

HUNDREDS OF ARRESTS

ALL BUT 25 DISCHARGED.

Activity of Election Inspectors Exasperates Magistrates.

The myriad of ante-election rumors of contemplated fraud at the polls put the police and the election officials on their guard and extra vigilance was maintained at all the voting places yesterday. Hundreds of warrants had been sworn out and about five hundred arrests were made in Manhattan. The most of these were on technicalities—and when the prisoners were arraigned all but about twenty-five were discharged.

Examples of what in many cases were termed by the magistrates "foolish arrests" were those of George S. Hornblower, son of William Hornblower, and Congressman W. Bourke Cockran. Hornblower, who lives at No. 55 East 72d street, was arrested in the polling place of the 16th Election District of the 29th Assembly District, at No. 1056 Lexington avenue, and taken to the Yorkville Police Court, where he was immediately discharged. He was registered as living at No. 55 East 77th street, an error having been made by the poll clerk.

The arrest of Congressman Cockran was made on the affidavit of a servant in the house from which he registered that she did not know him. He also was immediately discharged.

Such cases as these brought out strong expressions of opinion from many magistrates regarding the discrimination of inspectors at the polls.

INVEIGNS AGAINST INSPECTORS.

In the twelve years I have been a city magistrate I have never seen such an ignorant lot of election inspectors as are serving to-day," said Magistrate Cornell in the Yorkville court. "There ought to be an examination held to look into their qualifications before they are appointed to such important positions. On account of their stupidity thirty reputable men have been haled into this court to-day."

The magistrate was moved to this outbreak when he had heard the story of Frank Abrams, a travelling salesman, who lives at the Hotel Ellis, No. 128 East Third street. Abrams's vote was challenged, and he alleged that he was so roughly handled that he left the place. He was then arrested. A policeman said he looked at the books in the polling place, and two of them had Abrams at a wrong address.

William Leary, Superintendent of the State Bureau of Elections, was at his office, at No. 47 West 42d street, long before the polls opened, receiving reports from his deputies. He had 262 men assigned throughout the city, most districts having two or three each, but in the 1st, 2d and 3d Assembly districts, in the downtown end of Manhattan Island, there were ten or twelve men assigned to an Assembly district.

FIVE HUNDRED WARRANTS ISSUED.

Word was sent out to arrest between fifteen hundred and two thousand persons if they attempted to vote, and five hundred warrants had been issued. For the rest, notification was sent to the various election districts that the men voting or attempting to vote under the names given should be arrested, on the ground that warrants were not obtained simply because of lack of time. Only a small percentage of these arrests were made, however.

During the day Superintendent Leary informed Police Headquarters that a patrolman attached to the 5th street station was exposing to the view of every one within the room a number of warrants in the polling place at No. 204 5th street. Patrolman Otto Mattola, assigned there, was at once recalled, and another policeman sent to the polling place, but Mattola was not arrested.

Exposure of election warrants is in violation of the metropolitan district election laws, and charges may be brought against a policeman who violates the statute. Superintendent Leary may take some action.

FIFTY LEAGUERS FIND NAMES VOTED.

Fifty members of the Independence League who went to the polling place of the 22d Election District of the 3d Assembly District, at No. 230 East 14th street, to vote found that ballots had already been deposited over their names. They attempted them to swear in their names, but were not permitted to do so by the inspectors.

Ex-Judge Palmeri, representing the Independence League, immediately applied to Judge Rosalsky for writs of mandamus to compel the inspectors to show cause why the votes should not be accepted. By the time he returned about twenty of the waiting men had grown disgusted and gone away.

There was a great crowd at the polling place, and the reserve of the 5th street station were summoned for fear there might be a riot. Deputy Attorney General Reass, accompanied by Deputy Darling, went immediately to the place, and Darling was left in charge with instructions that he was to arrest any inspector who refused to permit any man to swear in a vote.

In the 2d Election District of the 13th Assembly District, which is the "The McManus stronghold, the polling place is at No. 562 West 53d street, and Mr. Watson gave the name of the chairman of the election board as Oscar E. Johnson, said to be an importer, at No. 24 West 38th street. Mr. Watson said he was told by John McGrain, whose address he took as No. 562 West 59th street, that he had seen the chairman tear open the ballot offered before it was deposited in the box, apparently to see how it was marked. He was protesting against this action of the chairman of the board when Messrs. Gehring and Watson reached the polling place. Watson announced that he would arrest the chairman of the board and hold McGrain for a witness. The latter demurred until his son, John McGrain, Jr., a fireman, who was in full uniform, said to him: "Go ahead, dad. Be a witness, and stick to this thing to the end."

