New-York Daily Tribune

SUNDAY, MARCH 5, 1905. THE NEWS THIS MORNING.

CONGRESS.—The 58th Congress came to an end with the usual formalities...

DOMESTIC.—Roosevelt and Fairbanks were inaugurated in the presence of the United States at the Capitol in Washington...

MONARCHICAL ECLIPSE.—The completeness of the monarchical eclipse in France is strikingly indicated by a current incident...

AT MOKDEN.—The weeks' fighting near Moudken continues, but its results are now beginning to appear...

THE WADSWORTH.—Indications for today: Fair. The temperature yesterday: Highest, 63 degrees; lowest, 32.

Port Arthur has fallen in front of them, and that all Russia is seething with insurrection behind them...

THE INAUGURATION.

Nothing seems to have occurred to mar the success of yesterday's inauguration programme. As pageants our inauguration ceremonies have often suffered from mishaps in management...

A novelty in yesterday's exercises—and a highly commendable one—was the alteration both in matter and manner effected in the inaugural address. President Roosevelt returns to the better standards of Lincoln and of the earlier Presidents in giving his speech on taking the oath of office a highly generalized yet distinctly personal character...

President Roosevelt's aims and personality have won him an affection and influence hardly measurable by ordinary political standards. He enters office as the successful candidate of a political party, yet his extraordinary victory last November quite overran the narrower limitations of partisanship...

MONARCHICAL ECLIPSE.—The completeness of the monarchical eclipse in France is strikingly indicated by a current incident. A marriage, we are told, has been "arranged" between Princess Clementine, daughter of the King of the Belgians, and Prince Victor Napoleon, son of the late "Pion-Pion" Belgium...

AT MOKDEN.—The weeks' fighting near Moudken continues, but its results are now beginning to appear. There can be no misunderstanding General Kuropatkin's messages. He is in a desperate plight. He himself says so, and he would be the last man in the world to say so if it were not true...

THE COLLISION AT EMSWORTH.

Fatal railway accidents like that which occurred a little west of Pittsburgh Friday evening are so common in this country that they create little astonishment. The newspaper reader looks over the dispatches relative to these terrible losses with momentary eagerness, in order to ascertain whether any of his personal friends have been injured...

Commissioner Garfield's report on the Beech Trust will hardly satisfy the Eastern consumers of meat. They have been paying so much for steaks and every kind of food from cattle, sheep and pigs for a considerable period that they have made up their minds that the prices in New-York City are altogether unreasonable...

THE CZAR'S RESCRIPT.—The signing of the Czar's rescript on Friday is said to have marked the climax of a dramatic scene. It would be difficult to imagine any circumstances more dramatic, in a paradoxical fashion, than the issuance of this rescript so closely upon the heels of the imperial appeal to the people...

PHILOSOPHY OF THE ELEVATOR BOY.—Some men need a good deal of guiding. You tell 'em to go to the right and they go to the left, just like a woman. "Johnnie, what is a gramus?" "That's a little cat's grandmother."—(Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.)

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

It was an aged dandy who remarked, "Life is uphill until fifty, and then on the level, and after a while it is downhill." "But when does the going down begin?" "That depends on the rate at which you have gone up."

THE CHARGE OF THE BARGAIN BRIGADE.

Half a league, half a league, Half a league onward! Quick to the bargain sale! Rushed the Six Hundred. "Forward, female brigade!" she said. To the department store. Surged the Six Hundred.

Some years ago an American entomologist had sent to him for examination a few specimens of the gypsy moth, and he accidentally allowed some half-dozen to escape. These increased and multiplied in such an alarming fashion that the moths spread over a certain locality, in which they wrought considerable damage...

RAILWAY STORAGE BATTERIES.

A feature of the electrical equipment of its lines for which the New-York Central is providing has not yet received the notice which it deserves. As was briefly mentioned in the columns of The Tribune a few days ago, the company has placed an order for storage batteries having an aggregate capacity of 60,000 horsepower...

less machinery was needed. By putting into the central station storage batteries of sufficient capacity, the power plant could be proportioned to the average requirements of the day, rather than the maximum. When the "load" was light the dynamo could pump their surplus into the accumulators, and when the "load" was heavy the latter would supplement the work of the generators...

