

How Deaf People are Made to Hear

Sound Magnifiers Invented by a Kentuckian

Invisible, When Worn, but Act Like Eye-Glasses.

Ever see a pair of sound magnifiers? They are so soft in the ears one can't tell they are wearing them. And no one else can tell, either, because they are out of sight when worn. Wilson's Ear Drums are to wear hearing what spectacles are to wear sight. Because they are sound magnifiers, just as glasses are sight magnifiers. They rest the Ear Nerves by taking the strain off them—the strain of trying to hear dim sounds. They can be put into the ears, or taken out in a minute, just as comfortably as spectacles can be put on and off. And they can be worn for weeks at a time, because they are ventilated, and so soft in the ear holes they are not felt even when the head rests on the pillow. They also protect against raw inner parts of the ear from wind or cold, dust or sudden and piercing sounds.

The principal of these little telephones is to make as practical for a deaf person to hear weak sounds as spectacles make it easy to read fine print. And the longer one wears them the better his hearing should grow, because they rest up and strengthen the ear nerves. To rest a weak ear from straining is like resting a strained wrist from working. Wilson's Ear Drums rest the Ear Nerves by making the sounds louder, so it is easy to understand without trying and straining. They make deaf people cheerful and comfortable, because such people can talk with their friends without the friends having to shout back at them. They can hear without straining. It is the straining that puts such a queer anxious look on the face of a deaf person.

Wilson's Ear Drums make all the sound strike hard on the center of the human ear drum instead of spreading it weakly all over the surface. It thus makes the center of the human ear drum vibrate ten times as much as if the same sound struck the whole drum head. It is this vibration of the ear drum that carries sound to the hearing nerves. When we make the drum vibrate ten times as much, we make the sound ten times as loud and ten times as easy to understand.

Deafness, from any cause, ear-ache, buzzing noises in the head, and running ears, broken ear drums and other ear troubles are relieved and cured by the use of these comfortable little ear-resters and sound magnifiers.

The picture at top shows just how these little sound magnifiers come to you, with the instructions for placing them in the ear holes, and the picture at side shows one of them in actual use.

A sensible book about Deafness tells how they are made and has printed in it letters from hundreds of people who are using them. Clergymen, Lawyers, Physicians, Telegraph Operators, Trainers, Workers in Retail shops and Foundries—four hundred people of all ranks who were Deaf, tell their experience in this free book. They tell how their hearing was brought back to them almost instantly by the proper use of Wilson's Ear Drums.

Some of these very people may live near you, and be well known to you. What they have to say is mighty strong proof.

This book has been the means of relieving thousands of Deaf people. It will be mailed free to you if you merely write a post card for it today. Don't put off getting back your hearing. Write now, while you think of it. Get the free book of proof.

dead, while one great heap in the center marked the downfall of the gallant French three hundred.

Whilst these two waves of the attack had broken in front of the English position, leaving this blood-stained wreckage behind them, the main divisions had halted and made their last preparations for their own assault. They had not yet begun their advance, and the nearest was still half a mile distant, when the few survivors from the forlorn hope, their maddened horses bristling with arrows, flew past them on either flank.

At the same moment the English archers and men-at-arms dashed through the hedge, and dragged all who were living out of that tangled heap of shattered horses and men. It was a mad, wild rush, for in a few minutes the fight must be renewed, and yet there was a rich harvest of wealth for the lucky man who could pick a prisoner from amidst the crowd. The nobler spirits disdained to think of ransoms whilst the fight was still unsettled; but a swarm of needy soldiers, Gascons and English, dragged the wounded out by the leg or the arm, and with daggers at their throats demanded their names, titles, and means. He who had made a good prize hurried him to the rear where his own servants could guard him, while he who was disappointed too often drove the dagger home and then rushed once more into the tangle in the hope of better luck.

Clermont, with an arrow through the sky-blue Virgin on his surcoat, lay dead within ten paces of the hedge; d'Andreghen was dragged by a penniless squire from under a horse, and became his prisoner. The Earls of Salzborg and of Nassau were both found helpless on the ground and taken to the rear. Aylward cast his thick arms round Count Otto von Langenback, and laid him, helpless from a broken leg, behind his bush. Black Simon had made prize of Bernard, Count of Ventadour, and hurried him through the hedge. Everywhere there was rushing and shouting, brawling and buffeting, whilst amidst it all a swarm of archers were seeking their shafts, plucking them from the dead, and sometimes even from the wounded. Then there was a sudden cry of warning. In a moment every man was back in his place once more, and the line of the hedge was clear.

It was high time; for already the first division of the French was close upon them. If the charge of the horsemen had been terrible from its rush and its fire, this steady advance of a huge phalanx of armored footmen was even more fearsome to the spectator. They moved very slowly, on account of the weight of their armor, but their progress was the more regular and inexorable. With elbows touching, their shields slung in front, their short five-foot spears carried in their right hands, and their maces or swords ready at their belts, the deep column of men-at-arms moved onward. Again the storm of arrows beat upon them, clinking and thudding on the armor. They crouched double behind their shields as they met it. Many fell, but still the slow tide lapped onward. Yelling, they surged up to the hedge, and lined it for half a mile, struggling hard to pierce it.

For five minutes the long straining ranks faced each other with fierce stab of spear on one side and heavy beat of ax or mace upon the other. In many parts the hedge was pierced or leveled to the ground, and the French men-at-arms were raging amongst the archers, hacking and hewing among the lightly armored men. For a moment it seemed as if the battle was on the turn.

But John de Vere, Earl of Oxford, cool, wise and crafty in war, saw and seized his chance. On the right flank a marshy meadow skirted the river. So soft was it that a heavily armed man would sink to his knees. At his order a spray of light bowmen was thrown out from the battle-line, and forming upon the flank of the French poured their arrows into them. At the same moment Chandos, with Audley, Nigel, Bartholomew Burghersh, the Captal de Buch, and a score of other knights sprang upon their horses, and charging down the narrow lane rode over the French line in front of them. Once through it, they spurred to left and right, trampling down the dumounded men-at-arms.

The latest improvement on old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions. Deliciously palatable at all seasons.

Without a drop of oil or disagreeable feature, Vinol contains all the medicinal elements of cod liver oil actually taken from the fresh cods' livers.

By our process the oil, having no value either as a medicine or food, is separated from the medicinal elements and thrown away.

Unlike old-fashioned cod liver oil and emulsions, Vinol is deliciously palatable, agreeable to the weakest stomach, and therefore an unequalled tonic reconstructor.

THAT BUNION CAN BE CURED

Let your own foot prove it

People laugh at bunions; but not the people who have them; those who have them hardly ever laugh until they get rid of them.

Your Bunion Can Be Cured

Thousands of others have cured the most obstinate, painful, distressing cases—cured them. Cured them with the Anti-Bunion Plaster cure, which is the only cure ever devised which actually kills the cause of bunions, eases away the growth, and restores the joint to perfect normal function. So-called shields or circular plasters don't cure; they only push the point up and make the bunion worse. Our Anti-Bunion Plaster works differently. They work in contact with and on the bunion. Relief is immediate; no inconvenience while taking the treatment, no pain on the bunion point; wear tighter shoes than you have worn—and in comfort. The treatment is a home treatment. You owe it to yourself to prove these facts by one week's free treatment—there is no charge for it—nothing to pay. All we ask is your name and where to send it—enclose a two-cent stamp—that's all you have to do.
