

those owned by private capital abroad. None of them compare with our railroads. I think it is a question of Yankee-gumption."

STARTED FROM EUROPE INCOGNITO.

There was considerable comment on board the St. Paul over the fact that the Mayor and Mrs. McClellan appeared on the passenger list as "Mr. James J. Jones" and "Mrs. James J. Jones." After the boat had been out for some days, and it was learned that the Mayor was on board, other lists were given out, which had printed on the back, under "Additions to the List," Hon. George B. McClellan, Mrs. George B. McClellan and maid. Two other additions to the list were "Mr. George W. Moss and George W. Moss." Just below this, under the head of "Not on Board," were "Mrs. G. W. Moss and Mrs. G. W. Moss." It was surmised that the Mosses had been put on so that the addition of Mayor McClellan's name would not be so prominent, and that in fixing it all up the officials had made a "mess" of it.

After the Mayor had landed William Willis, his executive secretary, explained the Jones incident by saying that when the Mayor engaged his round trip passage he was not sure he would go, and, not wishing to engage it under his own name, the name of Jones had been used. Before he sailed his right name was on the outgoing lists. Mr. Willis explained that the company had not told its English office of the change in name, which accounts for the fact that the Mayor sailed from England as "Jones."

A number of men on the revenue cutter Hudson shouted to the Mayor as the cutter steamed up to the St. Paul at Quarantine. Mr. McClellan nodded and smiled. Before the boarding officer went aboard the St. Paul Mr. McClellan sought the seclusion of his staterooms. He was joined immediately by his secretaries, who, after a short private conference, the Mayor's customs declaration. After signing his declaration Mr. McClellan greeted the reporters in the salon companionway.

VIRGINIA GREET'S SHAW.

Secretary Heartily Received by Martinsville Audience.

Martinsville, Va., Sept. 8.—Secretary Shaw delivered here to-day the first of several speeches to be made in Virginia. Business houses and offices were closed in his honor, and a large audience gave him close attention for two hours. Hundreds of women were out to hear him. The Secretary made evident at the outset that his mission was one of broad patriotism and a friendly interest in the people of the South. His speech was mainly an elaborate contrast between the economic policies of two parties. His discussion of the protective tariff as a factor in the future greatness of the South was heartily received. He alluded to Bryan, and applause followed, yet his analysis and criticism of Bryan's policies was received with marked interest. Mr. Shaw complimented the conservatism of the Southern people and admired their virtues and patriotism, but he asserted that tenacity to traditions kept them from having a hand in the policies that were shaping the destiny of the nation.

NEGRO VOTERS UNEASY.

Hot Fight in 9th, 13th and 25th Assembly Districts.

According to an active Negro worker in the 9th Assembly District, there is much unrest among the Republican Negro voters in the 9th, 13th and 25th Assembly districts, owing to factional disputes in the county organization. Large numbers of Negro voters live in these districts and most of them are enrolled for the primaries. In the 13th Assembly District there is a division, one faction of Negroes working for Alderman Hahn, while another wants a Negro nominated for the Assembly. To this Leader Farrell is opposed and the Negroes threaten to cut the ticket, unless one of their race is put up. The Mentor League, a Negro organization, is trying to effect harmony. In the 9th district, according to the same authority, a representative of Lemuel E. Quigg has made all kinds of promises if the Negroes will fall in line for the O'Connell ticket. Gilbert Stewart, Quigg's Negro adjutant in the 13th District, has been working in the 9th trying to persuade his people to vote his way. At the upper end of the 25th Samuel Moran is lining up the Negroes for Richard Van Cott and trying to beat Assemblyman Prentice for leadership. It is said that Jacob Hesse, who is popular with the Negro voters, is helping Van Cott. Stewart wants the Assembly nomination in the 13th. Many Negro voters in all districts say they will have none of Quigg, because he once refused to have a Negro appointed in the District Attorney's office.

FOLK PAYS RESPECTS TO BRYAN.

Denies Slight to Nebraskan in Staying Away from St. Louis.

St. Louis, Sept. 8.—Governor Folk said to-day at Jefferson City: "Whatever the motives of the promoters of the meeting may be, I would be only too glad if I could go to St. Louis and pay my respects to Mr. Bryan personally and show him the courtesies due so distinguished an American." The Governor said that while his health was improving and his fever had departed, he had been told by his physicians that he would not be able to leave his bed before Monday, and that it would be impossible for him to travel on Tuesday. He said he hoped to be at his desk on Monday. "Is all health the only reason why you will not attend the Bryan meeting?" the Governor was asked. "I do not wish to say anything more than I have said," he replied. "He said he did not want it construed as a slight to Bryan, but he intimated that he did not care to sit on the same platform with Stone and Hawes."

