

JOHN DOE FOR "GRADY."

AFTER HIS BANKBOOKS.

Vandiver Gets Another Poolroom and Rids More Evidence.

John Doe proceedings will be instituted to-day against five men in connection with the hunt that is being made by Assistant District Attorney Vandiver for the men "higher up" in the operation of the Davis poolroom syndicate.

Just five men appeared in the division of profits on the books taken from the clearing house of the syndicate, at No. 112 Fulton street. One of these men was represented variously in the account as "G." "Grady," "T. Grady" and "Sen. G." Another was written in the ledger as "C. Reilly," another appeared as "R. H. D." and "Davis," the initials being those of "Bob" Davis, who is said to have been the head of the syndicate.

Senator Thomas Grady in Albany yesterday refused to discuss in any way the disclosures made by District Attorney Jerome regarding the 16 per cent of the profits of the syndicate operations which went on each settlement to "Grady" or "T. Grady."

GROUP PICTURES FOUND.

Assistant District Attorney Vandiver received what he said was valuable evidence yesterday when six or seven large group photographs were brought to him by a man whose identity he refused to disclose. Just what the nature of these pictures was he declined to say, but he did say that they constituted a valuable part of the link of evidence. It is thought they may contain pictures of some of the men in the syndicate.

It was directly on knowledge received from these photographs, Mr. Vandiver says, that he made another raid late yesterday afternoon on the third floor of No. 157 Cedar street, an old structure near West street. Three arrests were made and considerable valuable evidence was seized. Mr. Vandiver says the place itself was not of much importance, but it furnished valuable links in the chain of evidence that he is forging around the men "higher up."

Late in the afternoon Mr. Vandiver, accompanied by Roundsman Ayres, chief of the county detectives, Mr. Hammond, and County Detectives England and Liebner, left the Criminal Courts Building and went directly to Cedar street. They watched the suspected place for some time, and then started to act. The door of the room on the third floor was locked, and, as was learned later, the men inside had time to burn up a considerable amount of the evidence in the stove while the detectives were breaking in. Inside they found a long room containing five telephones, with the same number of men busily engaged at them.

Three of the men arrested described themselves as Henry Newman, the Palace Hotel, Newark, N. J.; John Mack, of No. 545 Fifth street, and Samuel Jacobs, of No. 22 Wright street, both of Newark. The two other men were served with subpoenas to appear before the grand jury and allowed to go.

When the usual occupants of the place had been got out of the way Assistant District Attorney Vandiver proceeded to answer all telephone calls himself. First he tested all the wires and found that they ran directly to central. Then he "sat tight" and waited. As a result he got in communication with half a dozen or more persons who rang up to place bets. They were duly recorded, but, if any of the men picked the right horse, they will have to consult with Mr. Vandiver about getting their money. Several other persons missed the usual voice on the telephone and rang off without making any wagers.

DOZEN SUBPOENAS ISSUED.

As a result of the names thus obtained and others found in records seized, Mr. Vandiver last night started out five county detectives with a dozen or more subpoenas, returnable to-day. Deputy Police Commissioner Hanson came in while the raid was in progress. Captain Gallagher of the Church street station, in whose precinct the building is, appeared to be much perturbed when he discovered that the District Attorney's office had gone over his head. He said he had had a man watching the place for some time. The prisoners were placed in his care.

When he made the raid Mr. Vandiver hoped that he had found the telephone central of the Davis syndicate, for which he has been making a vigorous search. He thinks now that it is situated in Jersey City, but there may be substations in this city. Mr. Vandiver had a short talk with one of the officials of the telephone company, who promised to co-operate in any way possible.

The various bank accounts of the man who in the syndicate profit division is mentioned as "T. Grady" will be looked into with the greatest care. Mr. Vandiver already has many of his checks from the Windsor Trust Company, but this concern has not been in business as long as the poolroom syndicate has been in operation. The District Attorney's office has no doubt that it will be able to get any bank account it may ask for. The law against poolrooms is explicit, and if the bank officials do not show a willingness to produce what is asked for they may find themselves seriously discommoded. For instance, subpoenas might be issued calling upon all the officials and clerks to appear with their books at the office of the District Attorney about the middle of the banking hours. This, of course, would paralyze the business of the bank. So far Mr. Vandiver has failed in getting what

Why Many Women Suffer From Constipation

The delicate and intricate character of the female organs make them most susceptible to irregularity, and for the same reason it is most important that each one should be kept in constant motion to perform its functions in a normal manner. At all of the special periods when womanhood is performing its functions peculiar to her sex there is a decided tendency to sluggishness of the bowels. Nature then requires a gentle assistant. Not powerful and expensive drugs, that must be taken at frequent intervals and are so drastic as to damage the tender lining of the stomach and bowels and do more harm than good, but a pure and harmless laxative such as is the famous Natural Mineral Water—HUNYADI JÁNOS—one dose of which will move the bowels gently, but effectively, in a natural manner. The dose is 1/2 a tumblerful, drunk on arising in the morning (slightly warmed for best results). One bottle contains many doses and costs but a trifle at all Drugists.

he wanted from only one banking institution, an uptown trust company. On Wednesday, after the raid on the Keator place in Broadway, he sent a subpoena to this institution for the account and checks of the firm of "W. D. Miller & Co." He received word by telephone that they had no account there.

