

ROUGH RIDER KILLED.

CRUSHED UNDER "AUTO."

Princeton Man Seriously Injured in Accident in Jersey.

(By Telegram to The Tribune.) Hightstown, N. J., Sept. 19.—Robert L. Kidd, of Staten Island, one of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, was killed, and S. H. H. Bird, a stepson of C. T. Cook, president of the Tiffany Company of New-York, was seriously injured in an automobile accident about a mile from here this morning.

Mr. Bird is president of the senior class in Princeton University. This morning he started for Princeton from his summer home at Elberon in a 20-horsepower car, accompanied by Kidd, who had been his chauffeur during the summer.

When the smash came Kidd struck the telegraph pole, his shoulder was broken and there are indications that his neck was dislocated. He lived for nearly a quarter of an hour after the accident, speaking to Bird several times before he died.

The news of the accident soon reached Princeton, and a number of the students who had returned from their vacations came here and offered their services.

Kidd served with the Rough Riders in Cuba, and upon the muster-out of that regiment enlisted again in the regular army. He served with distinguished bravery through the Boxer uprising in China, and in the Philippines.

WOULD KILL SEN. CANNON

Mrs. Schoff Says Mormons Have Condemned Him to Death.

(By Telegram to The Tribune.) Denver, Sept. 19.—That Senator Frank J. Cannon has been condemned to die by the Mormons is alleged by Mrs. Schoff, president of the National Mothers' Congress, who has just returned from an investigation of conditions in Utah.

Mrs. Schoff says she and her friends are "fighting for New-York high school girls who are enticed by Mormon agents to Salt Lake City under the promise of alluring business positions, for the legitimacy of unborn children and to save the very nation."

She declares that the Mormons are working to obtain control of the federal government, and says they believe they will succeed.

Mrs. Schoff says she has full details of the endowment house ceremony, adding:

It lasts from 7 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the evening, and it is horrible. I am going to expose it in the East, expose it so that the American people may know the beastliness of the Mormons.

Mrs. Schoff addressed a large audience of Denver women on Mormonism to-day.

SAVE STUDEBAKER BODY.

Guard at Grave Routs Ghouls After Pistol Fight.

(By Telegram to The Tribune.) Indianapolis, Sept. 19.—An attempt was made at midnight last night to rob the grave of Clem Studebaker, the wealthy wagon maker of South Bend, and, except for prompt action on the part of the guard, it might have been successful.

Thomas Hackney was on guard at the time, and was eating his luncheon, with his back to the grave. Attracted by a noise, he turned around and saw two men approaching on their hands and knees. He called to them, and both turned away. Hackney fired his revolver, and the two men dodged behind a monument and returned the fire. They then ran, but managed to keep monuments between them and Hackney, who pursued them nearly to the cemetery fence. There they came to bay and fired so determinedly that Hackney did not dare approach.

As the guard retreated the ghouls cleared the fence and jumped into a wagon and drove rapidly away. It developed to-day that there were five or six men in the party, and they evidently intended to steal the body and hold it for ransom.

Bankbooks and $30,000 in Bonds Found After Death.

Kingston, N. Y., Sept. 19.—Albert Hertz, a pedler, who had been coming to this city for many years, died last night at Kingston City Hospital. In an effort to identify him, members of the congregation Agudath Achim to-day searched his trunk. Besides several bankbooks and a few papers, they found a large amount of money, including $30,000 in United States Steel Corporation bonds.

Attempts to communicate with a supposed sister, Catherine, of Clinton-st., New-York City, were unsuccessful. The principal stock in trade carried by Hertz consisted of pins, stationery and cheap jewelry. He is supposed to have accumulated his fortune by peddling these.

Pittsburg Woman Will Write Letters of Protest to President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

(By Telegram to The Tribune.) Pittsburg, Sept. 19.—Mrs. E. S. Lippencott, of this city, secretary of the Society for the Improvement of the Poor, announced to-day that she would write letters to President and Mrs. Roosevelt, protesting against the President's policy on race suicide.

