

NIGHT AND DAY BANK
Directors Expect Institution Will Be Found a Great Convenience.

Acting on the assumption that the average business man or woman, as well as many others, needs money as much in the nineteen non-banking hours as in the five hours when the ordinary bank is open for business, the members and directors of the Night and Day Bank, which is to open on May 1 and to occupy the ground floor of the new building at 4th street and Fifth avenue, have decided that it shall be open for business every hour of the day and night.

The officers of the Night and Day Bank are: President, J. W. Harriman, vice-president, G. M. Wynkoop, secretary and executive officer, J. W. Harriman, K. Bird, cashier and assistant cashier, J. W. Harriman, manager, the directors, G. L. Wilmerding, Nathan M. Perlmutter, G. L. Wilmerding, Charles T. Barney, Oliver B. Belmont, W. H. Chesbro, Thomas B. Clark, Ledyard Cozwell, Robert M. Galloway, Frank Gray Griswold, J. Borden Harriman, Edward H. Harriman, Myron T. Herrick, James S. Kahn, George H. Norman, Marsden J. Perry, Henry F. Shoemaker, John C. Tomlinson and A. B. Wagner.

Speakers of the bank yesterday Mr. Wynkoop said that it should prove a great convenience to people, especially of the city, but from out of town, who, in emergencies, may deposit funds or withdraw them at any hour; to merchants and others who make collections after 5 o'clock and to hotel patrons, who will be relieved of the need of asking favors at the desk, thus avoiding what so often proves annoying to the house and embarrassing to the asker.

Travelers, he said, were often much inconvenienced by the 10 to 3 banking hours. To accommodate them arrangements will be made by which drafts of out-of-town banks on the Night and Day Bank may be cashed at any hour. The other feature that will, he thinks, appeal to the public will be the payment at any hour of the "new York money order," which may be obtained from many of the prominent banks in the United States without personal identification.

"We have no precedent," said he, "so we must be guided by the conditions it faces. The needs of the household and individual needs for money have multiplied, regardless of clock time, and the hours of banking have remained the same. We have a bank where you can keep a part of all your money, and where you can withdraw it at any portion of it, at any hour of the day or night."

The bank's quarters are exceedingly well equipped. The Washington Co. and the Frisco Co. and Co. will occupy the floor immediately above. It will require three shifts of men to run the bank. There will be a night manager, a day manager and a night or day manager on duty at all hours.

COMPLAIN OF DELAYS.
Counsel in Close-Francis Contest at Swords' Points.

Frederick N. J. April 7.—The desire to request the recounting of the ballots in the Close-Francis contest on the part of counsel for C. Asa Francis, before Justice Charles E. Hendrickson and the County Board of Elections, here-to-day, was a feature of the proceedings which caused much unfavorable comment. In fact, the desire for delay was so apparent that E. W. Arrowsmith, of counsel for Charles E. Close, the contestant, openly charged Alan Strong, of counsel for the Francis side, with delay on the justice, saying it was one of the most outrageous acts ever perpetrated in the state.

When the recount began this morning Mr. Close had a majority of twelve. At the close of the day's work Mr. Close's majority had dwindled to five, but it is conceded by both parties that Mr. Francis cannot overcome Mr. Close's majority. The recounting of the ballots remaining to be inspected, forty-eight of these for Mr. Francis and twenty-seven for Mr. Close. These are in the Belmar district, which is the only district in which Mr. Close will make slight gains, thereby winning the contest and the office of Sheriff.

From the present on, Mr. Francis will be enabled by the bill introduced by Senator Brown this week to become a law. If, indeed, it ever becomes a law, it was for the purpose of trying this bill passed. It is charged, that Alan Strong obtained the last adjournment for a week, and since has endeavored to delay the work.

When the ballots in Spring Lake Borough had been counted and the Belmar Borough ballot box was opened for an employee of the County Clerk, officers were sent to the County Clerk's office to stop work an hour and a half before the time set by the justice.

