

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

JOHN P. HAINES OUT.

Audubon Society Drops Him from List of Honorary Presidents.

John P. Haines, former president of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was dropped from the list of honorary presidents of the Audubon Society of the State of New-York at its annual meeting, held in the Museum of Natural History yesterday afternoon. The nominations were read by William Dutcher, of the executive committee, and no change was made in the list of honorary vice-presidents save for the omission of two names, those of the late Mrs. Charles Russell Lowell and Mr. Haines. After reading the nominations, Mr. Dutcher mentioned that Mrs. Lowell, who had always been a warm friend of the society, had died during the year, but he made no reference to Mr. Haines. The ticket was then put to the house by the chairman, Frank M. Chapman, and elected unanimously as follows:

President—Morris K. Jessup.
Honorary vice-presidents—Mrs. Robert Abbe, New-York City; Miss Maria R. Audubon, Salem, N. Y.; Mrs. Samuel P. Avery, New-York City; Miss Eleanor Blodgett, New-York City; Mrs. William C. Doane, Albany; Mrs. David S. Edleston, New-York City; Mrs. Morris K. Jessup, New-York City; Mrs. Cadwallader Jones, New-York City; William M. Kingsland, New-York City; Mrs. Francis P. Kinnelutt, New-York City; Mrs. Seth Low, New-York City; Mrs. V. Everett Macy, Scarsdale, N. Y.; Mrs. Henry Fairchild Osborn, New-York City; Mrs. James Roosevelt, Hyde Park, N. Y.; Mrs. Frank S. Sturgis, New-York City; John King Van Rensselaer, New-York City; John Burroughs, West Park, N. Y.; J. Cadwallader, New-York City; Dr. George W. Gilman, New-York City; The Right Rev. Henry C. Potter, New-York City; Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, N. Y.; Albert H. Thayer, Monroeville, N. Y.
Vice-president—Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus.
Secretary and treasurer—Miss Emma H. Lockwood.

Board of directors—Morris K. Jessup, Dr. Hermon C. Bumpus, Mrs. Melbert B. Cary, Miss Lillian Cook, Miss Emma H. Lockwood, Mrs. Thorne Miller, Mrs. May Riley Smith, Mrs. Mabel Esmond Wright, Dr. J. A. Allen, Frank M. Chapman, William Dutcher, the Rev. Henry van Dyke, William T. Hornaday and Dr. Frederick Peterson.

Resolutions opposing the passage of bills to permit the importation of game into the state during the closed season and the shooting of wild fowl in spring were adopted, and in proposing them Mr. Dutcher declared a war to the death against that "great white abomination," the albatross.

"We have tried persuasion without avail," he said; "now we are going to try force."

Nothing will be done, however, until the society gets through with its present legislative fights, of which it has several on, the one against the importation bill being considered the most important.

"If game dealers get a law permitting the sale of foreign game in the closed season," said Mr. Dutcher, "next season the milliners will bring a bill to permit the sale of foreign game. A bill becomes a law of the American people is doomed to extinction, for how in the name of heaven can we tell whether an albatross is native or imported?"

Mr. Dutcher stated that the Fish and Game Commissioner had failed to notify the Audubon Society when a hearing was held on this bill, and that in consequence it had been reported favorably to the house. Through the efforts of the society, however, it was sent back to the committee, where it now rests.

Following the business the Rev. H. K. Job gave an illustrated lecture on birds, showing some things seldom or never photographed before.

THE GREAT NEED OF THE Y. W. C. A.

The Young Women's Christian Association of the city of New-York appeals to its friends and the public for immediate financial help.

The record of thirty-five years of work done by the association emboldens it to ask for a recognized place on the list of those charities which annually secure a deserved support. To meet the obligations incurred during 1905 it was necessary to use about $15,000 of the association's unrestricted income. Contributions, large or small, will be gratefully received, and may be sent to George F. B. Terwirth, assistant treasurer, No. 7 East 15th street.

STUDENTS' CLUB HOME.
Woman's Board Planning Larger Quarters for Medical Men.
The women's advisory board of the Students' Club, the intercollegiate branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, is anxious to secure new quarters so as to enlarge the work it is conducting at No. 129 Lexington avenue for medical students, and it would gladly move into them to-morrow, but it has not yet decided on the location, nor has it in hand the necessary funds. Thirty thousand dollars is the amount which the women think they will need. There was a meeting yesterday morning at the apartment of Mrs. F. K. Hain, No. 165 West 85th street, to talk over the needs of the organization and interest the members, who include many well known women, in raising this sum. A gift of $100 from Miss Helen Miller Gould toward the running expenses was announced. The board has also about $2,000, which it expects to use for the furnishing of its new house when it gets it.