Mrs. Lippencott says that she has determined to take this action on account of the great amount of suffering that she sees every day in large families of poor people. She says that both the parents and the children suffer because of the inability of the parents properly to clothe, feed and educate their children.

Mrs. Lippencott thinks that the President has been responsible for many persons bringing children into the world when they were not able properly to care for them.

PRESIDENT'S SON TO ENTER HARVARD.

(By Telegram to The Tribune.) Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 19.—Secretary Hart of the Harvard faculty, announced to-day that Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., the President's oldest son, had passed the admission examinations for Harvard, and that he would matriculate this fall. Young Roosevelt has taken Room No. 15 in Claverly Hall. It is expected that he will be in Cambridge this week, getting ready for the opening of college on next Thursday.

BREMEN'S SHAFT BROKEN.

Steamer Towed 230 Miles to Halifax—All on Board Well.

Halifax, Sept. 19.—The North German Lloyd steamer Bremen, Captain R. Nierlich, from New-York on September 14, bound for Bremen, was towed here to-day by the British tank steamer Lucigen, from Shields on September 5, for Philadelphia. The port taltshaft of the Bremen broke on the afternoon of September 15, and the accident damaged the starboard propeller.

Attempts which were made by the engineers to repair the damage were unsuccessful, and the steamer rolled helplessly in a heavy swell.

At 8 a. m. on September 16 the Lucigen was sighted and answered the Bremen's signals of distress. The Lucigen took the steamer in tow at noon, but the vessels had not gone far before the lines parted. This caused a delay of four hours, and it was 5 o'clock before the steamers started again. They headed for Halifax and arrived here this afternoon. Besides a large general cargo, the Bremen has thirty-nine saloon, seventy-three second cabin and fifty-six steerage passengers.

To-morrow divers will make an examination of the steamer. The Bremen may be detained here for six weeks. The passengers of the Bremen felt no concern, as the weather was moderate and the liner was not far from port.

Robert Winter, the local agent of the North German Lloyd, said last night that he had received a partial report of the accident. He added:

My information is that the Bremen's shaft broke, making it impossible for her to continue her voyage. She was towed a distance of 230 miles to the nearest port, Halifax. I have ordered the Neckar, in complete readiness to sail for Halifax to-morrow, to take the passengers of the Bremen and continue the voyage. It will take several weeks to put the Bremen in shape.

The Bremen arrived in New-York from Bremen, by way of Cherbourg, on September 5, and sailed for Bremen on September 14. She is a steel twin screw steamer registering 7,322 tons net, and is owned by the North German Lloyd Steamship Company. The Lucigen is a British tank steamer of 2,922 tons burden.

Among the passengers from New-York who are on the Bremen are:

- Max Bristenbach, Walter Constable, Mrs. William Harold Noid, Mrs. Frederick Duerfeld and infant, Miss Emily Ehrenberg, Mrs. Rudolf Eppel, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grum, Mrs. Krauss, Among those from Brooklyn: Asahel Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doscher, Mrs. Bertha Morisse, Henry S. Nordrop, Miss Anna Lange, of Paterson, N. J., is also a passenger on the Bremen.

BROKER SHOTS NEGRO.

Says Latter Was Insolent—Anticipates Razor with Bullet.

New-Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 19 (Special).—"Now, you nigger, I'll teach you how to talk to a white man!" cried Charles E. Napp, formerly a Southerner, now a real estate broker, of No. 949 Broadway, New-York, this morning, as he discharged a revolver at Daniel Coleman, a negro hostler employed in the livery stable of W. S. Rule, at Metuchen. The bullet struck Coleman in the chest and glanced into his arm.

The trouble arose over the negro's alleged insolence to the broker. Napp was conveying a Shetland pony from New-York to his home at Trenton, and the journey having tired the animal, its owner stopped at Metuchen and made arrangements for shipping the pony the rest of the way by rail. In driving up to Rule's stable, Napp shouted for Coleman to come out and help him unhitch the negro, who was busy at the time.