Deputy Watson ordered a policeman to arrest Chairman Johnson, and the policeman refused. "The fight broke out afresh at this," and to restore order Watson had to draw a revolver.

About this time Fireman McGrain pushed his way out to the sidewalk in front of the polling place, took a pocket knife from his pocket and began to cut off his uniform buttons, saying: "I will be damned if I work for the Fire Department any longer if this is the kind of an honest election ballot that we are going to get."

Friends prevented his rash act, which would probably have resulted in his dismissal from the department, and finally after much wrangling the dispute was quieted.

BROOKLYN'S QUIETEST ELECTION.

Yesterday was generally conceded to be the slowest and most uneventful Election Day that had ever passed over Brooklyn. Altogether there were about one hundred arrests made at the booths, but many of the prisoners were able to explain their apparent misdoings and were forthwith discharged.

Three or four persons who had trouble with the election officials applied to Justice Burr, of the Supreme Court, for assistance, and the only one to whom this was refused was Dr. J. Blon Bogart, of No. 463 Clinton avenue, who registered at the wrong place and was forced to take the consequences.

One Independence League captain in the 17th district will not act in that capacity next year. Somewhat overcome by liquor he visited a saloon in Columbus avenue. There he met a Tammany captain, who piled him with good liquor until his tongue was loosened. This was accomplished just before the polls were opened. It was two or three hours later before the Independence League captain appeared at his polling place in Columbus avenue. When he did get there it was only to find that the Tammany captain had voted every name on his list, barring his own. This included his father, his brother, and his two sons—about 120 votes in all. About 10 o'clock an Independence League captain was observed seeking a place where he could sign the pledge.

QUIET AT HEADQUARTERS

Parsons Still Thinks Fusion Was the Wisest Course.

No arrangements had been made to receive the returns at the Republican county headquarters, except as various leaders called up and reported to Herbert Parsons. Although it was plain that he had no hope that any member of the fusion county ticket had been elected he was not willing to concede the election of any of the Tammany ticket outside of "Tom" Foley when he left headquarters at midnight. "I should like to hear more reports on the result of the count of the split tickets," he said.

In New York County, two strong Republican Assembly districts were lost, the 19th and 29th—the "Diamond Backed District." On the other hand, the fusion ticket carried three districts—the 10th, 11th and 20th—carried last year by Tammany. The candidates elected in the 11th and 20th districts, though, are Hearst men.

Mr. Parsons in reply to questions said he still believed that fusion had been the wisest course and that the Republicans had done much better than they would have on a straight ticket. In regard to the general result, Mr. Parsons said:

"The fact that the Democrats won in New Jersey makes it plain to me why the vote, especially in some of the strong Republican districts, was not stronger. The Republican vote was probably affected by the financial situation. "I think it is true that many Republicans were disaffected over fusion, but the vote does not altogether reflect it. You have got to look for some other reason for the small vote in the Republican districts."

"Do you, in the light of the outcome, now believe that you were justified in bringing about fusion?" Mr. Parsons was asked. "I may have regret for the result, but I think fusion was the wisest course. The effect of fusion was that the Republicans did better than they would otherwise have done."

Mr. Parsons expressed great surprise that the "brownstone" districts had not given a better vote for Judge Whitman.

At 1 o'clock this morning Mr. Parsons said: "The people and the repeaters have decided." At no time were there more than twenty men in headquarters, and there were few left when Mr. Parsons shut up his desk soon after midnight.

MR. COCKRAN ARRESTED.

Congressman Taken for Repeater—Freed by Magistrate Cornell.

Congressman W. Bourke Cockran was arrested yesterday afternoon, just as he was cast his vote on a charge of voting illegally. He was taken to the Yorkville court and immediately discharged by Magistrate Cornell. It was there explained that when the warrant was sworn out it was thought that some one had registered on the Congressman's name and that a floater was trying to get in an illegal vote.

Congressman Cockran, who registered at the polling place at No. 189 Third avenue, explained that the address he gave as his home was the last place he voted from, and that he had not voted at all since he went to Congress. He lived in the house with Magistrate Corrigan until he was married, becoming the son-in-law of Henry C. Ide, ex-Governor General of the Philippines. This was the only home he had now in Manhattan. He was accepted and his registration was not challenged. Neither was his vote yesterday.

