

WOULD LOOT STATE

So Woodruff Says of Tammany with Chanler Elected.

Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff of the Republican State Committee said last night that if Chanler should be elected Governor Tammany would do to the entire state what that organization has done to this city. He charges Tammany with an intention to loot the state.

"The people of the state of New York, irrespective of their party affiliations, will be the victims of a great calamity if by any chance Governor Hughes and his associates on the state ticket should fall to be elected," said Mr. Woodruff.

"The people of the whole state will quickly and thoroughly realize that I am guilty of no exaggeration in this statement if they would just consider for a moment the methods which Tammany Hall has applied to the government of the city of New York. The plain and simple question in this state campaign is: Shall the Tammany system now in full operation in greater New York, be extended and applied to every other community in the State? Tammany's administration of New York City has brought about an increase in its expenditures from $4,000,000 in 1898 to $143,000,000 in 1908.

"It happens that, just at this time, when Tammany has finally succeeded in gaining control of the Democratic party of the state, we are expending $100,000,000 for the improvement and enlargement of our canals, as authorized by a vote of the people, and that we have just begun to construct a great state system of good roads, for which we are about to expend another $100,000,000. Besides these two vast expenditures of money by the state, Governor Hughes has created two Public Service commissions, both vested with enormous power, for the proper regulation, in the people's interest, of all public service corporations.

"Now, the real stake for which Tammany Hall is playing in this campaign is the handling of $90,000,000 for canals and good roads, and the control of the powerful Public Service commissions, with the opportunities afforded to those inclined to 'hold up' the great railroad companies, the surface, elevated and subway companies, the gas and electric light companies and all the other corporations which render public service to the people. The Tammany leaders and the leaders of the Tammanyized state Democracy care nothing about the result of this election from a purely political point of view.

"The members of the Public Service commissions can be removed by the Governor without the consent of the Senate. If Governor Hughes should be defeated, there is every reason to believe that the present commissioners would be replaced, at the instigation of the present Democratic leaders, by commissioners who would extend to the whole state the methods Tammany has always used and is using here in New York City in dealing with corporations. With all this tremendous power, and with Tammany leaders in control of the canal and good roads funds, the Tiger will have a fair in every county in the state for the successful and expeditious conduct of his depredations.

"I just want to refer briefly to one other aspect of this campaign. The city of personal liberty" raised by Governor Hughes's opponents is an utterly false one. There is nothing in the Governor's record or in his platform or in his broad views of life which justifies it. Under the cloak of the cry of 'personal liberty' Tammany is simply trying to cover up the real stake for which it is playing, the liberty to loot.

"The issue in this state campaign is simply this: Shall Tammany master the outside of New York City as they have prevailed in New York City to the everlasting disgrace of American municipal administration? Shall Tammany police the rest of every municipality of the state? Shall Tammany hirelings collect and spend the money of the people of the state? In short, shall New York State be, perhaps forever, Tammanyized?"

SHOWS GOMPERS'S HAND.
Circular Indorsing All Democrats Slipped Through C. F. U.

While many of the delegates were leaving the hall yesterday afternoon the Central Federated Union adopted a motion indorsing the Gompers circular, which asks all central labor organizations to call a meeting next Saturday or Sunday to support his campaign policy. This action was taken after Herman Robinson, the Eastern representative of Gompers, had declared that the policy of the American Federation of Labor was the indorsement of the Democratic platform and Bryan and all the other Democratic candidates. He said there was no use in fighting individual candidates in this election.

Robinson's statement provoked much discussion. Previously a set of resolutions to the same effect as the Gompers circular was read. The resolutions called for a meeting at the Grand Central Hotel to be held next Sunday evening. Some of the delegates complained that they didn't understand the resolutions and would not vote until they had been explained.

Ex-Assemblyman Thomas Rock, of the Farmers' Union, got the floor and said it was plain to him the circular was simply a call to the unions to support the Democratic party.

