OF NORTH SIDE INTEREST.

The new detective headquarters recently opened in the Bronx at the Morrisania police station, 162d-st. and Brook-ave., are merely temporary headquarters, and will be occupied only until about the middle of September. The headquarters consist of one room on the ground floor of the police station. This is the first detective headquarters that the Bronx has ever had. It is a subdivision of the main headquarters in Manhattan, and acts directly under orders from the latter. The Bronx headquarters is in charge of Detective Sergeant Price. It is not known where the headquarters will be moved to after the middle of September, when the Morrisania police station will move to its new building, at 160th-st. and 3d-ave.

Invitations have been issued by Commissioner William H. Ten Eyck, Republican leader in the 34th Assembly District, for the annual outing of the North Side Republican Club on August 15.

The guests will go by steamer from 132d-st., East River, to Witzel's Point, View Island, College Point, Long Island, where the day will be devoted to sports, amusements and feasting.

Commissioner McAdoo visited the new quarters of the 39th Precinct, at 229th-st. and White Plains-ave., Wakefield, to inspect the building and consider means of remedying the blunder in the plan of the rooms, which are unsuitable for the accommodation of the police. The mistake was not noticed until after the building was completed.

A delegation of the Westchester Exempts, headed by President Behrman and Charles Levy, will attend the State Firemen's Convention to be held this week at Glens Falls.

The work of clearing a roadbed for the two additional tracks for the New-Haven railroad between Mount Vernon and Woodlawn is nearly completed. This stretch is the last link needed to complete the four track system from Boston to New-York on the main line of the road.

HIGHBALLS AT THE ANNEX.

Suit to Revoke License of Larchmont Place To Be Heard This Week.

The application of J. Ross Collins, representing the committee of residents of Larchmont, who are trying to revoke the license of the Mitchell House "annex" will come up in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn next Tuesday. It was to have been heard on Friday, but a postponement was granted on the request of Henry T. Dickman, counsel for the manager of the "annex," who wanted time to familiarize himself with the case.

The interesting part of the proceedings are the affidavits of a half dozen wealthy yachtmen, who, acting as "alibis," visited the "annex" to obtain the evidence upon which to base the suit.

T. S. A. De Lina in his affidavit says that on Sunday, July 3, he and Richard L. DeLafayette, who has since been retained as counsel by the people who are fighting the "annex," visited the place and treated each other to high balls. While they were

BIG BRIDAL RECEPTION PLANNED.

White Plains Will Heartily Greet Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brown.

John J. Brown and his bride, who was Mrs. Charles Farnham Rockwell, after their marriage at the Holland House on Thursday went immediately to Bar Harbor and the Maine resorts. They expect to remain on a wedding tour about two weeks. It is reported that a big reception is awaiting the couple on their return to White Plains.

By her marriage to the village President, Mrs. Rockwell has become "the first lady" of White Plains, and Mr. Brown's political followers are preparing to greet her in a manner befitting her rank. They have already hired two bands for the occasion, and it is rumored that there will be a parade, led by Jimmie Farrell.

Among the wedding gifts received by the couple was a solid silver punch bowl and ladle from the Republican editors of Westchester County. The punch bowl was selected by a committee and there, the affidavits continue, men and women came in the "annex" and were served with drinks also. One stylishly dressed woman drank what she called a sherry cobbler.

E. M. Sprague and Clark H. Abbott also testify that they made a Sunday visit to the "annex" where they were not required to register. They ordered Scotch whiskey and White Rock, which were served to them. The waiter very cautiously brought a plate containing two "very small sandwiches." The clubmen say that while they were at the place they noticed a lot of people drinking on the verandas. Several of them after they had quenched their own thirst, sent drinks out to the coachmen and chauffeurs.

The petitioners claim that the "annex" is nothing but a road house and that it is being operated in direct violation of the excise laws and the covenants of the manor.

MRS. CHARLES F. ROCKWELL.

is suitably engraved. Mrs. Brown also received an Angora house cat from one of her husband's enthusiastic Republican admirers.

PORT CHESTER ISSUES STATEMENT.

Railroad Reviews Proceeding to Obtain Foot-hold for Construction in The Bronx.

