

LONG SHOT FOR KUROKI.

YALU HERO AGAIN WINS.

Goes to Track, Where 20,000 Cheer Him—Visits General Grant.

Twenty thousand persons, covering a distance of three city blocks and reaching upward, tier upon tier, to a height of the third story, of a building, every man with head uncovered, standing in quiet tribute to a great son of a foreign nation, formed yesterday the most impressive scene of General Kuroki's visit to Belmont Park.

The day was by far the most auspicious since General Kuroki's arrival on Wednesday. It was the first pleasant weather he has enjoyed here.

In the morning, General Kuroki and his staff, accompanied by General O. E. Wood, visited Governor's Island, where more official honors were showered upon him.
