

THEATRE

DOLLY DUPREE.
In "The Feast of Belshazzar," at Dream-land.

SILLY SEASON ON.

Crowds Now Turn to Roof Gardens for Amusement.
With the closing last night of several plays that continued long after the regular season the summer theatricals have been able to hold the attention of the amusement-loving public. There are entertainments on the roof of the Metropolitan and the Alhambra Theatre. Both will have varied entertainments.

There was a roof garden on the Metropolitan last year known as Old Heidelberg, but up to now the upper West Side has had to come down to 42d street for its open air entertainment. Mr. Williams believed a roof garden would find an audience, and this year determined to lay out one over his Alhambra Theatre. For the first performance he has engaged the Pony Ballet, the "Crenation" illusion, which was at Paradise Roof Garden; a group of negro singers, the Exposition Four; the bounding Gordons and other acts. On the Metropolitan roof there will be an unusually interesting bill.

George M. Cohan's "The Honeycombers" finds an audience every night in the week, except Sunday, at the Aerial Gardens on the roof of the New Amsterdam Theatre. This piece will continue all summer, and when it closes Mr. Cohan plans to take a long vacation abroad. There are eight musical numbers in "The Honeycombers," which are generally applauded by the audience, aside from Mr. Cohan's own varied forms of entertainment.

At the Jardin de Paris on the roof of the New York Theatre several new attractions have been provided for this week, among them being Mason and Bart, the European comedy performers on the bars. This will be the last week of the living pictures. A patriotic subject will be introduced. There will be a concert to-night. Next week "The Hold Girls" will be presented, with the Anna Held girls and a cast including Mrs. Davis, Emma Carus, Grace Laite, Lillian Lee, Grace Leigh, Roma Snyder, May Leslie, Madelyn Summers, Helen Meyer, Josephine Brown, Charles J. Ross, Bickel and Watson, Dave Lewis, Frank Mayne, Dan Baker, James Manley and David Abrams.

At Hammerstein's Roof Garden this week will be Miss Lasky's musical novelty, the pianists, dancers and musicians; Miss Belle Blanche, in imitations of celebrities; Lind, the "Human Interlocutor"; the "Intoxicated Donkeys"; Gus Edwards' fifteen school boys and girls, Collins and Hart, Rice and Prevost and the Four Avolons. Miss Edna May Spooner in the principal part. "Sobor Sue" warranted not to laugh, is continued. There will be the usual Sunday concert.

"The Maid and the Millionaire," the attraction on the roof of the Metropolitan Garden Theatre, begins its second week to-night, in which all the members of the company will appear. On rainy nights the performance will be given in the concert hall.

At Keith & Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre the stock company will produce to-morrow a new piece, called "The Sorcerers," by Miss Ullie Akerson, with Miss Edna May Spooner in the principal part. Benjamin F. Wilson will appear as Captain Ernest Lamont, Harold Kennedy as Pierre, Arthur Evers as Marquis De Fortourne, Edwin H. Curtis as Benetto, William West as Father Jacques, James Montgomery as Quadro, Clifford C. Storch as Tristan, Miss Olive Grove as Camilla, Miss Jessie McAllister as Louise, Miss Josephine Fox as Marguerite, and Miss Eleanor Wisdom as Madelon.

Miss Beatrice Morgan has returned to the Harlem Opera House, and will be seen this week in a new version of "Carmen," assisted by the permanent stock company. There will be the usual concerts at this house to-day.

At Keith & Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre Miss Edna May, in her sketch, "The Belle of Avenue A," will appear in the concert to-night. With to-night's concert the 8th street house will close for the season. Miss Anna Scott, a favorite with the Harlem Opera House patrons, will make her first appearance in vaudeville to-morrow at the 125th street house in a play called "The Red, Red, Red," written by herself. The Rose de Haven Theatre will head the bill at the Union Square house.

To-morrow will occur the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Casino Theatre. There will be special acts in conjunction with the performance of "Fascinating Flora," and some of the players who have been at this house in years gone by have promised to attend.

"The Road to Yesterday" and Miss Minnie Dupree are still at the Lyric Theatre. "The Man of the Hour" still commands attention at the Savoy. There is a second company producing this piece in Chicago, and according to the figures both companies played to the same number of persons last week.

