

NEW JERSEY COAST RESORTS ABOUT AS LIVELY AS EVER

September and October Delightful Months at the Seashore.

Long Branch, N. J., Aug. 29.—Long Branch is still lively. The summer cottagers, who are the life and backbone of the resort, will remain until October is spent. Many of the cottagers will depart by the middle of September, but the bulk of those who own their own homes and who usually spend six months in the year at the seashore will be found enjoying life here for some time after September is ushered in. September and October are two of the most delightful months here. It used to be the fashion to move down on June 1 and return on September 15. Now many of the summer folk come in May and remain until Thanksgiving.

The week closing has been one of variety, starting with a wedding at South Elberon and ending with a society circus to-day, with two days' storm and an Elks' parade sandwiched in. The dedication of the Elks' home drew thousands of visitors to the shore yesterday, many of whom will remain over Sunday. The parade, a feature of the occasion, proved to be most interesting. Governor Fort will be here next Thursday. When campaigning for Governor last fall Judge Fort promised that if elected he would undertake to accomplish two improvements for the shore resorts—an extension of the waterways and an improved boulevard along the coast. Last winter a bill was passed making an appropriation for extending Jersey waterways. At next Thursday's meeting here the Governor will discuss the building of an ocean boulevard.

Long Branch is the first resort to improve its ocean front boulevard, and if the Governor's plans are carried out, and it is generally believed that they will be, the present roadway will not be disturbed. It is the Governor's intention to connect the chain of resorts along the Jersey coast with one fine, wide boulevard, extending from Atlantic Highlands to Cape May. The conference, which will bring together many of the prominent New York business men with country homes here, will be held at the West End Cottage, William E. D. Egan, of New York, who has a country home on Atlantic avenue, is one of the prime movers. Colonel Gilkerson, the state road inspector, is in favor of the project and will be at the meeting, which will be followed by a banquet. All the matters of the surrounding resorts have been included in the conference.

Final preparations were made to-day for the opening of the Long Branch Fair at Elkwood Park on Monday. The attractions will include many novelties, among which will be a continuous variety performance, running and trotting races, daily athletic contests, a race between ostriches to a goal and an exhibit of farm products, cattle, sheep and goats. There will be school children's day on Monday, Road Drivers' Association day on Tuesday, and a special race between George G. and Major Deane on Wednesday. The summer fairs are greatly interested in the initial exhibition. Elkwood Park is already a tented city. The grandstand here is so enlarged and every effort is being made to please the visitors. The big golf course next week will be the center for the championship cups on the Hollywood course. There will be three trophies.

ASBURY PARK. Carnival Events—Ocean Grove Camp Meeting—Deal Beach Circus.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 29.—Carnival week attracted a multitude to Asbury Park, despite the unseasonable weather of Wednesday and Thursday. The violent nor'easter caused a postponement of the court ball, scheduled for Wednesday evening and it was held to-night in the amphitheatre on the beach front. The queen, Miss Norma Cole Hornberger, of Pittsburg, appeared at the function in a gorgeous court costume of heavy white satin, made in empire style. She was accompanied by her lady-in-waiting, Miss Margaret Gordon, of this city; her maids of honor, six in number, and the best high chamberlain. A kindness, arranged by John H. Richards, of New York City, preceded the ball. At its close the floor was cleared and the ball was thrown open to the audience, dancing continuing until midnight.

The closing carnival event, the masquerade which will take place next Monday evening. The committee in charge, W. W. Rowan and Dr. H. C. Miller, are counting on having twenty-five thousand masqueraders in the procession, which will form in Grand avenue and traverse the hotel district and the ocean front, disbanding at the amphitheatre, where Titania and her court will review the fun makers. Benjamin Murphy, city's police chief, will act as grand marshal of the parade. Prizes will be offered for the most elaborate costume, the most novel make-up, and to the secret society and hotel having the largest

DELAWARE WATER GAP.
Delaware Water Gap, Penn., Aug. 29.—The members of the Caldeno Golf Club held an informal tournament on the links at that place Saturday afternoon. The winners were J. H. Dye, Mr. Dickert, Robert Collier and W. H. Green. The Water Gap House has been lively this week with a ball and card parties. The guests at the Glenwood saw what appeared to be a company of rough riders descending on the house one day. It was a burro DEAL BEACH, N. J., HAS SCORED A SUCCESS IN MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP. Over $11,000 earned this season by a public casino that cost $125,000.