SECOND REPUBLICAN TICKET NAMED.

Seneca County Factions Await Action of State Convention.

Waterson, N. Y., Sept. 8.—The Moran-Clark-Maler wing of the Republican party, which was enjoined from holding a county convention on August 25 and then obtained a modification of the order, permitting it to organize but not to nominate, met here to-day. As in the mean time Judge Robson had refused to make the temporary injunction, which was obtained by J. B. H. Moulton, as leader of the other wing of the party, a permanent one, it proceeded to nominate a county ticket on behalf of the Republicans of Seneca County. There was a largely attended convention, presided over by District Attorney Rodin. Charles L. Seakell, of Seneca Falls, was nominated for member of Assembly; Charles Grant Stout, of Ovid, was named for Sheriff; and Dr. Robert Lee Knight, of Seneca Falls, for Coroner. The filing of this ticket will depend upon which faction is recognized by the Republican State Convention, in accordance with an agreement made with Judge Robson.

TALK WAINWRIGHT FOR SECOND PLACE.

It was reported at White Plains yesterday that the Westchester delegation to the Republican State Convention might present the name of Assemblyman J. Mayhew Wainwright for Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Wainwright is an intimate friend of Herbert Parsons, and it is reported that he can have the backing of the delegates of New York County if he decides to be a candidate. At the last session of the Legislature Mr. Wainwright was chairman of the committee on Banking.

PLY LASH ON SULLIVAN

JUDGES ANSWER CHARGE.

Bryan Preparing Volley for National Committeeman.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Owen P. Thompson today gave out the following signed statement regarding the attack made on him last night by Roger Sullivan:

Roger Sullivan's statement that I bought delegates in the convention that nominated me for Judge I denounce as a malicious and unmitigated falsehood. I never directly or indirectly bought a delegate at the convention for myself or for any other person. Some of my friends advised bringing a suit for slander, others, more numerous, counsel against giving such an unscrupulous scoundrel an opportunity to produce a long list of perjurers, such as he can and always does command, to spit out in court their venomous lies. My course is not yet determined.

Any man who is vicious enough and bold enough to convict and jailbreak and bring them to a convention as his delegates, as Sullivan did at Peoria, shows the character of the man that is to be dealt with. As to being a political judge, I simply refer to the fact that I am a Democrat and a Republican alike, whether they observed any partisanship in my conduct on the bench or in my decisions.

M. F. Dunlap, replying to the attack on him by Mr. Sullivan, to-night issued the following signed statement:

Sullivan's statement that I was Judge Thompson's go-between contains a cruel, false and base insinuation. Sullivan, whose general reputation is that of a professional hoodler, would charge any one he hates with any vice or crime to divert attention from himself or in his desire to drag others to his level. Sullivan seeks to raise a false issue now, as he did in his circular sent broadcast before the Peoria convention. In that he charged that I was a Know Nothing because my given name is Millard Phillips, I did not select my name. None of my people that I ever heard of were Know Nothings or A. P. A.'s. No true Catholics in this community would insinuate that I was a bigot. When the A. P. A. movement spread over this country I opposed its teachings openly and conscientiously as not being in harmony with our institutions. Sullivan has simply seized upon the circumstances of my name to prejudice Irishmen against me. It was a false, contemptible and unjustifiable charge.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 8.—"You can expect that kind of attack from that kind of people," said William J. Bryan to-day, in talking of the attack made upon him last night by Roger Sullivan, member of the Democratic National Committee from Illinois. Mr. Bryan said he was not prepared to answer Mr. Sullivan's charges.

Bearing upon Mr. Sullivan's assertion that Mr. Bryan had told an untruth, Mr. Bryan was asked this afternoon if it was true that he (Bryan) did not write a personal letter to Sullivan asking him to resign.

"I did not write to Sullivan," replied Mr. Bryan. "I wrote to Judge Thompson and asked him to show the letter to Sullivan. I did not assert that I had written a personal letter to Sullivan."

"Have you the signed request of a majority of the delegates to the St. Louis convention asking for the repudiation of Sullivan?" "I do not care to make any statement on that point. I expect to make a statement on the Illinois matter within a few days, but do not want to give it out in an interview." "Did you notice the challenge made by Sullivan, but I must be excused from making any reply in an interview."

MR. HUGHES WON'T BE SMOKED OUT.

Mum on Governorship Question--Senator Page Visits Governor, Rumor Says.

Charles E. Hughes refuses to be "smoked out" on the Governorship nomination question. Senator Page, one of Mr. Hughes's closest personal friends, went to Oyster Bay on Friday afternoon to see the President. Before going he had a talk with Mr. Hughes. No one seems to know if the visit of Mr. Page to the President had special political significance.

