

Y. W. C. A. CLASSES. Summer School Attractions Largely Attended by Wage Earners.

The summer school of the Young Women's Christian Association, No. 7 East 15th street, opened last night with a musical and dramatic entertainment, the first of a series of free entertainments to be given every Monday evening throughout the summer.

There are said to be eight thousand girls between the ages of fourteen and seventeen employed in the stores bounded by Fourth and Sixth avenues, 14th and 17th streets, and a thousand of these are usually gathered into the association's summer school, the work being advertised in the stores and factories for several weeks before the school opens.

The class which attracts the greatest number of pupils is the one in shirtwaist making. The teacher promises them that they will be able to make their own shirtwaists in five lessons, and as they can get the material for 5 cents a yard, they feel that this is the same as getting their shirtwaists for nothing.

"What do you get out of it?" they ask, and their bewilderment only increases when they are assured that no one gets any out of it. The class which attracts the greatest number of pupils is the one in shirtwaist making.

COMMENCEMENT FELICITIES. Stereotyped Advice Bestowed Upon the Sweet Girl Graduates.

School and college anniversaries have become a part of our social institutions. Again we are in the heat and burden of the day of commencements, when the commencement orator, who rises from his place, smiles blandly upon the white-gowned graduates before him, and glides smoothly into eulogium of woman's influence, her humanizing and elevating mission, advancing the novel theory that her power lies in her heart, not in her arm of muscle.

"There is surely a choice of subjects. A man is not necessarily confined to this treadmill. Girls who understand and appreciate the center of thought," contends the writer. "If there were in our schools and colleges only one class of girls, that class would be the one to be commended."

"We all know that the commencement orator, who rises from his place, smiles blandly upon the white-gowned graduates before him, and glides smoothly into eulogium of woman's influence, her humanizing and elevating mission, advancing the novel theory that her power lies in her heart, not in her arm of muscle."

Suggestions for Summer.

Many of the vacation suggestions are for persons whose homes are in the city. For the fortunate ones who have a country home we would like to tell of the pleasant vacation experience we ever had. Sunday, in a church where, Ever and anon the wind, sweet scented with the bay, Tapped over the hymnbook's fluttering leaves that on the window lay.

the pastor read a request from The Tribune for members of his flock to take Fresh Air children for two weeks. We asked for a little girl, and in a few days she was left at our door—a tiny, frail child of seven, so weak that her head sank between her shoulders.

ECONOMY RUN AWARDS. Travel by Automobile Much Cheaper than by Rail.

The awards were announced yesterday in the two days' economy run of the Long Island Automobile Club from Brooklyn to Poughkeepsie and return on Saturday and Sunday. The two prizes offered went to the most economical party for the cost of passengers and repairs, as compared to the cost of railroad transportation over the route.

S. H. Burns, with his 24-horsepower Packard, won first prize, a silver loving cup presented by Dr. C. B. Parker. His machine carried five passengers, and went over the measured route of 173 miles without any trouble whatever, which was considered a remarkable performance, owing to the heavy rain that fell on both days, its total cost for gasoline and lubricating oil was $4.45, making a per capita cost for the run of 59 cents.

The second trophy, a speed indicator, went to Alfred Wilmart, president of the Long Island Automobile Club. He drove his 40-horsepower Royal Tourist, and carried five passengers. This car also went over the route without any trouble and its cost for the trip was $5.80, making a per capita cost for each passenger of $1.16, as against the cost by railroad of $3.02.

A complete summary of the ten cars that finished in the run and the showing they made follows: "Pace-Arrow, 40-45-horsepower; J. E. Bristol, 6 passengers; Brooklyn to Poughkeepsie, 8 gallons gasoline, $2.12; Poughkeepsie to Brooklyn, 8 gallons gasoline, $2.12; total, $4.24; per capita cost, $1.16. Disqualified because owner did not drive.

FOR MILLION DOLLAR CHURCH SCHOOL. Presbyterians to Have National Normal Institution for Women Workers. Nashville, Tenn., June 18.—A national institution for the training of workers in the Presbyterian Church, to be conducted by that Church and to be endowed with $1,000,000, is to be erected. The Rev. C. Humble, of Parkersburg, W. Va., synodical superintendent of Sunday school work of the Church, held a conference here to-day with leaders of the Church in the various States, to discuss the plan.

