

OPENING OF THE FRESH AIR SEASON

COUNTRY FOR A THOUSAND CHILDREN.

Golden Rule and Board of Health Bulletin Followed by Workers Who Prepare Outing.

With the closing of the public schools on Tuesday comes the opening of the Fresh Air season...

It has been a busy fortnight which ended yesterday for the medical inspector, who has been to the mission chapels and Settlements...

A great majority of those examined could properly be classed as undernourished, but not necessarily underfed. One child was positively suffering from hunger...

As usual, the Board of Health bulletins are scanned daily, and no child is passed by the inspector in whose house there has been a case of contagion within four weeks...

I hereby certify as medical inspector of the Fresh Air Fund that I have carefully examined the above named children...

PROPER CARE EXERCISED.

The preparation necessary to enable a worker to pass his children through the hands of the inspector implies a knowledge not always possessed when one begins to work among the poor...

"What is the matter with their heads? Are they sore?" asked one of the workers.

"The girls have nits."

"Nits, nits! How do you spell it? What is a nit?"

"It is a casket that may or may not contain a jewel, but no risks are taken."

"But why should a girl conceal her jewels in a casket?"

The answer given was entirely satisfactory to the workers when the parable was dropped, and largeur in abundance judiciously applied made it possible before the week ended to handle it...

The workers are glad to adopt the principle of the Golden Rule, and careful hosts in the country who entertain the children will be pleased to hear of this decision.

THE FIRST OUTINGS.

The Convalescent Home, between Goshen and Middletown, N. Y., Happyland, in Tenafly, N. J., and the Elm Cottage, in Fairfield, Conn., have been rigging with the merry voices of little people...

On Tuesday next a carload of happy youngsters will leave the Grand Central Station, bound for Utica, N. Y., where, through the activity of the Rev. Dr. Dana W. Bigelow and members of his efficient fresh air committee, invitations from hospitable homes among the hills of Oneida County have been obtained...

The Ashford Hill Home, near St. Andrews Golf Club, in Westchester County, will welcome 25 children on Tuesday and Wednesday; St. Helen's Home, at Interlaken, Mass., between Lenox and Stockbridge, 19; the Sheppard Knapp Home, on the Litchfield, Conn., 19; the Knapp Home, on the Litchfield, Conn., 19; the Knapp Home, on the Litchfield, Conn., 19...

Some idea of the extent of the work contemplated this season may be gained from the statement that the manager during last week arranged with railroads for nearly fifty parties, ranging from 25 to 100 children each, the majority of the parties numbering at least 100 in size, and this before the season has fairly opened. The two limitations to the work of the Fresh Air Fund are invitations from the country and money for transportation expenses; there is no limitation practically to the number of needy children. No money contributed to the fund is used for the expenses of the management of the work. Already more than twelve thousand registrations have been recorded, and new lists are received daily.

MUSICIANS TO GATHER.

First Meeting Here of State Teachers' Association.

For the first time in its history of twenty years the New York State Music Teachers' Association is to meet in New York City this year.

The meeting will be held on June 30 and July 1 in the new buildings of the College of the City of New York. This will give the musicians an opportunity to see these structures and hear the organ in the big Tudor auditorium. The programme for the three days will include papers on subjects pertaining to all branches of musical education and recitals and concerts. The morning hours from 10 until 12 o'clock will be given up to the presentation and discussion of papers. The afternoon and evening sessions will be occupied by musical programmes.

The piano will be represented by Mrs. Vacco Chesney, Mr. Fraenkel, Miss Amy Graham, Professor M. Castellanos, Miss Amy Fay, Dr. Eisenbeimer, Mary Wood Chase, Professor George C. Gow (Yassar College), Professor Eugenio Pirani, Miss Augusta Cottlow and Miss Adele Verne, who will give the closing recital; the organ and church music by Professor Samuel A. Baldwin, of the College of the City of New York; William C. Carl, C. Whitney Coombs, Miss Ruby Belle Nasson, Buffalo; Mrs. Fay Simmons Davis, H. Brooks Buffalo; Dr. Gottfried Federlein, William C. Macfarlane, Dr. J. Christopher Marks, S. Lewis Elmer, Melvin Charlton and Daniel Phillips.

The voice will be represented by E. C. Bennett,

MR. AND MRS. TAFT AT YALE LAST WEEK. The candidate for President, perspiring but happy, watching the "stunts" of alumni on the field. (Pictorial News Company.)

