

Frank M. Williams, of Oneida, for State Engineer and Surveyor. The leader of the delegation called on Mr. Barnes and asked him what he was going to do for Williams.

"What are you going to do on the Governor," asked Barnes, and the interview ended then and there, as Madison is for Hughes.

The old-fashioned game of give and take is going merrily on, and the opposition seems hopeful to-night of bowling the Governor out.

Speaker Wadsworth figures that he has at least one hundred delegates. He believes that he will receive more than this number, but he seems sure of one hundred. His name will be presented by Frank K. Cook, of Livingston County.

"We have the votes to beat the Governor," said a well known anti-Hughes man who is helping in the fight against Mr. Hughes. "We figure that the Governor has four hundred votes that he can depend on. There are at least four hundred anti-Hughes delegates in the convention, not counting New York and Erie. There are probably fifty delegates in New York and forty in Erie unalterably opposed to the Governor. So, there is what might be called a twilight zone with two hundred votes in it. These two hundred votes will swing the nomination for or against the Governor."

PARSONS CALLS RESULT IN DOUBT. When President Parsons was asked to-night about the outlook he said that the renomination of the Governor was still in doubt.

The Governorship alone is a tough nut for the organization men to crack, but the platform is something of a poser, too.

The organization leaders, assuming that Hughes will win, could doubtless find a way to endorse the Governor's stand against race-track gambling, but they cannot at present bring themselves to put into the platform a plank for direct primary nominations. If they frame a platform without this plank, not only the Governor's friends, but the Democrats, will ask why.

Representative Fassett is being considered for the chairmanship of the resolutions committee. Mr. Fassett is a past pastor in the use of the English language, but the delegates are betting he has more than his hands full when he tries to write a direct nomination plank that will satisfy both the Governor and the organization leaders.

The booms are arriving by every train. The Rensselaer delegation brought along that of ex-Senator Barnes for Secretary of State. Mr. Barnes introduced the bill which gave every school district in the state $100 a year of state money. He also put through a bill compelling the railroads to build vestibules on trolley cars.

CHANLER THE FAVORITE GOSSIP AT ROCHESTER. Conners Only Big Boss on Scene Yet—Many Booms.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Rochester, Sept. 12.—Though "Fingey" Conners, Democratic state chairman, is the only one of the big bosses yet on the ground, state making for the state convention to be held here Tuesday flourished merrily to-day and headquarters for various candidates have been opened.

More real interest is being shown by the dabbles in political gossip as to whether Patrick Henry McCarren, of Kings, and his dearest enemy, Charles Francis Murphy, of Tammany, will let the hovering dove of harmony nestle at the convention than about any set of candidates. So far as Conners and his upstate allies and, seemingly, Murphy are concerned, the general idea is that they will go a little bit out of their way to preserve peace.

According to present plans McCarren's delegates will be put on both temporary and permanent rolls. Following out the same harmony plan, upstate contests will be taken under advisement before the formal meeting of the committee on credentials and a withdrawal of one side or the other forced whenever possible; in other cases, a compromise arranged on a half-vote basis.

Conners opened state headquarters to-day at the Whitcomb House. He spent a good part of the day in conferences with State Committee-man Finucane, and had dinner with him to-night. "Fingey" was not loquacious about the situation up to date.

"This is going to be an unbossed convention," he said. "The Republicans can go to Saratoga with their state all made up if they like; but here the delegates elected by the people are going to nominate the candidates. Saratoga doesn't seem to be drawing much, does it? I guess Rochester is getting all the big ones."

He declined to discuss Murphy's announcement that neither the state chairman nor anybody else could make peace with McCarren for him.

All the "big ones" have not come here yet. Lieutenant Governor Chanler got in to-night. He has headquarters at the Whitcomb, in charge of W. Barry Murphy, his secretary. William Sulzer, candidate for Governor, is at the Powers House, with headquarters under his hat. John S. Whalen, Secretary of State, got here this afternoon and announced that he was a candidate for renomination.

Francis Burton Harrison, considered a candidate for the Governorship by some, addressed a big ratification meeting for the Democratic national ticket with Congressman Sulzer at convention hall to-night.

The army of leaders and delegates will get here to-morrow and Monday. Murphy, Cochran and the Sullivans, of Tammany; Herman Ridder and William P. Rafferty, of Syracuse, get here to-morrow night.

BRAVES WILL ARRIVE TO-MORROW. The Tammany braves will come Monday and infest the town. Hotel accommodations just now are rather at a premium. The Seneca, a big new hostelry, had been counted on to be ready, but cannot possibly be opened until Monday, and many who had expected to go there have been forced to seek other establishments.

Besides Lieutenant Governor Chanler, there are several upstate men in the field for nomination for Governor. W. Caryl Ely and J. N. Adams, of Buffalo, are mentioned prominently. McCarren already has declared for ex-Mayor Adam. D. Cady Herrick, of Albany and New York, has been booked quietly but persistently for several weeks, backed by influential members of the Democratic Club and those who took part in the New York convention yesterday.

George M. Palmer, of Schoharie, minority leader of the Assembly at the last session, has many friends. David C. Robinson, of Chemung, who defeated Sherman Mooreland, majority leader of the Assembly, last fall, has been taking his own boom seriously. William Sulzer, of New York; Edward M. Shepard and Justices Gaynor and Gerard, of Kings, have figured largely in the gossip to-day. Controller Glynn, of Albany, is known to be a receptive, even anxious, candidate, but the talk has assigned him rather to second place on the ticket or a renomination for his present office than to first place.

