

GIANTS FIGHT HARD TO HOLD LEAD WIN TWO GAMES FROM THE CINCINNATI REDS. Matty and Ames Pitch Well, and Tenney Helps Along with His Slashing Hitting.

The Giants held their scant lead of one point yesterday in the National League pennant race by beating the Cincinnati Reds in both games of a double header, thanks largely to fine pitching by Mathewson and Ames. For once in a way McGraw was able to rely for nine innings of a close game on another pitcher than Mathewson.

The Giants played much better ball than in the disastrous double header of Friday, but there were still evidences of the awful strain under which they have been working. There was just the barest suggestion of unsteadiness in the field at times, remedied, it must be said, by exceptionally brilliant work.

If the Giants finally win the pennant it will be done largely to the work of Ames, who shone again yesterday, as much for their coolness under fire and the way they used their heads as for their ability. Mathewson, Bresnahan, Donlin and Tenney contributed largely to the double victory, that, in view of the double victory of the Cubs in Brooklyn, was so badly needed, and it was Tenney's splendid home run drive, a hit that nearly went outside the playing field that broke up the second game.

The int-est in the fight for the flag was clearly shown by the crowd that turned out to see the game. Every seat was taken and crowds swarmed out in the field in front of the bleachers, while two or three thousand fans stood through the two games behind the ropes in center field. More than five thousand persons were on hand, and attention was divided between the diamond and the score board, where the sad story from Brooklyn was being unfolded.

Mathewson had complete control of the situation from start to finish in the first game. The Giants were hitting hard behind him, but he held them back enough in the third inning to win the game. Paskert got the first hit of Matty in the third inning, a nice two-bagger to left field. He was held at third base, however, and the Giants, waking up to the fact that they must hit to win, got after Ewing in his half.

McMormack started the rally with a clean single to left, and Bresnahan repeated the hit. Matty popped up to Lobert, but Tenney, who usually gets on the bases by a pass or a cleverly placed single, sent the crowd wild by driving the ball to the ropes in left center for three bases, a hit he duplicated in the next game, when it proved good for a home run. Herzog made good with a hot single to center field, and Tenney was safe on Egan's double play. He and Herzog then worked a double steal, and Herzog scored on Donlin's out. Lobert ended the inning by a great catch of Seymour's fly.

Devlin gave the Reds a run in the fifth inning by hurling Paskert's hit into the grandstand when he threw to Tenney. It was back to Matty, but Matty was not on the field. Curiously enough, Donlin got all the way around for New York on a precisely similar play in the seventh inning. Lobert being guilty of the bad throw.

The Giants batted in another run in the sixth inning. Bridwell doubling, going to third base on a wild pitch and scoring on Tenney's single. In the seventh inning Seymour sprouted desperately to pull center field, but he was safe on Egan's double play, and he got away from him and rolled all the way to the ropes. Bayless getting home. More hard luck for Matty, who deserved a shut-out.

After the first game a loving cup won by Mike Donlin as the prize in a popularity contest was given to the captain of the Giants, and Joe Humphreys made a great speech. Then they began to play ball again. Ames going in for New York to meet Dubuc, to the consternation of the crowd, which watched Matty again, and said so plainly.

Ames was a pleasant surprise. He was a bit wild at times, but with the fine influence of Bresnahan behind him, he displayed a maximum of the game on the field. He struck out eight men and allowed only three hits. He had a world of speed, and settled down to pitch his very best whenever there were men on the bases. Four New York errors helped to make the game hard for him, and one of them prevented the shut-out to have scored.

No Changes in Baseball Fight. Giants Hold Slight Lead in One League and Cleveland Maintains Place at Top in the Other.

Although the Giants came back yesterday and trounced Cincinnati in both games of a double header, they could not draw away from Chicago, for the Cubs beat Brooklyn twice, thanks to the masterly pitching of Reulbach, who shut out the Superbas in both games. Pittsburgh played only one game, beating Boston, but lost a little ground, the Pirates now being seven points behind Chicago and eight behind the Giants.

YANKEE PITCHERS WILD REULBACH WINS TWO THREE FALL IN CHICAGO. Blanks Superbas Twice.