Frank H. Potter, Miss Estelle Harris, Miss Cornelia W. Marvin, Mrs. Beatrice Fine, John Barnes Wells, Robert Craig Campbell, Thomas Daniel, Albert Gerard Thiers, Mme. Adele Laeis Baldwin, Professor Wesley Mills, of McGill University; Mme. Anna E. Ziegler and Professor W. A. White, of Syracuse University; orchestration and stringed instruments by Ludwig Schenck, Edmund Severn, Herwegh von Ende, Master Kotlarsky, Carl Feininger, Miss Rose Ford, Clarence de Veaux Royer, Miss Edith L. Winn, Mlle. Van Den Hendie, J. Frank Rice and Miss Annie Louise David (harp). Public school music will be represented by Carl G. Schmidt, Professor Leonard B. McWhood, of Columbia University; Ralph L. Baldwin, Miss Anna G. Judge, Charles S. Yerbury and Miss U. E. Wemyss-Burns, and kindergarten by Mrs. Carrie L. Dunning.

The chairmen of the round tables are: Piano, Professor E. M. Bowman; voice, Louis Arthur Russell; organ, Dr. Gerritt Smith; orchestration, Herwegh von Ende; public school music, Carl G. Schmidt.

The officers of the association are: J. Warren Andrews, of New York, president; H. Brooks Day, of Brooklyn, vice-president; Miss Anna Laura Johnson, of Elmira, secretary, and Frank F. Shearer, of Lockport, treasurer. Dr. James Lee, of New York, is the chairman of the local committee.

REWARDED FOR RESCUE.

Special Mention for Midshipman Who Saved Drowning Comrade.

The annual cruise of the midshipmen regularly brings out one or more acts of gallantry by the nation's young naval officers, which are rewarded by special mention from the Secretary of the Navy...

An honor that every naval officer covets. This year has not been an exception, for recently Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry commended Midshipman Francis Lee Shea, of New York City, for unusual gallantry in rescuing Midshipman Frank R. Sessions, of the third class, from drowning in Chesapeake Bay.

Midshipman Sessions was swimming near the cruiser Chicago, one of the ships in the practice cruise fleet, when the lookouts noticed that he was struggling in the water. A small boat was lowered immediately, but before this could be done Midshipman Shea, who was also swimming, dived for him, and after a hard struggle managed to keep him afloat until the boat reached them. Except for Shea's efforts Midshipman Sessions, it is said by those who saw the incident, would have undoubtedly drowned.

Lieutenant John D. Walworth, U. S. N., saw Shea's act, and recommended that he be commended for gallantry by the Navy Department. Midshipman Shea is a member of the senior class, and was appointed from New York in May, 1906.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S GRANDSON.

Bristol, Va., June 27.—A grandson has just been appointed for Andrew Johnson Stover, grandson of President Andrew Johnson. As a boy Andrew Johnson Stover played on the White House grounds, near Bristol, as He lives in the Holston Mountains, near Bristol, as a hermit. The appointment of the grandson was made to wind up the estate of the ex-President at Greenville, Stover being an heir-at-law.

Mrs. Stover, daughter of President Johnson, was the mistress of the White House during his administration. Andrew was a lad of average intelligence, and President Johnson had promised his mother to educate him for the bar. After the death of his mother, thirty years ago, he sought the mountains, and has since lived as a hermit, spending his time in fishing and hunting and subsisting on small game and wild fruit. He is shown in the accompanying picture in front of his log hut, with his rifle, shotgun and pet coon.

STUDIO NOTES.

The twentieth anniversary meeting of the New York State Music Teachers' Association will be held in the new home of the College of the City of New York, June 30 to July 2. This is the first meeting of the association in this city, and an enjoyable time is expected. Among those expected to attend will be leading composers, conductors, pianists, organists, violinists and instructors in all branches of music study. The programme committee, under the direction of President J. Warren Andrews, the well known organist and choir director of the Church of the Divine Paternity, has arranged an attractive programme, which will be one of the leading features of the convention. If not already obtained, membership tickets may be had near the entrance to the college.

At the Jocelyn-Horne concert, which took place last Thursday evening at the Hotel Plaza, a programme of unusual interest was rendered. Among the numbers that most pleased those present was a harp solo, mazurka (Schnecker), by Miss Gertrude Ina Robinson, the well known harpist, whose studio is at No. 103 East 23rd street.

Damon Lyon, the actor and baritone singer, with Mrs. Lyon, is the guest of Mr. Benson, of Orley Inn, N. J. Mr. Lyon appeared in an excellent programme at Tenafly, N. J., for the benefit of the Mary Fischer Home. He is also booked to appear at Richfield Springs and the Thousand Islands and will give a recital at Newport, R. I., in August.