After the registration, however, a policeman was sent around to No. 310 East 17th street to verify the address. There Miss Mary O'Mallon, a servant, said she never heard of a man named Cockran living in the house. It was on her affidavit, made on information and belief, that the warrant was sworn out.

The arrest of the Congressman, who is grand sashem of Tammany Hall, created great excitement in 14th street, and a hundred or more Tammanyites followed him to court. Magistrate Cornell said he had issued the warrant on the ground that he saw the first signature of a repeater, and nearly five men on the bench when he saw his friend, the Congressman, before him.

Colonel McClelland, a representative of the Attorney General's office, was in court and denounced the arrest as an outrage.

The Congressman left the court at the head of the Tammany supporters, and was cheered all the way down to 14th street.

ONLY ONE WARSHIP SAILOR VOTES.

Only one sailor out of the four thousand that sail the eight warships in commission at the Brooklyn Navy Yard cast his vote yesterday. He had registered in the 2d Election District of the 8th Assembly District, and was one of the 43 citizens that cast their votes at the polling place for that district, No. 14 Sands street. At his naval branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, just opposite, the manager said that at other elections anywhere from a hundred to a score of sailors registered and voted, but this year only one man availed himself of the privilege.

Of the four thousand or more men employed in the navy yard, most of them voted before 9 o'clock in the morning. Those in the department of engineering—some twenty-five hundred—were not required to report for work until that hour. The others were allowed to quit their jobs at 2 p. m. The officers and men on board the battleships were visited by relatives and friends, and there were large liberty parties than usual from the various ships.

PUBLIC MEN AT POLLS.

Hughes Came from Albany to Vote—Hearst Did Not Vote at All.

This is the way men in the public eye did their duty yesterday at the polls:

Governor Hughes journeyed all the way down from Albany to exercise his franchise. He arrived at the polling place in the 3d Election District of the 27th Assembly District, at No. 716 Eighth avenue, at 2:30 p. m., and voted ballot 242. He took only a few seconds to mark it.

Herbert Parsons, president of the Republican County Committee, arose at 4:30 a. m. and was down in the Bowery before daylight, seeing personally that the rights of the Republican voters in the lower East Side districts were properly protected. He voted at 11:15 a. m., at No. 628 Sixth avenue.

Mayor McClellan voted at No. 62 Sixth avenue, the polling place of the 10th Election District of the 25th Assembly District. He required thirty seconds to mark his ballot, which he deposited at 10:10 a. m. He used the pencil he has carried in his pocket since his first vote, and never uses for any other purpose.

Alton B. Parker, former candidate for President on the Democratic ticket, voted at 8 a. m. at No. 984 Sixth avenue. A few seconds sufficed him to make up his mind.

Seth Low took a few moments to mark his ballot, which he deposited in the polling place of the 10th Election District of the 29th Assembly District, at No. 51 East 63d street.

Senator Depew voted at 10:20 a. m. in the 24th Election District of the 27th Assembly District, at No. 984 Sixth avenue.

James W. Gerard voted in the 24th Election District of the 27th Assembly District, at No. 984 Sixth avenue, just before 9 o'clock.

John D. Rockefeller and E. H. Harriman were in the West during the registration period and did not vote.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., voted at No. 984 Sixth avenue, in the polling place of the 24th Election District of the 27th Assembly District.

Thomas F. Foley was the first to cast a vote at the polling booth at No. 105½ Cherry street. Judge Charles S. Whitman voted at No. 1 East 42d street, the polling place of the 20th Election District of the 27th Assembly District, at 8:26 o'clock. He took a minute to prepare his ballot.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, cast his ballot at the polling place of the 10th Election District of the 12th Assembly District, at No. 297 First avenue, at 1:30 p. m.

Maximilian F. Ihmsen voted at the polling place of the 19th Election District of the 25th Assembly District, at No. 212 Third avenue, soon after 6 o'clock. He was the second to vote.

William Randolph Hearst, leader of the Independence League, who has for several weeks been urging the citizens to vote for clean elections, to oust Tammany Hall from control of this city, to do their duty by voting for Mr. Ihmsen for Sheriff, did not vote.

GUILD WINS BY 100,000.

