FORGERY FOR McMANUS.

FAKE LETTERS SENT OUT.

Murphy and Wagner Repudiate Epistles of Praise.

Judging from their remarks last night, if it hadn't been for the rain the Plunkitt men in the 11th District would have burned Senator Thomas J. McManus at the stake.

Independent citizens, learning of the trouble, smiled and reached the conclusion that one faction was about as bad as the other.

will be seated in the executive committee without further delay.

"How many leaders do you give the Mayor?" "Only two—Featherston and Lantry," said Mr. Murphy.

"Well, Mr. Featherston is going to have a long chase, then, for I expect to remain in politics for a long time to come," replied Mr. Murphy.

"Do you consider the police are for or against you?" "We consider that they are against us, of course. They attempt to do us wrong, so we are prepared to meet any attempt to vote floaters."

When Commissioner Bingham was asked about the likelihood of crooked voting at the primaries he said: "There is likely to be some disturbance. I hope to land a number of men in jail."

"I was elected last year over the Murphy candidate, and my attitude has not changed," said Williams. "I am a supporter of the McClellan administration and its policies."

"Everybody in my district knows where I stand," said Ahearn. "and that is with the administration. Of course, I want to be seated in the executive committee, for that is my right."

EACH SAYS HELL BEAT FEATHERSTON.

But the Latter Is Confident That He'll Win in the Twentieth, as Usual.

"Who will be our leader?" was the question many of the Democratic voters of the 20th District were asking one another last night.

"I will be the leader here to-morrow, for I have the laboring men with me," said Edward V. Nicholson, campaign manager, Morris K. Telesky, was saying with a large roll of bills as he told the reporter that the "combination ticket" would beat Featherston by about 600 votes and that Nicholson would have about 250 majority over Greenbaum and O'Brien.

PARKER AS A "BARKIS."

Friends Think He's "Willin'" To Be President if Necessary.

Despite ex-Judge Alton B. Parker's assertion that he is not a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, his friends, both in New York and in other cities, are quietly at work in his behalf.

Mr. Parker not only was soundly beaten, but he was reviled and ridiculed by William R. Hearst during the campaign, and even William J. Bryan, whose doctrine of brotherly love is exploited by "The Commoner" from week to week, excited over the defeat of the champion of the conservatives.

The present plan of campaign of the Parker men seems to be to have the ex-judge as often as practicable sound the issue of state's rights as against federal encroachment, citing the speeches of the President and of Secretary Root as proof that the fight next year will be on the shipholoth of ante-bellum days.

One of Judge Parker's friends in discussing the subject yesterday said: "Certainly, the friends of Judge Parker are working for his nomination at the next Democratic National Convention. Whom else have we? Bryan cannot be elected. Hearst is out of the question. Parker stands for conservatism, and the wave of radicalism in both parties is beginning to recede, making it extremely probable that Judge Parker, by the end of this year, will be the most available man for the Democrats to name."

"The judge is positive that he is not a candidate," suggested an interested listener. "Of course he is not seeking the nomination in the way that Bryan sought it in 1896, and again in 1899, and as Hearst sought it in 1904," continued the friends of Parker boomer.

"The crusade against the corporations has been carried so far that it is hurting business everywhere, and there is no sign of a cessation of hostilities. The speech of President Roosevelt at Provocton and of Secretary Root, when he said that the states would have to war against certain corporations or the federal government would do the work for them, has created a distinct issue that the Democrats can use in a national campaign."

"The judge would feel about it in the same way. There is not the slightest doubt about the strength of the judge as a candidate of the conservative business men."

MAZET FIGHTING MACK.

Unexpected Contest in Hughes's District Shows Hand of Quigg.

Ex-Assemblyman Robert Mazet is leading a fight against Harry W. Mack for the leadership of the 15th Assembly District. He did not begin it until Saturday night, when he learned that he stood no chance of obtaining the nomination for municipal court judge.

With the aid of the Quigg men in the district, of which Mr. Quigg was leader for years, Mr. Mazet is making a brisk campaign. The friends of Mr. Mazet apparently are trying to "work both ends" of the factional game, as they say in one breath that Mack, being a staunch Parsons man, is friendly to Governor Hughes and in favor of Taft for President, and in the next that he has the backing of the O'Neil men and of the federal officeholders.

It was learned last night that Governor Hughes, who lives in the 15th District, is on good terms with Mr. Mack and that he does not regard Mr. Mack other than as a first class Republican. He is satisfied that Mr. Mack is not in any manner hostile to him.