1, Front view of the Casino. On a Sunday morning over five thousand persons have gathered here on dress parade. 2, Swimming in the Casino's salt water pool. Three hundred and fifty bathhouses surround it. 3, Automobiles at the Casino. Sometimes six hundred cars are in waiting there at one time for their owners. 4, Interior of the Casino. Space enough to seat two thousand persons. A great ballroom overhead. 5, Ocean bathing in front of the Casino. The beach is protected by a breakerwater. 6, A bevy of Deal Beach matrons at the Casino. From left to right they are Mrs. Harry G. Hemming, Mrs. Bowerman, Mrs. Elbridge Gerry Snow, jr., Mrs. Edward Steindler, Mrs. H. Nicholas Crusius and Mrs. V. F. Pelletreau.

representation in the procession. Last year over twenty thousand maskers took part in the novel fête.

The annual baby parade was held this afternoon, it having been postponed from yesterday. As usual, it was a spectacular success, enjoyed by the six hundred paraders and 100,000 spectators from all parts of the country. The unique parade is described in detail in another section of The Tribune.

A flower carnival was given this evening at the Hotel Columbia. It was arranged and managed by C. H. Rivers, Jr., of New York City, and over one hundred children took part. It opened with the rainbow scarf dance by twenty girls, with Miss Dorothy Thompson in the solo part. Then followed a rainbow dance and a roseland minuet by daintily gowned maidens. Those taking part included Miss Ethel Jones, Miss I. Baker, Miss Annette Martin, Miss Julia Strang, Miss Mabel L. Briner, Miss L. A. Weber, Miss Helen Walsh, Miss McGoldrick, Miss A. Washburn, Miss J. Ryan and Miss M. Capstick.

The cotillon at the Hotel Brunswick this evening was a brilliant affair. Those who danced included the Misses Maud Gray, Elizabeth Mohr, Grace Cramer, Marie M. Lee, Anna M. Clare, Mar. Garet Daly, Lila M. Kline, Flossie Sherwood, Eleanor Sherwood, Dorothy Sherwood, Mabel Garet, Mary O'Hara, Ella O'Hara, Florence Wilde, Mollie Smith, Lottie Elroy, Florence Morris, Belle Mullin, Lulu Goodwin, Alice Nicholas, Georgia

OCEAN GROVE'S CAMP MEETING.

Several hundred ministers and thousands of laymen took part last evening in the sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the Ocean Grove Auditorium, which marked the opening of the annual camp meeting. Thousands of Methodists from all parts of the world arrived this week to take part in the religious campaign, which will continue daily until Monday morning, September 5. Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of Philadelphia, chairman of the devotional committee of the camp meeting association, will have charge of the services, held daily in the Auditorium. Well-known evangelists of the Methodist Episcopal Church will assist the devotional committee in managing the "side meetings" in the Temple, Tabernacle and chapel. The initial service of the day begins at sunrise in the Auditorium and is conducted by the Rev. Dr. A. E. Ballard, vice-president of the association. There will be morning and evening sermons in the Auditorium daily by preachers of the various Protestant denominations. Commander Maud Ballington Booth, of the Volunteers of America, will preach to-morrow evening. The annual love feast will be held Sunday morning, September 6, with Bishop Wilson as the leader. Last summer over twelve thousand persons enjoyed this novel religious service.

ATLANTIC CITY.

Promise of Big Autumn Season Carnival Plans—Steamship Line.

Atlantic City, Aug. 29.—With August practically ended the "season," as some people speak of it here, is almost over. There will be only two or three weeks more of the great summer crush, and then things will begin to settle down, and visitors will not have to find a bed and a room which they will not have to share with others. There is never a dearth of visitors here. There is never a time when the hotels stick up their shutters and nail up their doors. A few of the smaller houses, those which are not equipped to remain open in cold weather, will soon be closing, but all the large hotels will remain open the whole year, as usual. There has been a great "season" for most of the people came during the latter part of July and all of August. The bookings for September are unusually large, and there is every prospect that the fall will see a great many people scattered about among the hotels.

The carnival planned for the fall promises to be one of the biggest things attempted in Atlantic City. It will be greater than the onetime Boardwalk parade, and the coaching parades that were once held here will fade into insignificance in comparison. The date of the big carnival has been set for October 12, which comes immediately following "Founders' Week" in Philadelphia, and it will give the thousands of visitors gathered here a chance to be spared to make it a success.

It begins to look as if a passenger steamship line between New York, Philadelphia and Atlantic City was to be a reality. A company of Philadelphia, New York and Atlantic City capitalists has been organized, and it is said they will begin at once to get ready to place their line of steamers in operation. The steamers that ply between New York and Philadelphia exclusively will carry only freight. Those that run to Atlantic City from New York will carry passengers and freight. The service will start in the spring, and in the interim two steel steamers will be built. They will have unusual breadth of beam and be able to cross the bars here at low tide. The temporary wharf will be at Gardner's Basin. It is estimated that it will take seven or eight hours to make the trip from New York by steamer.

Dr. and Mrs. S. N. Lee, of New York City, are at the Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Langie, of Rochester, are at the Windsor.

