

HALE HELD IN CONTEMPT.

Lacombe Fines Tobacco Man for Refusal to Answer at Inquiry.

Judge Lacombe, at the instance of the federal grand jury, after two requests, agreed yesterday to sign an order fining Edwin F. Hale $5 for contempt of court and ordering him to be placed in the custody of the marshal until he sees it to purge himself of contempt.

Mr. Hale was punished for contempt in having refused to answer questions relative to the business of the McAndrews & Forbes Company, manufacturers of licorice, a subsidiary organization of the American Tobacco Company.

Mr. Hale was punished for contempt in having refused to answer questions relative to the business of the McAndrews & Forbes Company, manufacturers of licorice, a subsidiary organization of the American Tobacco Company.

The presentment shows that Mr. Hale refused to answer questions relative to what business he himself was engaged in, what business he was in before he came to New-York City, who was president of the McAndrews & Forbes Company and what its business was, where the office of the McAndrews & Forbes Company was, as well as the office of the American Tobacco Company and the name of its president, if any agreement or understanding or arrangement existed between the American Tobacco Company and the McAndrews & Forbes Company in relation to the trade or business in licorice paste or mass, affecting the business in the several States of the United States, whether the company sold licorice paste or whether the company sold licorice through the manufacturers of plug tobacco throughout the United States and whether he was employed by the American Tobacco Company.

The presentment shows that Mr. Hale informed Mr. Taft at the beginning of the examination that the investigation was under the act to protect trade and commerce from unlawful trade and competition and that he could not be punished for evidence given during the course of the examination except for perjury. Mr. Hale respectfully declined to answer the questions asked upon the ground that the answers would incriminate him and that he could not do so in the few days given him to produce the vast amount of records and data called for in the subpoena.

The second presentment made by Foreman Thomas W. Palsom of the federal grand jury yesterday shows that on May 2, before refusing to answer the questions, Mr. Hale read a statement, which he desired to be placed on the minutes of the grand jury, in which he asked to be shown under what authority the grand jury was proceeding, the nature and purpose of the investigation, and also to receive a copy of the complaint, in order that he might be able to determine under which the grand jury was proceeding.

It is understood that Mr. Hale's counsel will contend that the warrant or authority in law for the action of the grand jury, Mr. Taft, however, contended that the questions were clearly within the scope of the investigation under the act to protect trade and commerce from unlawful trade and competition. It is not probable that the papers in the case can be prepared in time for a hearing before Friday next.

CALL AMMON'S STORY A MYTH.

Searchers for Franklin Syndicate Root Don't Believe He Can Find It.

T. E. Hodgeskin, who is the attorney for the referee in bankruptcy in the Franklin syndicate case, James B. Lorr, said yesterday that the story sent out from Sing Sing by Robert A. Ammon was only a shrewd move on his part to get a habeas corpus. Ammon said the $15,000 of Miller lost now being hunted for is hidden in a place known only to him, William F. Miller, who is the attorney for the referee. Mr. Lorr said that Miller is the chief of police of Boston when the Miller syndicate had its headquarters in that city. Mr. Lorr said that Miller was in the office and there was a run by frightened depositors, Ammon paid out $30,000, which satisfied the creditors of the Miller syndicate. Mr. Lorr said that Miller was all right for the time being.

BLAMES GANG FOR BOYISH CRIME.

More Spirit of Fun Than Wickedness, Says University Settlement Quarterly.

A quarterly magazine, one number to include the annual report, is to be published by the University Settlement. The resident workers believe that a periodical system of publication would serve to stimulate a critical study of social conditions. From his experience as a probation officer Maurice F. Parmelee says in the new quarterly: "The time of the probation officer is devoted principally to investigating cases of boys and young men from sixteen to twenty-five years old, and looking after their conduct in his custody. Most of these young men are guilty of petty larceny. The influence of the street gang in leading boys to crime is very evident. The street gang is not necessarily composed of criminals or directed by criminal leaders, but it is liable to be dominated by a few who are very influential on the small offenses. The probation officer acts as the kindly adviser and mentor of the boy or man of the party. Thus many young fellows who, through force of circumstances or bad surroundings, have fallen into crime, are helped to begin an honorable and useful career."

OPPOSE PENSION BILL.

Hearing Before Mayor—He Voted Similar Measure Last Year.

Most vigorously attacked yesterday, at the hearing before the Mayor, was the bill providing pensions for those city employees, about twenty-five thousand in number, not entitled to pensions under the present law.

The principal argument against the bill was made by Henry W. Haddon, who submitted the Citizens Union's brief. It is taken for granted that Mayor McClellan will veto the bill, as he did a year ago.

Mr. Haddon's brief said that, with a pension roll of $2,000,000, the annual cost to the city for the net of $2,000,000 would be $2,300,000. Under the act an office boy or clerk beginning at a salary of $50 would receive an annual increase of $10 until he reached $200.

Resolutions opposing the bill were presented by the Citizens Union, the Board of Trade and Transportation, George McAnany, secretary of the City Club, made a long argument against the measure.

T. J. SHAFFER RESIGNS.

Will Not Seek Re-election from Amalgamated Association.

Detroit, May 8—After standing at the head of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers for eight years, President T. J. Shaffer, who resigned from the office in 1904, is at present in annual convention here, will this year yield his place to a successor.

The contest for the presidency of the association is said to have slithered down to a race between M. F. Tighe, of Pittsburgh, the assistant secretary of the association, and P. F. McArdle, of Montreal, the president of the fourth district.

Another development to-day was the leaking out from convention circles of the report that the younger element among the delegates has decided to make a campaign for a pension convention for a radical reorganization of the association.

DENIAL BY MR. KNOTT.

President of K. C. S. R. Refutes Charges of Slicken Circular.

S. R. Knott, president of the Kansas City Southern Railway Company, has issued a circular to the stockholders in which he refutes the charges made upon the present management of the road by the Slicken committee.

Referring to charges in the Slicken circular that "the Southern part of the line, where it would be a question of competition with New-Orleans or Galveston, through Port Arthur, has not been allowed to develop, nor has any effort been made to make Port Arthur a port of entry," Mr. Knott says that the establishment of Port Arthur as a port of entry is dependent on proper legislation by act of Congress, and that "efforts to secure such legislation have invariably had the strong support of the management of the railway company and of the canal company."

A deputy collector and inspector of customs have for several years been looking after the export pier at Port Arthur, so that vessels enter and depart from the pier in accordance with the regulations of the customs.

On the point of the alleged discrimination in favor of New-Orleans and Galveston, Mr. Knott presents figures showing the clearances from Port Arthur in 1904 to have been 21 vessels, carrying cargoes valued at $2,853,283, comparing with 37 vessels in 1904, with cargoes valued at $15,371,764.

controversy the Slicken circular's allegations that management was unable to credit to the road a greater percentage of its earnings than carried by the road was drawn from its own territory, President Knott, referring to the company's annual report, says: "The facts are that instead of the road being unable to credit to the road a greater percentage of its earnings than carried by the road was drawn from its own territory, the road has credited to the road a greater percentage of its earnings than carried by the road was drawn from its own territory."

in reply to the Slicken circular's statement that management was unable to credit to the road a greater percentage of its earnings than carried by the road was drawn from its own territory, the road has credited to the road a greater percentage of its earnings than carried by the road was drawn from its own territory.