The plans, as outlined by W. H. Tinker, the secretary, is to secure accommodations for forty students instead of the eighteen who are all that can now be accommodated.

"Instead of a little brownstone house with a 25-foot front," he said, "we want a home for forty men which will be a social center, and where God will be feared every day. If there is one class of men neglected more than another it is the medical student."
John H. MacCracken, syndic of the New-York University, said that there were not as many medical students in New-York to-day as there were twenty years ago, the lack of accommodations here being one of the reasons which take them elsewhere.

"What has the medical student done for New-York?" asks Dr. D. B. St. John Roosa. "When I was a medical student here there was one medical college and two hundred students in it. Now there are twenty-five hundred young men and a few women students here, and New-York has become one of the medical centers. New-York contributes to the health of the world. It was men educated in New-York who took the first steps toward stamping out the cholera germ and the yellow fever pest. My presence here in the middle of the working day of a New-York physician testifies to my sympathy with the Students' Club and its proposed enlargement."

Among the women interested in the club are Mrs. Sarah I. Hurr, Miss Grace H. Dodge, Mrs. Henry M. MacCracken, Mrs. Seth Low, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Edwin Gould, Mrs. George F. Shrady, Mrs. George P. Slade and Mrs. Henry Clarke Cook.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

The article in Sunday's Tribune protesting against the cruelty inflicted upon livestock in transportation from the West here will, it is to be hoped, bring this deplorable fact to the attention of those who have the cause of animal protection at heart, and help to open the way to effectual interference and so to the betterment of existing conditions.

There is, certainly, a most urgent need of reform, not only in justice to the poor, tortured brutes, but to the consumers of the "meat" which plagues them. It is a consumable which has been kept in an unhealthy and unsanitary condition.

CONSUMPTIVE HOME.

Through the courtesy and generosity of Frederick Loese & Co., of Brooklyn, a fine clock for the consumptive home in Florida has been contributed to Mrs. M. P. Schlatter, who has forwarded it to the office for shipment. Mrs. Schlatter has a deep interest in the home, and has been the means of sending many helpful gifts to it.

An extract from a letter written by Dr. Byrd, of the State Board of Health of Florida, to Dr. Dennis will show the interest taken in the work by that board. He says:

Dr. Porter, president of the State Board, has made extensive mention in the seventeenth annual report of the State Board of Health of your work in behalf of victims of the "great white plague," and he desires one or more pictures of the building and grounds to insert with the notice. The president has also made mention of your work in his annual report to the Governor, which is published in "The Times Union" of March 8. I hope to make a visit to your building some time in the early spring. At present I am filling Dr. Porter's place in his absence.

WHEEL CHAIR.
Mrs. Mendes, president of one of the Manhattan branches, was the first to apply for the wheel chair not in use in Brooklyn, and will send it to an accident.

FLOWER SEEDS.
Miss Kate E. Hawkins, Susquehanna, Penna., R. F. D. No. 2, Box 10, has a quantity of flower seeds and her mother raise in their flower garden. Among them are all kinds of the sweet old-fashioned flowers. The seed packages are only three and four cents. Mrs. A. J. Brown, of New-York, may be sent. Miss Hawkins hopes the T. S. S. friends will remember her with orders, as they did last spring.

WERE CHEERED.
The gentleman on the East Side writes that when the severe storm came on Thursday she was doubly grateful for the Sunshine help that had previously reached her, and made her comfortable with food and coal, so that even her little basement home seemed bright and cheery.

THE $5 for the emergency fund received yesterday from Miss Shipley went at once to an educated and refined woman—a trained nurse—whose heart trouble prevents her from following her profession. Weeks of illness with black diphtheria, some months ago, exhausted her little savings. She is competent, and anxious to obtain work.

REQUEST FOR CHILDREN.
A few toys and picture books are requested as suitable for a little girl, nine years old, in Vermont, who is recovering from typhoid fever.

THE LITTLE SON OF MIA. O. F. Winterton has had a fall that broke his arm and dislocated his wrist. She writes that the coming days will not be very sunny for him. As there is not a picture scrap book at the office, it is hoped that some of the members please supply the need?