"The whole thing is a hoax," he continued. "Attacks on the Republican party will not blind sensible people to the fact that we are asked to commit ourselves to the Democratic party or make a single vote for Bryan."

Rock said the Democratic party had done little or nothing for the people. He charged that a large proportion of the ill-gotten gains existing in New York was due to the Democratic administration failing to carry out the laws passed by the Republican Legislature.

WAINWRIGHT TO SENATE.

Westchester Assemblyman Points Constituents to His Record.

J. Mayhew Wainwright, whose record as a member of the Assembly from Westchester County for the last seven years has won for him approval in the form of a nomination for Senator by the Republican party in that county, has received great encouragement by the indorsements of many of his constituents for the honor.

Mr. Wainwright has been associated prominently with most of the important general legislation of recent years and has also put through a vast amount of important local legislation. As chairman of the committee on Education and Railroads and as a member of the Committee on Ways and Means, he has occupied a post of great influence and importance in the lower house. He has always stood for straightforward, righteous and progressive measures and opposed those of a contrary nature. He is a lawyer of good training and ability.

J. MAYHEW WAINWRIGHT.

He aided materially in the framing and passage of the insurance and Public Service commissions laws and the important banking reforms of the last session.

Mr. Wainwright handled the so-called corrupt practices bills, restricting and requiring greater publicity for campaign contributions, and was the author of the recent inquiry by the so-called Wainwright commission into the condition of the national guard which led to the adoption of the new military code. He stood sponsor at the last session for the bills recommended by Governor Hughes extending the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission to telephone and telegraph companies.

He was principally responsible for the legislation compelling the substitution of electricity for steam as a motive power on the railroads leading into the Grand Central Station, and establishing a great public park on the Sound shore at Rye Beach, in his own home town. Columbia University conferred on him the degree of Master of Arts last spring.

DEBS HEROICS AT LINCOLN'S TOMB.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—When Eugene V. Debs arrived in his "red special" today he requested that he be taken to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln without delay. Standing by the sarcophagus of Lincoln, surrounded by a group of Socialist candidates for various offices, from Governor down, Mr. Debs delivered a eulogy of Lincoln.

When introduced to a large audience at the court-house this afternoon Mr. Debs was termed the Abraham Lincoln of modern times. Mr. Debs declared: "Slave power, which loathed and despised Lincoln, was no more heartless than the power of capitalism which today holds the workmen of the nation in bondage."

LEARY HAVING MUCH TROUBLE.

Superintendent Leary declares that the floaters are more brazen than ever before. He has found two, he says, who had the nerve to register from the home of a detective sergeant, who says he never heard of them. The identification questions are proving of great value to the superintendent in trapping men who have registered illegally. "I am confident," he said last night, "that the operation of the law at the coming election will commend it to the approval of every honest citizen."

M. CLELAND MILNOR FOR BECKETT.

M. Cleland Milnor, one of the oldest Democratic members of the Bar Association, announces that he is actively supporting Surrogate Charles H. Beckett for re-election.

"The property of every man, woman and child in New York passes through the Surrogate's Court at some time or another," Mr. Milnor said yesterday, "and Judge Beckett is the best qualified man in New York City for the office of Surrogate. If a man inexperienced in the administration of the court were elected Surrogate, like Mr. Cochran, for instance, I do not see how confusion and delay could be avoided. Perhaps a third of the two or three thousand wills filed yearly in that court are for estates of less than $50 in value, and any delay, confusion or irregularity in such cases would amount to positive hardship.

"All of Judge Beckett's professional life has been spent in official or close connection with the Surrogate's Court, and, regardless of politics, he should be elected to the office."

DENY HEARST CHARGES

Judge Elkin and Ex-Governor Stone Issue Statements—Latter Bitter.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Pittsburgh, Oct. 25.—Ex-Governor William A. Stone and Supreme Court Justice John P. Elkin, both of whom are in this city, denied to-day the charges made against them by William R. Hearst. Justice Elkin left his home in Indiana, Penn., this afternoon, and when he arrived gave out the following statement:

"I do not recall having any correspondence with Mr. Archbold, but I cannot say positively until I examine my letter books. I can say positively that I never received from Archbold, directly or indirectly, money for any improper purpose, and never was asked to make, and never made, an attempt to influence legislation in the interest of the Standard Oil Company."