Mr. Mazet decided that the only way he could break Mack's hold on the situation was to fight him at the primaries, and so he jumped into the contest at the eleventh hour, taking away more than a dozen of the twenty-seven Mack electors in the district. There is much interest shown in the coming campaign, and little opportunity for any great differences which might split the Michigan delegation.

HERBERT PARSONS SPEAKS FOR LEVY.

Tells 24th District Republicans to Stick by Present Leader.

Herbert Parsons lent his influence in favor of Morris Levy, Republican leader of the 24th Assembly District, at the Union Republican Club, in East New York, last night, by making a speech earnestly advocating the continuance of Levy as leader. There are not many Republicans in the 24th, and there has been much dissatisfaction for a long time with the various leaders, who have been not much more than lieutenants of Frawley.

CAUSES SURPRISE IN ALBANY.

Albany, Sept. 23.—The report that Harry W. Mack, the present Republican leader of the 15th New York District, would be opposed at the primaries to-morrow by Robert W. Mazet on the ground that Mack was unfriendly to Governor Hughes, and that the friends of the Governor in the Governor's home district would work for the election of Mazet, was received here with surprise.

Mack has been here repeatedly during the last winter to consult with Governor Hughes, and is stated on a reliable authority that he is a personal friend of the Governor and enjoys his confidence.

This committee is to report back to the main body on Friday night. In the absence of R. Fulton Cutting, who is at the Jamestown exposition, Vice-Chairman Horace A. Davis presided.

BRACKETT REMOVED.

Attorney General Denounces His Conduct of Broome County Case.

Albany, Sept. 23.—Attorney General Jackson sent to Governor Hughes to-night a copy of a letter which he addressed to-day to ex-Senator Edgar T. Brackett, of Saratoga, ex-emptorily revoking his designation of Mr. Brackett as a deputy attorney general in connection with the grand jury investigation of charges made by a Binghamton newspaper against District Attorney Roger P. Clark, of Broome County.

In his letter the Attorney General denounces Mr. Brackett's conduct of the case, criticizing especially his failing to co-operate in the request for an adjournment made by William W. Farley, of Binghamton, whom the Attorney General named as his deputy in the case.

In his letter to Senator Brackett the Attorney General says in part: "Your action from the start has been in direct and insolent disobedience of the expressed orders and instructions of myself and my deputy, Mr. Farley. You have taken advantage of my courtesy and confidence by rushing this business to a conclusion without consultation with or report to me and without apprising me of any of the facts, thus contemptuously taking into your own hands and excluding me from the management and conduct required of me by the Governor."

Attorney General Jackson says personal and political friends of District Attorney Clark sought to have him designate on the case a deputy of their selection, and "they seemed to be much disturbed when it was stated that I could only assure them that I would name some man who would be disinterested and fair." Continuing, the letter says:

"I think your conduct has tended to inspire doubt in the public mind, as it has in mine, as to your qualification as a prosecutor regarding disinterestedness and impartiality. I do not assume to speak for the Governor. I know his disappointment will be as keen as mine that an affair of this nature should be clouded with any suspicion. So far as you still may have authority to assist under your designation from the Governor, I hereby direct that you do not act whatever in respect to the transaction of the business mentioned in the Governor's designation of you to assist until you receive further written instructions from me. In the mean time I shall personally examine into the evidence produced both by myself and by you and into any other evidence that may not have been produced, to determine whether the grand jury inquiry already had is sufficient, or whether there are matters which should be brought to the attention of another grand jury."

In transmitting the letter to Governor Hughes the Attorney General says: "I regret exceedingly the occasion for this action, but I am satisfied that should you independently investigate the facts you would consider my course entirely proper." Governor Hughes had not received the letter this evening and declined to comment on the matter.

NEWSPAPER MEN PLEAD NOT GUILTY.

Binghamton, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Ruy W. Beardsley and Frank J. Spaulding, editor and city editor of "The Evening Herald," the newspaper that made Roger P. Quigg who were indicted for alleged criminal libel by the grand jury on Saturday, were arraigned before Justice Henry B. Coman, in the Supreme Court, this morning. Deputy Attorney General W. W. Farley read the sealed indictments and Rollin W. Meeker, attorney for the defendants, said that without any wish to delay proceedings he would like to enter a plea of not guilty with the right to be heard on the plea. "It may be," said Mr. Meeker, "that after these indictments are looked over we shall wish to make some motions." Bail was fixed at $1,000 in each indictment.

POLITICS IN MICHIGAN.

Senator William Alden Smith on Republican Sentiment.

Washington, Sept. 23.—"Sentiment has not yet thoroughly crystallized in Michigan with reference to a Presidential candidate," said Senator William Alden Smith, who is here on personal business for a few days. "There is probably more Taft sentiment expressed than of any other variety. Throughout the state the Secretary of War is personally popular, and further, he has a strong hold on the people because of the policies for which he stands."