W. R. Rorman, of New York, is at the Continental.

Dr. I. Grashaw, of New York, and Dr. J. A. Myer, of Baltimore, are at the Rudolf.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Rockwell, of New York City, are at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Oliver, of New York, are at the Albemarle.

Miss Elizabeth Castleberg, of New York, is a visitor at the Ostend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavering, of New York City, are among the arrivals at the Princess.

Mr. and Mrs. James Harrison, of New York, are at the Rudolf.

Among the New Yorkers seen on the Boardwalk are Arthur Sutcliffe, Percy Sutcliffe, Donald Moore and Gerald Moore.

SARATOGA SPRINGS.

Governor Hughes Draws Visitors to County Fair—A Late Season.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29.—This last week in August has given a fair forecast of September, and so perfect has been the imitation that autumn seemed actually to have arrived. Conditions have been ideal for all outdoor sports, long automobile trips and walks and drives among the gorgeous parks and avenues. The evenings have been spent indoors at cards, music and dancing.

The County Fair was a great attraction on Wednesday, especially as Governor Hughes was present. Village officials, with ex-Senator Edgar T. Brackett, went to the county seat by automobile, where they joined the county officials in receiving the State Executive.

An interesting and profitable meeting of physicians and spring owners was recently held in the Leveighton Bathhouse to discuss the development of this village along the lines of German spas. The owners of mineral baths expressed themselves as willing to work with the physicians along whatever lines should be recommended.

Several large houses have expressed the intention of remaining open until October 1. Among them are the United States Hotel, the Huestis House, the Everet House and the Carlsbad.

There will be conventions in September—the Republicans on the 14th and the Daughters of Liberty, of the state, on the 7th.

An unusual honor was paid to a Saratoga cottage this week. Lord Bandon of Ireland, hearing of the quaint Innecarra House, which is the home of Chauncey Olcott, sent a representative here with two photographers, who took over one hundred pictures of the interior and exterior of the place, so that Lord Bandon may produce a facsimile of this Irish cottage on the shores of Lake Killarney, Ireland.

A delightful musical was given for the patients of Dr. Strong's sanatorium at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Strong, in Circular street.

A reception given by Miss Cramer, of Troy, at her summer home, in North Broadway, was a recent social diversion. Miss Cramer was assisted by Mrs. D. V. R. Johnston, of Albany; Mrs. Chauncey Olcott, Mrs. Leo F. Add, Mrs. Thomas Crocker and Miss Easton.

A RESENTMENT.
"What made you draw your razor when that man said he didn't have no kind of soda water flavoring 'cep'n chocolate?" inquired Miss Miami Brown, of New York, of her friend, Mrs. E. S. Strong, who answered Mr. Erasmus Pinkley. "I wanted to give notice that I ain' gwine to stand for no Jim Crow soda fountain."—Washington Star.

DEAL BEACH CASINO

A Successful Experiment in Municipal Ownership—Pays a Profit.

As an experiment in municipal ownership, the borough of Deal Beach, N. J., claims a record of remarkable success, being $11,000 to the good so far this season on an investment of $125,000. Frederick Gerken, chairman of the Casino committee on building and government, makes the official statement. He says:

"It required four years of hard effort, at my own expense, to convince the 117 voters of the borough that our true interest lay in the erection on the ocean front of the finest and most imposing casino. Time and again the scheme was voted down. At last the Casino voters got a clear majority and the scheme was promptly put through. The borough voted a bond issue of $125,000 at 4 1/2 per cent interest, out of which was purchased the 1,000x100 feet. On about one-half of this land we erected the present imposing white Casino, with its breakwaters enclosing the 25-foot deep surf bathing front, the salt water pool in the rear, the tennis courts and the ample lawns for the motor cars and vehicles to stand on when empty. Around the salt water pool are 250 bath houses, of which fifty are double suits. The season's income from the bath houses was over $5,000; from the 55 membership tickets, over $14,000, and from the 25 cent admission tickets, from $500 to $600 on each Saturday and Sunday. Our expenses were $9,000, of which the orchestra receives $5,000.

"Now, note the result to the property of the borough. Lots which three years ago sold for $500, now bring $2,000. For one piece of property which was bought for $4,500, to-day there is a standing offer of $15,000. The state has never questioned the borough's right to construct a municipal enterprise. Should it ever successfully do so, we have a company incorporated, ready to take the Casino and reimburse the borough, and which will be mightily glad to get an investment paying such an enormous profit. As it is, the profits are turned into the general fund of the borough for the general improvement of streets, etc., or for whatever needs it has. It goes without saying that the bonds will be rapidly retired."

Associated with Mr. Gerken on the governing committee are Charles Biedinger, Charles Fritz and the Mayor, William Hosenkamp.

RICHFIELD SPRINGS.