Mr. Foy and his precocious "Orchid" and Trixie Frigitelli and La Petite Adelaide will have only one summer home—"Lew" Field's Herald Square Theatre.

This will be the last week of the Orpheum Opera Company at the Orpheum Theatre, Brooklyn. "The Travellers" will be sung with Miss Wentworth as Leonora and Joseph Fredericks as Manrico.

Kelly and Kent, Miss Dorothy Kenton, the Girl with the Banjo; Arnet and Cunn, Charlie and company, Miss Sadie O'Neill and John Freeman and company are some of the entertainers on the bill at Tony Pastor's this week.

Garibaldi will be shown at the Eden Musee this week in the Great Men of the World series. The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Garibaldi occurs July 4.

THE PARKS AND GARDENS.
Three nights of this week will be devoted by Mr. Kauter and his orchestra, at the St. Nicholas Garden for the summer, to the works of Wagner. Mr. Kauter has arranged a programme of patriotic airs for the night of the Fourth of July. Friday night The Friars, an organization of theatrical prodigies, will be the guests of the musician. A full symphony orchestra will play the Friars' song, words by Charles Emerson Cook, of Mr. Belasco's staff, and music by Victor Herbert.

Alexander Szalay, the violinist, and his Hungarian orchestra will be the attraction of the Casino, beginning to-morrow night. At the Casino, beginning to-morrow night, Mr. Shady has been a favorite for several years in the restaurants of Paris and at Monte Cristo.

The Orchestra Marguerite is drawing patrons of music and outdoor eating places to Terrace Garden,

ADA LEWIS.
In "Fascinating Flora," at the Casino.

FREE CIRCUS AT LUNA PARK.

Milo Marguerite and her trained horses.
At Golden City, Canarsie, there will be a special celebration on the Fourth of July. The six flying Banvard's begin the last week of their engagement at this amusement resort to-morrow night. King Pharaoh, the educated horse, is one of the numerous attractions that have found favor at this resort.

Brighton Beach Park is open for the summer. There is bathing and music, and numerous other attractions at this park, the nearest to Manhattan Beach.

FIREWORKS AT MANHATTAN BEACH.
Pain's exhibition of fireworks is established for the season at Manhattan Beach, the feature being "Sheridan's Ride." There will be a special exhibition on the Fourth of July, with patriotic settings. The whole will close with an exhibition of the fight between the Monitor and Merrimac.

CONEY ISLAND AND ELSEWHERE.
Luna Park and Dreamland will have special celebrations on the Fourth of July. At Luna Park the Declaration of Independence will be read. All the attractions of "The Court of Lunacy" are open now from early in the afternoon until well into the night. "The Days of '49," "The Great Shipwreck," etc., are drawing large crowds to this amusement place every day. Miss Field has presented Fred Thompson her Teddy Bear, the one she used in the performance of "The Parisian Model," and it has been adopted as the mascot of "The Court of Lunacy."

Dreamland has another new feature which will be thrown open to-day. It is called "The Fountain of Youth," and is a companion piece to the other attractions. A special attraction for the Fourth of July, "The Arabian Nights Up-to-Date," "The Great Divide," "The End of the World," "The Millionaire," etc., are favorites with the Dreamland patrons.

Steeplechase Park, the "funny place of Coney Island," is drawing crowds every day and night in the week. The "Human Roulette," skating rink, the "Human Cannon," and the diving dogs are some of the attractions at this place.

Nobody goes to Coney Island without seeing Hotstock and his trained animals in the Hotstock Arena at Dreamland. The sacred white elephant, Indra, Ricardo and his wrestling bear, Mene, Ratajawa and her lions are special acts to be seen in the arena.

BAR HARBOR CLUBS OPEN.

Bar Harbor, Me., June 29 (Special).—The various fashionable clubs at Bar Harbor have made a point of formally opening this week for the summer, although in reality most of them have been open for use for some little time.