Judge Elkin refused to discuss the matter any further.

Ex-Governor Stone, when seen at his home this evening, made the following statement:

"Mr. Hearst seems to think that because a lawyer understands the oil and gas laws of Pennsylvania, he is disqualified to be a judge. That rule would make only those eligible who do not understand the laws relating to oil and gas, and as every lawyer in Pennsylvania, in practice, does understand the laws relating to oil and gas, Hearst's rule would compel us to go into some other state for judges. The drafts sent to Mr. Elkin, if sent to him, were sent while he was either chairman of the Republican State Committee or a member of the finance committee. It was not improper for him to receive contributions for campaign expenses. The judges of Pennsylvania have the confidence of the people. They have never been charged with partiality to the corporations, nor can they be so charged justly."

"I do not personally know Mr. Hearst. I know J. D. Archbold well enough to believe that he would be incapable of bribing an employe to steal the private letters of Mr. Hearst or any one else and publish them. Mr. Hearst either stole the Archbold letters or bribed someone to steal them, or bought them knowing them to have been stolen. These three offences are crimes of equal grade, and are indictable and punishable by fine and imprisonment in all of the states. Hunger, fear, intoxication and insanity may go far to excuse crime, but politics never."

"I have no recollection of having received the letters from Mr. Archbold. I did not appoint Judge Henderson. I did appoint Judge Morrison because of my knowledge of his ability and fitness for the bench."

BARES HASKELL'S UNTRUTHS.

Interior Department Gives Out Statement to Osage Indians.

Muskogee, Okla., Oct. 25.—A statement was received to-day at the office of the commissioner of the five civilized tribes from the Interior Department at Washington. The statement, which is an answer to Governor Haskell's recent charges, says:

Governor Haskell's recent open letter to the President charged that the Osage Indians were paying the royalties for the lease of their oil lands to the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Company. Governor Haskell's statements are deliberate falsehoods, nor does he suggest a possible remedy. As his disregard of truth is well known, no reply will be made to him personally, but President Roosevelt and Secretary Garfield are not willing that the Osage Indians should not know the truth about these matters, in order that they may not be deceived by Governor Haskell's false statement. For this reason they send to the Indians the truth about each of the charges he makes.

The statement takes up Haskell's charges in detail and analyzes them to show their "deliberate untruth."

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS TO-DAY.

Governor Fort of New Jersey will come to this city to-day to speak on "Bryanism" before the Commercial Travellers' Sound Money League at the regular noon meeting. He is the first of several out-of-town speakers of distinction to come to New York this week. General Wright, Secretary of War, will speak to the travellers on Wednesday, and one or two other members of the Cabinet will speak to them later in the week. Representative Henry C. Loudenslager, of New Jersey, and Colonel John L. Shepherd will also speak at the noon meeting to-day.

A reception will be given for Governor Hughes at the Union League Club at 11:30, and he will be accompanied to the travellers' headquarters there by a committee of prominent merchants, headed by General Joseph W. Congdon. The meeting at the Circle Republican Club will be a large one, and plans have been made for an overflow meeting. There will be a display of fireworks before the opening.

Oscar S. Straus, Secretary of Commerce and Labor, will be the principal speaker at New Hennington Hall this evening. The meetings scheduled for to-day and the speakers follow:

SPARE MAGNESS IRONS

Confined in Receiving Ship—Wife Stanch in Her Loyalty to Him.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—Charles Joseph Magness was locked up in the brig of the receiving ship Lancaster to-day as a military prisoner awaiting court martial for desertion. Magness, or Charles T. Hartwood, as he is registered on the prison record, reached the Lancaster, reached the navy yard about 10:45 o'clock, accompanied by a Louisville detective. He is the first man to be incarcerated under the new law, which does not compel the putting of the prisoner in irons.