R. T. Townsend Winner in Tennis Tournament—Costume Dance.

Richfield Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29.—The chief feature of the week among the young people was the termination of the tennis tournament on the Spring Park courts. The victor was Robert Taylor Townsend, who, with his mother, Mrs. Onatvia Townsend, is the guest of Robert W. Taylor at Balla. In the doubles Mr. Townsend and Marshall E. Kinne won over Albert A. Getman and Harold Conklin. In the mixed doubles Mr. Townsend and Miss Virginia Swift defeated Miss Louise Doolittle and Albert Getman.

A costume dance at the Cary cottages on Monday evening was greatly enjoyed by the young people. Among the dancers were Miss Wood, Miss Gertrude Wood, Miss Gladys Power, Miss Lulu Livingston, Miss Margaret Jackson, Miss Billings, Miss Gretchen Roff, Miss Edith Jewell, Miss Townsend, Miss Malone and Miss Emily Illingworth. The men were the Messrs. Jackson, David Davidson, Richard Ellis, Walker Ellis, William Schwab, Richard E. Cary, Walker Townsend, Albert Getman and Harper Swift.

Mrs. Oliver Drake-Smith entertained at luncheon at the Country Club on Tuesday, her guests being Mrs. Ackley, P. Tuller, Mrs. Niles D. Jewell and Mrs. Katherine A. Conklin. Bridge followed, and the prize was won by Mrs. Jewell.

Notable among the Earlington guests are Charles S. Fairchild, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, of New York, who is here with Mrs. Fairchild for a stay of some time, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Saxe, of New York.

LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

September To Be as Lively as August—Bridge and Golf.

Hotel Champlain, N. Y., Aug. 29.—This last week of August has been the gayest of a gay season and, judging by the large number of room reservations made for next month and the tournaments and indoor parties that are being arranged, September will not be far behind August.

Golf interest is centering just now in the tournament for the president's cup, set up by C. H. Booth, president of the Hotel Champlain Golf Club, in which the first round is being played to-day. Among those contesting are D. O. Wickham, A. Lichtenhein, C. E. Johnson, J. B. Eob, F. Clough, C. W. Baker, E. L. Holloway, E. S. Marston, Russell Marston, A. G. Morris, Frederick P. Morrill, C. D. Griswold, F. S. Kellogg and C. S. Kellogg. The cup must be won for two successive seasons to be held. Last year the cup was won by T. H. Conway, of New York and Flattsburg, who will also play for it this year.

Alan Lichtenhein and C. S. Kellogg tied in a golf match played this week against Colonel Bosie, and it was not until two matches were played by them that their scores were changed and Mr. Kellogg won. A Lichtenhein won a cup put up on Monday by C. W. Baker.

Mrs. F. Duneka, of New York, gave a clock golf match this week for more than thirty of her women friends. Miss Mary Treadway, of New York, and Miss F. Lichtenhein, of New York, carried off the prizes, a silver vase and a silver purse. After the match tea was served at the clubhouse.

The boys, of whom there is a large number here between the ages of seven and fourteen, had the chance to play golf this week for prizes put up by Mrs. J. L. Treadway and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bowden. The prizes given by Mrs. Treadway were won by Whitney Bowden, "Ted" Treadway and "Fred" Spiegelberg, and those offered by Mr. and Mrs. Bowden were given to "Fred" Spiegelberg and "Sunny" Baker.

The weekly baseball game on Monday afternoon was between a team composed of hotel patrons and the Catholic Summer School nine, and resulted in a victory for the former.

Drives and horseback rides to Au Sable Chasms, Cumberland Head, are popular.

Bridge and hearts parties have been given nearly every evening and afternoon this week. The largest was that given Monday evening by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Baker, whose guests played hearts until 11:30, when supper was served. The prizes at this party were won by Miss Edna Marston, Mrs. C. E. Johnson, Miss Holloway, Mrs. Kidd, Russell Marston, J. E. Bowden, Mr. Turner and D. O. Wickham.

GOT NO MEAT.

Skinman—Your dog bit me. Do you think he's mad?
Stout—No, hardly mad; but I expect he was awfully disappointed.—Illustrated Bits.

VENIAL.

A New Yorker visiting Paris for the first time became much interested in the little boys in white caps and trousers who deliver the wares of the pastry cooks.

"Ah," said the New Yorker to one of the youngsters who had brought him some cakes, "I suppose you get the benefit of one of these cakes yourself sometimes? What do you mean?"

"Pardon, sir, but what do you mean?"

"You eat a cake now and then, eh?"

"Eat them, sir? Oh, no, sir; that wouldn't do. I only lick them as I come along."—Harper's Weekly.

PREPARED FOR EMERGENCIES.

Wife (at a m.)—Now, deny your condition last night! Here you are with your hat and shoes on. Don't tell me you didn't come home the worse for drink!

Husband—Not a bit, dear. You know I have lately taken to walking in my sleep, and I thought I'd go to bed prepared.—Illustrated Bits.
