GAY SCENE AT SHOW

AUTO DRAWS A BIG HOLIDAY CROWD.

Sight of Cars Makes Some Get Out Their Checkbooks and Join Motoring Band.

Brilliant as was the opening of the automobile show on Thursday night, the scene was surpassed by a spectacle yesterday, and particularly last night, when representatives of the army and navy were the special guests of the show.

It was a holiday crowd that turned out to look at the cars and the accessories and the aeromobile exhibit and all the other things that made up the show. It was a well dressed crowd, and the rattling of silk petticoats and the bulk of its fur coats spoke eloquently of the substance that lay behind it.

The most interesting part of the show was the press room, where scores of newspaper men from all over the country gathered to exchange opinions about the new models of cars and all that the show held of new interest.

Among the army men who came over from Governor's Island were Major General Leonard Wood, Lieutenant Colonel Louis Brockmeyer, Lieutenant Colonel George P. Scriven, Major Almos W. Kimball, Colonel C. A. H. McCaulley, Colonel John L. Chamberlain, Colonel J. G. D. Knight, Colonel James N. Allison, Major J. S. Mallory, Adjutant General H. O. S. Heald, Colonel H. O. Bowen, Lieutenant Colonel Robert F. Ames, Colonel O. B. Mitchell and Colonel Roger C. H. Wood.

Among the most interested spectators yesterday was Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs, who visited the show with her son, Hermann Oelrichs, Jr. They spent nearly two hours wandering about the show.

Among others present were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lipscomb, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen H. J. McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Barney, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Tumbly, Benjamin Nicol, Gordon Fellows, J. Lorimer Worden, Harold S. Vanderbilt, Pierre Lorillard, Congressman Rhineock of Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cuneo, William H. Rutledge, Thomas Moore, Frederick Jackson, Jr., Walter Gibbs Murphy, Edward Denny and Edward L. Coster.

COLUMBIA TEAM SCORES

WINS DUAL CHESS MATCH. Cornell Beaten in Close Struggle on Six Boards.

After a close struggle, wherein the chess players of Columbia and Cornell showed themselves to be evenly matched, the Morningdale Heights players emerged victors from the contest on six boards yesterday. The final score was 2½ points to 2½.

The representatives of Columbia, at the top three boards, won their games, thus demonstrating the superiority of their claim for representation on the cable match team against Oxford and Cambridge.

At the second board Blumberg, of Columbia, quite outplayed Perkins in a Gluoco Piano adopted by the Cornell player, who lost a rook after sixteen moves. Perkins lasted ten moves longer, when he resigned.

In the game between Charles Walzer, of Cornell, the latter had the white pieces against the French defence, and in the course of the game won two pawns. It turned into a difficult rook and pawn ending, which Walzer was unable to win, and the game was drawn after forty-eight moves.

FOWLER BEATS DAILY

TROUBLE AT FINISH OF MARATHON RUN.

Police and Officials in Wordy War, and Referee Feels Called On to Stop Race.

A small sized riot all but broke up the Marathon run which began at Getty Square, Yonkers, and finished on the Empire City Racetrack yesterday afternoon.

Robert Fowler, Cambridge; John J. Daly, Irish-American Athletic Club; Sidney Hatch, Chicago; E. P. Carr, Xavier Athletic Association; S. A. Mellor, Mercury Athletic Club; Fred Lorz, Mohawk Athletic Club, and J. T. Harris, unattached, whose time was not taken. The latter, however, received seventh prize. Immediately after Harris finished the officials stopped the race and withdrew.

Bartow S. Weeks, of the New York Athletic Club, was the chief scorer, and W. L. Jones, of this city, acted as chief timer, while James E. Sullivan, president of the Amateur Athletic Union, was referee.

Words passed between the bluecoat on one side and the spectators on the other, and finally, when Mr. Jones said that it would be impossible to take any more time correctly, he reported the difficulty to the referee, who immediately called the race.

In the mean time a delegation from Yonkers friends of Mellor claimed that their man had been cheated out of a lap, and entered a protest. This was not allowed by Mr. Sullivan. Incidentally, the referee declared that no sanction would be given for more Marathon runs unless better protection for officials could be guaranteed.

Hundreds of interested persons lined the roads between the start and the track, and many of them followed the runners all the way to the enclosure. Of course, every trolley car was filled to overflowing, every one being desirous of reaching the track as soon as possible.

John Hudrock, of the Mercury Athletic Club, set the pace for the first mile and then gave way to Mellor, who led the race to the racetrack. Fowler next appeared, about one hundred yards behind Mellor, and then followed Lorz and Daly.

In the grandstand and lining the rail the crowd kept cheering through the race, until shortly before the finish the total number of spectators was estimated at anywhere from 6,000 to 7,000 persons. The temperature was down below freezing, just about right for the contestants, and sufficiently keen to keep the spectators from remaining passive.