Sweeping Republican Victory in Massachusetts—Moran Re-elected.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Governor Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, Republican, was re-elected for a third term to-day by a plurality estimated at a late hour to-night at more than 100,000, the largest ever given a candidate for Governor in Massachusetts since the Free Silver movement.

The remainder of the Republican state ticket was also successful, and the party will again control both branches of the Legislature by a proportion of about three to one.

The state officers elected were: Governor—CURTIS GUILD, Jr., of Boston. Lieutenant Governor—EHEK S. PRAPER, of Hopkinton. Secretary of State—WILLIAM M. OLIN, of Boston. Treasurer—ARTHUR D. CHAPIN, of Holyoke. Auditor—HENRY E. TURNER, of Malden. Attorney General—DANA MALONE, of Greenfield.

There was a close fight between two of the other six aspirants for Governor—Henry M. Whitney, Democratic, and Thomas L. Higen, Independence League—but late returns indicated that Whitney led Higen by about 10,000 votes. General Charles W. Bartlett, the Independent candidate, polled about 13,000 votes, compared with about 82,000 for Whitney and 73,000 for Higen.

Next to the state ticket, interest in the election centered in the contests in Suffolk County for District Attorney and Sheriff. For the former office John B. Moran was re-elected for a second term by a large majority, estimated at a late hour at about 20,000, but the fight for Sheriff was in doubt at 11 o'clock to-night.

The total vote of Boston, for Governor was: Bartlett, 3,446; Guild, 33,442; Higen, 18,393; Whitney, 25,511. Last year's vote was: Guild, 37,143; Moran, 59,671.

Governor Guild issued the following statement to-night concerning the result of the elections: "I am very greatly surprised and naturally pleased at the magnitude of the verdict in favor of myself, of Lieutenant Governor Praper and the rest of the Republican ticket.

The division of the Democratic party is unfortunate. A strong party of opposition is always a desirable check. The Springfield convention alone, however, could not in the face of the very light Republican vote in the rural districts in an off year, have accomplished any such results.

This election shows two things: First—The Republican party, under its present leadership, has not been affected by the destructive and ruinous policies advertised by sensational newspapers and sensational candidates, and that to the Republican party alone must all men look in the future who desire a decent respect for the rights of property.

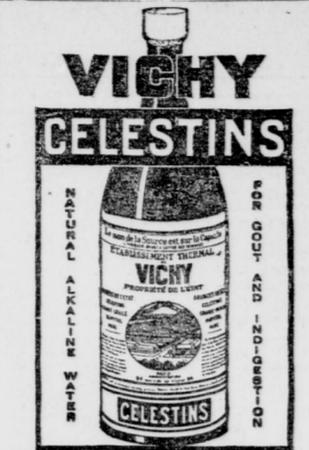

Second—That to succeed in public life in Massachusetts a man need never appeal through lavish expenditure for a demagogue, that it is safe, in short, for a public official to offend interested individuals, corporations, even classes, if he can go to the public with a clean conscience, plead his cause, tell the truth and ask the rank and file for their judgment.

LIGHTEST ELECTION BETTING EVER.

When the results of the election were known at the Hoffman House, "Charlie" Mahoney, who has for years handed out of the large bets made in this city, said that this year all that had been placed in his hands was $16,000. This amount, he said, was bet by only a few persons, who wagered that Foley would be elected Sheriff by more than 50,000 majority. "Charlie" said that last year $769,520 was handled by him, and that that amount this year was the smallest he has ever handled at an election.

REPUBLICAN BRIDGEPORT MAYOR.

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 5.—Henry Lee (Rep.) was elected Mayor here to-day, defeating ex-Mayor Denis Mulvihill (Dem.) known as the "Stoker Mayor," by a majority of about 400.

TROY RE-ELECTS MAYOR MANN.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Troy, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Mayor Elias P. Mann was re-elected by a plurality of 50 by the Republicans to-day, after a vigorous fight. His victory is regarded as a triumph for good government, as his friends declare that in the last two years he has given Troy the best administration it has had for a generation. Troy, for thirty years normally a Democratic city, thus seems to take its place firmly in the Republican column.

FOBES ELECTED THIRD TIME.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Syracuse, Nov. 5.—Alan C. Fobes (Republican) was elected Mayor for the third time by a majority of 2300 over Alderman Frank Matty, the Democratic candidate. The campaign has been one of unusual bitterness, and Matty, by an appeal to class prejudice and an outcry against "bossism," cut down Fobes's plurality of two years ago, when he polled some six thousand votes more than his opponent. This reduced plurality was regarded in many quarters to-night as a rebuke to Francis Hendricks, the Republican leader of Onondaga County.