Senator Page could not be found yesterday. At his house it was said that he was out of the city and would not return until Monday. Governor Higgins is at Cambridge Springs, near Olean. It was rumored last night that Senator Page had gone to see him, but this report could not be confirmed. When Mr. Hughes was seen yesterday he said: "I have nothing whatever to say regarding politics. There is no reason why I should say anything at present. But if the occasion arises, I will issue a statement, and all will receive it."

BUSINESS MEN FOR STRASBOURGER.

Send Letter to Every Enrolled Republican in District Favoring Present Leader.

The business men of the 31st Assembly District are taking a hand in the factional contest for the Republican leadership between Former Tax Commissioner Samuel Strasbourger and Harvey T. Andrews. A letter has been sent to every enrolled Republican asking for the support of Mr. Strasbourger. Among the leaders in the movement are W. T. Koch, of the firm of H. C. F. Koch & Co., and Harry B. Waters, of the firm of Bloomingdale Brothers. The letter reads in part:

For nearly five years Samuel Strasbourger has been the Republican leader of the 31st Assembly District, in which you reside. It is a well known fact that he has maintained his position for the benefit of the public whenever the opportunity offers. While an active Republican, he has always acted independently of party bias and in the interests of the Republicans of the district. Last December, when he was a candidate for re-election as vice-president of the county committee, Mr. Strasbourger attacked Quigg as Bryan's man, and was opposed in his candidacy by Quigg, who had as an ally Mr. Strasbourger's present opponent for the leadership.

In 1902 he was appointed Tax Commissioner by Mayor Low. On January 1, 1903, when he wished to continue in the office, the late Mayor McClellan was continued until the work for the year had been completed, notwithstanding the request of Mayor McClellan that he continue for another term. On his retiring from office Mayor McClellan wrote him, in accepting his resignation, a very complimentary letter.

DEMOCRATIC PESSIMISM.

Chairman Griggs Says Press Bureau Is Working as Usual.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Chairman Griggs of the Democratic Congressional Committee issued the following statement to-day:

All this talk about the closing of any branch of the Democratic national headquarters is utterly without foundation. The press bureau in this building under Robert Miller, which has been conducted by the national committee for several years, is still at work getting out its regular supply of material for the Democratic press throughout the country. The work was decreased a day or two ago simply because the additional work of compiling data for the campaign book under the supervision of this committee which had been put upon that bureau was completed, and there was therefore no longer any need of the services of these people. That is all there is to the alleged incident. While in New York recently at the request of the press bureau, the Republicans to make the President the sole issue of this campaign is significant, and will prove futile.

The distinguished Republican speakers to make the President the issue, that they are ashamed of the record of the Republican House of Representatives. I do not know how this House of Representatives do not charge that they are ashamed of the policy of ignoring the record of the country, and attempting to hide behind the President. Mr. Bryan I met Democrats from all over the country, and have never seen them more determined to support the President. Bryan will take part in the campaign, and will speak where he will do the most good for the party.

NEGRO VOTERS OUT FOR DADY.

The colored voters of the 1st Assembly District in Kings County, in which are more Negro voters than in any other of the twenty-three districts across the river, have organized and issued an address to the other colored voters of the county supporting Colonel Dady and protesting against the renomination of Governor Higgins. The recent reappointment of nearly all of the colored voters that were in the old 16th Assembly District into Colonel Dady's district. The officers of the organization are: President, E. Waddell; vice-president, Colonel Pierre Zeis; secretary, J. D. Nixon; treasurer, W. H. Henderson; executive committee, Dr. W. R. Lavison, N. B. Dodson, L. D. Kennedy, J. B. Nixon, A. B. Peyton, J. M. Smith, G. Y. Barrow, Benjamin Williams and Dr. F. M. Jacobs.

WOODRUFF OUSTS DADY.

Letter, However, Says He's Still in Republican Organization.

Timothy L. Woodruff read Michael J. Dady, leader of the Quigg-O'Connell forces in Brooklyn, out of the Republican organization of Kings County yesterday. Mr. Dady, according to his own interpretation, was read out of the party organization early last December by Mr. Woodruff, and he considers Mr. Woodruff's present action simply a reiteration. Mr. Woodruff was at headquarters when he took the action. His statement was:

Mr. Dady has severed all connection with the Kings County Republican organization. I have been thinking this matter over carefully for the last several days, and I have just come to the conclusion that he should not be longer considered a Republican.

