

CARUSO FOUND GUILTY.

TENOR WILL APPEAL. Ten-Dollar Fine Imposed—Seathing Rebuke by Matho.

Magistrate Baker, in the Yorkville court, decided yesterday against Enrico Caruso, the grand opera tenor, accused of annoying women and girls in the tenor house in Central Park.

Caruso, on being asked for a statement, expressed his pain and surprise at the verdict, adding that he had no doubt it could be reversed on appeal.

Ex-Judge Dittenhofer said: The conviction is the thing that interests us. The tenor fine of $10 certainly corroborates the conviction.

There was an extraordinary exhibition of feeling both for and against Caruso by opposing factions in the crowd that filled the Yorkville court when the hearing of the case was continued yesterday.

Several hundred persons who tried to get into the courtroom out of curiosity were kept out by the street, dividing into opposing factions, which yelled "Bravo, Caruso!" and "Monkey house!"

Caruso was asked by the police official if he had not insulted a lady who let him accompany her to her automobile from a house in Fifth avenue.

INDICTED MAYOR HERE.

Schmitz Protests His Innocence and Attacks Hearst.

Eugene E. Schmitz, the indicted Mayor of San Francisco, accompanied by Mrs. Schmitz and Frederick H. Hubert, arrived here yesterday on the Hamburg-American liner Patricia.

Mayor Schmitz was in his cabin when the revenue cutter came alongside. The first question asked the Mayor after he greeted the reporters was: "Mayor Schmitz, I suppose you do not know that you have been indicted?"

"Yes," he replied. "When the pilot brought the newspapers aboard the steamer this morning I picked up a copy of The Tribune of Thursday morning and saw in it my picture and the story of my indictment."

Mayor Schmitz has a strong personality, and had himself well in hand when replying to the rapid-fire questions from a score of newspaper men.

All the charges that have been made against me are absolutely false. The whole thing is a political affair, and I shall go directly to San Francisco within a day or two and will court the fullest investigation.

When informed that the investigation had been started before Langdon was introduced as a candidate for Governor, and that detectives are said to have been on the trace of graft shortly after Langdon became District Attorney, Mayor Schmitz said:

It matters not to me if the whole Secret Service and Police departments were working on the matter. I have never known any one to do a dishonest act. If I did, I would have nothing whatever to do with him.

Asked about the specific charge in the indictment against him for the alleged extortion of money from the French restaurants under threat of closing them, Mayor Schmitz said:

My attitude has never changed regarding the French restaurants. They have been in existence for many years, and I have never received one penny from any restaurant.

Regarding Ruef and the five indictments against him, the Mayor continued:

I have known Abraham Ruef for twenty-five years and have never known him to do a dishonest act. If I did, I would have nothing whatever to do with him.

Charges that the United Railroads paid $500,000 to procure certain trolley permits with the statement, "Concerning the charge that his brother, Herbert, was a silent partner in the notorious Municipal Crib, at No. 620 Jackson street, the Mayor said:

I am not my brother's keeper. I never received a cent from that place, and I don't believe my brother did. He must answer for himself in those matters.

A disdainful smile came over the Mayor's face when told that District Attorney Langdon and Francis J. Heney, in consideration for Mrs. Schmitz, had decided not to arrest him on his arrival. "They are clever politicians," he said. "They might just as well have arrested me at the pier. I give them no credit for courtesy. The move is just clever politics."

The Mayor refused at first to see any representatives of the Hearst newspapers, but later admitted them to his cabin. He said that Mr. Hearst sent a special commissioner to see him in Europe, asking that he send some message to his fellow labor men in the City of New York that might be of assistance to him in his campaign. "This the Mayor declined to do."

The Mayor was met by his brother and a number of friends at the pier and was driven to the Waldorf, where he will remain for two days.

When told that Secretary Metcalf of the Department of Commerce and Labor had been to San Francisco recently to investigate the Japanese public school difficulties, Mayor Schmitz said:

Rome, Nov. 23.—King George of Greece arrived here this afternoon. He was received at the railroad station by King Victor Emmanuel, Premier Giolitti, Foreign Minister Tittoni, the Marquis Visconti-Venosta, the ex-Foreign Minister, and all the other dignitaries of state.

London, Nov. 23.—Perhaps never before in the history of British journalism have American topics and news taken up so much space as at present.

Just now the leading subject of discussion in the English press is the selection of a successor to Sir Mortimer Durand, as British Ambassador at Washington, which is brought under some form or other, in nearly all the comment on imperial affairs.

One of the principal weekly reviews, "The Outlook," makes this subject the leading feature of its issue, and gives up more than a page to it. "The Outlook" says the British Embassy at Washington has lost completely the political and social ascendancy it enjoyed under Lord Pauncefote.

Continuing, "The Outlook" says the place formerly occupied by the British Ambassador in Washington has been taken by Baron Speck von Sternburg, "who combines every advantage for the post. The German Ambassador is almost an Englishman; he was born in Yorkshire, and might possibly have become a British subject."

The "Outlook" praises M. Jusserand, the French representative at Washington, whom it describes as a "more fascinating critic and historian of English letters than any other writer now living."

Incidentally "The Outlook" declares that President Roosevelt's personality is a dominating factor in the American situation, and that "it will remain dominant even if he is not chosen for a third term."

Failure to Have Morris High School's New Organ in Good Condition.

Mr. Eddy, one of the recognized exponents of the organist's art in America, seldom plays in the East, and a large audience of lovers of organ music was present to hear him; but through an unfortunate oversight, the organ had not been properly adjusted, and Mr. Eddy had to play at a serious disadvantage.