Twelve Free Passes Help White Sox Win a Farical Game. Chicago, Sept. 26.—In a game made farcical by the ineffectiveness of the New York pitchers, who gave twelve bases on balls, Chicago shut out the Yankees today by a score of 12 to 0 and kept Detroit and Cleveland from drawing away in the race for the pennant. The Highlanders could do nothing with Smith and Altrock, and their few hits were well scattered through the nine innings.

Wilson, who had done fairly well up to this time, got hit through the groin during the second game. He pitched for the second. First he passed Davis, and then fanned Schreck. Brent walked. A wild pitch let both runners advance, and then Wilson made Tannehill strike out. Smith got another base on balls, and then Chesbro went in. He was worse yet, for Isbell cleared the bases with a three-bagger, clinching the game.

Two more hits and a pass produced three more runs in the next inning, and Chesbro gave way to Billard, who was little better, allowing five hits and giving six bases on balls, besides hitting two men. The score follows:

CHICAGO: ab r h po a e. NEW YORK: ab r h po a e. Chicago, 12; New York, 0. Cleveland, 5; Washington, 4.

At Detroit: Detroit, 1; Philadelphia, 0. At St. Louis: St. Louis, 2; Boston, 0. At Cleveland: Cleveland, 5; Washington, 4.

TIGER LEADER HOPEFUL. Eddie Dillon Thinks Princeton Should Have Strong Team.

Eddie Dillon, captain of the Princeton football team and generally considered the greatest quarterback playing the game this year, was in town yesterday, after coming to the city on Friday to attend a conference of football coaches and players at the Murray Hill Hotel. Captain Dillon talked to a Tribune reporter on the new game and the outlook at Princeton this year. It was easy to see that Princeton's "wizard quarter" is full of confidence, and believes that his team will defeat Yale, and that he himself will thus gloriously wind up a football career of almost unparalleled brilliancy.

"The new game, even last season," said Dillon, "was more or less of an experiment. But now the experimental stage is passed. For two years the open game has been played, and now both the spectators and the players themselves have got used to it. The experiment has proved a great success, and the game, it seems to be the general opinion, has been tremendously improved. I think it is just about right as it is now, but of course this season's play will probably show the necessity for some further changes in the rules."

"How do things look at Princeton this year—going to beat Yale?" he was asked. "I don't know," replied the Tiger leader, enthusiastically, and then a moment later added: "It is rather too early to talk about our chances, and it is really too early to be able to say anything about the team, but I will say that, everything considered, the outlook is exceedingly bright. As to beating Yale, well, that's what we're out for. Still, you know, Yale can take a lot of beating."

"In regard to the team, we should have a splendid line. We will miss Harlan badly in the backfield. The new material—and there is a lot of it—should develop some good men, but it is too early to size it up well yet. On the whole, Princeton seems to have an excellent outlook, and I think it is just about right as it is now, but of course this season's play will probably show the necessity for some further changes in the rules."

OPEN SEASON FOR DEER IN MAINE. Bangor, Me., Sept. 26.—On Wednesday it will be lawful to shoot deer in Maine. That day hundreds of men and not a few women, mostly residents of other states, will be in the woods ready for the first shot. The deer season continues until December 15. The moose season opens October 15 and continues until December 1.

BEATEN BY BAD RIDE FAIR PLAY THE VICTIM. Angelus Makes New Track Record in Winning the Oriental.

August Belmont's Fair Play, which has come to be considered one of the best horses ever bred and raced in this country, was beaten a short head by Angelus in the Oriental Handicap of $2,500 at Gravesend yesterday, but through no fault of his own, and after running one of the most brilliant races of his career. Gilbert, who was entrusted with the mount, rode like the veriest novice, and brought about the defeat of the good three-year-old by taking him wide at the paddock turn, where he lost three or four precious lengths, and then, losing heart half way down the stretch, making his finish weak and hesitant.

Angelus, who had forced the pace, and which was five or six lengths before Fair Play rounding the far turn, was a tired horse and quite willing to give up the fight in the last furlongs, but Shilling, with the skill of a Sloan, nursed him home in the most approved style, and was then blamed by some for not drawing his whip or riding his mount out, which would have nullified the defeat. Doyane, an added starter, and Dandelion were beaten.

