HISTORY REPEATS.

"One of the most fearful statements that was ever made is that 'History repeats itself,'" begins the Hon. Tom Watson in accepting the Populist nomination for President.

BRITISH NAVAL MANOEUVRES.

Advance reports appear to have underrated in some respects the British naval assemblage in the North Sea. Its numbers are considerably greater than they were at first stated.

THE TALK OF THE DAY.

This notice appeared recently in a German paper headed with grief and recognizing the wisdom of God, who decreed it, the widow and four children of Hartwig Langmann make known to their relatives and friends the entry into eternal rest of a beloved husband and father.

he finds little of it that bears repetition, and yet it is proceeding upon its way of relentless iteration. Pompey, Crassus, Lucullus—you have only to mention their names to recognize their counterparts to-day.

Only two things in history seem to cheer this erudite deliver into its pages. The Teutonic women used to kill themselves when the Roman legions won a victory over their husbands and brothers. "Fashioned in Paradise, wreathed in graces and virtues like blossoms, plucked from the green fields of Eden, led down to earth by angels, along a pathway of stars, to be the joy, the blessing, the inspiration of men—sons of such women were never meant for slaves."

THE CONTESTS AT DENVER.

In settling the contests brought before it the Democratic National Convention followed the Democratic methods. In matters of title Democratic conventions are not strict constructionists. They do not bother much about technicalities and are far more deeply interested in what a delegate stands for and how his vote is going to be cast than in the evidence on which he rests his claim to act as the representative of a certain constituency.

SANBALLAT, GASHMU & CO.

These be perilous days, indeed, with rumors of battle, murder and sudden death as plentiful as blackberries in the old hill pasture field. Here is Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, Santiago and elsewhere, seeing the very bloodiest kind of blood every time he looks at the Pacific Ocean.

have to go half manned. The fact appears to be that there was an overplus of first class material. Every vessel in the fleet has a full complement of experienced officers and men. There was no robbing the dockyards, nor mustering in coastguards, nor going to sea half manned, but when every berth was satisfactorily filled more than eight hundred seamen remained behind unappropriated.

This was perhaps the most gratifying feature of the whole mobilization, and it is one which should be particularly significant to other nations. Great Britain is not only building enough ships to keep herself in numbers and tonnage equal to any two rival powers; she is also keeping the personnel of her navy up to the mark, and is providing—as at Rosyth—dockyards and naval bases ample in equipment and convenient in location.

THE ANTI-BRYAN DELEGATES.

The vote in the Denver convention on the report offered by a minority of the committee on credentials completely confirmed the accuracy of The Tribune's classification of the delegates-elect as committed to Bryan, uncommitted or committed to other candidates. Our final table of July 4 showed 757 delegates for Bryan, 22 for Johnson, 11 for Gray and 212 uncommitted.

journey at a cost many times greater than that by rail and steamship? Hitherto Von Zeppelin has found it necessary to watch for favorable weather before taking his airship out for a test. Will he ever be able to defy a storm? If not, then he cannot run on any prearranged schedule. Moreover, it yet needs to be told what will happen if, having embarked in a comparative calm, he should be overtaken by a thundergust.

Martin R. Preston, of Goldfield, Nev., and also of the Nevada State Prison, seems to have a better sense of humor than the convention which nominated him for the Presidency. "The Boss of Hudson and the Farmer Orator realize that it is far easier to get on the band wagon—or the horse—while it is standing still than after it has started."

Count Boni appealing to the courts as a champion of the domestic virtues rises far above the common ruck of humanity and towers in proportions majestic and sublime. Political bosses with stained glass windows should not throw stones. Reports come of vast coal deposits of excellent quality in the Philippines. Another proof of the insensate folly of ever acquiring ownership of those islands.

SHARES CARNEGIE FUND.

Massachusetts First to Seek Teachers' Endowment. The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching made public yesterday the fact that the Legislature of Massachusetts had come forward, as the first state, to ask that its college teachers share in the endowment fund established by Mr. Carnegie for retired teachers. The institution which the authorities ask to be included in the fund is the Massachusetts Agricultural College, the only college or university supported by the state. Its curriculum, it is stated, is about the same as that of the usual state university.

At the time Mr. Carnegie arranged for his $1,000,000 endowment for retired college professors the state universities were not included. At that time Mr. Carnegie believed the states would provide pensions for the teachers worn out in the commonwealth's service. In March of last year, however, Mr. Carnegie added $500,000 to the fund to include the state colleges, but making the provision that the aid should not be extended until the state legislatures requested it.

Among the audience, which numbered three thousand, were the most prominent members of the American colony, including Ambassador Hill, John W. Garrett, second secretary of the embassy, Lieutenant Colonel John P. Wisser, military attaché, and Mrs. Wisser and the American general, Alexander H. Thackara, and Mrs. Thackara. The German Foreign Office was represented by the United Berlin Choral Societies later gave a Kongress in honor of the visitors, who remained until a late hour. There was much cheering for President Roosevelt and Emperor William.

Sheffield Frats Change Customs. New Haven, July 8.—The Sheffield Scientific School societies of Book and Snake collectors and Berzelius (the colony) at Yale University will meet this year postpone pledging freshman candidates for September until the first Monday in March. This is a few years ago these societies, with the fraternities of York Hall, St. Anthony and St. Elizabeth, had an agreement as to taking out of the fraternities, which amounted to "packing" men for the preparatory schools. This was agreed to in "pack" men, but to elect at the opening of the freshman year. Now the two leading societies will make their selections based upon the results of Sheffield freshmen during their term. The Yale Alumni Weekly, in approving the plan, says that the movement is brought about by the increasing dormitory accommodations at Sheffield, and the interest of democracy, and will virtually end the Book and Snake and Berzelius senior societies at Sheffield.
