

FAREWELL TO MR. CHOATE. LORD MAYOR'S DINNER.

A Notable Gathering Pays Honor to American Ambassador.

London, May 5.—"Certainly the crowning hour of my life is this farewell benefit on the English stage." So Joseph H. Choate characterized the farewell dinner at the Mansion House to-night, at which undoubtedly was the most remarkable gathering of notable men ever assembled at the residence of the Lord Mayor of London. In the words of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, "it would be impossible to collect a more representative gathering." All parties, classes, professions and opinions, from the metropolis, represented by the Lord Mayor himself, to the government, represented by Arthur J. Balfour and the Marquis of Lansdowne, together with a few of the American community, were there. Mr. Choate sat at the right hand of the Lord Mayor, next to him was Mr. Balfour, and then Lord Lansdowne. At the left of the Lord Mayor were the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Duke of Wellington. There were present the Earls of Minto, Dartmouth, Aberdeen, Denbigh, Kintore, Jersey, Onslow and Crewe. Among the Lords were Strathcona, Hereford, Mountstephen, Lawrence, Hugh Cecil, Balfour of Burleigh, Macnaghten, Alverstone and Rothschild, besides Viscounts Goschen and Churchill, Sirs Frederick Treves, Eric Barrington, Conan Doyle, Thomas Lipton, Lawrence Alma-Tadema, Purdon Clarke and others. John Morley, James Bryce, Austen Chamberlain and Percy Wyndham. The Lord Mayor of Liverpool, Manchester, Birmingham and other cities came to London for the occasion, and there were present Moberly Bell, of "The Times," and the editors of other London dailies, Raymond Kipling, Alfred Austin, Anthony Hope and other authors, many members of the House of Commons of all political parties and many others, together numbering three hundred. Among the Americans were the entire staff of the embassy, Consul General Robert J. Wynne, Vice Consul Carnegie and Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin. The wife of the Lord Mayor entertained a dozen guests, who sat high above the assembly in the circular music gallery. The carriages arrived in a long stream, headed by the aldermen in the Corporation coaches, massive, gilded and ornamented vehicles, drawn by caparisoned horses and attended by knickerbockered, gaudily coated and powdered footmen. The dinner was held in the Egyptian Hall, which was draped with the banners of former Lord Mayors and the flags of colonies. Arranged behind the Lord Mayor and Mr. Choate were the Corporation plate centrepiece, crossed by a huge sword and mace, while the smaller pieces of this wonderful silver service, including the enormous loving cup, were used on the tables. The uniforms of army officers, together with those of members of the municipal government and a vast staff of red coated, powdered household attendants, made the scene brilliant. The Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced grace and the benediction. The aged Lord Mayor, a white bearded, picturesque figure, in his rich costume, rose and toasted the King and Queen. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman proposed "The President," eulogizing him as "a genuine, typical character, characteristic of America, a firm friend of peace, though not perhaps, of a quiescent disposition."

GOVERNOR DAVIS ILL. Secretary Taft Orders Him Home Against His Will—Canal Plans.

Washington, May 5.—Secretary Taft to-day instructed Governor Davis, at Panama, to return at once to the United States, placing Colonel Gorge in charge of the administration of the canal zone until the return of Governor Magoon. Governor Davis is suffering from malaria, and his physicians advised him to leave the isthmus to recuperate. He has resisted their appeals, however, fearing that his sudden departure at a time when the health conditions in Panama are adverse would be misunderstood. Secretary Taft's dispatch follows: "In spite of your disinclination to leave at this time, I must insist that you turn over control to Colonel Gorge, as Acting Governor, and that you come by the next steamer. Magoon suggested to me as your substitute. I thank you for your efficient efforts to sustain the status quo until the new executive committee reaches the isthmus, but your medical condition makes it necessary for you to leave at once. I have no alternative but to insist that you leave at once. You will make this public. TAFT."

HARVARD WINS DEBATE. Annual Contest with Yale—Judges' Decision Unanimous.

Cambridge, Mass., May 5.—Harvard defeated Yale this evening in the seventeenth annual debate between the two universities. The question was, "Resolved, That a commission be given power to fix railroad rates." Harvard supported the affirmative side of the question. Her speakers held that enormously excessive transportation rates were charged, and that, owing to the almost absolute industrial control that the railroads had secured, some decisive check upon this was declared, was the power of fixing rates given to the government. Harvard's speakers were: Pierce Divinity School; E. E. Pierce, graduate school, and Hopkins Law School. The Harvard speakers were A. C. Blagden, Yale; J. M. Blagden, Yale; and J. M. Blagden, Yale. The Yale speakers were: J. M. Blagden, Yale; and J. M. Blagden, Yale. The judges' decision was unanimous in favor of Harvard.

PLANS FOR NEW GERMAN TREATY. State Department Expects Negotiations at Washington in the Fall.