It was a remarkable coincidence that the County Clerk was missing and the keys in his safe at a time when his office was being searched by the justices, and he promised the justice that he would personally see the County Clerk in reference to the keys to the safe. It is thought the recount is to be completed Monday and that Mr. Strong will reverse his course and thereby winning out against the bill introduced to give Francis.

ARMY AND NAVY NEWS.

CONVERSE TO REMAIN.—The President, acting on the recommendation of the Secretary of the Navy, has decided to request Rear Admiral George A. Converse, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, to continue in that tour of duty after his retirement for age, on May 13 next. The President and Secretary Boarder feel that the services of Admiral Converse at the head of this important bureau cannot well be spared at this time, and as the request comes in the face of the admiral's avowed wish for retired life, it will probably be interpreted by him as in the nature of a command, and will be obeyed.

ORDERS ISSUED.—The following orders have been issued: ARMY. First Lieutenant FREDERICK C. JOHNSON, 24 Cavalry, from detail as captain, 15th Cavalry, Philadelphia, Pa., to duty as captain, 15th Cavalry, Fort Belknap, Montana.

NAVY. Ensign A. T. BIRNIN, detached the Independence; Ensign J. W. BRIDGEMAN, from naval hospital, New York; Assistant Surgeon R. A. WARNER, to Naval Academy.

By cable from Rear Admiral C. J. Train, Asiatic Fleet, Shanghai, April 5: Lieutenant Commander J. R. EDIE, to the Rainbow; Ensign C. RICHARDS, detached the Wisconsin; Ensign G. V. STEWART, detached the Wisconsin; Ensign A. CLAUDE, detached the Ohio; to the Raleigh.

Ensign H. E. KAYS, detached the Ohio; to the Essex.

MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS.—The following movements of vessels have been reported to the Navy Department: ARRIVED. April 7.—The Texas, from the Overseas, at Key West, Fla.; the Nevada and the Arkansas, at Key West, Fla.; the Saturna, at Mare Island; the Choctaw at Washington.

April 7.—The Washington, at Guantanamo.

SAILED. April 6.—The Saturn, from San Francisco for Mare Island; the Choctaw, from Mare Island; the Choctaw, from Washington.

April 7.—The Ohio, the Wisconsin and the Concord, from Shanghai for Kobe.

SEE WOMAN FAIL TO HER DEATH.
Passersby Watch Her Throw Herself from Fifth Story Window.

Several persons near No. 918 East 156th street yesterday saw Mrs. Lena S. Ives climb to the sill of a front fifth story window and fall to the pavement below. When they ran to her assistance they found that she had been instantly killed.

Mrs. Ives, who was twenty-three years old, had been married about a year, and came to this city from Boston, with her husband, John Ives, who is a foreman with the Fuller Construction Company. Mrs. Ives arrived home shortly before 7 o'clock yesterday and found her wife with the door partly open. She concluded to go into the bedroom, and as she persuaded her to go into the front room to rest on the couch. A little later she heard a scream, and rushing into the room she found her wife on the floor.

He could not account for his wife's wishing to end her life and he does not believe she went out of the window willingly. He said that she had not been in good health recently, and also that she was dependent. He said this was due to homesickness.

INDICTS STOCK BROKER.
Boston Grand Jury Acts in Supposed Test "Gambling" Cases.

Boston, April 7.—In connection with what is understood to be a test case on the question whether a stock brokerage house doing a business in margins is a "gambling establishment" within the meaning of the law, the Suffolk County Grand Jury returned an indictment to-day against John V. Flanagan, a member of the firm of J. J. Quinlan and Co., brokers. The indictment covers two counts of the secret agents of the Russian revolution, and the second charging that Flanagan maintained a gambling house, and the second charging that at his place of business bets on the rise and fall of stocks were registered. The Flanagan case developed in connection with a crusade against so-called "bucket shops."

CHANGES AT THE BIG SHOW.
Performance Made More Compact—"The Limit" Holds Audience to the End.