Last Sunday a vocal and piano musical was given by the pupils of Manhattan College of Music, Leon M. Kramer, director, at the college building, No. 49 West 113th street. Among the number on the programme which delighted an attentive audience were a concerto in D minor (Hummel), by Miss Rose Friedlander; value, Op. 42 (Chopin), by Miss Marianne Rosenblum, and an impromptu in E flat (Schubert), by Miss Mollie Schenkman. Mr. Kramer appeared at the piano.

Miss E. K. Patterson, soprano, whose studio is at No. 19 West 84th street, is giving vocal instructions to several promising pupils. Miss Patterson is a native of Western Pennsylvania and received her education at the University of Pittsburgh. In Paris she studied under Mme. Marchesi, singing in several concerts. She also studied with Sir Charles Santley, the Handel interpreter, appearing in several oratorios in England and Scotland. Besides concert work in London, Miss Patterson filled several engagements in Berlin.

The Henry Liff Military Band gave an excellent programme in Morningside Park Saturday afternoon, June 27. "On the Firing Line," a new march and two-step by Henry Liff, which is said "keeps the feet moving," the Pacheltzanz of Meyerbeer, Lohengrin selection and other numbers seemed to please the popular fancy.

John W. Nichols, tenor, is singing this month at St. Peter's Church, in Galilee, N. J. Many other well known singers have appeared at this church, among whom are Shanna Cummin, Julian Walker, Edward Johnston, Albert Quessel, Cecil James and Dr. Ion Jackson.

Lawrence J. Munson is the organist and choir-master of the Church of the Holy Trinity, No. 18 West 123d street. Mr. Munson, who also gives instruction in organ, piano and harmony, is spoken of highly by his pupils.

Walter L. Bogert, musical director, with studio at No. 66 Madison avenue, announced, before going abroad for his vacation, that he has been engaged for next season by the Board of Education, under whose auspices he will give several lectures. Mr. Bogert will also deliver several lectures at the American Institute of Applied Music.

NATIONAL GUARD NEWS.

General George Moore Smith, commanding the First Brigade, has made the following recommendations to Major General Charles F. Fox, commanding the national guard, which national guardsmen will generally endorse:

Believing that one week in every other year is but the limit of the ability of the national guard to engage in field service for the purpose of drill and instruction, and believing, further, that with national service for that period with United States troops in coast artillery exercises or more general maneuvers the occasions to order the organization into camp will occur but rarely, it is, therefore, respectfully recommended:

That all men from organizations in a brigade who have not had any camp service be organized annually into a provisional battalion for the purpose of one week's instruction at the state camp in guard duty and field exercises, this provisional battalion to be officered by the detail of the most experienced and competent instructors in the future to take part in combined army and national guard exercises or maneuvers, who has not had at least one tour in camp, either with his organization or in a provisional command as above.

It is further recommended that all tents at the camp of instruction be supplied with floors made from strong canvas duck, rendered impervious to moisture by several coats of paint, such floors could easily be kept in good sanitary condition by frequent scrubbing. It is also recommended that coats of some make as those used by United States troops be furnished, one for each man. Floors and coats would conduce greatly to the health, comfort and contentment of the men.

There is considerable feeling in the 9th Regiment because Colonel Morris would not grant permission to a number of enlisted men to appear in uniform at the funeral of the two enlisted men who died a few days ago from injuries received at the premature explosion of a gun at Fort Wadsworth. The members of the 18th Company, to which the dead man belonged, were allowed to parade in uniform, but the applications of all other men of the regiment to take their uniforms out of the armory were refused. The reason for this is that it is very hard to keep track of uniforms when men are allowed to take them from the armory, and when permission is granted the men must be vouched for as reliable members of the regiment. Some three hundred members of the regiment paraded at the funeral, all in civilian dress, with the exception of the men of the 18th Company. The feeling was so intense that several officers, it is said, have threatened to resign.

Rhinelande Waldo, chief of the water supply police and formerly a deputy police commissioner, who was also a captain in the Philippine Scouts and a lieutenant in the 17th United States Infantry, has been appointed battalion quartermaster and commissary on the staff of Colonel Duffy of the 6th Regiment. Although Mr. Waldo will have the rank of second lieutenant only, he is satisfied with the job. It is now considered likely that there will be several candidates in the field for the vacancy for lieutenant colonel. An election will not be held, it is understood, for several months.

