Hamburg Belle's Fast Mile—Graziadio Wins Turf Handicap.

The most violent admirer of the three-year-old Oiseau colt, for which James B. Brady paid $20,000 last fall, had to confess yesterday that his idol was of clay. He was a starter in an all age condition race at one mile, and in a field of five finished third. The two which followed him home were both two-year-olds. The five starters all met on even weight terms, and the only possible race that can be made for Oiseau was that of O'Neil did not give him as vigorous a ride as he is capable of.

Although the Turf Handicap was down on the programme for renewal, the race in which Hamburg Belle, Oiseau, Molly Brant and the two youngsters Sidney F. and Edna Jackson met aroused the most interest and was really the attraction of the day.

The public for a long time has been inclined to have doubts concerning the $30,000 colt as a medium of speculation, and plungers and pickers alike showed such a decided preference for the daughter of Hamburg that she ruled favorite at all times.

Those who received 5 to 6 for their money considered themselves lucky. Money was in the falling price. A heavy commission was taken on the ring on Oiseau by his owner, the price half a point, and he went to the post an equal second choice with Molly Brant.

Edna Jackson blazed the way through the back stretch at so fast a pace that when she retired and Hamburg Belle took up the running the latter was able to cover the mile in 1:28.45, which is the fastest time for the distance made at the meeting. Molly Brant hung on stoutly and beat Oiseau by six lengths. New her owner, the price half a point, and he went to the post an equal second choice with Molly Brant.

here from Fort Erie with a string of runners he hopes to have ready in a short time.

The Mirthful mare Marmes, a starter in the second race, returned to the judges' stand on three legs and apparently in such bad condition that she may be thrown out of training for the season. Marmes has always been a bad actor at the post, but she got away yesterday and paid for it.

W. Knapp added to his list of wins yesterday by bringing home Graziadio in the Turf Handicap. Bullman, who is riding in good form these days, put up one of his old-fashioned rides on Eugenia Burch and brought her first home after a sharp stretch struggle with Spring.

By a curious coincidence the tire of a motor car blew up just as Oiseau, the $30,000 colt, performed a similar "stunt," and there were men in the clubhouse and in the grandstand also who were brutal enough to say that they thought it was Mr. Brady's colt. "Diamond Jim" wagered $5,000 on Oiseau, and was so disappointed he jumped into his automobile without waiting to cool out.

In a vivid pink interview John W. Gates last night was quoted as saying that was impossible to beat the races by betting on them, and no one should ever think of wagering more than trivial sums purely for sport's sake. Mr. Drake gave similar advice a few weeks ago. To the thousands of English bookmakers whose "bankrolls" were transferred in their entirety to Messrs. Gates and Drake the day Royal Flush and American ran first and second for the Stewards' Cup this announcement undoubtedly will be received with a sigh of relief. Those bookmakers have not yet recovered from that particular betting for sport's sake.

Hermis and Delhi are equal top weights in the Ocean Handicap, to be run at Sheepshead Bay on Monday. As there is little chance of either starting, the most likely top weight seems to be Broomstick, with 125 pounds. In one of the closest races ever sailed between two boats of the New-York Yacht Club's one-design 30-foot class G. A. and P. H. Ade's Adelaide II won the final race yesterday of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club's regatta. She defeated the Hanan brothers' Nautilus by the small margin of 14 seconds, after beating to windward five and a half miles from the gas buoy off Little Captain's Island in a fresh breeze from the south-southwest.

The Adelaide wins the $100 cup presented by ex-Commodore E. C. Benedict, and the Nautilus gets a cup offered by the Indian Harbor Yacht Club. There were three distinct races yesterday. The first pair of boats, the Nautilus and the Atar, started at 11:30 a. m. and the second pair, the Adelaide and the Maid of Meudon, got away ten minutes later. These were the winners of Thursday's races. The Nautilus got the best of the four and ran through the race of four and a quarter miles to windward and back, defeating the Atar by 5 minutes. The Adelaide forced the Maid of Meudon to cross the line before the starting signal. They were both recalled and crossed anew. The Adelaide rounded the windward mark first, and finally won by 1 minute 11 seconds.

By the process of elimination the two boats that had been the fastest were now opposed to each other in the final race. The wind still held fresh and fairly steady from the south southwest, giving them an equal chance at the windward work. They made an even start, both being on the starboard tack, and the Nautilus, sailed by Robert and Philip Mallory, had the weather berth. The Adelaide, sailed by Captain Ade, overreached on her outside, and when they tacked thirty-seven minutes after the start, at a point off Oak Neck beach, she was well to windward. Against the ebb tide, the Nautilus made a dash for the windward mark, but it was too late to reach the outer mark—Mathlock Buoy—before the Adelaide, at 1:10, had rounded the point 58 seconds later.

The run before the wind, the spinnakers for the Nautilus were set and starboard for the rest of the race, occupied 58 minutes 16 seconds, and for part of the distance the Nautilus was slightly in the lead. Her crew, however, better course, however, and won by 14 seconds. The summary follows:

SECOND RACE—FIRST PAIR—START 11:30—COURSE 9 1/2 MILES. Yacht and owner. Finish. Elapsed time. Nautilus, Hanan brothers, 12:42:02 1:32:02. Atar, Cord Meyer, 12:47:00 1:37:02.

TROUBLE FOR THE MORE TROUBLE. Carries Away Peak Halyards and Loses Challenge Cup.