Matty has been an alderman for twenty years, and his conduct has been violently assailed and as vigorously defended. He was nominated after a lively preliminary campaign, and his nomination was said by some to be displeasing to State Committee Raftery and ex-Mayor McGuire, who up to this year were the recognized chiefs of the Democracy in Syracuse. Matty made his run practically as a labor union man, and Fobes was cut by many workmen.

Joseph A. Griffin was, in the early stages of the campaign, considered a fair candidate by the Independence League and the Citizens' Party, but he refused to make the run, throwing his strength to Fobes against Matty.

ELMIRA ELECTS SHEEHAN MAYOR.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Daniel Sheehan, Democratic State Committeeman and former Mayor, was elected to-day over Mayor Zebulon Reed Brockway, Elmira's first fusion Mayor, by 156 votes. Two years ago Mayor Brockway, who also is a Democrat, was selected by representatives of both the leading political parties as a fusion candidate and elected. His administration has been one of the best ever given the city, but the Democrats became restless over the pruning process and when useless offices were abolished they began to talk that fusion had been a failure. To show their interest in the commercial advancement of the city, which was the principal argument used to bring about fusion, the Republicans, not waiting for the Democrats, renominated the Mayor and formally expressed the hope that fusion would be continued. The Democrats, however, decided upon a return to the old way and nominated Sheehan, the boss of the party. Elmira is nominally Democratic. The remainder of the city ticket was elected by majorities running from 150 to 600. The "Elmira compact" against vote buying was not violated.

REPUBLICAN MAYOR FOR UTICA.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Utica, N. Y., Nov. 5.—For the first time in forty-two years this city will have a Republican Mayor. Thomas Wheeler, who recently resigned as Assistant State Superintendent of Public Works, was elected by 133 plurality in a Republican landslide. Utica goes under the White charter on January 1, and recent exposures of extravagance in city affairs have led to a determination to start under the new charter with a new party. The new Controller, assessors, treasurer and president of the Common Council are Republicans, while the Democrats have eight of the fifteen aldermen. The Board of Supervisors is Republican.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN AUBURN.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Auburn, N. Y., Nov. 5.—After a campaign, in which he was denounced by almost every citizen in this city, C. August Koenig (Dem.) was elected Mayor by a plurality of 45 over Mayor Aiken, the Republican. Mr. Koenig is a brewer, and the cry, "Shall the saloon rule Auburn," was raised by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Hubbard, an influential Presbyterian clergyman. It was taken up by most of the other clergymen.

REPUBLICAN ELECTED AS DEMOCRAT.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Albion, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Myron E. Eggleston, Republican Assemblyman from Orleans County, last session, will sit in the Assembly of 1908 as a Democrat. He won re-election by the same methods by which Congressman Porter defeated James W. Wadsworth.

Ex-Senator L'Hommedieu, the Republican leader of Orleans, turned down Eggleston for renomination because he was "too independent." Eggleston thereupon took a Democratic nomination and an independent endorsement, and beat Frank Murphy, the Republican nominee. It was reported that he had support from the Wadsworths.

ASSEMBLYMAN MORELAND MAY LOSE.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 5.—David C. Robinson, Democrat, son of ex-Governor Lucius Robinson, was elected Assemblyman over Sherman Moreland by two hundred plurality, according to early returns. With one Republican district to hear from, Moreland has 9 plurality, but it is possible that Robinson will have enough Independence League votes to elect him. It will require an official count to determine.

DEMOCRATS WIN IN NEWBURG.

Newburg, N. Y., Nov. 5.—For the first time since 1890 the Democrats of Newburg elected a Mayor. The returns indicate the election of Benjamin McCung (Dem.) by about 400 plurality over ex-Mayor John D. Wilson, who had served three terms.

Early returns indicate that the Republicans have lost control of the County Board of Supervisors for the first time in many years. The greater part of the Democratic city and ward ticket is elected, but the Republican county ticket is probably elected, with the exception that William A. Parshall (Dem.) is elected Surrogate. Practically the entire vote of Orange County goes to the Democrats for County Officers. The Independence League, which has a greater strength in Newburg than elsewhere in the county, will not poll more than three hundred votes out of more than five thousand cast in Newburg.