Magness's wife, formerly Miss Ada Gorman, will come to Philadelphia, following an indefinite visit to Washington, in her husband's behalf. She has said she would go to prison with her husband, but while she will be allowed to visit him on the Lancaster she will be under the same restrictions as visitors who see other prisoners.

Magness is wrought up over his arrest and sleeps comparatively little. Referring to Georgianna Kappeler, who declares he was engaged to wed her when he married Miss Gorman, he said to-day:

"That is the least of my troubles. I've read all the papers and what she has said. She has said some things that are not true, and I guess a suit for slander may make her keep quiet. What does she want, anyway? She can't get anything out of me. I haven't any money."

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
Baltimore, Oct. 25.—That Mrs. Ada Gorman Magness, daughter of the late Senator Gorman, is stanch in the defence of her husband was evidenced by a statement she made to-day. She is staying with relatives at Laurel, Md., pending the court martial of Magness for desertion from the navy.

"It was a case of love at first sight," she said, speaking of her marriage to the musician. "I cannot tell you what it was, but the first time I placed my eyes upon him he seemed like the grandest man in the world. Although it has been said that it was our music that brought us together, it is untrue, for I first met him at some sort of social gathering at the navy yard."

"We became friends immediately, but I did not know he was a musician. When I learned he played the clarinet I invited him to church, but it is not true that I paid the musicians there. We kept company nearly a year and were engaged about a month."

Mrs. Magness insisted that her mother and her brother, State Senator Gorman, did not oppose her marriage.

BRYAN HAS QUIET DAY.

Rests as Guest of Nathan Straus—Says He Never Felt Better.

William Jennings Bryan spent a quiet day yesterday at the home of Nathan Straus, No. 27 West 72d street. In spite of his strenuous campaign he was looking well, and said that he never felt better in his life. He faces two days of strenuous work in the metropolitan district, as shown by his schedule, printed elsewhere, and then speaks at three places on a trip up the Hudson to Westland on Thursday, his special at Rome and Syracuse, and on Friday goes to Ohio. Saturday he speaks in Indiana, on his way to Chicago, where he is scheduled for a night meeting.

On getting into the city from Elmira at 9 o'clock he and Mrs. Bryan were met by Mr. Straus, and taken at once to the latter's home. Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, met Mr. Bryan in Jersey City, and last night dined with him at the home of Herman Ritter. Mr. Bryan did not go to church, as he planned, but took advantage of the opportunity to get some rest. It was understood that he was not to receive any political callers, but he saw the newspaper men in the afternoon.

"I am finishing the campaign in better shape than I have ever been in before," said Mr. Bryan. "I do not know whether I have lost any flesh, but I hope so. My voice is in excellent shape."

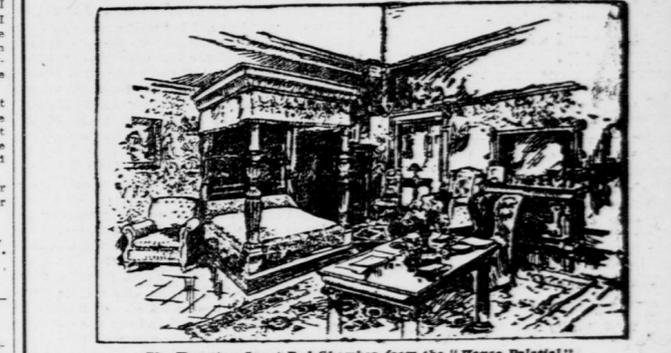

When he was asked about the outlook he said it was "very encouraging," but he looked grave. When the forecasts in some of the morning papers, which indicated a soft victory, were mentioned, he said that he did not worry with the information he had received. Somebody said he understood the President was issuing a long statement for the morning papers, and asked if he had any comment to make. His lips closed tightly together and his brow became knitted, but he said not a word for more than a minute. Then the silence was broken by the interjection of another question.