The crowds at the Barnum & Bailey circus at Madison Square Garden were exceptionally large last week, and a large sale presages continuing throngs for this week. Several changes, making the performance more compact, will be made in the programme Monday. The time required to prepare the apparatus for "The Limit," the new aerial automobile sensation, will also be considerably shortened, thus decreasing the tenseness in the audience which usually precedes the daring performance of the little French chauffeur, Mile. Octavia la Tour.

"The Limit" will be given at the close of the exhibition, immediately after the chariot races. This has been found effective in holding the crowds and preventing them from rushing out upon the track during the final race. "The Dip of Death," in which Miss Isabelle Butler "loops the loop" in an automobile, is given about the middle of the programme, and naturally leads up to the new thriller.

Next to the thrillers the horse riding numbers, of which there are several of an interesting character, seem to lead in popular favor. The trained animals run the gamut, from educated sea lions to acting rams. The hippodrome races are sufficiently "fast" to satisfy the most exacting, and the track hall and menagerie provide instructive entertainment for the masses. There are two more weeks of the circus, and then the big show will move over to Brooklyn.

TODACCO COMPANY PRESIDENT HELD.
Charge of Fraud in Obtaining $1,000 Brought Against Him.

Somerville, N. J., April 7.—John L. Woodfield, president of the Plainfield Tobacco Company, was arrested at his home in Bound Brook by Detective George D. Tollen on a charge of fraud preferred by Patrick Tynan, of Bound Brook. He was taken before Justice Sutphen here to-day and released under $1,000 bail. Woodfield was formerly connected with the Continental Tobacco Company. He resigned from that company and organized the Plainfield Tobacco Company.

William Dunham, a wealthy groceryman of Bound Brook, is treasurer of the company and one of its largest stockholders. Woodfield, it is alleged, became short of funds, and obtained a loan of $600 on a note from Patrick Tynan, of Bound Brook. When the note came due Mr. Woodfield renewed it, and the second time it was due he is said to have paid no attention to it. It is then said that Woodfield later paid $140 on the old note and asked Tynan to accept a new note for $460, which he said he would take to the First National Bank of Bound Brook. It is further claimed that Woodfield later paid $140 on the old note and asked Tynan to accept a new note for $460, which he said he would take to the First National Bank of Bound Brook. It is further claimed that Woodfield later paid $140 on the old note and asked Tynan to accept a new note for $460, which he said he would take to the First National Bank of Bound Brook.

THINK EXPLOSIONS NOT DUE TO OIL.
Automobile Men Disparage Theory—Consolidated Official Agrees.

Automobile agents and the officials of the Department of Sewers are not taking seriously the theory that the numerous manhole explosions near the great collection of garages along Broadway are due to oil drainings from the automobile salesrooms and garages. John V. Cogsey, Superintendent of Sewers, has already had his chief engineer, Horace Loomis, make an investigation, and ordered yesterday a more thorough one. Mr. Loomis says that one of his inspectors, John Cowan, went through the sewers safely with a lighted candle, showing that neither gasoline nor naphtha was present in large quantities.

The automobile agents say that gasoline and naphtha are too expensive to waste, and that the quantity that could reach the sewers would be so infinitesimal that there could be no danger from it. William H. Bradley, chief engineer of the Consolidated Gas Company, said yesterday that it had been shown conclusively that the explosions on West Side were not due to illuminating gas. He said that when the first explosion occurred some weeks ago an investigation was started at once, but not a single leak of gas had been discovered.

Mr. Bradley said that one of his men had discovered a strong odor of gasoline in a dwelling house, due to emanations from a sewer. He said further, "The ignition of the vapor causing the explosion does not necessarily occur in the sewer, but an imperfect trap between the house and the sewer may allow the vapor to pass into the house, where it is ignited at the first convenient light, and travels from there into the sewer."

CIRCUS HAPPENINGS.
Groups Called "Sisters" Often So Only in Bonds of Their Art.

