Outcome of Typesetting Machine Wrangle—Successor Not Chosen.

F. W. PALMER, The Public Printer, whose resignation has been demanded by President Roosevelt.

Printer Palmer to send in his resignation, to take effect in two weeks. It has been known for some time that Mr. Palmer would not be reappointed to his present office.

The investigation made by the Keep Commission into the letting of a contract for seventy-two Lanston typesetting machines for use in the Government Printing Office disclosed a serious condition of affairs in the management of the office.

The evidence adduced by the commission in the course of its inquiry created much bitter feeling among the men holding high positions in the office.

ANOTHER LINDSLEY CASE.

Wild "Auto" Hurls Couple Over Thirty-Foot Bank.

Camden, N. J., Sept. 5.—A tragedy similar to the death of Lieutenant Harris Lindsley and his fiancée at Bennington, Vt., occurred here to-day, when Lieutenant Nell Wolf, secretary of a Philadelphia automobile company, and Miss Mamie Hamill, daughter of Hugh Hamill, a well known manufacturer of Germantown, Philadelphia, to whom Wolf was engaged, were killed in an automobile accident at Atco, N. J., a few miles below Camden, this afternoon.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 5.—The treaty of Portsmouth was signed shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon in the conference room of the navy general store at the navy yard.

Three o'clock was the hour set for the final session of the conference. An hour before that time a heavy shower was falling, but as M. Witte and Baron Rosen left the hotel in an automobile at 2:25 o'clock for the navy yard the rain stopped.

To this moment no word had broken the silence of the conference room. Throwing his pen aside, M. Witte, without a word, reached across the table and grasped Baron Komura's hand.

Baron Rosen was the first to break the silence. Rising from his seat, the Ambassador, looking Baron Komura and M. Takahira straight in the eye, said a few words which one had only to hear to know that they came straight from his heart.

THE PEACE TREATY SIGNED

Russian and Japanese Envoys Clasp Hands Across the Conference Table.

A BRIEF SECRET SESSION THEN HELD.

Baron Rosen and Baron Komura Make Speeches Expressive of Good Will—No Sign of Rejoicing in Russia—Advices from Tokio Lacking.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 5.—The treaty of Portsmouth was signed shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon in the conference room of the navy general store at the navy yard.

For forty-seven minutes those outside the conference room anxiously awaited the signal. Suddenly an orderly dashed to the entrance of the peace building, waved his hand to the gunner a few feet away, and the opening shot of the salute rang out, proclaiming peace between Russia and Japan.

The Russian plenipotentiaries reached the yard at 2:45, and were greeted by a salute of nineteen guns. The yard presented a lively scene as the automobile bearing M. Witte and Baron Rosen dashed up to the conference building.

There was nothing theatrical about this simple ceremony. It rang true, and deeply impressed the attachés and secretaries of the two missions, who, with the invited witnesses, had formed a large circle around the delegates sitting at the table.

Baron Rosen was the first to break the silence. Rising from his seat, the Ambassador, looking Baron Komura and M. Takahira straight in the eye, said a few words which one had only to hear to know that they came straight from his heart.

We have just signed an act which will have forever a place in the annals of history. It is not for us, active participants in the conclusion of this treaty, to pass judgment on its import and significance.

As plenipotentiaries of Russia we fulfil a most agreeable duty in acknowledging that in negotiating with our hitherto adversaries, and from this hour our friends, we have been dealing with true and thorough gentlemen, to whom we are happy to express our high esteem and personal regard.

Baron Komura replied that he shared entirely the views of Baron Rosen. The treaty of peace which they had just signed was in the interest of humanity and civilization, and he was happy to believe that it would bring about a firm, lasting peace between two neighboring empires.

HAMBURG'S QUARANTINE.

PROTECTION FOR THE U. S.

Eleven New Cases of Cholera Reported to Berlin—One Death.

Hamburg, Sept. 5.—A correspondent this afternoon visited the quarantine station conducted by the Hamburg-American Steamship Company under the direction of the government authorities, and every facility to investigate the conditions there and to ascertain what precautions were being taken to prevent the transshipment of infected emigrants to the United States was given to him.

As soon as the delegates had taken their seats M. Sato left his chair and went to M. Witte's side with the Japanese copies of the treaty, which he placed before him. At the same time M. Plancon placed the Russian copies of the treaty before Baron Komura.

Everybody in Hamburg is much concerned lest the cholera scare should disturb the commerce of the port. The Hamburg-American Line to-day decided to ship next Friday or Saturday the emigrants who have been detained on the Bulgaria.

Past Assistant Surgeon McLaughlin, who has been ordered here to make a thorough investigation of the situation, and who has been instructed to enforce the United States regulations relative to ships leaving for American ports, arrived here from Naples this afternoon.

Berlin, Sept. 5.—An official bulletin just issued announces that from noon yesterday to noon today eleven fresh cases of cholera and one death have been reported, making a total of seventy-seven cases and twenty-four deaths.

The new cases are from localities previously infected, hence the health authorities regard the past twenty-four hours with some satisfaction. The disease has not spread, and, with one or two exceptions, those newly ill were in quarantine because they had been in contact with cholera.

Passengers crossing the Russian frontier are examined, and their baggage, in some instances, is fumigated, especially in the case of those entering by the Warsaw route.

ALL CAUCASUS IN REVOLT.

OIL FIELDS IN FLAMES.

Hard Fighting at Baku and Shusha—Panic in Country.

Baku, Sept. 5.—Troops under the direction of the Governor are acting with the utmost vigor, but they have not succeeded in restoring order, although there seems to be less firing.

Armed rioters to-day attacked the oil works in the suburb of Balakhan, and after a hot fight set fire to them.

Tartar bands are scouring the country, murdering and pillaging. The country is in a state of wild panic, and houses and farms are being abandoned.

Famine in many parts of the country renders the situation more terrible. St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—A dispatch from Tiflis received to-day says:

The whole of the Southeast Caucasus is now terrorized by Tartars. Refugees are pouring in here from Baku, Elizabetopol and Shusha.

Details from Shusha show that several engagements were fought between Tartars and Armenians behind regular positions, and that a considerable part of the town was soon in flames. According to an official estimate over two hundred houses were destroyed.

Official dispatches from Baku say that the workmen's quarter of that city was burning last night. Fighting continues. Many of the oil fields are in flames. Reinforcements have been sent from Tiflis.

The Minister of Finance has received a telegram from the governing committee of the bourse at Nijni Novgorod, urgently appealing to him to adopt measures for the re-establishment of order at Baku.

Elizabetopol, Caucasus, Sept. 5.—Hard fighting has taken place between Tartars and Armenians in the village of Khankend.

There is great alarm here. All the Armenian shops are closed, and troops are patrolling the streets day and night.

Kutais, Caucasus, Sept. 5.—A conflict between nobles and peasants took place to-day in the village of Grandlet. Eleven persons were killed or wounded.

MILLIONS LOST IN FIRE.

Three Hundred Tanks at Baku Blazing—A Blow to Empire.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 6.—The latest reports from Baku indicate that conditions are slightly better. There was only desultory fighting up to last evening, but the disturbances yesterday were marked by immense property losses, which fall with crushing weight on the Russian oil industry.

The oil men have telegraphed to Emperor Nicholas imploring the protection of the government and asking for assistance to prevent the complete destruction of their properties in the Baku district, which give to the State 100,000,000 rubles in revenue and furnish heat and light to Russia.

A deputation of oil representatives called last evening on the Finance Minister, M. Kokovloff, and the same deputation will to-day seek an audience with the Minister of the Interior.