"Oh, I'll come out when I get ready," he responded, and the reply nettled Napp. He spoke sharply to Coleman, and the latter retorted in kind. Napp says the man threatened him with a razor. Then Napp, who was unarmed, hurried to a hardware store, purchased a revolver, and, returning to the stable, shot Coleman.

Napp was placed under arrest. He telephoned to his nearest friend, E. L. Kerns, of Trenton, to get bail.

GAYNOR'S "NO" IN LETTER NOT THOUGHT FINAL.

J. B. Leavitt, McClellan Man in C. U., Gets Word.

Justice William J. Gaynor, in a letter to John Brooks Leavitt, of the Citizens Union city committee, says that he is not a candidate for Mayor, and that his name is not to be used. Largely on account of the fact that Mr. Leavitt is a strong advocate of the re-election of Mayor McClellan and last winter in the Citizens Union introduced a resolution calling for his endorsement by the union, the letter received by Mr. Leavitt from Justice Gaynor is not regarded as either important or conclusive.

The Republican conference, representing the element which will contribute the preponderance of votes against the Tammany ticket on November 7, have no doubt that when the Mayorality nomination is offered to Justice Gaynor, if it is, it will evoke from him a response totally different from the one received by Mr. Leavitt and used with suspicious fervor by the element in the Citizens Union hostile to the nomination of Mr. Gaynor.

The letter from Justice Gaynor to Mr. Leavitt is as follows:

My Dear Leavitt: In answer to your inquiry, I can only say that on the day I arrived from Europe certain eminent gentlemen saw me and requested me to allow my name to be presented to and agreed upon for the fusion Mayorality conference. I felt constrained to decline, and my determination was communicated to them. All of that occurred last week and did not get to me until for me to make a public announcement of the fact, but you can show this letter if you wish. My name is not to be used. Yours sincerely, W. J. GAYNOR.

"What else could Justice Gaynor say?" was the universal question among the Republican conferees yesterday when Mr. Leavitt's status became fully known. When seen at his office, Mr. Fulton Cutting said that Mr. Leavitt had acted on his own initiative in getting from Mr. Gaynor an expression of his views previous to official action by the important factors in the anti-Tammany movement.

CALLS INDORSEMENT BACKHANDED. "It should be borne in mind," said a Republican conferee, "that Mr. Cutting, for some reason or other, we do not know what, is hostile to Justice Gaynor. He and his immediate friends dominates the Citizens Union and all its committees. The committee on nominations of the union, acting in sympathy with the wishes of Mr. Cutting, passed a resolution declaring that Mr. Gaynor was not an available candidate. The night that Mr. Cutting and his friends boycotted the fusion conference the sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of nominating Mr. Gaynor. Mr. Cutting discovered this early, and walked out of the fusion conference, giving as a reason that the Republicans would not discuss candidates and were wasting time.

"At the meeting of the Citizens Union last night President Cutting received a backhanded endorsement of his action, the spirit of the resolution which was adopted being clearly a notice to him to go back to the fusion conference and work for a winning anti-Tammany ticket. The committee on nominations met this afternoon, and the first step in the ostensible carrying out of the spirit of the resolution was to flash a letter from Mr. Leavitt, an avowed McClellan advocate, which, from one point of view, justified the Cutting course in its hostility to the judge.

This whole business savors of disingenuousness and ward politics, and is unworthy high-minded men. Mr. Gaynor is admittedly the most available candidate to run against McClellan, and the rank and file of the Citizens Union are aware of this fact. They let Mr. Cutting's fusion conference be passed. Mr. Cutting will have to obey the spirit actuating the rank and file in their desire to put a winning anti-Tammany ticket in the field, or the Union will go to pieces.

AFTER THE PRIMARIES.

PLUNKITT IN MOURNING.

"The" McManus Triumphant—Results of Other Leadership Contests.

RESULTS OF THE PRIMARIES.

Table with 2 columns: REPUBLICAN and TAMMANY. Lists names of candidates and their respective districts.

Primaries, Democratic and Republican, were held in every Assembly district in this city yesterday.