The New-York and Port Chester Railroad Company succeeded in obtaining from the Common Council of Mount Vernon, at a meeting of the latter on Tuesday evening, the franchise to pass through all streets of that city. The railroad company issued a new statement last week regarding its present financial standing, and reviewing the history of its fight with opposing interests. The statement emphasizes the fact that the New-York Railroad and Development Company is financing the Port Chester road, and places at the latter's disposal a capital of $2,000,000 for construction, the buying of real estate, etc. The expending of the money is in the hands of the executive committee of the Port Chester Railroad. Among the interests of the New-York Railroad and Development Company, and by which that company is directed and controlled, are the following: Edwin Gould, president of the Bowling Green Trust Company; Charles D. Barney & Co., bankers, of No. 25 Broad-st.; Harvey Fisk & Sons, bankers, of No. 62 Cedar-st.; Keon, Van Courtlandt & Co., bankers, of No. 30 Pine-st.; William C. Sheldon, bankers, of No. 2 West-st.; Oakleigh Thorne, president of the Trust Company of America; John W. Gates, of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company; Charles W. Morse, vice-president of the New-Amsterdam National Bank, vice-president of the Fourteenth Street Bank and vice-president of the People's Line; Dave H. Morris and A. H. Morris, owners of the Port Chester, the Bronx, of the Morris Building, No. 68 Broad-st., and of several buildings in New-Rochelle; Harry Black, president of the United States Realty and Construction Company, successors to the Fuller Construction Company; C. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match Company, and of the Sterling Boiler Company; C. D. Simpson, head of the syndicate which built the Chicago subway; James T. Schoemaker, president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Railroad, No. 24 Broad-st.

The following legal steps which have been taken in compliance with the law by the New-York and Port Chester Railroad Company, are summarized in the statement issued last week, as follows:

(1) Secured the certificate of public convenience and necessity from the Railroad Commission.

(2) Had that certificate twice unanimously sustained by the Court of Appeals.

(3) Secured from the Common Council of Mount Vernon the right to pass through all streets.

(4) Secured from Common Council of New-Rochelle the right to pass through all streets.

(5) Secured an order from Supreme Court at White Plains to pass through Pelham, Larchmont, Harrison, Mamaroneck, Rye and Port Chester and to pass over and under every public street and highway in those places.

Consent from the City of New-York is lacking, and application for this franchise will not be before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

Terminal property has been purchased in the Bronx, where connection will be made with the Interborough Rapid Transit Company.

The statement cites the fact that the charter of the New-York, West Chester and Boston Railroad, its most active supporter, has been pronounced void by many legal authorities. The statement further says that from reliable sources the Port Chester company has learned that the promoters of the Westchester company have been applying to banks in various cities of Westchester County to aid them by subscribing all the way from $50,000 to $100,000, and have also applied to small banking houses in the West and other parts of the country for help. On the other hand, the statement says that the Port Chester interests have applied to no other institution of interest for funds and will not apply. All funds for the latter company will be provided by interests connected with the New-York Railroad and Development Company.

BONDS BRING GOOD PRICE.

County Treasurer Joseph B. See sold last week bonds amounting to $150,000 for the construction of the new courthouse extensions. The Port Chester Savings Bank bid in $25,000 of the bonds and the other $125,000 were sold to Harriman & Co. of New-York. The premiums on the bonds bring the interest down to 2 1/2 per cent. It will probably be a year or more before the extensions are completed.

THE BENEFITS OF TRAVEL.

Friend—What's that big box on the front of your machine?

Automobile—That's a camera for taking moving pictures. You see, I go so fast I don't have time to look at the scenery, and so I photograph it as I go along.—Times.

MUST NOT WEAR GOGGLES.

Yonkers Authorities to Rob Automobile Men of Their Insignia.

Automobile friends who delight in fracturing, splintering and generally smashing the speed laws while dressed in all sorts of fantastic masks, goggles, etc., will do well either to keep clear of Yonkers altogether, or else be very careful to abide by the rules of the road and speed laws in general, for the sturdy guardians of the peace have another snare ready to set for reckless chauffeurs.

Quarter mile sections of road have been marked off at the different entrances of town, and three plain clothes men stationed at each, one to flag the start, one at the finish and the third a short distance beyond to make the arrest if the machine is going faster than the law allows. This has resulted in a large number of catches, on one day alone twelve being brought in.

Now it is declared that masks with goggles in them, affected by many chauffeurs, are a violation of the law.

The police have had their attention drawn to this matter by the suggestion that they might easily resort to the wearing of these masks to flash through a city without recognition, and may interfere with the practice.

The matter of drip pans on automobiles is another subject that the police are looking into, it being claimed that the oils, etc., dropped on the asphalt have a tendency to rot it and cause accidents. Arrests have been made in Wash- ington, D. C., and in H. P. it is found that the drippings do injure the asphalt arrests will be made in Yonkers also.

TO ELECT TWO JUSTICES.

Fall Campaign in Westchester Is Likely To Be Lively.

Although this is generally considered an off-year in politics, the election this fall promises to be one of much interest to the people of Westchester and some of the Hudson River counties, because of constitutional amendments affecting them, which will be submitted to the voters.

The greatest interest centres on the amendment giving the legislature the power to divide the Second Judicial Department. If this be carried, the New-York end of the district will be cut off, and Westchester, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam and Rockland counties will be put in a district by themselves.