By setting up opposition headquarters and starting fights in several districts and trying to start trouble in other districts, he has committed acts antagonistic to the party. It is too late now to make a contest in his district, but after this year he will have to do so. Now he is going to be left out of the organization once and for all, and nothing he can ever do can atone for the injury he has this year done the organization and the party. I have hesitated to say anything personal about Mr. Dady because I like him personally and know that he is a strong district leader. His acts cannot longer be ignored.

When Mr. Dady was asked to express his views of Mr. Woodruff's action he said:

Mr. Woodruff's action is too absurd to require a reply from me. He read me out of the party organization last December. I was in the organization before Mr. Woodruff was, and I will be in it when he is no longer a member.

He is going to be like a weathercock that it is hard to tell what he will do next. At the dinner of the Inevitable Club last May he nominated Higgins for Governor in his speech. Now he is going to fight the declaration that he is not committed to Mr. Higgins. It seems to me that he is trying to get the highest handgame of the party, and to carry everything in slight for his side, and there are others who do the same—the Democrats.

Mr. Dady said that the entire force of the federal government was being used in the local fight, and that an investigation was now being conducted in the Brooklyn Postoffice by the Civil Service Reform Association. He added that he would not close up his headquarters in the Clarendon Hotel, even if Mr. Woodruff did endorse Mr. Hughes for the Governorship.

DEMOCRATS CAUGHT BY NEW LAW.

Plans to Make Twelve Thousand Voters from Aliens Unfit for Chairman.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Consternation reigns in local Democratic circles because it was discovered to-day that the new law regulating naturalization and requiring ninety days' notice before adopted citizens can vote for the first time becomes effective this fall.

The chairman of the Democratic County Committee in the wilds of Wisconsin and a hurry call has been sent him to return. The Democratic managers have planned to naturalize at least twelve thousand persons this fall.

OBJECT TO NOMINATORS' METHODS.

Lawyers Charge "Coercion" in Getting Names to Judiciary Petition.

Methods employed by the Judiciary Nominators to obtain signatures for the nominating petition for their candidates have been criticized sharply by certain lawyers whose signatures have been sought.

Since the opening of the nominators' headquarters a committee of a hundred young lawyers has taken charge of getting signatures. Canvassers regularly employed at such work and volunteers also are visiting every lawyer in this city. These canvassers have lists, furnished by the nominators, on which the lawyers are grouped according to their addresses. These sheets are ruled into columns for the designation of each person signing or refusing to sign, with the reasons for refusal.

On each one of these lists is a printed direction that it must be properly filled out and returned to the headquarters. There all the returns are transferred to an elaborate card index. Several clerks are kept at work on this.

One lawyer said yesterday: "I am not a voter in New York County, so that my name will not suffer from the disadvantage that might arise to them if I were on record as having 'refused' to sign the nominating petition of the Judiciary Nominators. Such a method can mean only one of two things. Either the ticket has not the support of the bar that past bulletins from the committee have indicated and that members of the bar must be coerced into signing the petition, or the information to be used ultimately for— It is sufficient to leave the word blank. Every lawyer knows what is meant when a canvasser says 'there is a petition nominating judges for one of the courts in which you practice, and here is a blank in which I write your name for refusing to sign if you care for doing so. These reasons are afterward transferred to a card and filed for 'ultimate' use. Do you care to sign?' How many lawyers will refuse, under these circumstances?"

Having secured the written approval by seventeen hundred members of the New York bar of their ticket, the Judiciary Nominators are now sending a letter to business men and professional men other than lawyers asking their support of the movement to secure non-partisan judges. This is the circular sent out yesterday by the campaign committee of the nominators:

The committee of the Judiciary Nominators respectfully call your attention to the "lawyers' ticket" for the ten Supreme Court judges, Sirrigan and two General Sessions Judges to be elected this fall. The candidates were selected by the committee after a careful consideration of more than two hundred non-partisan judges. Your support to this ticket is asked. The principle involved is plain. It is simply a question whether the judiciary of this county shall be chosen by party leaders and in reward for party services, or whether the judges to be elected shall be chosen by the people. It is obvious that the candidates shall be learning, ability and fitness for the position.

At the establishment of this precedent in the choice of the judiciary is of vital import to the entire community, the indorsement of leading lawyers and professional men is of the greatest importance. The ticket of the bar, is greatly to be desired.

CANDIDATES FOR SUPREME COURT.

State Bar Association Names Men for Bench in 2d Judicial District.

The State Bar Association, through a committee, has decided on eight candidates for the Supreme Court bench in the 2d Judicial District.