"Roosevelt sentiment, however, still runs strong. There is a large faction that still holds that the President may yet be forced into the acceptance of a third term, and who will be for him in case such an emergency arises. This following would go naturally to Mr. Taft if the other possibility were removed."

"On the other hand, the followers of the Secretary would not be antagonistic to the President should he decide to accept further service. The administration position is strong whichever way the matter is taken, but there is no settled view taken of the situation in Michigan."

MARYLAND CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY.

Formal Notice of Their Nominations Given to Republican Candidates.

Baltimore, Sept. 23.—The Republican state campaign was opened quietly to-night by formal notice to George R. Galtzer, nominee for Governor. To get her with the other candidates on the ticket, the ceremony took place at the Hotel Bennett, in the presence of the party leaders and managers. Daniel R. Randall made the address of notice to Mr. Galtzer, who in reply plainly announced that the chief issue of the Republican campaign would be the Democratic election law disfranchising citizens. He said:

"Our fair election law of 1898 has been ruthlessly mutilated and changed by our opponents so that it is scarcely recognizable. The present subterfuge is intended to destroy the intent of the honest voter and defeat his will. It should be the first duty of a Republican Legislature to enact a law which will do away with these abuses."

A SEAMAN SWEEP OVERBOARD.

Rough Trip of Dominion Liner—Quarter-master in Hospital.

Montreal, Sept. 23.—The steamship Dominion, of the Dominion Line, which arrived in port to-day, encountered one of the most severe gales of recent years on the North Atlantic. While in mid-ocean William Roberts, a seaman, was swept overboard by a wave and E. J. Rowlands, the ship's quartermaster, had two ribs broken, and is now in the hospital. Roberts, who was clad in oilskins when he was swept overboard, managed to throw them off in the water, but although the ship was stopped and life buoys thrown overboard when he sank on the point of grasping a buoy. The passengers subscribed $50 for Roberts' widowed mother.

GIBBONS ON STRIKES.

our fellow beings, that they have feelings like ourselves, that they are stung by a feeling of injustice, repelled by an overbearing spirit and softened by kindness, and that it rests largely with us whether their hearts and homes are to be clouded with sorrow or radiant with joy.

Finally his eminence directs a little sermon to the workmen, part of which follows: "Take an active, personal interest in the business of your employer, be as much concerned about its prosperity as if it were your own. And are not your employer's affairs in a measure yours? For your wages come from the profits of the concern, and the more you contribute to its success, the better can he afford to compensate you for your services. He will be impelled by an enlightened self-interest as well as by a sense of justice to requite you for your services with a generous hand."

ACCUSED OF STAMP FRAUD.

Man Arrested After Asking for Loan Over Telephone.

A man who said he was John Reynolds, a druggist, of No. 235 West 43d street, was arrested late yesterday afternoon in the offices of Harris, Winthrop & Co., brokers, of No. 25 Pine street, charged with attempted grand larceny. The police say Reynolds is a man who has been defrauding bankers and brokers out of transfer stamps.

Yesterday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock a man called up Mr. Lindley, the cashier of Harris, Winthrop & Co., and said that he was Mr. Flood, of McKay & Co., of No. 18 Nassau street, and asked Mr. Lindley to let him have $153 worth of transfer stamps until morning. Mr. Lindley, who had heard of a swindle that worked like that, said that he would, and after hanging up the receiver called up Police Headquarters.

When Reynolds appeared to get the stamps he was arrested. Hardly had he been taken away when another man called up and said that he represented McKay & Co., and that the man who had called for the stamps was one of their clerks, who had been acting queerly. It is thought a confederate of the prisoner had seen him arrested and tried to get him off by this ruse. He will be arraigned in court to-day.

FOLK NOT A CANDIDATE.

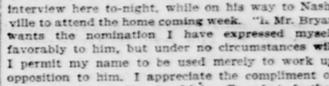

Says He Is Not Out for Presidency in Virginia Interview.

Bristol, Va., Sept. 23.—"I am not a candidate for President," said Governor Folk of Missouri in an interview here to-night, while on his way to Nashville to attend the home coming week. "Mr. Bryan wants the nomination I have expressed myself favorably to him, but under no circumstances will I permit my name to be used merely to work up opposition to him. I appreciate the compliment of being mentioned for the high office, but further than that I had given the matter no thought."

"The prospects for Democratic success are very good, indeed, if Democrats will disregard the things that are not material on which they cannot agree and join in fighting for the things that are material in which they do agree."
