SUBWAY TICKET BOXES

Women Drop Into Them Anything from a Ring to a Large Muff.

Men occasionally drop into a box some absurd article which makes the box useless for the rest of the day, but according to one closely in touch with the management of the subway 98 per cent of the offenders are women.

Only a few weeks ago a woman, on her way to the West, dropped in the box at the Spring street station, a round-trip ticket to Kansas City.

A subway ticket which she still held in her hand reminded her that she had dropped the wrong ticket into the box.

A prominent actress now playing in a local opera company dropped recently into the box at the 90th street station a check for $50.

Sometimes lost articles lead to strange revelations when the owners call to claim them.

It is a common occurrence for men and women to drop both change and tickets into the boxes.

But perhaps the most curious instance of preoccupation with that of the woman who dropped a check and a pet marmoset into an uptown station box and hurried toward an express train.

The animal clung to the top of the box until the ticket chopper pulled him out.

It has been truly said, "If bread is the staff of life, corn bread is the handle thereof."

It is a fact that the Southern people, who are so proud of their corn bread, do not know how to make it.

DR. LEE'S WIFE ILL.

Nerves Broken Down by Westminster Church Troubles.

Mrs. John Lloyd Lee, the wife of Dr. Lee, the pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, is ill at Asbury Park, N. J., suffering from a nervous breakdown induced by the worry and excitement attendant upon the troubles of the last year.

For a long time it has been known that Mrs. Lee was much worried over the Westminster Church situation, and that she constantly allowed it to prey upon her mind.

Notwithstanding Mrs. Lee's illness, it is said that no change will be made in the attitude of the Westminster Church officials toward the several suits that, it is declared, will be taken against the church soon.

The first, it is expected, will be begun on Wednesday. There has been a delay owing to the absence of Rush Faggart, who is to act as counsel for the Presbytery.

Dr. Lee made a brief statement to his congregation yesterday morning, in which he said that the Presbytery had not a firm ground to stand upon, and that its contention was without force.

We have withdrawn, and we are no longer connected with the Presbytery. It is no authority over us. The action of the Presbytery in "dissolving" our sessions is a nullity.

BISHOP GREER ON FAITH.

Doubts if There Are Any Real Atheists Extant.

Preaching a confirmation sermon at the annual service in historic Old St. Mark's Episcopal Church, in East 10th street, yesterday morning, Bishop Greer declared he did not believe that there were any, if there were any, real atheists extant.

"There are not many atheists in the world," he said. "I doubt if there are really any. There is something, though, that is very different from a faith in God, and yet is not atheism. That is a belief that God is, without, however, a belief in Him."

"For instance, there is the vexed Indian problem. Some one might suggest that the problem could be solved by exterminating the Indians." Possibly it could. But I do not believe in that solution.

The American Congress has decided to impose a tax on the Philippines and upon Porto Rico. As a statement of fact, I believe it; but I do not believe in it. It is not what I would do.

"There was no argument in the Bible," the Bishop said, "to prove the existence of God. Such would be useless. Every man for himself must prove such existence."

Some one had falsely said that true "faith is that which takes the Christian away from the world," the Bishop, "and in so stating has told a falsehood."

"On the contrary," the speaker continued, "true faith is something that takes us into the world. It is that faith in God which, while it would be lost in the commercial and business life of the day, and would, perhaps, be not seen upon the surface, would, nevertheless, dignify and purify that life. It would not remove our pleasures, but it would take out of them the coarseness and upon Forto Rico, as a statement of fact, I believe it; but I do not believe in it. It is not what I would do."

GLEANINGS.

One of those encased dishes which are such a boon to the housekeeper with left-overs on her hands is made in layers of cooked hominy, tomato sauce, and parmesan cheese.

Salted English walnuts make a nice change from salted almonds and pecans.

Washed and core your apples, fill the bottom of a tin with water and add a little cinnamon and lemon peel.

Then pour in water enough to fill the tin, and bake until the apples are tender, and the water has thickened into a rich syrup.

Cinnamon and lemon peel make a nice little variation on the regulation baked apple for a Lenten breakfast.

THE TRIBUNE PATTERN.

The little saque that can be slipped on over the baby's dress whenever the morning is cool makes a valuable addition to his wardrobe, and is always dainty and attractive as well as serviceable.

Here are two models, the one tucked and the other tucked saque is made of pale blue cashmere, the latter attached, while the plain one is of pink French flannel trimmed with a little dainty band.

CORPSE FOUND IN SHAFT.

Victim of Accident or Drug May Be Pittsfield Man.

Mrs. Louis Deutsch, wife of the janitor of a clubhouse at Nos. 94 and 96 Chrystie street, found the body of a man lying in an airshaft between the two buildings shortly after daylight yesterday.

Papers scattered about led Corporal Harcourt, who investigated the case, to believe the man was John J. McCabe, a weaver, of Pittsfield, Mass. At one end of the shaft is a short iron staircase, leading from the first floor to the cellar.

The man was about forty years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, 150 pounds in weight, and of light complexion. He wore a light overcoat and dark dress suit, of good material, tan stockings and black shoes, and a black derby hat.