Washington, May 5.—It is learned at the State Department that negotiations with Germany for the preparation of a reciprocity treaty will not be undertaken before next fall, when they will be conducted in Washington. Berlin, May 5.—The Foreign Office officials who represent the United States and Germany will meet early in the autumn, to negotiate a commercial treaty, and that the exchange of preliminary proposals will take place some time late in the summer. Material for Germany's suggestions will be gathered by July 1, and after that date the United States will have an important part in formulating Germany's suggestions.

C., May 5.—Washington Duke, the founder of what is now the American Tobacco Company and head of the Duke family, is gradually sinking at his home, at Durham, N. C. A dispatch from Durham says no hope is held out for his recovery. He is eighty-four years old and has been in feeble health for some time as the result of a fall, by which a leg was broken.

STATUE OF GOVERNOR JOHN WINTHROP. To be unveiled at New-London, Conn., to-day.

STATUE OF GOVERNOR JOHN WINTHROP. To be unveiled at New-London, Conn., to-day.

HONOR JOHN WINTHROP. Statue of Founder of New-London, Conn., To be Unveiled There.

New-London, Conn., May 5 (Special).—This old whaling port, which has been the scene of many stirring incidents both in the naval and commercial history of the nation, will to-morrow be in holiday attire. It will then welcome eminent men from all over New-England to the exercises incident to the unveiling of a massive bronze statue to the memory of John Winthrop, the younger, founder of the town and Colonial Governor of Connecticut. The statue is erected by the State, stationing Bulkeley Square, near "The Antiques" Burial Ground, and also near the little frame building in which the martyr Nathan Hale taught young New-Englanders before he entered the army. The figure of the founder is of heroic size, representing the younger Winthrop as about the age of the city when it was founded. The statue is the work of the sculptor, Bela L. Pratt, of Boston, a native of New-London County, represents in his statue a young man, and the face depicts an agreeable Puritan personage. Winthrop, it is well known, was courtly and lovable, educated and refined, the Philip Sidney of New-England austerity. Inheriting his father's executive ability, he added the gentleness to the last mentioned quality. A commercial trader, and a half century an accomplished Colonial statesman and a chivalrous gentleman. For a pedestal for the figure a moss covered boulder weighing about twenty-five tons was selected from a nearby farm, and it is regarded as admirably adapted for the purpose. The exercises incident to the unveiling will be in charge of a citizens' committee of 30 members, and will be an entire success. The exercises incident to the unveiling will begin at 10:30 a. m., when the military escort to the Governor will form and march to Bulkeley Square. The programme of the exercises at the monument is as follows:

HORSE SHOW ENDS. A. G. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Gerken Win More Prizes at Durland's.

One of the most successful horse shows ever held by the Durland Company, and one that by far outnumbered any previous exhibition held by the company as far as the number of horses entered was concerned, closed to-day at Durland's. The show, which was held at the academy, in West 66th-st., a large attendance was present, and judging from the applause that followed the awards in the various classes, the decisions of the judges seemed to be popular. Alfred G. Vanderbilt, driving his own horses, again carried off honors last evening, his handsome road team taking the blue ribbon in Class No. 27. Mrs. J. B. M. Grosvenor's team got second place in this class. There was much speculation among the spectators before the judges' decision was announced as to which one of these teams would carry off first honors. While these teams were being driven a fast race around the track, the harness wagons came within an inch of running into each other, and many "Ohs!" came from the spectators. Mr. Vanderbilt also won a leg on the $250 challenge cup in Class No. 34 for the best horse suitable for a gig with his bay mare, "Kustling Silk," which was owned by Mrs. Gerken in the other classes of the show.

"TAINTED MONEY" FIGHT. Protesters Will Mail Circulars to Many Clergymen To-day.

Boston, May 5.—What is described in a circular as "the first gun in our educational campaign" will be "fired" to-morrow by the committee acting for the Congregational Ministers of New-England, who protested against the acceptance of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. To-morrow the committee will mail to every Congregational church and every Congregational clergyman in the United States four circulars. One of these is a letter explaining the significance of the movement; another is the statement recently issued by Dr. Washington Gladden, moderator of the National Congregational Council; a third is a sermon entitled, "The Spirit of Protest," recently delivered by the Rev. Artemas J. Haynes, of New-Haven, Conn.; and the fourth is the work of the protesting committee, and bears the caption, "The Issue Before the Church."

EMIL STENDEL DEAD. Brother-in-law of Mme. Sembrich—The Singer's Recent Rebeverments.

The cable dispatches in yesterday afternoon's papers announcing the death of Mme. Sembrich's husband at Berlin were misleading. Mme. Sembrich's husband, Wilhelm Stengel, as far as can be learned, is alive, and should reach Dresden to-day with Mme. Sembrich. It is her husband's dealer of Dresden, and had gone to Berlin some time ago to be operated on. On April 27, the day they had a cable message intimating that he was recovering, and it will be quite a blow to the singer to find him dead. Mme. Sembrich has been pursued by a singular fatality during her four years before last year to her old home, she found her aged mother seriously ill. Now she returns to find her husband's brother dead.

LAUNCHING OF THE RICHMOND. Niece of Borough President Cromwell Will Name the Ferryboat.