Among the arrivals of the week were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Vanderbilt, who have opened their cottage, Pointe d'Arcade, on the shore for the summer. The coming of the Eastern Yacht Club next week for its annual cruise is of much interest, as is also the approaching dedication of the new Temple of Music and Arts, which is to take place early in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Wellman, of New York, were among the arrivals of the week and will be at the bar harbor. Mr. William P. Draper and her daughter, Miss Violet Cushman, were among the arrivals of Sunday. They will have the Dupstun, the Montomery, and the "The Young People's" boat. General and Mrs. Thomas H. Hubbard, of New York, were among the arrivals this week and will occupy Hillcrest, on the Heights.

The best anchor in the harbor has been augmented by the arrival of the "The White Hill House," which opened to-day, thoroughly renovated inside and out and with several new bathroom fixtures, started the season auspiciously.

Many cottagers are already here. James Walsh and family, Grandon Old, Cincinnati, will occupy E. S. Bradford's cottage. The Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Truman H. Newberry, and his family have arrived and opened their cottage at the "The White Hill House." Mr. H. B. Joy will not occupy their cottage this season, having decided to remain in Detroit. They are among the oldest cottagers at the Hill, and Mrs. Joy first came here when it was only Mrs. Joy is a sister of Assistant Secretary Newberry.

The first fish story of the season has reached here from Weekapaug, a few miles along the shore toward Point Judith, where there is a large inn and several cottages.

Mrs. H. R. Travers, who is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Kingsland at Sea Grange, while fishing in Weekapaug Pond Monday landed the largest fish ever caught by a woman in that pond, a codfish weighing seventeen pounds and three ounces. Thirty fatfish and blackfish were also caught in less than an hour and a half.

ON WATCH HILL.

Watch Hill, R. I., June 29 (Special).—All the hotels and nearly all of the cottages are now open at Watch Hill, and there is a general atmosphere of summer gaiety about the place. There is every indication that this resort will be crowded and gay earlier than usual this season. The Ocean House, with its new addition, new furnishings and decorations, is rapidly filling up. The White Hill House, which opened to-day, thoroughly renovated inside and out and with several new bathroom fixtures, started the season auspiciously.

Many cottagers are already here. James Walsh and family, Grandon Old, Cincinnati, will occupy E. S. Bradford's cottage. The Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Truman H. Newberry, and his family have arrived and opened their cottage at the "The White Hill House." Mr. H. B. Joy will not occupy their cottage this season, having decided to remain in Detroit. They are among the oldest cottagers at the Hill, and Mrs. Joy first came here when it was only Mrs. Joy is a sister of Assistant Secretary Newberry.

The first fish story of the season has reached here from Weekapaug, a few miles along the shore toward Point Judith, where there is a large inn and several cottages.

Mrs. H. R. Travers, who is spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Albert A. Kingsland at Sea Grange, while fishing in Weekapaug Pond Monday landed the largest fish ever caught by a woman in that pond, a codfish weighing seventeen pounds and three ounces. Thirty fatfish and blackfish were also caught in less than an hour and a half.

ABOUT GUM ARABIC.

Gum arabic, which forms one of the most important minor exports of Egypt, is really the sap from a special kind of tree which grows from three to five yards in height, whose flocks of which are found in the Kordofan province, and also near Gedid, in the White Nile province. The natives are free to collect the gum. The season for the collection of the gum is from the beginning of the year to the end of the year. The price of the gum is very high, and it is a valuable commodity. The price of the gum is very high, and it is a valuable commodity. The price of the gum is very high, and it is a valuable commodity.

REPAIRING OCEAN CABLES.

Fifty five vessels are constantly employed in laying and repairing the submarine cables of the world. Baltimore, Md.

CARLOTTA.
At Keith & Proctor's 23d Street this week.

LIFE AT ASBURY PARK.

Many Visitors at the Hotels—Plans for Fourth of July.
Asbury Park, June 29 (Special).—It is estimated that twenty thousand visitors arrived in Asbury Park this week. The trains from the metropolis to-day were filled with pleasure seekers, and many of the newcomers will remain over the Fourth of July holiday.

Ocean bathing is now popular. The new bathing pavilions on the boardwalk at Third and Fourth avenues are completed and are in use. The new houses contain the latest conveniences. They are two stories in height, and bathers use an underground passage in going to and returning from the beach.