Two days later he got checks of this concern made out by "W. D. Miller & Co." Then he sent a second subpoena, in which he enumerated the various members of the poolroom syndicate, who are supposed to constitute the firm. Then he received word from the trust company that most of the men named had had accounts there, but had withdrawn them on the very day he issued the first subpoena. Mr. Vandiver thinks this peculiar, in view of the fact that two of the men are abroad and that when the accounts were withdrawn the headquarters of the Davis syndicate had not been discovered.

PRISONERS TO BE ARRAIGNED.

The prisoners taken in the Keator raid and that at No. 112 Fulton street will come before Magistrate Barlow, in the Tombs court, for hearing this morning. As they are held simply on short affidavits "on suspicion," Mr. Vandiver will be obliged to make formal complaints or move for their discharge. It is thought some of them, who may become witnesses for the state, may be discharged. Formal complaints will probably be lodged against at least three of them.

The John Doe proceedings against the supposed members of the syndicate may be brought either before a city magistrate or before the grand jury. If the former step is taken magistrates' subpoenas can be issued for the prisoners who are expected to be able to give evidence, and if they refuse to appear or refuse to testify they can be committed for contempt without further proceedings. In case the men under subpoena do not testify they will surely go to jail. They will probably testify.

Dan O'Reilly, counsel for the men arrested in the raid at No. 112 Fulton street, said yesterday that this was a legitimate corporation, formed for the purpose of "dissimulating the information." He said that it was incorporated under the laws of Maine, but refused to name any of the officials of the concern. W. D. Miller, whose name the firm bears, was dead, he said.

An examination of the "melon cutting" record of the syndicate shows that on May 3, when the first division to the five members of the combine was made, "G." got 16.63 per cent; "J. P. R." 16.63; "Davis," 41.5; "C. R.," 20.03; and "M. G. R." 6.44. This percentage of profits was kept up throughout the syndicate's divisions. A close analysis of these accounts taken in connection with the records of the bank accounts of the individual members of the syndicate is expected to prove just how the latter were increased from the splitting of the poolroom profits.

The three prisoners taken in the raid at No. 28 Ann street on Monday were arraigned yesterday before Magistrate Vahle in the Tombs court and held in $1,000 bail for examination to-day. They were charged with aiding and abetting a poolroom. The place raided was that of the Aerial Advertising Company, in Room No. 111, on the second floor. Among the papers seized were some alleged racing slips and a receipt for rent in the name of the Aerial Advertising Company, signed by George G. Hooper, receiver.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]

Albany, April 2.—Senator Grady returned to this city to-day to lead the fighting against the Bingham police bill. He refused to discuss in any way the raid by the police on the Fulton street poolroom exchange, with the disclosures of the 16 per cent dividend to "T. Grady" and "Sen. G." Some talk has been abroad here about a legislative investigation to ascertain if Senator Grady and this "T. Grady" are identical. There is thought, however, to be not the remotest possibility that anything of the sort will be undertaken.

HUGE WAVE HITS VESSEL.

Steamer Runs Through Water Wall Off Brazil Coast.

The steamer Planet Neptune brought to port yesterday a strange story which gave rise to lively debates in shipping circles and, while no one doubted the record of the steamer's log, many were of the opinion that she was the victim of a tidal wave and had not been swamped by a submarine earthquake, as the captain had reported.

The much talked of incident occurred at 8:45 o'clock on the night of February 26, when the steamer was running along slowly in a smooth sea about 150 miles off the coast of Southern Brazil. The night was clear and a gentle breeze was blowing from the north. George Strassburg, the captain, reported his place in the crew's nest because the night was fine, and placed his watch on the forecastle head. He heard suddenly a roar and saw dead ahead a huge wave rolling for the steamer. He had no time to retreat and crouched behind the breakwater. The combing wheel and the officer's feet above the stern, washed Strassburg from his refuge, twisted him around a standstill as if he were a piece of rope, broke his head and injured him internally. The big sea broke on deck, forcing the steamer's nose below the surface and pushing aft over the superstructure. Lighted her almost as quickly as it had submerged the bow. Officer Brown, who was reading in his bunk when the wave came, said the sensation was as if the steamer had poked her stem into a big hole and was going down bow first. Captain Timmis and the chief officer believe the wave was caused by a submarine disturbance.