The candidates are: Justice Walter H. Javox, Judge Frederick E. Crane, A. G. McDonald, ex-Corporation Counsel, Robert M. (Don't) Reppanzy, William J. Carr, William B. Hurd, ex-David Manning, Herbert T. Ketcham, or Eugene L. Richardson, Democrat.

It is expected that the local bar association will indorse the list at next Tuesday's meeting. The committee of fifteen may follow suit.

WATER BOARD ON THE CARPET.

Question of Its Abolishment Probably First for Mayor to Consider to-morrow.

The first city business Mayor McClellan will have to face to-morrow morning, for serious consideration will probably be whether the new Board of Water Supply is to be abolished. This board was created by an act of the Legislature to spend $100,000,000 to find more water supply for the city. It found water in the Catskill streams, and was to construct enormous dams and reservoirs and huge aqueducts to bring the water to the city.

A tunnel was to be bored under the Hudson at Storm King, New York. A Government office was established at No. 25 Broadway, 12 engineers were hired and a monthly salary list of $100,000 was set up.

The Sinking Fund paid the preliminary expenses of the new board from its beginning, about a year ago, up to July. Then it came time to make contracts and begin actual work on the new water courses, and a bond issue of $50,000,000 as a start was decided. It was to be paid up to the end of the $100,000,000, and no one else would touch the bonds. As $100,000,000 did not look like getting $100,000,000, the Controller is going to the Mayor to-morrow morning and ask him what is to be done.

The Controller said he was opposed, whatever happened, to the plan on which the commission had been created, the short term bond now being unjust, he believed.

ODELL CONFERS WITH PEABODY.

Troy, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Ex-Governor Odell made a flying trip to Lake George to-day, and for an hour was closeted with George Foster Peabody at the latter's house. The conference with the prominent Republican leader was held in the presence of the question of the candidacy of Hearst or Jerome for Governor. Mr. Odell, after the conference, would make no statement, and hurried back home.

Several years ago I expressed to you my admiration of your most ingenious invention. Since then you have made many improvements upon the Pianola, the most important of which however is the Metrostyle. You have through these improvements placed the Pianola in a class of its own and I am firmly convinced that the Pianola with Metrostyle is vastly superior to all other piano-playing devices which I have seen. With best wishes for your continued success. Very truly yours, MORIZ ROSENTHAL. MENTON, February 17th, 1906.

HEARST ROASTED BY 100. Tokaji's Belligerents Meet and Put Former Leader on Griddle. Bela Tokaji's committee of one hundred, representing the Municipal Ownership Leaguers of 1905, had a stormy meeting last night at the Hotel Imperial, Brooklyn, at which W. R. Hearst was denounced as a traitor and demagogue. One man said Hearst was an unprincipled demagogue, who sought only his own personal gain and glory, and who did not "give a rap" for the dear "common" people, whom he pretends to support. The meeting was called to hear the report of a committee which had been sent several days ago to see Mr. Hearst and inquire into the reasons of certain things. The committee came into the meeting in a rage. They put Hearst on a griddle and toasted him brown for nearly two hours. Hearst, it appears, received the committee coldly; in fact, it seemed more like a snub than anything else to the committee. Frederick K. Porter presided at the meeting. There were several outsiders invited, and all had an opportunity to air their opinions of their late political flame. One speaker declared Hearst could never be elected Governor, because the people had awakened to his treachery. The Gilsey House headquarters of the league was described as the "clique house."

INDEPENDENT LABOR PARTY. Trades Union Clubs Formed in Many Assembly Districts. Announcement was made yesterday on behalf of the Independent Labor party that trades union clubs had been formed in sixteen out of the thirty-five Assembly districts in Manhattan and The Bronx, and six clubs had been formed in as many Assembly districts in Brooklyn. The party will be completely organized when its general convention is held, to consist of three delegates from a trades union club in every Assembly district, the delegates to form the general committee of the party. At the headquarters of the party, in Beethoven Hall, 25th street, near the Bowery, it was said yesterday that the question of state issues would be left to the convention. Secretary Ernest Bohm could not make any prediction as to what the convention might do in regard to the indorsement of any candidate for Governor. BANNER FOR ELY ROSENBERG. Amid a grand display of whizzing rockets and roman candles in front of their club rooms, No. 218 Madison street, the members of the East Side Business Men's Association raised a banner for Ely Rosenberg, the candidate for the leadership of the 5d District, last night. Mr. Rosenberg, Aba Levy, J. J. Shields and Max Brown spoke. DELANY BACK, MUM ON POLITICS. John J. Delany, Corporation Counsel, who has been abroad several months on a trip through the Continent, arrived here yesterday on the Campania. Mr. Delany threw up his hands when the subject of politics was mentioned. "Don't talk politics to me," he said. "I have not