"Are they really sisters?" This is the unbidden query that rises in the minds of nine-tenths of those who witness the performance of the Grunatko troupe of acrobats in the Barnum & Bailey circus at Madison Square Garden. In fact, the relationship between the various "families" or "troupes" of performers in the circus is a matter of universal curiosity. In the circus company performers who present their acts in unison, in the majority of instances, are "billed" as "brothers," or "sisters," or families. The Grunatko sisters, for instance, are not all sisters. They are however, all blood relatives.

In the remarkable human column they present the three girls in the air are sisters; the "sister" who is supporting them and the man in the centre is in reality a cousin. The girls on either side are sisters of another branch of the numerous Grunatko family. The man in black is the husband of the young woman on his right. The mother of the girls in the air, who is also a professional acrobat, acts as chaperone for all the girls, and the husband, Herr Grunatko, is a ringmaster.

The Grunatkos, like nearly all other successful circus performers, come from a long line of acrobatic artists. Mme. Grunatko's mother and father, and their families before them, were circus performers. Although German by birth, the Grunatko "sisters" have spent most of their lives in France, and are generally known as Parisians.

The Huettnermann sisters, whose performances with high school horses are also not clever, are "sisters" for professional reasons only. They are Bohemian women who have won considerable fame in Europe. In private life they are Mme. Guillelte and Fraulin Margot von Stutterheim. Mme. Guillelte is the daughter of Gustave Huettnermann, who during his long career, has taught equestrianism in nearly every important royal court in Europe. In recent years Herr Huettnermann has conducted a riding school under the patronage of the nobility of Prague, Bohemia. He also enjoys a pension from the Emperor in consideration of his many years of service in the Imperial family. Fraulin Stutterheim comes from a noble family of reduced fortunes in Silesia, and is entitled to use the noble prefix von.

In the Florenz family of acrobats there are several families or parts of families. M. Florenz is the leader of the troupe. He is assisted by his wife, Mrs. Florenz, for professional reasons only. They are Bohemian women who have won considerable fame in Europe. In private life they are Mme. Guillelte and Fraulin Margot von Stutterheim. Mme. Guillelte is the daughter of Gustave Huettnermann, who during his long career, has taught equestrianism in nearly every important royal court in Europe. In recent years Herr Huettnermann has conducted a riding school under the patronage of the nobility of Prague, Bohemia. He also enjoys a pension from the Emperor in consideration of his many years of service in the Imperial family. Fraulin Stutterheim comes from a noble family of reduced fortunes in Silesia, and is entitled to use the noble prefix von.

The Siegrist-Silbon troupe of aerialists comprises two families, who are related by marriage, and two girls who are assistants of Toda Siegrist, the head of the "family." Josie de Mott, the somewhat equestrienne, is Mrs. Charles Robinson outside of the circus world. Her husband is a partner and pretty well known in the world of the circus. She is a midair artist. Minnie Thompson, who gives some clever exhibitions of driving on the hippodrome, is the wife of Ray Thompson, whose riding in the big number evokes much applause. Ida Misco, one of the other high school riders, is the wife of Stanley Misco, the clown. Minnie Johnson, who drives the famous old horse, Evergreen in the same number, is also the wife of a circus comedian, Spader Johnson.

The Rooneyes, the Irish-American equestrians, are Mr. and Mrs. Rooney in private life. Fred Ledgett and Dullie Julian, who give clever riding and driving act in a novel act, are husband and wife. Mile. La Tour, the little French chauffeur, who "dips" the somewhat turning automobile in "The Limit," is unmarried, but is accompanied by her father and brother.

Isabelle Butler, the "American girl who dares the Dip of Death," is Mrs. Tom Butler to her intimate friends. In the Grunatko troupe of high wire performers there are two families, and the girls are either sisters or wives.

EXPORT RECORD BROKEN.
Iron and Steel Flow from U. S. in Constantly Increasing Stream.

All records in the exports of iron and steel were shattered last month, when almost 73,000 tons were shipped through New York and other Eastern seaboard points to nearly every country in the civilized world. These figures show an increase of nearly 20 per cent when compared with the February shipments to foreign countries.