An army of anglers are drawn to the Fishing Pier and Deal Lake flume daily. Several striped bass have been hooked this week, but the catches are not up to the average. The Asbury Park Fishing Club, composed of resident and visiting anglers, maintains a cozy clubhouse on the boardwalk, which is the rendezvous for disciples of Isak Walton. The club will hold a casting tournament in August. It has also decided to give a gold pin to every woman angler lucky enough to hook a striped bass in the course of the summer.

The usual fireworks display will be given on the shore front on the evening of Independence Day. It will cost the city $500, and promises to be the best display ever given here. No other special attraction will take part in the annual boat carnival. The Carnival Association will give a booth on the boardwalk next Monday for the registration of participants in the annual baby parade, scheduled for the afternoon of Thursday, August 29. It is hoped that the entire day will be given to the festival. Plans are being completed for the affair, and several innovations are promised. The cottagers at Loch Arbour and Alhambra will be invited to take part in the annual boat carnival on Deal Lake, which is one of the many carnival week attractions.

Ocean Grove's season is now in full blast. This evening, the Auditorium, the opening concert was given under the direction of the musical director, Tall Esen Morgan. These concerts will be continued every Saturday evening throughout the summer. The "Boys' Rough Riders" Brigade was organized this week. The young soldiers will appear in the several children's concerts. The Auditorium pulpit will be occupied to-morrow by the Rev. Dr. George Reed, president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Penn., and the Rev. Dr. Skerivington, of Newark, N. J. The Young People's Society, now being held daily in the Temple, with the Rev. Dr. Van Hook, of Millville, N. J., in charge. Miss Helen Ramsey, extra pastor, will give the music and solo, assist in these services.

Congressman James S. Sherman, of Utica, N. Y., will deliver the Independence oration in the Ocean Grove Auditorium, on Thursday morning, July 4. The oration will be given at 10 o'clock. Mr. Sherman will be accompanied by his wife and daughter. The oration will be given at 10 o'clock. Mr. Sherman will be accompanied by his wife and daughter. The oration will be given at 10 o'clock. Mr. Sherman will be accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Desi Beach, Asbury Park's thriving neighbor, will celebrate the Fourth, and incidentally, the completion of its new Casino, recently opened, on the beach at a cost of $200,000. There will be a flag raising and band concert at 10 o'clock. At 10 o'clock will begin a series of water sports in the new pool, which is the largest on the North Jersey coast. These will include swimming and diving contests and tub races for the young and old. Valuable medals will be given the winners in the several contests.

LAKE GEORGE VISITORS.

Lake George, N. Y., June 29 (Special).—The cool breezes of Lake George have been enjoyed by many visitors this week. Fortunate indeed have been those who could pack their trunks and within a few hours be located in some cottage or hotel along the shores of this beautiful lake. Many have come, for the trains have been crowded and some of the hotels are now as busy as they usually are in the latter part of July.

Mr. Elias G. Brown, of New York, with a party of fifty boys, who will spend the summer in tents and acquire some experience in woodcraft. Mr. Brown's party is now at the "The White Hill House." Mr. Robert F. Weir, of New York, is also here. He is occupying the "The White Hill House." Mr. Robert F. Weir, of New York, is also here. He is occupying the "The White Hill House."

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Odell and their son, Hammond Odell, of New York, have been at their cottage, The Pines, since June 1.

Mr. J. H. Hays, of New York, will be added to the list of the Lake George Steamboat Company, to replace the Mohican, which is too small to accommodate the increasing traffic. The new boat will be of steel, 15 feet long, with 25 feet beam, and will cost $30,000.

A bank has been organized at Lake George with a capital of $25,000. This will greatly facilitate the business of the region. Heretofore all bank business has had to be done at Warrensburg or Glens Falls. Among the directors are Edward M. Shepard and Charles F. Peabody.

Mrs. H. H. Hayden, of Bryn Mawr, Penn., and Mrs. James A. Hayden and family, of New York, are occupying their cottages. Other arrivals among the cottagers on the Bolton Road are George Foster Peabody, Dr. William Brayfogle, Mrs. J. D. Denison, and Mrs. George Cary Egbert. Dr. John P. Gray, of Florida, has just arrived at Ardmore camp, near Hague, with a party of fifty boys, who will spend the summer in tents and acquire some experience in woodcraft.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Odell and their son, Hammond Odell, of New York, have been at their cottage, The Pines, since June 1.

