man Empire—though Prussia would doubtless consider the complications which might arise from so great an addition to the anti-Prussian body already formed by Bavaria and other South German states...

IT BEGINS TO LOOK AS IF WINTER HAD FROZEN IN THE LAP OF SPRING.

Professors of the University of Chicago are at work trying to make an alphabet of the simplest language. Meanwhile Mr. Carnegie and some other purpose monkeying with the English language.

Some uncommonly weighty testimony and arguments in favor of a sea level canal at Panama are being presented to Congress, to which it is to be hoped due attention will be paid.

When German miners offer to risk their lives in the work of rescue at the great French mining disaster a grateful contrast is provided to the international bickering and menacing there have been over the Moroccan dispute.

Law is law, we suppose, but it does seem a little rough to fine a letter carrier for violating the eight hour law just because he worked a little while after hours rather than let people go without their Christmas presents.

Count Witte will do well not to mistake merely scotching the snake for killing it. The spirit which on Easter cries: "Brothers! Christ is risen! Let us go kill some Jews!" and which strips young women prisoners naked and brands their bodies with lighted cigarettes will not be satisfactorily laid until it is utterly exterminated.

An attendance of nearly 200,000 people a month at the public school free lectures in this city is a suggestive index of the great work that system is doing for adult education.

Senator Brandegee asks, if we adopt the principle of free trade with the Philippines, and in the future they are severed from us either by conquest or by peaceful disposition and then become territory of some foreign power, "are we then to ruthlessly sever all the ties which we have created and dismember the commercial relations which we would have established with them?"

THE NEVADA AND CALIFORNIA RAILROAD WANDERS.

The Nevada and California Railroad wanders about a bit in the mountains, and its trains go at a leisurely rate. A mining man who travels the road much tells of this illuminating incident regarding an Eastern engineer and a well-known miner and a number of other matrons and young girls will figure in the tableaux on the stage in the big ballroom at the Waldorf, which will be arranged by Stanford White, with tapestries and antique furniture from his own and Charles T. Barney's collection...

ON TUESDAY AFTERNOON THE HOUSE OF MR. AND MRS. GRANT BARNEY SCHLEY, IN FIFTH AVENUE, WILL BE THE SCENE OF THE MARRIAGE OF THEIR DAUGHTER, EVELYN, TO MAX HOWELL BEHR.