There was something of a surprise in the 7th Regiment a few nights ago when Major Willard C. Fisk was elected lieutenant colonel of the regiment over senior Major Charles E. Lydecker. The former received 18 votes and the latter 15. It is a number of years since there has been more than one candidate for a field office. It was a good natured election, and in fact, neither officer was announced as a candidate, the officers voting to suit themselves. The newly elected lieutenant colonel, who will likely succeed to the vacancy made by the retirement of Brevet General W. H. Kipp, joined the regiment as a private in Company G on March 24, 1871. He was transferred to Company A on November 25, 1876, and was promoted sergeant in March, 1879. He reached the grade of second lieutenant on April 13, 1881, first lieutenant in May, 1882, and was appointed adjutant of the regiment on September 24, 1883. On December 29, 1890, he was elected captain of Company D, and was elected major on October 30, 1901. It is said that he will probably be succeeded as major by Captain James E. Schuyler of Company B, senior captain in the regiment. The regiment will probably arrange to establish a camp at Sea Girl, N. J., in August, where members will also have an opportunity for rifle practice.

STATE ADMITS FROEBEL NORMAL.

The Board of Regents, meeting in Albany on June 23, voted to admit the New York Froebel Normal Institute to the University of the State of New York. This places the school on an equal footing with the registered institutions of the state, and gives its academic department the official approval of the State Department of Education. Dr. and Mrs. E. Lyell Earle has built up the institution from a private enterprise to a school of public standing. During the coming school year the institution will enlarge its academic equipment and extend its training department into the fields of manual training, basketry, sewing and domestic science and art.

S. P. C. A. EXPERIENCING "DOG DAYS."

The employees of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were kept busy answering calls on the telephone yesterday from persons who wished to have dogs taken to the animal shelter, and from others who wished to know whether it was imperative that dogs should be muzzled. The society had new men out answering the requests all day, and it was said at the society's rooms that more new men would be put at work to-morrow.

STREET MACHINE A GERM REMOVER.

New Cleaning Apparatus Leaves Few Bacilli—Extensive Tests Being Made.

The Street Cleaning Department is experimenting with a new cleaning machine and making atmospheric tests to determine its value. Sanitized plates prepared by Dr. F. M. Hutton and furnished by Dr. James B. Yewing, both of the Cornell Medical School, have been exposed for fifteen minutes over streets cleaned by the new machine, by the old, and on streets not cleaned at all.

Poster Crowell, the Street Cleaning Commissioner, said last evening that the result in one uncleaned street was an accumulation of germs so large that no attempt was made to count them. In a fairly clean street colonies of 1,000 germs were gathered, while in that cleaned by the new machine the plates showed colonies of only 150 bacilli. The tests will be continued, and will be extended to learn the benefits from flushing the streets.

Mr. Crowell announced yesterday that three prizes are to be established by the Women's Municipal League for cleaners in the Greenwich Local Improvement District. One is a bronze medal and $15, will go to the foreman who has the best section, and the others, each of a medal and $10, to a sweeper and a driver doing the best work for a year.

TRAINING FOR "LITTLE MOTHERS."

Children in the sixteen industrial schools of the Children's Aid Society will receive a lesson on how to take care of a baby at the opening school sessions to-morrow morning. There are about six thousand boys and girls in these industrial schools, which are conducted in co-operation with the conference on hot weather care of babies and

Board of Health. The cards adopted by the conference will be distributed, and it is believed that about four thousand babies will get the advantage of care from the instructed children this summer. The Children's Aid Society has agreed to co-operate, through its eight missions for sick children, with the conference in its campaign against infant mortality.

CANNOT SEE TOBACCO TRUST BOOKS.

Justice Bluff, in the Supreme Court, denied yesterday the application of Louis Berger for an inspection of the books of the International Tobacco Company. Berger said he was owner of twenty-nine shares of the stock of the company and that access to the books had been refused him. Benjamin Wasserman, of the tobacco company, in an affidavit set forth that the application was "part of a scheme of attempted blackmail on the part of one Emil Berger, and is made for the purpose of harassing and annoying the company and its officers and for the purpose of compelling dependent or his father or brothers to purchase twenty-nine shares of stock of which Emil Berger is the real owner, although they stand in the name of Louis Berger." Wasserman said Berger told him he had given to one Gottlieb a diamond heart and ring, with three large diamonds belonging to his wife, for the stock.

FREE MILK FOR SICK BABIES.

Pasteurized milk for sick infants is now being distributed by the Brooklyn Children's Aid Society from sixteen stations established by the society in the three great congested districts of the borough. A physician is in charge of each district. They are assisted by Red Cross nurses and the twenty-five nurses of the Health Department. Unless the weather gets cooler or the funds run out the work of distribution will be continued until September 1.