According to the census of 1900 the population of the proposed new district is 421,871, and allowing one Supreme Court justice for each 80,000 people, the district will be entitled to five justices. The district has already Justices Martin J. Keogh and W. D. Diekey, whose terms expire in 1909 and 1910, and an associate justice, elected to serve until 1910, so that it will be necessary, under the new apportionment, to elect two more justices.

This is a great deal of speculation regarding the question of candidates. The district is so overwhelmingly Republican that the possibility of any Democrat being elected is almost out of the question.

The Westchester Republican organization will probably present the name of ex-Judge Mills, of Mount Vernon, and as the county is the largest in the district it can easily dictate at least one of the nominations. The other nomination will go to some candidate on the Hudson, probably to ex-Judge A. C. Tompkins, of Rockland.

The increase in the number of judges has been proposed on account of the overcrowded condition of the Supreme Court docket in the Second District. There are said to be more than 1,400 cases on the calendar awaiting trial, and all of the judges now sitting in the district are greatly overworked.

HAS JONES'S CURIASS.

So Yonkers Men Think—History of the Relic.

Charles L. Chadeayne, of Yonkers, is the owner of a curiass said to have been worn by John Paul Jones in the naval battle between the Bon Homme Richard and the Serapis. It is made of two pieces of hammered wrought iron—a back piece and breastplate—and weighs thirty pounds. It is lined with strong canvas, stuffed with horsehair, and was worn underneath the outer clothing. Regarding the genuineness of the relic and how he came to acquire it, Mr. Chadeayne says:

I knew the Hyslop family of New-York for many years, being personally acquainted with Robert, the last of the family. His grandfather was John Hyslop of Scotland, who came to this country in the eighteenth century, and was a close friend of the famous Revolutionary naval commander. In fact, it was always at the Hyslop home that the "Old" Jones made his home when in New-York. The family preserved a number of relics, which were closely associated with him, among them this curiass.

They lived at No. 7 John-st., and prior to the great fire of 1835 were people of wealth and position.

RAPID GROWTH OF YONKERS.

City Held Only 1,150 Free People and 36 Slaves in 1820.

Interesting figures, showing the tremendous growth of the City of Yonkers, were furnished by an old resident when it was announced that the figures on this year's census would be 61,048.

In 1820 Yonkers extended to the Harlem River and had 1,150 free people and thirty-six slaves within its borders. In 1840 there were 2,968 slaves.

In 1820 all Westchester County, which then included all of the present Borough of the Bronx, had 32,423 people, exclusive of the slaves. To-day, from figures received and from estimates of those in authority, it is said that the population of the present county is about 223,500.

In 1900 there were 183,375 people in the county. While the exact figures are not known, it is believed that the increases in the county since the census of 1900 will be as follows: the estimates having been made by a man in a position to know:

White Plains, 4,000; Mount Vernon, 5,000; New-Rochelle, 6,000; Greenburgh, 3,000; Cortlandt, 1,800; and Yonkers, 13,200. In many of the towns the increase of the population will be very slight, on the account of the many thousands of acres of land that New-York City has seized and cleared for the watershed.

SAILOR'S WEIRD YARN.

"This here hot weather," said the sailor, "together with the lack of ice in these here drinks reminds me of the time Carlos Ribelra and me was wrecked in the South Seas."

"In them hot waters we drifted on a raft for eleven days. Our food was raw fish and turtle. Our drink was rain water."

"The rain water we got by catching it in our shirts and wringin' it into a bottle. The shirts was red fannel, and when we wrung them the color run a little. Thus our drinkin' water was all but the hue of blood."

"But I started to tell you about the turtle."

"We'll have to treat this here turtle like the native does," he says. "We'll have to hang him up and cut chunks of him as we need them, keep 'im alive," he says, "or otherwise," he says, "he'll spile."

"And so to save our skins, we done it. We hung up that there turtle and we cut steaks off of him as we needed them, and, by crinus, he kept healthy to the end. To the end? Why, what happened to him? Was he rescued, and what sail him in sight and he was rescued, and when we tossed them remains overboard they swim off in good shape, if a trifle awkward."

"The natives in the tropics, where there ain't no ice, they'll eat a turtle, and when Carlos Ribelra says, I consider it the cruellest deed I ever heard of. Sometimes I think that, instead of takin' part in such a cruel deed, it would have been better for me if I'd 'a' let myself starve to death on the raft in the South Seas."—(Chicago Chronicle.)

WHITE MOUNTAIN SEASON.

Finally Fairly Under Way—Great Interest in Sports.

Bretton Woods, N. H., Aug. 5 (Special).—The White Mountain season is fairly launched, although it has taken six weeks to do it. The cottages, almost without exception, are tenanted, and there are several colonies of New-Yorkers, notably at Profile, Maplewood and Waumbek, besides a large number of scattered ones. Charles H. Ditson, of New-York, has a beautiful estate at Jackson, commanding a fine view of the Presidential Range. W. K.