Gilbert's bad ride not only robbed Fair Play of the $2,500 purse, but of a track record as well, as Angelus ran the distance, one mile and three-sixteenths, in the fast time of 1:53, which was a full second faster than the old mark, made by Stamina with 115 pounds up on September 18, when he carried 107 pounds and ran the distance in 1:54.

Joe Madden furnished a surprise in the twenty-second running of the Prospect Handicap, for two-year-olds, over the short six furlong course. Well handled by Shilling, he came along in the last sixteenth and wore Trance over his best races and lost the race. Trance ran one better race and lost the other. Between the games Tim Jordan got a large loving cup from his host of friends. The big first baseman was cheered for five minutes after the cup was presented to him by a man whose voice couldn't be heard fifty feet away.

Johnny Kling was the star of the day, aside from Reulbach. He batted like a fiend and made some catches of foul flies which seemed utterly impossible. The Brooklyn team was completely outclassed, and never had a chance with the Cubs. Brooklyn put up a weak defence and the Cubs walked away with the first game, Reulbach shutting out the Superbas, although they had several good chances to score in the early inning. Wilhelm was a puzzle for four innings, but then they got to him and drove the ball all over the lot. Johnny Kling made a catch of a foul which was cheered for two minutes.

Chicago got to Wilhelm in the fifth inning, when Kling led off with a double to left field, advanced a peg on Reulbach's sacrifice and scored on Hayden's long sacrifice fly to Catterson. Brooklyn looked promising in its half, with two on the bases and none out, but Reulbach tightened up and pulled out of the hole nicely.

The Cubs added another run to their score in the seventh. With one out, Tinker reached first when McMillan's throw got past Jordan and took second before the ball was recovered. Then Kling batted the ball over second for a base and Tinker completed the circuit. They made it 4 to 0 in the eighth. Ewing singled, took second on a sacrifice and third on a passed ball and scored on Steinfield's single. Steinfield stole second and came all the way home on Hoffman's screaming drive to left field. A clean single and a long double gave the Cubs their fifth run in the ninth inning.

RUSHMORE AND MONROE WINNERS. Tuxedo Park, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The finals in the Men's handicap doubles on the courts of the Tuxedo Tennis and Racquet Club today, for the club cup, resulted in a victory for George Rushmore and John Munroe, who defeated A. J. Outerbridge, Jr. and Carl Zinger. Outerbridge and Zenger received the final round after a hard tussle with C. S. Lee and Fred De Rham, just winning by one game at 3-3. All matches were the best of seven games.

E. DUGAN CANNOT RIDE. Mr. Whitney's Jockey Punished for Rough Riding.

E. Dugan, Harry Payne Whitney's jockey, will not ride again this year. His license was suspended until December 31, at a meeting of the stewards of the Jockey Club at Gravesend yesterday, as Dugan was held responsible for the accident at the track on Tuesday when Dial Plate and Miramar fell and H. Smith, the negro jockey, who has since been lying between life and death at the Kings County Hospital, was so badly injured. The stewards of the meeting fined Dugan $200, and referred him for the balance of the meeting and further action, which came yesterday.

E. Dugan is one of the best jockeys riding this year and stands second only to Joe Notter in the list of winning jockeys, with 126 victories to his credit. The interstate cup was won by the Vim. Boat for boat she was beaten yesterday by H. R. Stupphen's Elio, but she won on time allowance by 13 minutes, 4 seconds. A. I. Piercy's Eagle won the cup for cabin boats over forty feet, and the Vim for bona owned by J. H. Headley, won the cup for motor yachts. C. L. Seabury's Speedway was the winner of the cup for racing boats over forty feet, the Joker, the prize for open launches, and the Wamego the cup for cabin boats under forty feet.

The conditions on the river yesterday were favorable for fast time, but no records were broken. On the point system the Vim earned 21 points, the Macoon II and the Elio 10. The summaries follow: RACING CLASS C—START, 3:10—COURSE, 30 MILES. Finish, Elapsed Time, H. M. S. Dugan, E. J. Schroeder, 4:06:27 1:04:27. RACING BOATS—CLASS G—START, 3:10—COURSE, 30 MILES.