REPUBLICAN MAYOR IN KINGSTON.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Kingston, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Republicans swept Ulster County in the election to-day. Walter L. Crane being elected Mayor of Kingston. In the county A. H. Cook, Jr., was elected County Treasurer; William D. Cunningham, District Attorney; and Joseph M. Fowler, Assemblyman in the 1st District, and Solomon P. Thorn, Assemblyman in the 2d District. The Independence League vote was very small.

VOTE BUYING ALLEGED IN DUTCHESS.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Democrats of Dutchess County, under the leadership of Lieutenant Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler and his brother, Sheriff E. W. Chandler, won a partial victory to-day. Many votes were bought by the Democrats. It is alleged, but there was only one arrest, although others are under suspicion. James H. Muller, Democratic City Assessor and County Supervisor, was arrested, charged with paying $2 for a vote. He was brought before Supreme Court Justice Morsehauser, waived examination and was held in $500 bail for the grand jury. The man alleged to have received the money signed an affidavit to the effect that he had been paid $2 for his vote. This amount is said to have been found on his person.

The Republicans elected one Assemblyman and the Democrats one. William E. Hoysradt (Rep.) was re-elected Surrogate, and the Democrats probably captured the county judgeship.

FIGHT REDUCES TIoga MAJORITY.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Waverly, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Frank L. Howard, Republican, was elected to the Assembly in Tioga County by a greatly reduced majority, estimated at 100. Owego, Platt's town, goes Democratic by 150. The decreased Republican vote was due largely to the factional fight which defeated Blyram L. Winters, the present Assemblyman, at the primaries.

ASSEMBLYMAN 79 YEARS OLD.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Newburg, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Henry Seacord, seventy-nine years old, is elected to the Assembly in the 1st District of Orange County. Mr. Seacord is a blacksmith, and helped to organize the Republican party in Orange County.

RESULTS IN OTHER CITIES.

Olean, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Republicans elected William W. Mandeville Mayor, but the Democrats will control the Council. Cattaraugus County gives 5,000 plurality for the Republican candidates for the Court of Appeals. The Independence League candidates polled more votes than one year ago.

Amsterdam, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Jacob H. Dealy (Dem.) was re-elected by 295 plurality. The Republicans elected the remainder of their city ticket and the county ticket.

Fulton, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Edward Quirk (Dem.) was elected Mayor over John Hunter (Rep.) by 265 plurality.

Cohoes, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Merritt P. Hanson (Rep.) was elected Mayor of this city by five hundred majority over Mayor Archibald, the fusion incumbent.

Geneva, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Democrats carried Geneva to-day, electing a Mayor, City Treasurer and Supervisor. The Board of Aldermen is Republican.

Gloversville, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Frederick M. Young (Rep.) was elected Mayor over Julius C. Biehl (Dem.) by 917 plurality. The remainder of the Republican ticket was elected.

Ithaca, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Republicans elected three of the four aldermen and three of the four supervisors in Ithaca to-day.

Johnstown, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Dr. Frank Beebe (Dem.) was elected Mayor over William T. Doye

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The Democrats carried this city by about 800 majority, electing five of the seven aldermen and the same number of supervisors.

Rome, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The total vote of Rome for Mayor is: C. R. Edwards (Rep.), 1,467; A. R. Kessinger (Dem.), 1,332; T. P. Scully (Ind. League), 189; Kessinger's majority, 333. Two years ago he was elected by 180.

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Horace S. Van Vleet (Rep.) was elected Mayor of Schenectady by a plurality of about 300.

Watertown, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Hugo (Rep.) was re-elected Mayor over York (Dem.), by a majority of 1,084.

Norwich, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Assemblyman Hubert C. Stratton was elected county judge and Surrogate on the Democratic ticket to-day by 1,000 plurality. When elected to the Assembly last year Mr. Stratton's plurality was 143. Except for this office, the Republican ticket was successful.

Binghamton, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Early returns indicate the probable election of C. M. Stanton (Rep.) for Mayor by a plurality of about one thousand.

Oswego, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Late returns indicate the election of Fred M. Moore (Dem.) over E. E. Frost (Rep.) for County Treasurer. This is the first time a Democrat has been elected to a county office in Oswego County in twenty-five years. The other Republican county candidates are probably elected by small pluralities.

Oneida, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Clark A. Frost (Rep.) was elected Mayor of the city of Oneida. The Republicans elected three councilmen and the Democrats three. The proposition to rename the county seat from Morrisville to Wampsville