Mr. J. H. Hays, of New York, will be added to the list of the Lake George Steamboat Company, to replace the Mohican, which is too small to accommodate the increasing traffic. The new boat will be of steel, 15 feet long, with 25 feet beam, and will cost $30,000.

HE HAD TO COME OUT.

Self-evident propositions are sometimes funny—either through statement or collection. A soft-headed fellow, who was in love, undertook to drown himself, and actually waded into water over his head. But, very shortly, he came to land, puffing and blowing, still unhappy, but very much alive. Then some other fellow who was in hiding, with intent to rescue him if there was real danger, came to land, puffing and blowing, still unhappy, but very much alive. Then some other fellow who was in hiding, with intent to rescue him if there was real danger, came to land, puffing and blowing, still unhappy, but very much alive.

GLADYS LOCKWOOD.
Hammerstein's Roof Garden.

ANCESTRAL HOMES.

How Every Man May Live in the House of His Fathers at Small Cost.
The price of building materials has been going up for ten years, and conservative judges of the situation declare that there is no hope of a return to former prices. The average man today finds it impossible for him to consider buying any kind of residence save a castle in Spain. Even a five room summer cottage built of glass box planks reinforced with wall paper is almost as unobtainable as an automobile. With this market information as a starter, the reader will be able to commend intelligently the invention of a Boston inventor, who has discovered a method of cheap home building.

TIPS AND TIPPING.

Those Who Will Suffer if the Custom Is Abolished.
Who will suffer if the International Society of Hotel and Restaurant Employees succeeds in its desire to abolish the system of tipping waiters? Some enthusiasts has estimated that about $50,000,000 is spent in a single year upon tips in the United States. That is a lot of money, but when one stops to think how much he himself pays in the course of a year in that way and realizes that he should be able to get the same service for the same estimate looks under rather than over the mark.

There are many hotels and restaurants in New York where waiters are not paid sufficient wages to live on, without the tips they receive from the public. The average wages paid at the clubs where tipping is not allowed are from $30 to $50 a month. Some of the hotel and restaurant managements do not receive the tips, but the waiters receive them. There are none among the well known places where tipping is prohibited. The Waldorf, for instance, refuses to recognize the system, and claims that he should be discharged for negligence in not paying them. Better attention than the guest who lavishly throws dollar bills about. The fact is, however, that in nearly all hotels and restaurants the guest who does not tip is served with less alacrity and care than the one who does.

There are a few places where larger wages than the average are paid. The Holland House, as an example, has introduced the system where the amount paid to the waiters is increased from year to year in accordance with the length of time they have been in the establishment. The waiters start at $25 a month, after a year's service they get $30, after two years' $35, and some receive as much as $40 a month. At places like Sherbro's, the Hotel Astor and Belmont's the wages paid are $30 a month as a rule. At the Hotel Waldorf, the Knickerbocker and Rector's the average is $25. In all these places waiters have only one table to look after, and in many of the fashionable hotels they have three or four tables to serve.

In the downtown restaurants, where luncheon is the principal and in many cases the only meal served, the scale of wages is different. At Ham's the waiters work in the luncheon hour only, and receive $3 a week. Mouquin pays his waiters 5 per cent on the amount of the orders they take. At the Hotel Waldorf the waiters receive $5 a week. At Hitchcock's the management pride themselves upon retaining their old hands, and paying them wages of from $40 to $50 a month, so that they can live without receiving tips from the guests.

At Coney Island and many of the beach resorts about the city waiters receive no wages at all, but are paid in tips. The waiter's life is a hard one. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

PEARL HUNTING.

Digging Clams for the Valuable Gem Twenty Years Ago.
Twenty years ago a pearl cove started in Wisconsin. Every one dug clams. Mills stopped and the water was drawn from the mill ponds that the people might get the mussels more easily. Previous to 1886, most of the pearls were found in the Pearl River, which empties into the Mississippi. The pearl cove was discovered by a man named Sugar River, who was digging for mussels. He was digging for mussels. He was digging for mussels.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reading, of New York, who have been spending the spring and early summer at the Rio Grande, immediately after the Fourth will go to their country house, at Oyster Bay.

