THE VENEZUELAN SETTLEMENT.

The agreeable anticipations with which the deposition of Mr. Castro from the Venezuelan dictatorship was welcomed are one by one being fulfilled. It was good to have the Venezuelan government so rationally reorganized as to permit and to facilitate the restoration of direct diplomatic relations between Washington and Caracas.

THE TURKISH CRISIS.

Parliamentary government in Turkey is assuredly getting on. It has just had its first ministerial crisis. Because of his dismissal of All Riza Pacha from the War Office, the House of Deputies adopted a vote of lack of confidence in the Prime Minister, Kiamil Pacha, who thereupon resigned his office, and was succeeded by Hilmi Pacha, the Minister of the Interior.

It is assumed that before actual reference to The Hague is made, a treaty will have to be negotiated between the two countries, which will doubtless be promptly forthcoming. Among the numerous and widely varying views which have been taken in this country of the Venezuelan troubles there is not one which does not regard a peaceful and mutually satisfactory settlement of the case as highly desirable.

COMMON SENSE WINS.

The passage by the House of Representatives of Mr. Gaines's bill reducing the salary of the Secretary of State to $8,000, and thus removing Senator Knox's ineligibility to appointment as Secretary of State, ends a difficulty which was merely technical and over which some extremists in constitutional construction have become unduly excited.

The issue was a trivial and formal one, but on such issues there are always haltsplitters who enjoy flouting the obvious logic of the situation and partisans narrow enough to think that there may be political advantage in trying to embarrass an opposing President.

UNRECORDED OPTIMISM.

So far as the fortunes of the grand old party of Jefferson, Jackson and Bryan are concerned, our optimistic neighbor, "The New York World," is beginning to see "the dawn of a to-morrow." It has ceased to be the cartographer of defeat and discouragement, has retired the celebrated "Map of Bryanism" from circulation and is now talking hopefully of a "rehabilitated Democracy."

THE STIMULUS OF COMPETITION.

The rumors of new subways brewed about since Mr. McAdoo made application for permission to extend the Hudson tunnel to the Grand Central Station will remind the public of the days before the merger of the Interborough and the Metropolitan companies. Everybody then exhibited such a zeal for new lines that the old Rapid Transit Commission could hardly get plans on paper fast enough.

A SERUM FOR PNEUMONIA.

Two announcements of the production of an antitoxin for pneumonia have been made in the last few days. One comes from Boston, and credits men who are associated with the Tufts Medical College with the achievement. The other emanates from Darmstadt, Germany, where a physician named Landmann has been engaged in the same class of work.

KANSAS EXPERIENCE.

As for the Kansas verdict on the comparative merits of the two systems (direct and convention nomination) the letter of J. N. Dolley, Speaker of the lower branch of the Legislature of that state, in denouncing the direct system, is a fair specimen of the masses of both parties to break the grip of the state and local organizations, Speaker Dolley declares that "Kansas would no more return to the convention system than the United States would to the shotgun system of the Jayhawkers and Redlegs of fifty years ago."

WISCONSIN NO CRITERION.

There is scarcely a distributive aimed at the proposed reform that does not include a reference to Senator Stephenson's lavish use of money to secure Wisconsin primaries. That incident no more discredits the principle of popular elections, in which all of us believe, than the fact that Governor Hughes' recommendations in connection with the subject included a recommendation for the abolition of the primary candidates for nominations at the primaries may legally expend.

FIRST BROMLEY LECTURE.