SOME FACTORY CONDITIONS.
Mrs. Nathan describes employees' trials at Mrs. Satterlee's home.

If women knew the conditions under which some of the beautiful silks they so much delight in were made they would dress in cotton for the rest of their lives. It is rather than wear them, according to Mrs. Frederick Nathan, president of the Consumers' League of New-York. But she doesn't think this sacrifice is necessary, for by bringing a little pressure to bear on the manufacturer they can change the conditions.

"There is one silk factory," Mrs. Nathan said at a recent meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society at the home of Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, No. 25 Madison avenue, on Thursday morning, "where the doors are locked five minutes before the close of the law in one year. The girls were required to stand at the looms because the employers thought that they could not work so well seated, and when the luncheon hour came they had to sit down on the floor in the narrow aisles between the looms. The girls were required to stand at the looms because the employers thought that they could not work so well seated, and when the luncheon hour came they had to sit down on the floor in the narrow aisles between the looms. The girls were required to stand at the looms because the employers thought that they could not work so well seated, and when the luncheon hour came they had to sit down on the floor in the narrow aisles between the looms."

"Since the passage of the Mercantile law conditions in factories have improved a little," Mrs. Nathan said, but she thinks that a demand for the Consumers' League is needed, testifying that the article bearing it has been made under proper conditions would be much more effective than law.

GOOD CHEER.
Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on.
'Twas not given for you alone—
Pass it on.
Let it travel down the years
Let it wipe another's tears,
Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on.

DAILY THOUGHT.
Happily, happily,
I pass it along,
Eager to work for Thee,
Largest and strong,
Life is for service true,
Life is for battle too,
Life is for song,
Hopefully, hopefully,
I pass it on,
Cheerfully, cheerfully,
Meet I the foe,
I am glad to be waiting us,
Glorious prepared for us,
Joy's overflow. —Bonar.

HOW TO ADDRESS THE T. S. S.
All letters and packages intended for the T. S. S. should be addressed to the Tribune Sunshine Society, Tribune Building, New-York City. If the above address is carefully observed, communications intended for the T. S. S. will be less likely to go astray. The Tribune Sunshine Society has in connection with any other organization or publication using the word "Sunshine." All checks and money orders should be made payable to the Tribune Sunshine Society.

Y., $1 for aged member.

SHAMROCKS TO THE FORE.
All Honor Ireland's Patron Saint To-day.

This is green Ireland's own day. All over the country there are masses and sermons, parades and reviews, dinners and fine speeches and deep drinking to the memory of Ireland's great ones. In New-York to-day fifty thousand Irishmen and Irish-American men will parade under the auspices of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, of New-York County. As already told in The Tribune, every Irish military and civic organization will be in line. Martin J. Kane will be the grand marshal and the headquarters the Vanderbilt Hotel, at 42d street and Lexington avenue. The parade will move from 42d street and Fifth avenue at 2 o'clock; the gallant 89th, under Colonel Edward Duffy, acting in escort. Archbishop Farley and other prelates will review the parade from his home at Madison avenue and 50th street. The Mayor and other city officials will be in carriages.

Prior to the parade there will be a pontifical mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Archbishop Farley being the celebrant. Father Daly will preach the sermon.

In the evening there will be numerous dinners and balls, chief of which will be that of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, at Delmonico's, and the Friends of Ireland, at Shanley's Roman Court. W. Bourke Keenan will be the principal speaker at the former dinner, and Corporation Counsel Delany will be toastmaster at the latter.

Jersey City to-day will be similarly observed. Mayor Fagan, of that city, distributed shamrocks yesterday in the suburban town. The parade of the Irish societies will parade in the morning.

LOCOMOTIVE GIVES FIRE ALARM.
Driver Toots Whistle and Probably Saves Family from Death.

The engineer of a Long Island Railroad train passing through Queens, Long Island, about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, saw a fire in the engine. The engineer blew the whistle, sounded the engine bell and aroused the residents. The house stood near the railroad track, and was occupied by Henry Flaherty and his wife, three children and a servant. They found the lower part of their dwelling in flames, and had only time to get out in their night clothes.

Mr. Flaherty had got the others out of the house when he discovered that the youngest child was being burned. He dashed into the burning building. When he got back to the front door, with the child in his arms, the door frame was so hot that he had to dash through it and was painfully scorched.

