

CELEBRATING INDEPENDENCE WORSE THAN FIGHTING FOR IT

More Americans Killed by Fourth of July Fireworks than in the Entire Revolutionary War.

"Sorry I ever signed that blamed document," muttered the shade of John Adams, scratching his prairie.

while the frenzied man exhausts all the resources of philosophy and cunning and waxes eloquent in his course the whole family suffers as much as the male parent.

SOME MANGLING METHODS.

The day of death and wounds is thus unpleasantly ushered in, as orators say. Maudie and Willie have a large stock of crackers and other explosives.

The greatest sport is to scare the girls. First pick out the scary ones, and then throw a lighted cracker straight at them. It might explode in their faces and put out an eye or something, but that simply proves that George had no right to impose taxation without representation on the American colonies.

SOME "DON'TS" FOR FOURTH OF JULY.

DON'T EVER THROW A LIGHTED CRACKER AT ANY ONE.

Gettysburg or the expense in human life to the Russians in the battle of Liao-Yang. The agitation following the 1903 patriotic death list of 466, and so many Americans as fell at El Caney and San Juan together, caused a reduction in the mortality to 183 in 1904, 123 in 1905 and 133 in 1906.

creasing throngs and the expectation is that this region will experience the best season ever known. The military camp at Pine Plains, twenty miles from here, has proven an excellent drawing card, and many automobile parties from all over the state have testified to the popularity of Northern New York roads.

THOUSAND ISLANDS.

Hotels Caring for Increasing Throngs—Pine Camp Attraction.

Thousand Island Park, N. Y., June 27.—The summer season along the upper St. Lawrence is now in full swing and every incoming train and steamer brings its full quota of cottagers and tourists for the various resorts that stretch from Clayton to Chipewa Bay through fifteen miles of lovely island scenery.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Jenny and daughter, of New York, are at Alexandria Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Hudson P. Rose, of New York, are at Tossite Isle for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Robb, of New York, have arrived at Zavikon Isle, to remain all season.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Lindsay and George Nelson Lindsay, of New York, are spending a week at the New Wellesley Hotel, Thousand Island Park, having returned from a ten days' trip up Lake George and Lake Champlain.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Havenmeyer, of New York, are at Alexandria Bay.

Edson Bradley, of New York, has sold his steam yacht Oswegatchie.

The Pennsylvania State Editorial Association will traverse the Thousand Islands region on the way to the Saguenay River, returning to Niagara Falls.

F. S. Cramer, of New York, is at the Hotel Wellesley.

New York arrivals this week at the Hotel Columbia, Thousand Island Park, include Mr. and Mrs. George Courtney, M. Robinson, C. H. Thornton, S. E. Melkman, John R. Baker, Mrs. B. W. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Griswold, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Boomer, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Moschowitz, H. Schneider, G. D. Foster, Mr. E. T. Kennels, William Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gaffney.

The Hotel Frontenac, noted for its golf course, and which is one of the finest equipped hotels on the river, is preparing for the arrival of the New York State Bankers' Association, which will hold its convention there the week beginning July 11.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS.

Convention of County Poor Superintendents—Many Cottages Occupied.

Richfield Springs, N. Y., June 27.—The week at Richfield has been given up largely to the meetings of the annual convention of the county superintendents of the poor, whose headquarters have been at the Earlington, and whose sessions have been of more than common interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Kerr, of New York, are at Grenell Island.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels, of New York, are at Grenell for the season.

E. S. Perot has purchased the steam yacht Nanita of C. G. Brokaw, of New York.

in the turf that even the modern steam golfmobile cannot touch.

Some of the best known golfers who will play over the Bretton Woods course this coming season include Archibald Graham, Colonel Louis Hamilton, Dr. Charles Clark, C. Menzies Miller, William B. Averell and W. M. Gourlay.

The course at the Waumbek, at Jefferson, will be in its usual fine condition, and there will be many Waumbek Club matches as well as a series of team matches with picked players from other mountain clubs.

The six-hole courses at Forest Hill, Francania and Wentworth Hall, at Jackson, and at the Crawford House, while hardly more than practice courses, are always kept up well and are ideal for women. At Wentworth Hall there is always special cup play.

The Bethlehem golf links, looked after by a committee of hotel men belonging to the Bethlehem Park Association, are always well kept, and probably more players are seen on these than on any other mountain links, the large cottage colony being rich in good golfing material.

General W. N. P. Barrow, of New York, one of the cottage colony at the Profile, has for many years assumed charge of the upkeep of the Profile golf links, and some of New York's best players are on the Profile team.

The Fabran House course wintered well, and at the Twin Mountain House course, where some of the best blind holes in this country are found, a new twenty-two acre field has been incorporated in the course, thus giving a playing length of between 2,500 and 2,600 yards for nine holes.