Arrangements are about completed at the yards of the Burlee Drydock Company, Port Richmond, Staten Island, for the launching of the new ferryboat Richmond at 10 o'clock on Saturday, May 20. The sponsor, it is understood, will be President Cromwell's niece, Miss Tessie Cromwell, of Brooklyn. Mayor McClellan is the guest of honor. After the launching the American public, not long since the last her own son, then followed the death of a son of her husband by his first wife, and this was followed closely by the death of her husband's mother, to whom the singer was deeply attached. On her recent last year to her old home, she found her aged mother seriously ill. Now she returns to find her husband's brother dead.

STRICKEN IN CHURCH. Apoplexy May Cause the Death of a Trustee of Plymouth.

Stricken with apoplexy in the prayer meeting at Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, last night, John Boyle, a trustee of the church and a member of the firm of Boyle & Co., at No. 112 Duane-st., Manhattan, was removed to his home, No. 71 Lefferts Place, Brooklyn, in a dying condition. He was not expected to live through the night. Mr. Boyle, who is seventy-one years old, attended the meeting alone. The Rev. Dr. Hillis was finishing his address when, with a low groan, Mr. Boyle fell forward, and would have slipped to the floor had he not been supported. Dr. Hillis quickly dismissed the meeting and Mr. Boyle was taken home in an ambulance. Mr. Boyle was born in the North of Ireland, but had lived in this country for many years. His family consists of a wife, two sons and three daughters.

OBITUARY. FRANK CAMPBELL.

Providence, R. I., May 5 (Special).—Frank Campbell, whose funeral was held in New-York Wednesday, was a prominent contractor and builder of this city. He died here on Monday, and his body was taken to New-York, where it was buried in Mount Kemble Cemetery. Mr. Campbell had made New-York his home in recent years. Until about three years ago Mr. Campbell was in active business here, and not only did he carry on large building operations, but he devoted much time to the development of real estate in the suburbs of Providence. In April, 1902, Mr. Campbell was stricken with paralysis, from which he partially recovered, but which, nevertheless, compelled him to give up business. From the time of his first illness, however, until he finally gave up work as a contractor, he was ably assisted by his wife, who attended to many of his interests. On his retirement from active life, Mr. Campbell went to New-York, where his son, John Charles Campbell, is in business. Death came suddenly. Neuralgia of the heart, consequent on a severe cold, was the immediate cause. Frank Campbell was born in this city March 16, 1835. He was of Scotch ancestry, being a descendant of the famous family of Highlanders of the same name, who were noted for their energy, sensibility and broad mind. His wife and son survive him.

ZACHARIAH OSTROM NELSON. Zachariah Ostrom Nelson, of the firm of Z. O. Nelson & Son, dealers in coal and wood, died at his home, No. 20 Maple Court, Brooklyn, on Thursday.

NOTES OF THE STAGE. Drama in the Bathroom—Mrs. Fiske to Lecture in Salt Lake City.

Next Tuesday night, at a certain piece to "The Firm of Cunningham," Dorothy Donnelly and Harsard Short will appear in a one act play, called "Mrs. Bartlett's Bath." The play is a comedy. The scene of this piece is laid in a bathroom; it should be a clean play. The Williams College Cap and Bells Dramatic Club caused amusement at Carnegie Lyceum last night by a lively performance of the farce, "Captain Racket." Numerous alumni and friends crowded the hall. Owing to her independent position as an actress, Mrs. Fiske is prevented from appearing on her present tour in any of the cities between Denver and San Francisco, as the Theatrical Trust controls all intermediate theatres. When the first became known in Salt Lake City recently the newspaper men of that city extended an invitation to Mrs. Fiske to stop over for a day on her journey to the Pacific Coast and deliver a lecture in one of the churches on "Present Conditions in the American Theatre." Mrs. Fiske has accepted this invitation, and she will give the address in Salt Lake City on the evening of May 22.

McMAHON NOT OUT OF POLITICS. Retiring Leader Won't Resign Chairmanship of Tammany Executive Committee.

Daniel P. McMahon, chairman of the Tammany executive committee, who expects to retire from the leadership of the Tammany organization, yesterday declared that he did not expect to resign the chairmanship of the executive committee. He said: "For a year or two I have desired to get out of the leadership of the district. I told the members of the general committee of the Tammany organization yesterday that I did not expect to resign the chairmanship of the executive committee. I shall get out of politics. I simply want to get rid of some of the things that are weighing on my mind, and prevent my continuing as chairman of the executive committee if it is thought best by the leaders for me to do so. I am not a quitter, and I am not a quitter of the executive committee, and is not a district leader." Bridge Commissioner Best, who is likely to succeed Mr. McMahon as the executive member, said that the friends of Mr. McMahon were trying to prevail on him to retain the chairmanship of the executive committee. "I don't know," said the Commissioner last night. "I don't know the Curry men will make anything out of this, but the friends of Mr. McMahon are absolutely confident of retaining control of the district organization."