When the purpose and value of power reservoirs as a part of a great electric traction system are once perceived, surprise will be felt that they are not more generally employed. Already the patrons of the subway in this city are asking why the Interborough company did not place similar reinforcements along that transportation route...

NOTES OF SOCIETY IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, March 4.—Senator and Miss Keen entertained the West Point cadets at luncheon to-day. The party consisted of 43 cadets, eleven officers and General A. L. Mills, Superintendent of the Military Academy. Among the women of the army circle asked to assist Miss Keen and her sisters and house guests in entertaining the cadets were Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Sheridan and Miss Eleanor Roosevelt...

NEW-YORK SOCIETY.

To-day finds town comparatively deserted by society, and those who have not gone to Washington for the inauguration, or to the South and the Florida Coast, in search of warm weather, and who have not sailed for Europe, will be found spending the weekend at Tuxedo and at the various country seats in the neighborhood of New-York. Three days more and Lent will be here, which means the suspension of entertainments on a large scale...

BRADY-HAMILTON WEDDING.

Albany, March 4.—The wedding of Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, second daughter of Judge and Mrs. Andrew Hamilton, and James Cox Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony N. Brady, of this city and New-York, took place here this afternoon. The Right Rev. Thomas M. A. Burke, Catholic Bishop of Albany, performed the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Michael Walsh, Miss Jessie Hamilton, bride's eldest sister, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Marcia Brady, sister of Mr. Brady; Miss Mary Lord, of Chicago, and Miss Mary Hamilton, the youngest sister of Miss Hamilton. Nicholas F. Brady, of New-York, brother of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Burnside Winslow, of Philadelphia; John Frederick Byers, of Pittsburgh; Samuel Hamilton Arnold, Jr., of New-York; Charles F. Gorman, all of New-York; Louis C. Dillman, of Chicago; George Elton Parks, of Providence, R. I.; Julian B. Huff, of Washington; David Boies, of Scranton, Penn.; Fred C. Baldwin, of the Hawaiian Islands; Naval Ensigns, and other guests. The bride had the last name changed to Mrs. Brady in Yale, 1894.

IN JUSTICE TO COUNT CINI.

Mrs. Sproul's Statement on Breaking of Her Engagement. To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I address this communication to you on behalf of my client, Mrs. Frank F. Sproul, formerly Mrs. Elizabeth H. Cini, who has broken her engagement to Count Cini. Although Mrs. Sproul is indisposed to continue the unfortunate publicity which newspapers, other than yours, have recently given to the circumstances of her marriage, in justice to Count Cini she deems it her duty to correct the statements recently published by those newspapers concerning her relations to that matter. Therefore, she has directed me to state that it is not a fact that prior to or during her engagement to Count Cini, at any time, he made upon her any demands or requests of a financial nature; that the breaking of her engagement to Count Cini was not due to any financial reason or to any fault upon his part, but solely to the fact that during his absence in Europe she became aware that she felt a stronger attachment for the gentleman she has now married. She also begs to state that she is communicating her final determination to break off the engagement to Count Cini, and that she is not to be troubled by the publication of the newspapers above referred to of derogatory statements concerning Count Cini's relations to the affair. In view of these circumstances, she is sure that Mrs. Sproul considers that it is her duty, in justice to an honorable gentleman, to make public the above statement. HUGH A. BAILEY, New-York, March 3, 1905.

EX-JUDGE DAILEY DENIES CHALLENGE.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: My attention has been called by several friends to an article contained in your last Monday's issue, entitled "Pepper Church Rumpus," wherein you said that "Ex-Judge Abraham H. Dailey, a member of the church, annoyed by the interruptions of Goldberger, shook a roll of money in Goldberger's face, and asked him why he did not put up his $500." Now, in view of the fact, I deny nothing of the kind. I produced no money and challenged nobody. HUGH A. DAILEY, New-York, March 3, 1905.

GOODY, "HUMPTY DUMPTY."