STEPFATHER AIDS GIRL TO ELOPE. Italian Atones Thereby for Sending Her Former Sweetheart to Prison. Pittsburgh, June 18.—Aided by her Italian stepfather, Katie Butch, an American girl, of Millvale, a suburb of this city, has eloped with Vincenzo Pietro, of New York. They are now in the latter city, enjoying the honeymoon.

LOVETT DIVORCE HEARING BEGINS. Husband Names Three Co-respondents and Says Wife Used Morphine. The hearing of the suit for divorce brought by George E. Lovett, a wealthy Brooklyn real estate dealer, against his wife, Grace E. Lovett, was begun yesterday afternoon in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn. Mr. Lovett is also suing for the custody of the two children.

TORE FIANCEE'S PICTURE FROM "AD." Boston, June 18.—Frederick Tudor, whose engagement to Miss Amy Isabel Logan, of Springfield, Mass., has been broken, has had a photograph of her fiancée's picture used for advertising. He astonished a lot of trolley car passengers yesterday by tearing her photograph out of an advertisement in a Boston newspaper.

YEAR VACATION FOR MISS HAZARD. Wellesley, Mass., June 18.—Miss Caroline Hazard, president of Wellesley College, is to be granted a year's leave of absence at the close of the present college year because of ill health. She will sail for Geneva on June 20, to remain abroad a year, part of the time travelling and visiting art centers.

AN APPEAL FOR A WORTHY WIDOW. The Charity Organization Society renews its appeal for $75 to be used toward the care for one year of an aged and respectable American widow, with the hope that at the end of that time she may be admitted to a home. A former employer is supplying the remainder of the sum necessary for her support. She has no children, and there are no relatives to whom she can turn for help. This case sent to the Charity Organization Society, No. 135 East 23d street, will be publicly acknowledged.

KILLS WIFE FOR BURGULAR. Weston, Mo., June 18.—Frank Kelly, a business man of this place, shot and instantly killed his wife last night, whom he mistook for a burglar. Mrs. Kelly got up to close a window. Her husband, awaking and seeing a form at the window, seized his revolver and fired. The coroner has decided that no inquest is necessary. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly had been married less than a year, and he is almost crazed with grief.

EXCURSION BOAT STORIE FLOATED. The excursion boat William W. Storie, which ran around between South and Midland beaches Sunday evening, was floated last night at 7:15 o'clock. The boat, which was carrying a crew of 12, was blown down by a heavy wind and drifted on the steamboat by means of her own wind. They kept the strain up steadily all day and at last night's high tide the Storie slid off the shoal into deep water. She was at once taken up by the Erie Basin. Some seams were started and she made considerable water after being hauled off.

GIANT GOING TO WASHINGTON. Machnow, the Russian giant, who is going to shake hands with folks in the gallery at Oscar Hammerstein's Roof Garden next week, will be taken to Washington on Wednesday to shake hands with the President; at least, so his managers announce. The giant spent the night in his apartment in 13th Street, where he is staying, and will also try to get to Washington on Wednesday afternoon. He's expected to the Capitol and the other public buildings, and will also try to get to Washington on Wednesday afternoon.

CLAM DIGGER FINDS MONSTER PEARL. Ellsworth, Wis., June 18.—This morning a poor clam digger of this place, working in the Misissippi River, found what is believed to be the largest pearl in the world. It weighs 85 grains. William Bates and wife were dragging for clams and brought up a small clam, in which Mrs. Bates quickly discovered the pearl. It is as round as a marble, and will probably sell for about $100,000.

At WANAMAKER'S. PRACTICALLY all of yesterday's extraordinary offerings continue today—and rarely has the middle of June seen such tempting merchandise offered at such little prices. If the rain detained you yesterday, be sure to come promptly today.

Remarkable Dresses for Women. The sale of "Royal" Shirt-Waist Suits continues. There is still splendid assortment in both the $3 and $5 groups. Not a dress in the collection is worth less than $4.50, and some are worth up to $12. All are beautifully made, of excellent materials, in a wide variety of fabrics and styles; and each dress is fresh and clean, in its own individual box.