State Senator Howard Murray, the youngest man in the Massachusetts Legislature, is a visitor here. Accompanying him are his mother, Mrs. Josephine Murray; his sister, Miss Josephine Murray; J. F. Shinnery and Daniel J. Monahan, all of Boston. They are at the Hotel Raleigh and will remain until the middle of July.

Professor W. C. St. Clair, a government astronomer and forecaster in the federal observatory at Washington, is spending his honeymoon here. He and his bride are making their headquarters at the Hotel Chateaufort.

E. P. Dunlap, of New York, is spending a couple of weeks here for the benefit of his health. Mr. and Mrs. John McKinley, of New York, are spending their honeymoon at the Hotel Chateaufort. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Watson, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Watson, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall.

GLADYS LOCKWOOD.
Hammerstein's Roof Garden.

ANCESTRAL HOMES.

How Every Man May Live in the House of His Fathers at Small Cost.
The price of building materials has been going up for ten years, and conservative judges of the situation declare that there is no hope of a return to former prices. The average man today finds it impossible for him to consider buying any kind of residence save a castle in Spain. Even a five room summer cottage built of glass box planks reinforced with wall paper is almost as unobtainable as an automobile. With this market information as a starter, the reader will be able to commend intelligently the invention of a Boston inventor, who has discovered a method of cheap home building.

TIPS AND TIPPING.

Those Who Will Suffer if the Custom Is Abolished.
Who will suffer if the International Society of Hotel and Restaurant Employees succeeds in its desire to abolish the system of tipping waiters? Some enthusiasts has estimated that about $50,000,000 is spent in a single year upon tips in the United States. That is a lot of money, but when one stops to think how much he himself pays in the course of a year in that way and realizes that he should be able to get the same service for the same estimate looks under rather than over the mark.

There are many hotels and restaurants in New York where waiters are not paid sufficient wages to live on, without the tips they receive from the public. The average wages paid at the clubs where tipping is not allowed are from $30 to $50 a month. Some of the hotel and restaurant managements do not receive the tips, but the waiters receive them. There are none among the well known places where tipping is prohibited. The Waldorf, for instance, refuses to recognize the system, and claims that he should be discharged for negligence in not paying them. Better attention than the guest who lavishly throws dollar bills about. The fact is, however, that in nearly all hotels and restaurants the guest who does not tip is served with less alacrity and care than the one who does.

There are a few places where larger wages than the average are paid. The Holland House, as an example, has introduced the system where the amount paid to the waiters is increased from year to year in accordance with the length of time they have been in the establishment. The waiters start at $25 a month, after a year's service they get $30, after two years' $35, and some receive as much as $40 a month. At places like Sherbro's, the Hotel Astor and Belmont's the wages paid are $30 a month as a rule. At the Hotel Waldorf, the Knickerbocker and Rector's the average is $25. In all these places waiters have only one table to look after, and in many of the fashionable hotels they have three or four tables to serve.

In the downtown restaurants, where luncheon is the principal and in many cases the only meal served, the scale of wages is different. At Ham's the waiters work in the luncheon hour only, and receive $3 a week. Mouquin pays his waiters 5 per cent on the amount of the orders they take. At the Hotel Waldorf the waiters receive $5 a week. At Hitchcock's the management pride themselves upon retaining their old hands, and paying them wages of from $40 to $50 a month, so that they can live without receiving tips from the guests.

At Coney Island and many of the beach resorts about the city waiters receive no wages at all, but are paid in tips. The waiter's life is a hard one. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

PEARL HUNTING.

Digging Clams for the Valuable Gem Twenty Years Ago.
Twenty years ago a pearl cove started in Wisconsin. Every one dug clams. Mills stopped and the water was drawn from the mill ponds that the people might get the mussels more easily. Previous to 1886, most of the pearls were found in the Pearl River, which empties into the Mississippi. The pearl cove was discovered by a man named Sugar River, who was digging for mussels. He was digging for mussels. He was digging for mussels.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reading, of New York, who have been spending the spring and early summer at the Rio Grande, immediately after the Fourth will go to their country house, at Oyster Bay.