All night long gangs of scene shifters, "grips," electricians and stage carpenters were engaged on the stage of the New-Amsterdam Theatre in morning out "Humpty Dumpty" and moving in Miss Ellis Jeffrey's production of "The Prince Consort." With last night's performance "Humpty Dumpty" ended the sixteenth week of an engagement begun on November 14. Two special trains will take the company and equipment to Philadelphia early this morning. There an engagement will begin at the Chestnut Street Theatre. The evening performance of "Humpty Dumpty" will have its initial performance at the Chestnut Street Theatre, where $12,000, establishing a record equalled only by "The Sleeping Beauty and the Beast."

ADMIRAL STAR SAILS.

Dover, March 4.—The Red Star line steamship Finland sailed from Dover for New-York at 10 o'clock to-night. Rear Admiral Charles H. Davis, U. S. N., was on board the vessel.

About People and Social Incidents.

head of the Western New-York Diocese since 1898, and before going to Buffalo was the Bishop of North Dakota. He was born in New-York, and at one time was vicar of Calvary Chapel.

Another wedding yesterday was that of John Sayre Martin, Jr., and Miss Joan Buckley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard William Buckley, at the house of the Buckleys, in East 72d-st. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Nell McLoughlin, S. J., of the Church of St. Ignatius Loyola. The bride, who was attended by her sister, Miss Annette Buckley, was dressed in white lace and white satin, and carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies-of-the-valley, her sister being arrayed in a frock of white Liberty gaze, with a large black lace hat, her flowers being red roses. Clinton Martin was his brother's best man, and the ushers were Mortimer Buckley, Edwin J. Conley and W. Russell Grace. Afterward there was a reception, and among those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ladew, Mr. and Mrs. Ritzema de Grove and Mr. and Mrs. Richard D'Acosta.

Mrs. Sarah Corwell Le Moyne will read Browning's "The Blot in the Scutcheon" for well known charity at the Knickerbocker Theatre early in April. A number of women belonging to the fashionable set have charge of the entertainment as patronesses.

Mrs. Robert W. De Forest will entertain the Thursday Evening Club on March 23, at her house, in Washington Square.

Mrs. Archibald Alexander has organized a series of readings by Mrs. E. M. Staples, for Monday afternoons, Lent, at her home, at Castle Point, Hoboken. The dates will be March 29 and 31, April 3 and 10.

MISS PORTER MARRIED.

Distinguished Guests at Church and Reception at Embassy. (Special by French Cable to The Tribune.) (Copyright, 1905, by The Tribune Association.) Paris, March 4.—The wedding of Miss Ella Porter, daughter of the American Ambassador, and Dr. Edwin Mendel was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. Morgan at the Church of the Holy Trinity at 11:30 o'clock to-day. Almost the entire American colony was present. President Loubet was represented by an officer of his household. Among those who attended the ceremony at the church and the reception afterward at General Porter's residence were M. Delcassé, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Mma. Delcassé, and M. Fallières, President of the Senate. Prominent among the members of the diplomatic corps present were the British Ambassador, Sir Francis Bertie; the Italian Ambassador, Count Torielli, with the Countess Torielli, and the Japanese Minister. The large French contingent included M. Mollard, chief of protocol; Count and Countess de Castellane, the Duc and Duchesse de la Rochefoucauld and Count de Turenne. The six bridesmaids were daintily gowned in pink and white, with brown hats, bearing bouquets of white and pink orchids and lilies-of-the-valley. The church and house were beautifully decorated with white camellias, white lilies, white roses and palms. Miss Bessie Abbott, of the Opéra Comique, sang in the church a selection from Mendelssohn's "Attalea." A beautiful blue Sevres porcelain tea service was given by President Loubet. Noticeable among the other presents were a Louis XVI porcelain and gold clock and candelabra, given by Mr. and Mrs. John Harjes; a gold enamel table service, given by the Duke of Leval, and a tortoiseshell and silver writing service, given by Mr. Spencer Eddy. Miss Porter went to the church with her father in a brand new automobile, and after the ceremony the bride returned with her husband in the same automobile to the house for the reception and luncheon, and in the afternoon sped away to their honeymoon.