The family found shelter in a stable. Horse blankets were used as a protection against the cold. The house was owned by ex-Borough President Cassidy of Long Island City, and was valued at $2,000. Mr. Flaherty places his own furniture and personal effects at a like amount. The origin of the fire is unknown.

FORMER "COUNTS" IN SANATORIUM.
Mrs. Virginia Knox Patterson, who got a divorce from "Count" Montecarlo, of Italy, and who was taken to Bellevue Hospital ten days ago suffering from dipomania, was removed from the psychopathic ward of the hospital to the private sanatorium of the Catholic Hospital, at Pleasantville, Westchester County, yesterday.

CIRCUS MOVES IN TO-DAY.

Barnum & Bailey Show Comes to Town—Opening Thursday.

This is the annual moving day with the Barnum & Bailey show. For the forty-third year the circus will begin its season in New-York, in Madison Square Garden, and this event is considered the real opening of the circus season. Possession will be taken at 12 o'clock to-night, when a large force of men will be set to work adapting the premises to the various acts. They will work all night, to be succeeded by a new force at 7 a. m.

The circus left winter quarters at Bridgeport this morning and will arrive in Hottel Haven in its own trains late to-night. As the animals are unloaded they will march to Madison Square Garden, reaching there about 1 a. m. The route selected is Lincoln avenue to 134th street, to Willis avenue and over the bridge to First avenue, thence to 23d street, to Fourth avenue and into the Garden. Two runways will be built in Fourth avenue to permit of placing the cages of animals and herds of elephants, giraffes and other beasts in the basement, and it is expected that work will be so far advanced by Monday that the artists may begin their rehearsals.

The hauling of dirt and the building of rings and hippodrome tracks will occupy the attention of two hundred men, and the apparatus for the new sensational act called "The Limit" will be erected under the direction of the inventor, M. Breech, who has arrived with his corps of experienced French engineers. "The Dip of Death," the big feature act of last season, will be offered again, and the new historical spectacle, "Peace, or America's Triumph," is announced as the grand opening number.

Many new features are announced this season, special attention having been given to the zoological department, which can now boast of having the most wonderful collection of wild beasts in the world.

The Hall of Varied Amusements will be augmented by many new "freaks," singers, dancers and musicians, and the interesting hippodrome races others in quite decided plaids, even to valets woven with crossbars in hemstitched effect, as beautiful as novel.

The Suits have various styles of bolero and Eton jackets, plaited, embroidered, braided and trimmed with applique and lace. All have elbow sleeves in a multitude of variations. The skirts are circular, gored, plaited in clusters and some in princess effect.

Among the Tailored Voile Suits are those specially described at popular prices: Suits of voile. Eton jacket, plaited from shoulder, and trimmed with wide and narrow soutache braids; elbow sleeves, with fancy shaped cuffs. Gored skirt, plaited, giving a graceful flare. At $45.

Suits of fine chiffon voile. Bolero jacket, side-plaited, collarless; edged with taffeta braid in self-colors, and fine lace; elbow sleeves, finished to correspond. Circular skirt, box-plaited front, finished at bottom with rows of plaits. At $60.

Suits of fine voile. Eton jacket, collarless, edged with embroidered taffeta; trimmed with panels of silk, braided, elbow sleeves, finished to correspond. Circular skirt, box-plaited front, finished at bottom with rows of plaits. At $60.

Suits of fine voile. Eton jacket, collarless, edged with white lace down front on inside; white Renaissance collar. Taffeta lining. 36 inches long. Second floor, Broadway.

The Voile is an appropriate fabric for Spring Coats. And Fashion approves it. Voile and Taffeta, she places first in the wardrobe of well-dressed women.

Light in weight—yet protective—soft and graceful—yet crisp and firm. And in perfect accord with street or evening dresses. That's the voile coat's reason for ruling.

These are especially handsome—quite the handsomest in New-York today. And, considering the scarcity of fine voile and the demand for it, almost incredibly low priced:

At $20—Loose back; single-breasted; collarless; trimmed with taffeta and braid; lined with fine black taffeta. 33 inches long.

At $25—Full loose back; single-breasted; collarless; beautifully trimmed with taffeta and braid; lined throughout with fine black taffeta. 36 inches long.

At $37.50—Semi-fitted back; single-breasted; seams finished with black broadcloth strappings. Trimmed with a beautiful hand-made lace collar; taffeta lining. 36 inches long.

At $37.50—Tight-fitting; side-plaited; trimmed with white lace down front on inside; white Renaissance collar. Taffeta lining. 36 inches long. Second floor, Broadway.