Asked what he regarded as some of the significant phases of the campaign, Mr. Bryan replied: "There are several things that I regard of great significance. One is that this year the Democratic party has made consistent gains in every section of the country. In past years we have made gains in some places and have lost in others. Another significant thing is that the trend toward the Democratic party is discernible in every department of activity. The gains among the farmers and the laboring men have been pronounced. We have gained among the business and the professional men. There is not an element in our society where we are not making gains."

Mr. Bryan's mood of making gains among college men, and just at this point Mr. Straus produced a cable message addressed to the candidate from Oxford, England. It read:

A Special Exhibit of Elizabethan Pieces

Our collection of these sturdy types would equal the combined varieties of all the period furniture of the average store. We note a few of the many examples in a special exhibit beginning to-day:

- THE RALEIGH DINING SUITE: The sideboard and cupboard are of great dignity in design, the carved enrichment taking its note from the Norman, and introducing the shield and scroll, conventional oak and acorn motifs.
- THE CONGREVE DINING SUITE: An example of the pure Elizabethan, although in simpler form and suited to our modern requirements, especially adapted to use in an apartment.
- THE LYNNE DINING-ROOM SUITE: An exceptionally rare example of a double-back, scroll settle as shown in the South Kensington Museum. The straining piece and legs are exquisitely carved, and the piece is upholstered in a special reproduction of an Elizabethan brocade in time-toned mulberry and dull scarlet tints and surprising effect of age and mellowness, loose air cushions on box seat after the old manner. Settle, Arm and Side Chair, complete, $350.

An Event in Framed Carbon Photographs

There is always a place on the walls of the library, hall, or dining room for these soft-toned, attractive Carbon Photographs. Here is a particularly interesting group of them, varied in subjects, handsomely framed in Flemish oak at a THIRD TO ONE-HALF LESS than usual prices. Subjects include many favorites—Sir Galahad, Hope, The Golden Stairs, A Reading from Homer, Sistine Madonna, Christ in the Temple, Heads by Rembrandt and Van Dyck, Landscapes by Corot and Ruysdael, and others. Here are the sizes and prices:

- 16 x 20 in., with 3 in. Flemish Oak Frame at $2, regularly $4.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

J. R. FINCH LAWYERS' TREASURER.—Edward R. Finch, of No. 23 Nassau street, has been selected as treasurer of the committee of 30 lawyers who are advocating the election of Surrogate Charles H. Beckett. An executive committee, consisting of ten well known lawyers, has also been selected. Henry F. Miller, of No. 44 Pine street, is chairman; the other members are: Charles H. Russell, Charles O. Mass, Joseph Feitch, J. Hampden Dougherty, Jordan J. Rollins, Benjamin M. Cardozo, Henry W. Sackett, Lawrence Godkin and Edward R. Finch.

AN AUTHORITY ON GOOD ROADS.—Frank M. Williams, Republican candidate for State Engineer and Surveyor, is known as one of the state's foremost authorities on good roads, and an immense number of miles of state road have been built under his personal supervision, his work extending over no less than fifteen different counties.

LONG TRIP TO VOTE FOR TAFT.—Six thousand miles of travel and the loss of ten days of valuable time is the price H. E. Huntington, a business man of Los Angeles, will pay for the privilege of voting for Taft. Mr. Huntington left Los Angeles last week for Omaha, N. Y., which he reached just in time to register. The fear of Bryan, he said, should make every business man in the country take pains to cast his ballot for Taft.

WHY IS BRYAN LIKE A WATCH?—One of the many persons who watched the time ball on the top of the Western Union Building make its customary drop at noon yesterday was a man well on in years. After adjusting his watch he showed it into his pocket with the remark, "Get in there, Bryan!"

A bystander, hearing the remark, said to him: "I have heard a good many things named for Bryan, but never a watch. Will you kindly tell me why you give it that name?"

"Because," the old fellow replied, "the blamed old thing is always running, but is never right."