There is also a good supply today of the Silk Shirt-waist Dresses at $8. In spite of the rain, there was a rush for them yesterday morning, but as we had seven hundred to sell, there is ample opportunity today. The picture illustrates another beautiful collection of Dresses just received yesterday. Almost as dainty as the dress of a bride or graduate. Made of fine white net, copied from a Corne model. The waist has a round yoke, with deep pointed bertha, trimmed with insertion and edging of fine lace; elbow sleeves, finished with frill of net; and lace girdle of satin with a bow at the back. Skirt is shirred from the belt, with clusters of plaits, and trimmed with lace insertions; finished with shirred flounce, edged with lace. Drop skirt of white lawn, with accordion-plaited flounce.

These Dresses would sell regularly at $22; priced at $12 each. Just seventy-five dresses at the price. Second floor, Broadway, Stewart Building.

More Notes About the White Sale. On the counters every morning you'll find new, fresh, pretty, common-sense underwear, and handsome, well-made, becoming white waists to choose from. Here is an inkling of the details:

DEATH REVEALS BIGAMY. Wife No. 1 Delays Funeral—Pities Displaced Widow. Plainfield, N. J., June 18 (Special).—The death of Michael J. Fogarty, a railroad contractor of Jersey City, which occurred at the home of Mrs. C. B. Lawson, No. 833 West 6th street, on Friday last, revealed the fact that he had two wives for many years. The disclosure came yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lawson, when wife No. 1 confronted wife No. 2. After Fogarty's death the second Mrs. Fogarty, with whom he was living, directed that the dead man's mother, who lives in Philadelphia, be in-charge of the funeral arrangements for the funeral were made. This was done by the undertaker, and when the mother arrived here she was accompanied by Fogarty's first wife, who, it is reported, had been living with her mother in Philadelphia. As soon as the first wife learned the facts she ordered the funeral delayed until the arrival of her nineteen-year-old son from Philadelphia.

DIES AFTER FALL INTO AREAWAY. Rochester Man Had Will Disposing of $50,000 in His Pocket. Frank B. Gaffney, of Rochester, fell into an areaway at No. 149 West 33d street last night and was so badly injured that he died before the arrival of an ambulance. On his person was found a will made out by Charles F. Burke, of Rochester, leaving $50,000 to be divided among the ten children of his sister, Mrs. Louisa C. Gaffney, and naming Frank B. Gaffney as one of them. The will was made in 1892. Gaffney was identified by C. N. Gardner, of No. 389 Seventh avenue, who is the father of the boy, and was vice-president of the Boston Trust Company.

SUES DENTIST FOR BREACH OF PROMISE. The suit of Miss Rachel Kanter against Victor C. Bell, a well known dentist, of No. 88 Madison avenue, for breach of promise, was brought to trial in the City Court yesterday. The suit has been in the courts for three years, and many motions have been made. At one time the dentist was arrested on a writ of habeas corpus, and it required the order of a Supreme Court justice to admit him to bail. Miss Kanter said she met Bell in 1891, and that he had promised to marry her in 1892. She said he denied this, and also that he promised to marry her. The trial will be continued to-day.

FAVORS $25,000 FOR NEW FIRE ALARM. The Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday in executive session, decided to report favorably at to-morrow's meeting of the board a resolution giving Fire Commissioner O'Brien $25,000 for the preparation of plans for the installation of a new fire alarm system. The commissioner proposed to install a new system, which is to cost nearly $200,000. The committee also decided to report $100,000 for the Fire Department for new hose.

CARPENTERS RETURN TO WORK. Work was resumed yesterday on the contracts which were tied up throughout the city by the lock-out of the members of the Brotherhood of Carpenters because its Brooklyn members remained on strike in violation of the arbitration agreement. The Brooklyn carpenters were called together yesterday, and their strike was formally declared off. They will return to work to-day under the terms of the agreement forced by the strike, by which they will receive $100,000 after August 15, the wages they went on strike for.

WANTS RIGHT TO MARRY AGAIN. Jos Fatte Smith, the general booking manager for the Keith-Powers vaudeville combination, whose former wife, Madeline Lack, of the vaudeville stage, obtained a divorce from him in 1900, applied to Justice Truax, in the Supreme Court yesterday to modify the decree of divorce to permit him to marry again. The divorce was tried before Justice Bischoff, Justice Truax declined to hear the motion and referred it to Justice Bischoff, who served decision.