THE FOURTH AT SHELTER ISLAND. Shelter Island, N. Y., June 27.—One of the important features of the season on Shelter Island will be the reception and ball given for his patrons by J. Hill Davidson, proprietor of the Manhaman House, during home coming week, which will be celebrated from June 29 to July 5.

REJOINED THE FLOCK. Those who have been able to study convicts are struck with their love for a kindness to animals. One would not expect to find the truly

GOLF IN MOUNTAINS. Many Sporty Courses in the New Hampshire Hills.

Bretton Woods, N. H., June 27.—With the beginning of the summer season golfers are usually preparing for their summer's sport and deciding upon their summer homes with a view to following their favorite sport.

DON'T TRY TO SCARE THE GIRLS THIS WAY. Oriental shepherd in Dartmoor Prison. At present the flock of sheep belonging to the prison is said to be the finest in England.

WORDS FAILED HIM. He was a cowboy, and some comparatively strange had stolen his horse. His friends rallied round him, and, anxious to give him every chance, tramped up a barrel for him to stand on while he gave out his valedictory.

DON'T EXPLODE GIANT CRACKERS IN OLD TIN CANS.

DON'T PIN FIRECRACKERS TO YOUR PLAYMATE'S CLOTHING.

COLLEGE LIFE IMPARTS MORE THAN BOOK-LORE

Code of Ethics Enforced by the Students Themselves.

Without entering into the much discussed question as to whether or not the faculty of Harvard has been unduly severe in disciplining two members of the university crew in such a manner as to debar them from taking part in the great boat race with Yale at New London on Thursday last, it must be confessed that there is one sentence in President Eliot's telegram to the Chief Magistrate of the United States which will appeal to every man who has had the advantage of an education at one of the more reputable universities in the United States, or at Oxford or Cambridge, in England, as well as at those famous colleges, such as Eton, Harrow, Winchester, etc., which are known here in America by the somewhat misleading name of public schools.

These acts of learning which I have in mind, and of which I have made mention above, embody to a greater degree than any other organization that I can think of the principles of republicanism. There is no democracy so thoroughgoing in every respect as that which prevails among the lads at these scholastic institutions. Great wealth goes for as little here as birth and titles of nobility count among the boys of an English public school.

TITLE DOESN'T COUNT.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

These acts of learning which I have in mind, and of which I have made mention above, embody to a greater degree than any other organization that I can think of the principles of republicanism. There is no democracy so thoroughgoing in every respect as that which prevails among the lads at these scholastic institutions.

corporations as such occasionally render themselves guilty of sharp practice, to call it by no worse a name, which no individual director or stockholder of the concern would dream of perpetrating on his own personal account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

These acts of learning which I have in mind, and of which I have made mention above, embody to a greater degree than any other organization that I can think of the principles of republicanism.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

called upon to slave in this fashion may be the son of some impoverished country parson or of some insignificant half-pay major or colonel of the army, who has had the utmost difficulty in scraping together the money necessary to send his boy to a good school.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

The number of famous men who have knelt before it is very great. The late Lord Salisbury was flogged while kneeling against it no less than eighteen times.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

and their friends, and a ball on Thursday evening was also a feature of the week.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

Now, one of the lessons tacitly inculcated at the universities and at the English public schools, not by the faculty, but by the lads themselves, is that a corporal wrong is every whit as dishonorable as an individual wrong, and that a man who becomes a consenting party to an offence by the association to which he belongs is quite as reprehensible as if he had perpetrated the act individually, alone and on his own account.

THE FOURTH AT SHELTER ISLAND. Shelter Island, N. Y., June 27.—One of the important features of the season on Shelter Island will be the reception and ball given for his patrons by J. Hill Davidson, proprietor of the Manhaman House, during home coming week, which will be celebrated from June 29 to July 5.

REJOINED THE FLOCK. Those who have been able to study convicts are struck with their love for a kindness to animals. One would not expect to find the truly

GOLF IN MOUNTAINS. Many Sporty Courses in the New Hampshire Hills.

Bretton Woods, N. H., June 27.—With the beginning of the summer season golfers are usually preparing for their summer's sport and deciding upon their summer homes with a view to following their favorite sport.

DON'T TRY TO SCARE THE GIRLS THIS WAY. Oriental shepherd in Dartmoor Prison. At present the flock of sheep belonging to the prison is said to be the finest in England.

WORDS FAILED HIM. He was a cowboy, and some comparatively strange had stolen his horse. His friends rallied round him, and, anxious to give him every chance, tramped up a barrel for him to stand on while he gave out his valedictory.

DON'T EXPLODE GIANT CRACKERS IN OLD TIN CANS.