State Senator Howard Murray, the youngest man in the Massachusetts Legislature, is a visitor here. Accompanying him are his mother, Mrs. Josephine Murray; his sister, Miss Josephine Murray; J. F. Shinnery and Daniel J. Monahan, all of Boston. They are at the Hotel Raleigh and will remain until the middle of July.

Professor W. C. St. Clair, a government astronomer and forecaster in the federal observatory at Washington, is spending his honeymoon here. He and his bride are making their headquarters at the Hotel Chateaufort.

E. P. Dunlap, of New York, is spending a couple of weeks here for the benefit of his health. Mr. and Mrs. John McKinley, of New York, are spending their honeymoon at the Hotel Chateaufort. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cadwalader, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Watson, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall. Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Watson, of Philadelphia, are among the visitors at Haddon Hall.

GLADYS LOCKWOOD.
Hammerstein's Roof Garden.

ANCESTRAL HOMES.

How Every Man May Live in the House of His Fathers at Small Cost.
The price of building materials has been going up for ten years, and conservative judges of the situation declare that there is no hope of a return to former prices. The average man today finds it impossible for him to consider buying any kind of residence save a castle in Spain. Even a five room summer cottage built of glass box planks reinforced with wall paper is almost as unobtainable as an automobile. With this market information as a starter, the reader will be able to commend intelligently the invention of a Boston inventor, who has discovered a method of cheap home building.

TIPS AND TIPPING.

Those Who Will Suffer if the Custom Is Abolished.
Who will suffer if the International Society of Hotel and Restaurant Employees succeeds in its desire to abolish the system of tipping waiters? Some enthusiasts has estimated that about $50,000,000 is spent in a single year upon tips in the United States. That is a lot of money, but when one stops to think how much he himself pays in the course of a year in that way and realizes that he should be able to get the same service for the same estimate looks under rather than over the mark.

There are many hotels and restaurants in New York where waiters are not paid sufficient wages to live on, without the tips they receive from the public. The average wages paid at the clubs where tipping is not allowed are from $30 to $50 a month. Some of the hotel and restaurant managements do not receive the tips, but the waiters receive them. There are none among the well known places where tipping is prohibited. The Waldorf, for instance, refuses to recognize the system, and claims that he should be discharged for negligence in not paying them. Better attention than the guest who lavishly throws dollar bills about. The fact is, however, that in nearly all hotels and restaurants the guest who does not tip is served with less alacrity and care than the one who does.

There are a few places where larger wages than the average are paid. The Holland House, as an example, has introduced the system where the amount paid to the waiters is increased from year to year in accordance with the length of time they have been in the establishment. The waiters start at $25 a month, after a year's service they get $30, after two years' $35, and some receive as much as $40 a month. At places like Sherbro's, the Hotel Astor and Belmont's the wages paid are $30 a month as a rule. At the Hotel Waldorf, the Knickerbocker and Rector's the average is $25. In all these places waiters have only one table to look after, and in many of the fashionable hotels they have three or four tables to serve.

In the downtown restaurants, where luncheon is the principal and in many cases the only meal served, the scale of wages is different. At Ham's the waiters work in the luncheon hour only, and receive $3 a week. Mouquin pays his waiters 5 per cent on the amount of the orders they take. At the Hotel Waldorf the waiters receive $5 a week. At Hitchcock's the management pride themselves upon retaining their old hands, and paying them wages of from $40 to $50 a month, so that they can live without receiving tips from the guests.

At Coney Island and many of the beach resorts about the city waiters receive no wages at all, but are paid in tips. The waiter's life is a hard one. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization. The waiters' union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

There is little use in attempting to indicate what amount should be given in tips. No general tariff can be given. It is a matter of the individual waiter's own discretion. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization. The waiter's union is a powerful organization.

PEARL HUNTING.

Digging Clams for the Valuable Gem Twenty Years Ago.
Twenty years ago a pearl cove started in Wisconsin. Every one dug clams. Mills stopped and the water was drawn from the mill ponds that the people might get the mussels more easily. Previous to