The third and final yacht race for the Childs Perpetual Challenge Cup was sailed in the Lower Bay yesterday afternoon by the Nautilus and the Adelaide, which furnished plenty of excitement both for the spectators and participants in the contest. W. H. Childs's sloop More Trouble, the holder of the cup, sailed yesterday as its defender, representing the Bensonhurst Yacht Club. The challenger, the New-York Canoe Club, was represented by Alfred Mackay's Ogeemah, and F. J. Healy's Quest.

The course of eleven and one-half miles, from the Nautilus Canoe Club pier to Buoy No. 12 to Buoy No. 7 and back, gave them a broad reach to the first mark, a point to the second, a spinnaker run to the third, and a reach from there to the fourth. The More Trouble and the Quest crossed the line at the start on even terms, with the latter to windward and the Ogeemah following in its wake.

At the end of the first leg the More Trouble was 100 yards ahead of the Quest, and the Ogeemah was 100 yards behind. The More Trouble carried away her peak halyards at the second mark, and the Ogeemah was on time allowance, as stated.

Through the bunching of hits and a few errors by the visitors, the Giants won a comparatively easy victory over Philadelphia at the Polo Grounds yesterday by a score of 4 to 1. Mathewson was in the box for the home team, and would probably have shut the Quakers out if it had not been for Donlin's error in the opening inning, which allowed Thomas to get to third, and when he scored on Courtney's out, Mathewson allowed only four scattered hits, and succeeded in making nine strike outs. He gave only one base on balls.

Pittinger, who pitched for the visitors, although allowing only seven hits, was somewhat wild, and gave four men bases on balls. In spite of the fact that four errors were credited to the local side, only Donlin's resulted seriously. McGraw argued on Johnston's decision of Strang's strike out, and once more was ordered off the field.

Mathewson had a busy time of it behind the plate, making nine put outs and two assists. Donlin's wild throw of Bresnahan's hit in the fourth inning gave the Giants their first run. Donlin's base on balls, McGraw's double and Dahlen's single gave the home team two more runs in the fifth inning. Merrett's single, Donlin's poor throw of Dauern's hit, and Devlin's fly brought in the final run for the Giants in the eighth inning. The score follows:

THE SUPERBAS HAS ONE BAD INNING AND BOSTON EARNS SAFE LEAD. Boston, Sept. 1.—The Superbas lost to Boston to-day, due to the bunching of hits by the home players and a series of errors in the third inning. Scanlon pitched for the visitors and put up a good exhibition, with the exception of this inning. Young, who acted in the same capacity for Boston, was in good form, and fielded his position perfectly, taking seven chances without a misplay.

NEW-YORK'S RIFLE HONORS. Only Four Players Survived the Match Play Rounds Yesterday.

The second and third rounds at match play for the Herald Cup under the auspices of the New-York Golf Club, were played yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park. The play throughout the day was interesting.

There was a hard struggle for supremacy between G. C. Rowe and C. V. Benton. Rowe went out in 38, to his opponent's 40, and led by 1 up at the turn, having won three holes to his opponent's two, the other four being halved. On the home ward journey Benton took the lead at the eleventh hole for the first time, and maintained it until the seventeenth hole, when the match was all square. Rowe, however, made good green. The summary of the day's play follows:

Second round—G. C. Rowe beat J. C. Davis, by 8 up and 1 to play; G. W. Floy beat J. P. Mulgrew, by 8 up and 1 to play; H. O. Parsons beat W. R. Wilton, by 4 up and 3 to play; G. B. Lawro beat G. W. Dunlop, by 2 up and 1 to play; H. O. Parsons beat W. R. Wilton, by 4 up and 3 to play; R. Taylor beat H. McCarthy, by 3 up; C. V. Benton beat William Wallace, by 1 up; G. C. Rowe beat E. B. Hurd, by 1 up.

Third round—Fred beat Massa by 6 up and 5 to play; Lawson beat Murray, by 1 up; Taylor, Parsons, by 2 up and 1 to play; Rowe beat Benton, by 1 up.

In the semi-final round this morning Floy will meet Lawson and Taylor will meet Rowe, and the winners will meet in the final round in the afternoon.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 1.—The feature of the fourth day of the Grand Circuit meeting at Narragansett Park to-day was the $5,000 match between Sweet Marie, 2:04 1/2, and Tiverton, 2:04 1/2. Handled by Alta McDonald and John Howell, Tiverton was the favorite, but Sweet Marie took the race in straight heats.

Tiverton broke badly in both heats, his breaks coming in the stretch, when steadiness was most required. In both heats the time for the first three-quarters of a mile was good, the horses in both heats going to the half in 1:04 and the three-quarters in 1:35. From the distance flag home, however, McDonald held Sweet Marie back and finished in a job, as Tiverton went to a break in both heats. The times for the miles were 2:04 and 2:05 1/2.

The best race of the day—and of the meeting, in fact—was the free for all pacing contest, two in three heats for a purse of $5,000. Seven of the fastest light harness horses started, but only one of these was exceptionally heavy, and while John M. was the favorite, many bought the field against him. The final outcome of the race showed that the second choice, Nathan Straus, was the best of the field.

In both heats from fifth position, at the half, he came a winner to the wire, in driving fashion. Nathan Straus, who followed him home, the little brown horse Locanda, showed great speed in the first half-mile in both heats, racing away in front, but tired as the field swung into the stretch, and the unfired 2:35 pace of Wednesday, in which Albata had two heats and Inter-Ocean one, Albata was picked to win to-day, and the selection proved a good one, for he took the fourth heat and first money after Inter-Ocean went to a bad break.