WOMAN owes it to herself, her family and posterity to be beautiful—well kept teeth lend an added charm of beauty to the face. Dr. Lyon's PERFECT Tooth Powder cleanses, preserves and beautifies the teeth, without injury prevents tooth decay and imparts purity and fragrance to the breath.

RIDDER MUCH TALKED OF. Herman Ridder, proprietor of the "Staats-Zeitung," of New York, is more discussed than any other one man as candidate for Lieutenant Governor. "Chanler and Ridder" are the coupling of names. His long term of political activity and his strength with the Germans are considered valuable assets this year. T. P. Hefferman, of Chautauque, is among those mentioned.

There is a possibility of some lively work to obtain the nomination for Secretary of State. W. Barry Murphy, of Orleans County, Lieutenant Governor Chanler's secretary, has been a candidate for several weeks on the general understanding that Secretary Whalen did not want another term. But Whalen does, apparently, William C. Page, of Monroe, a Democratic worker of considerable local prominence, who is friendly with Conners just now, is after the place, too, and there is a lot of talk here that Whalen is not so strong as he should be with his local organization.

If Controller Glynn should not be nominated for Lieutenant Governor, there is little doubt that he will be renominated to his present office. Some of the politicians here say "Tom" Finucane would like this place, too, but Glynn appears to have the lead. Julius Hauser, of Suffolk, is about the only man being considered for State Treasurer.

JACKSON NOT TO BE RENAMED. It is settled that Attorney General Jackson will not be renominated. There are several candidates to succeed him, among them George M. Palmer, of Schoharie; Frank Brown, of Wyoming; Charles N. Bulger, of Oswego, and John N. Carlisle, of Jefferson. Herbert P. Bissell, of Buffalo, figured largely in the gossip to-night.

State Engineer Skene, for renomination, and George A. Ricker, of Erie, are the men being talked about to handle the fat canal patronage, which in the last two years has done so much under Mr. Skene's manipulation to build up Democratic organizations in many upstate counties. There was a story afloat to-night that Skene might be retired and McCarren asked to select a Brooklyn man as one way of mollifying that personage and keeping him in the harmony chorus.

By Monday all the leaders worth mention will be here. Conners and Murphy, with the lesser fry, will go over the situation in the mean time. McCarren will get here to-morrow night, and an idea of his attitude toward the harmony programme may be obtained. It is expected that by Monday afternoon, or perhaps earlier, the slate of Conners' "unbossed convention" will have been prepared and the convention, barring trouble in the committee on credentials, be prepared to put it through smoothly and "whoop things up" generally.

HERRICK BOOM STRONG. Leaders Here Say He Will Be Nominated for Governor. Charles F. Murphy, the "boss" of Tammany Hall, will start for Rochester to-night still undecided as to who is the best man for the Democrats to nominate for Governor. From all that could be learned here yesterday, the slate may not be made up until just before the convention convenes on Tuesday. Judging from what the leaders here had to say yesterday, ex-Judge D. Cady Herrick stands the best chance of landing the nomination at the present time.

"There is just one thing you can depend upon," said one of the leaders yesterday, "that is, the Democratic party will nominate a man of the highest type. We will nominate a man who would be worthy to run for President of the United States. On that proposition we are all agreed."

W. Caryl Ely is still being talked of as a strong candidate, but there appears to be opposition to him which may militate to the advantage of Judge Herrick.

Attorney General Jackson has also been renewing his attempts to get a renomination on the Democratic ticket, but has met with rebuffs. Failing to land the place for himself, he has suggested that Deputy Attorney General Dolson would be a good man for the nomination. But it can be said with some degree of positiveness that no candidate for Attorney General will be picked from the present office of Attorney General Jackson.

Annual Fall Sale of EXCHANGED PIANOS and PIANOLAS. This Sale comprises More Well-known Pianos, in Better Condition and at Much Lower Prices, quality considered, than any similar event ever held outside of Aeolian Hall. THESE great periodic sales at Aeolian Hall are now recognized as the most important piano events of the year. This sale, however, surpasses in many respects any that have preceded it. Never before have the quality and condition of the individual instruments been so exceptionally high. These Pianos were exchanged for the Pianola Piano. No music house offering an inducement to exchange, less powerful, could possibly succeed in gathering together such a splendid collection of instruments. They were relinquished not because unsatisfactory—not because worn out or musically deficient—but because their owners preferred the Pianola Piano—the most popular piano of modern times. Before the Pianola Piano was produced, sales of second-hand pianos attracted a class of patrons whose chief object was to buy cheaply. People who in the past would never think of attending a second-hand sale—teachers, musicians—even those of large means, now attend the Aeolian Company's sales and purchase these pianos. These values are impelling. It is a significant fact that on the first day of the sale held last year over 75% of the callers bought pianos on the spot. Such a record is practically unknown in the history of the piano trade. FULL PURCHASE PRICE ALLOWED. Any Piano or Pianola bought during this Sale may be exchanged at its full purchase price for a new instrument of our manufacture any time within three months. Exchanged Pianolas at 50% Saving. A limited number of Exchanged Pianos, refinished inside and out and fully guaranteed, at $125. $12 Down and $6 a Month. With Simple Interest. THE AEOLIAN CO., AEOLIAN HALL, 262 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK. NEAR THIRTY-FOURTH STREET. If you expect to buy a piano this year, either grand or upright, for any purpose whatever, you will do yourself a grave injustice if you do not visit Aeolian Hall and inspect these instruments during this sale.