The manufacturers of L. R. Corsets are in closest touch with the sources of style in Paris. Their product constantly represents the most advanced styles, and the construction is of the highest order, both in material and workmanship. Particularly this season, when the figure lines are so important to the beauty of the costume, L. R. Corsets show their pre-eminence. They are made in models to suit all figures, and in each model the very best lines are procured.

The figure illustrated shows one of the fashionable suits of the present season, and every woman will recognize the importance of the corset in bringing out the best possible effect. The model shown is a $2 L. R. Corset, as stylish and as graceful as a French corset costing several times its price. This model is suited to the average figure, giving a graceful and buoyant effect with entire comfort to the wearer. A very handsome corset, indeed, at the price—$2. Among a score of other models of L. R. Corsets, we describe the following:

At $1—Eight different models of L. R. Corsets, providing for the tall, short, medium and stout figures.

At $1.50—Six different L. R. models, of batists and coutil, with short and long hips.

At $3—L. R. Corsets adapted to the full figure. In two new Spring models, with extremely high bust and small waist.

At $3.75—A fine L. R. model for stout figures, made of heavy coutil; low under the arms; long over hips and abdomen.

At $5—Handsome L. R. Corsets of fancy figured materials, with medium bust and small waist; also medium long hips with tapering waist. Second floor, Tenth street.

New Spring Clothing for Men

Winter made its last savage attempt to discourage the Spring Clothing Business this week, but the warm Spring sun is now too warm to be resisted. Before another Saturday Spring will be here, and well-dressed men will not want to be wearing their heavy Winter clothing.

We have ready today a full and complete assortment of Spring Suits and Overcoats, representing the best ready-made clothing produced in America. The extreme styles are here for the smart dressers, as well as the conservative garments for men who never like to be conspicuous.

Every garment is made of absolutely pure wool fabrics, in the thorough and artistic manner for which Wanamaker Clothing is famous.

The picture illustrates one of the most striking effects brought out this season in overcoats. The garment is cut 45 inches long, with broad chest and shoulders, fitting close at the waist and flaring over the hips. It has a deep center vent in the back, and with false vent or inverted flares, closed with crows' feet, with double-stitched seams, broad lapels with deep roll, velvet collar to match the exact shade of the cloth. The material is a handsome gray herringbone chevot, Serge-lined, $25; silk-lined, $30. Lined with serge and silk, at $20, $25 and $30.

Top-Coats and Box Overcoats of black and Oxford-mixed chevots, thibets and worsteds, $15 to $30.
Tan and gray Covert Coats, at $15 to $25.
Overcoats of plain gray and fancy chevots, at $20 to $35.

A very special Wanamaker Overcoat, at $18.50, is made of plain Oxford or black thibet, 40 inches long; broad shoulders, full back; with single-breasted collar, full silk-lined and faced to edges—such an overcoat as the well-informed man expects to find at $25, yet the price is only $18.50.

The assortment of new Spring Suits is equally broad. Single and Double-breasted Sack Coat Suits, of neat, fancy chevots, worsteds and flannels; made in the very handsomest new styles; half-lined with alpaca and serge. With single-breasted coats, at $15 to $25 a suit, with double-breasted coats, at $15 to $25 a suit. Splendid assortment of Young Men's Fancy Sack Coat Suits, at $10 to $25 a suit. Second floor, Fourth avenue.

This Magnificent Collection OF VOILE DRESSES

Every mail from Paris tells us more about the tremendous demand for Voile, for the making of tailored and more dressy costumes for Spring. But we made our plans upon the earlier information, and are splendidly prepared today with the finest collection of Voile Dresses to be found in New-York City.

Of course, the majority of the gowns are made of the plain voiles, but there are fancy weaves as well. Some in distinct checks, others in quite decided plaids, even to valets woven with crossbars in hemstitched effect, as beautiful as novel.

The Suits have various styles of bolero and Eton jackets, plaited, embroidered, braided and trimmed with applique and lace. All have elbow sleeves in a multitude of variations. The skirts are circular, gored, plaited in clusters and some in princess effect.

Among the Tailored Voile Suits are those specially described at popular prices: Suits of voile. Fitted Eton jacket, plaited from shoulder, and trimmed with wide and narrow soutache braids; elbow sleeves, with fancy shaped cuffs. Gored skirt, plaited, giving a graceful flare. At $45.