The total value of the previous month's figures were in rails, billets and iron pipe, the increase being more than 40 per cent. The figures just to hand also show that the enormous strides which the United States made in February in South American business—hitherto a stronghold for British and German iron and steel products—are still more forcibly illustrated in the March shipments across the equator. Exports were made to different parts of the globe, where American iron and steel have so far been an unknown quantity. The March figures further show substantial shipments of galvanized iron to Australia, which is a market where England has hitherto had control of the trade.

Besides these shipments through New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, substantial lots were over-seas to the Pacific Coast for export to the Far East, and good size quantities were also sent abroad through Southern ports. From Eastern ports nearly two hundred separate shipments were made. South America showed movements were made. The countries which showed larger gains in March over any previous month's shipments were Chile and Argentina.

The March exports were also particularly interesting because of the fact that the port of New York handled more iron and steel material for export than it has done in any previous month. In February, 66,000 tons of the 61,000 tons exported, more than 6,000 tons went through here. Last month, 72,000 tons of the 61,000 tons were shipped through Baltimore and Philadelphia combined.

The steel rails points routed up a total of 30,848 tons, as compared with 26,328 tons for February. New York handled 10,000 tons, while Philadelphia and Baltimore handled 10,000 tons. The Argentine Republic received sixteen parcels, aggregating 13,025 tons, while the remainder went in three lots to Cuba and 3,524 tons to Mexico. 3,025 tons in three lots were consigned. Two thousand seven hundred and twenty-nine tons were sent to England, Japan and Santo Domingo.

Twenty-four thousand and one hundred and seven tons of pig iron went abroad last month, as against 20,165 tons in February. The March consignments were about equally divided between England, 10,672 tons going to Welsh ports and 10,223 tons to England. The distribution was as follows: England, 174 tons; three lots, 4,848 tons, in three shipments; Cardiff, 4,848 tons; in four lots, 4,848 tons; in four lots, 4,848 tons. A small shipment also went to Christchurch, New Zealand. The March exports of steel blooms, 10,223 tons, were about equally divided between England, 10,223 tons going to Welsh ports and 10,223 tons to England. The distribution was as follows: England, 174 tons; three lots, 4,848 tons, in three shipments; Cardiff, 4,848 tons; in four lots, 4,848 tons; in four lots, 4,848 tons.

ART EMBROIDERY EXHIBITION IN BERLIN.
The permanent exhibit of exclusive art embroidery, drawn pieces and beautiful linen by Messrs. Grunfeldt at their new premises, Nos. 29 and 31 Leipzigstrasse, Berlin, is now one of the attractions of the German capital, and forms a special and convenient rendezvous for American women visiting Berlin. The commodious hall devoted to the exhibit was specially designed for the purpose, and all the goods are the exclusive production of Messrs. Grunfeldt's workers, and of their mills at Landshut. An fine linen is the delight of the German woman's heart, it naturally follows that the German woman must be the ideal country where the choicest examples of all linen products may be found, and one may rest assured that at Grunfeldt's the cream of such goods are to be seen. A specialty of the firm is the making of order of exclusive fabrics and designs for trousseaus.

OVERDOSE OF CHLORAL KILLS.
Wealthy Man Used It for Sleeping Potion—Accident, Says Coroner.

Frederick H. Hazelton, a wealthy man living with his wife and daughter in the Hotel St. Margaret, at Nos. 129 and 131 West 47th street, died yesterday, supposedly from an overdose of chloral, taken to induce sleep. His wife and daughter, and Coroner Harburger, who investigated the case, think he took the overdose unintentionally. Hazelton had been in poor health for several days, but was not particularly depressed in spirits. He was a hard drinker, according to his wife and daughter.

The Hazeltons have a house at Alexandria Bay, Fla., where they spend part of the winters. At the death of his mother, two years ago, Mr. Hazelton inherited a large fortune.