In the majority of the districts the primaries passed off quietly without contest, but in several districts the fights for leadership were exceptionally bitter. The hottest fight was in the 15th, where ex-Senator George W. Plunkitt, with his ally, John E. Dordan, lined up against "The" McManus.

In the 13th District Herman Joveshof had a hard struggle with Michael Blake. Joveshof got 441 votes and Blake 424. Blake announced last night that 40 votes had been illegally cast for Joveshof, and that he would contest the election.

Theodore P. Gilman, the Republican leader in the 19th District, defeated ex-Congressman W. H. Douglas, who opposed him, by a vote of 1,820 to 710.

In the Democratic districts the fights were carried on viciously. In the 5th District, Joseph Prendergast, backed by Senator Bernard F. Martin, had a fight on his hands to retain the leadership. George S. O'Neil was his opponent. O'Neil was backed by William Astor Chanler, the ex-Congressman. Prendergast won by a vote of 1,116 to 658.

In the 10th District, Julius Harburger was triumphant. The Sullivan clan took a hand in this district and Congressman Sullivan, "The Big Feller," made a speech in the district in favor of Harburger. Samuel Maas, his opponent, got only 171 votes, while Harburger got 1,836.

The fight in the 15th was the bitterest of all. It is described in another column. McManus defeated Plunkitt by a comfortable margin.

In the 27th District, James J. Martin, the present leader, defeated T. L. Reynolds, the aspirant for the leadership, by a vote of 1,210 to 185.

In the 30th District, William Sinnott, the present leader, was opposed by George A. Burrell. Sinnott got 2,651 votes, while Burrell got 1,474.

In the 32d District, Senator James J. Frawley slaughtered John J. Farnam, who aspired to be leader. The vote was 2,694 for Frawley and 1,175 for Farnam.

In the other districts, Democratic and Republican, there were no contests, and the day passed off quietly.

HOT FIGHT IN THE 15TH.

Police Play Big Part in Plunkitt-McManus Contest.

Helped by the Sullivan and numerous gangs of "hooters," his opponents charged, Thomas J. McManus, present leader of the 15th Assembly District, last night by 371 votes over George W. Plunkitt, present leader. The votes polled by Alderman Richter will be swung to the McManus total. The Plunkitt-Dordan coalition, confident of victory until the returns began to come in, were almost funeral in their attitude to receive figures even from their strong districts.

The totals were: McManus, 1,482; Richter, 323; a total of 1,734; Plunkitt, 811; Dordan, 819; a total of 1,383.

The fight, notable for the struggle made by ex-Senator Plunkitt, "the old warhorse of Tammany," against the younger element of the district which defeated him last autumn, was one of the bitterest primary contests in the history of Tammany Hall. Vilification and abuse were ladled out by the orators for both sides. Plunkitt was a "tightwad," McManus "a traitor to Plunkitt and Tammany Hall." Charges were made several days ago that each leader was preparing to vote "water" by the score.

Opening rather quietly, the day developed into a hurly-burly of rough and tumble fights in and around the polling places which kept the police busy until the close of the voting. More than fifty arrests were recorded. Extraordinary precautions were taken. Captain Gallagher, of the West 4th-st. station, detailed 150 patrolmen to watch the polling places. Reserves were held in the station house ready for any emergency. About twenty-five plain clothes men were scattered through the district, and about a dozen detective sergeants from headquarters were detailed to watch for suspicious characters.

The round-up of suspicious characters made by the detectives included a dozen men whose photographs are in the Rogues Gallery. All were there to vote as "hooters," according to Captain Gallagher and the detectives. John Wilson, alias "Clary," arrested by Detective Sergeants Fogarty and Daly, carried a heavy revolver and a razor ready for use. He had in an inside pocket $24, in $1 bills, "pay for thirty-two votes," according to the detectives.

William Hickley, arrested with two other men as "suspicious persons" by the same detectives, is said to be a nephew of ex-Senator Plunkitt's first wife. Plunkitt was raging round the station house offering $100.00 bail for the night, but Hickley was taken to headquarters for the youth.
