

TAFT IN TORNADO TOUR. HUGE CROWDS TURN OUT.

Candidate Sweeps Manhattan and Bronx in Triumph.

William Howard Taft made one of the fastest "swing New York" trips on record last night, and New York recaptured by turning out for the biggest and lustiest "Seeing Taft" events of the closing whirlwind campaign.

Although Mr. Taft had put in one of the most exacting days of the campaign, he appeared entirely refreshed after the dinner at the Union League Club, where he and Governor Hughes were guests of George R. Sheldon.

At First avenue and 10th street a stop was made, and Mr. Taft, despite the delicate condition of his throat, left his closed car to take a seat in the tonneau of a big open machine.

At this point the automobile in which was Samuel E. Koenig, Republican nominee for Secretary of State, and his party took the lead to guide the candidate through the intricacies of the route.

After the applause had subsided he remarked: "It's hard to see why there should be any doubt about the result of the coming election."

From the church to Huber's Casino, in 149th street, was a record breaking run. Fully ten thousand persons had stood in the rain outside the big hall, waiting for the candidate.

On his way to Madison Square Garden Mr. Taft addressed nearly a thousand mostly railroad men, who camped at Third avenue and 149th street.

In the evening Mr. Taft spoke in the Union League Club to nearly the whole club membership. "This Republican enthusiasm thrills me," he said, "and I feel the effect like an infusion of electric fluid."

TAFT IN COOPER UNION PLACES LABOR'S DUTY

The Democratic administrations of eight years out of the last forty-eight. Under those circumstances it is difficult to see how any judicial minded person can attribute to the Democratic party that active sympathy with labor in doing things for its interest that entitles it to the support of labor.

In a number of instances this is true, and the Republican convention, for the purpose of calling the attention of judges to the necessity of greater care in this matter, inserted a plank in the platform requiring that the best approved practice in the matter of injunctions should be embodied in a mandatory statute.

DEMOCRATIC PLANK MEANINGLESS. I have been willing myself to provide that no injunction should be issued without notice, but it was thought too drastic a reform, and to take away all remedy in certain cases where, unless injunctions could be issued without notice, no remedy would exist at all.

NOT BENEFICIAL TO LABOR. Of all things not beneficial to the laboring man is legislation which operates on him as a class and seeks to give him privileges or immunities not enjoyed by other members of the community, and that is exactly what this provision as interpreted by Mr. Gompers and as understood by Mr. Bryan is in the opinion of the President in a very apt letter has asked Mr. Bryan to state his position, whether the platform as he reads it does favor the laborer, whether it means nothing, as it would seem to mean when literally read.

QUESTIONS TURN ON PARTICULAR SET OF CIRCUMSTANCES AND EVIDENCE. Judge Taft then summarized his decisions while on the bench bearing on labor, and pointed out that some of them have since been adopted by the labor unions as bulwarks of their organizations. These decisions have been set forth upon several occasions in Judge Taft's speeches and have been printed in detail in The Tribune.

REPUBLICAN CENTENARIAN. (By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 28.—(The Tribune, 102 years old, of Lestershire, a suburb of this city, announced today that he would go to the polls on Tuesday and vote a straight Republican ticket.

DESTRUCTION OF AUTHORITY OF COURTS. I submit to any honest minded man, whether to put in a provision of that sort, thus holding up to ridicule and weakening the solemn orders of three courts, reached with all the deliberation possible, is not laying the axe at the foot of the tree of justice and destroying the authority of the courts. I do not care what its effect is on the courts. I do not care what its effect is on the country. I do not care what its effect is on the subject that nice, delicate question to the uncertainty of twelve laymen that are to sit in the box and pass on the case.

JUDICIAL ACTS MISCONSTRUED. Were this a contest in which my individual interests are alone concerned I should hesitate to discuss my opinions and judicial acts and executive acts, and should prefer to let them fall by the written explanation given in the opinion or in the executive decision, but as there is a disposition on the part of my opponents to decline to read anything on the subject, and as I should feel very much disappointed to have acts of mine misconstrued and injure the cause of Republicanism, I have thought it necessary to go into a full explanation of all the acts of mine which have been the basis of criticism, and I am apologizing for any of the decisions rendered or any of the executive acts performed. I am merely stating them and avoiding the misconstruction and false charge of introduction to them made by partisans in this campaign.

INDIRECT AND DIRECT CONTEMPTS. Now, why do they make a distinction between indirect contempt and direct contempt? What is the difference between the two? The reason for the exception that they will give at once will be in order to protect the property of the defendant. It is not in order to protect the property of the defendant. It is not in order to protect the property of the defendant.

RECOVERY DEPENDS ON ELECTION. The revelations concerning corporate mismanagement, corporate lawlessness in this country, and infidelity of financial trusts, the instability of some prominent men, created a lack of confidence, especially in Europe; the liquid capital was absorbed and hoarded, railroads were unable to borrow money, finally the crash came, and a depression has followed which has been felt in business and manufacturing circles.

CHANDLER PITIES HUGHES. Democratic Candidate Asks if Governor Has Made Good.

Lieutenant Governor Chandler repeated at several meetings in this city last night that as he "was always with the under dog, he felt sorry for Governor Hughes in the present fight."

When Mr. Chandler arrived at Manhattan Casino, at 15th street and Eighth avenue, at 10 o'clock, the presiding officer announced that Mr. Chandler's request that only a short address could be made, as the Lieutenant Governor was physically and vocally worn out.

MASS MEETING OF COLLEGE VOTERS. All Arrangements Complete for Rousing Republican Demonstration.

Arrangements are complete for the Republican college mass meeting to be held in Carnegie Hall on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Republican Club, with the co-operation of the National Republican College League.

CROWD WAITS FOR HUGHES. Governor Hughes did not appear until an hour after Judge Taft had finished, but the far greater part of the audience remained, and the Governor got a greeting as loud as the united Governor got a present could make it and as efforts of those permitted to continue it.

In the traction matters in this city he said he wished to have done what was absolutely fair. He did not wish the past experiences of the people with the railroads repeated. But he could not insist, he said, upon an inconsistent action, and, therefore, it was necessary to find out all the facts so that the action taken would be intelligent.
