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad will preach in the morning. The Rev. Dr. L. R. Foote in the afternoon at 4 o'clock and the Rev. W. D. Buchanan in the evening.

The Ainslee Street Church was organized as a branch of the Third Street Church with eighteen members on October 2, 1854. The Rev. Casper W. Hodge, later professor of systematic theology at Princeton Theological Seminary, was the first pastor. The succeeding five pastors have been the Rev. John A. Bleslow, the Rev. James McDougall, the Rev. John Hancock, the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buchanan, the Rev. Joseph G. Williamson, the Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad and the Rev. R. S. Dawson. The latter is chaplain of the 4th Regiment, N. G. N. Y.

FRENCH SAILORS AT NAVY Y. M. C. A.

About a hundred jackies from the cruiser Duplex, the flagship of Admiral Rivet, of the French Navy, were entertained at the Naval Young Men's Christian Association, in Sands-st., Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. The splendid arrangements there for the comfort of the sailors and marines of the American Navy was a great surprise to the Frenchmen. The sailors came from the Duplex to the navy yard on a special tug. They marched through the yard, and up Sand-st., to the Young Men's Christian Association Building. There they were met by Secretary Tisdale, who had charge of their entertainment. After the inspection of the building there was a stereopticon show, at which a large number of scenes in the American Navy were exhibited. After a visit of about three hours the French sailors returned to their ship.

John A. Hoagland, son of Mrs. Joseph Hoagland, was married to Miss Grace L. Weil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Weil, of No. 129 Collins-st., Hartford, in London on Thursday of last week. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Dr. Pennington, and St. Clement Danes, at the head of the strand, was the scene of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland are returning from Europe, and will live with Mrs. Joseph Hoagland at No. 17 East Sixty-sixth-st., Manhattan.

The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Cady, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Everett Cady, took place
