NO GERMAN ENTHUSIASM.

A Quiet Welcome Given by Press to New Chancellor.

Berlin, July 15.—Prince and Princess von Biliow will leave the Chancellor's palace in Berlin at the end of the week.

The Conservative newspapers give the new Chancellor a fairly warm welcome, regarding the appointment as the end of the system of conditions.

The "Deutsche Tageszeitung" says: "The new Chancellor's career leads to the top of the successful continuation of the imperial policy on sound national lines."

The Cologne "Volks Zeitung" says: "The Centrists show a healthy mistrust of the new Chancellor; the party will await his acts and judge accordingly."

Dispatches from provincial centers report that the newspapers greet Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg as an earnest man desirous of doing the right thing.

London, July 15.—The retirement of Chancellor von Biliow is the chief topic of editorial discussion in the London papers this morning.

The "Daily Graphic" says: "The situation is not without its disquieting features—a weak or rather undistinguished Chancellor, a Junker majority in parliament and an unmuzzled Emperor—elements which easily make for disagreeable surprises."

The "Daily News" says: "Chancellor von Biliow's influence in Europe has assuredly not been restrait, although it would be quite unfair to saddle him with the ruin of the concert through the competition in armaments."

The "Times" says: "Although Prince von Biliow has shown that he possesses many exceptional gifts, he has not impressed our countrymen or foreign nations with the belief that he is a great statesman."

GUESTS OF BINGHAMTON

Hospitable Citizens Entertain 239 Fresh Air Children.

"Mister, open this window." "Mister, I've spilled my milk; please tie this up."

So the requests came from 239 children who went yesterday morning to Binghamton on a two weeks' vacation under the auspices of the Tribune Fresh Air Fund.

Four carloads of children, singing and shouting at the top of their voices, left the Lackawanna station at 10:15 a. m. to enjoy the hospitality of the citizens of Binghamton.

An hour and a half before train time they were marshalled to the Barclay street ferry under the guidance of the workers of the fund.

The people of Binghamton have generously raised $500 to meet all expenses while the boys and girls are in the city.

But several other large parties went during the day. Five hundred and five children in all were entertained in the afternoon.

There are about two hundred boys between the ages of twelve and fourteen who have come to the attention of the fund.

Something about the work here awakens within me a great desire to be a missionary worker. Since I am a boy I have had the hope that some day I might be able to work among the poor and lowly.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE GOSPEL OF PARTY LOYALTY.

It is Most Eloquent Expounded by Charles H. Betts.

To the Editor of The Tribune. Sir: I have read your editorial page for years with much interest, and lately I have read it with unusual interest.

The Tribune and Senator Raines are both mistaken in their estimate of the political situation. The Republican party, organization and the Democratic nomination for President.

Mr. Goode was the author of "Recollections of a Lifetime," a work of historic interest, and a subsequent series of articles, entitled "Civilian Chiefs of the Confederacy," descriptive of prominent men of the Confederacy.

Mr. Goode married Miss Sallie Urquart, of Isle of Norfolk, Va., and died in 1899. Three children survive them: Mrs. William T. Brooke, of Norfolk; John G. Goode, of New York, and James U. Goode, of Norfolk.

The funeral will be held at St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church to-morrow, at 5:30 p. m. The body will be sent on Friday morning to Bedford, Va., for burial.

BLAMES MISS CLEMENS.

Mrs. Ashcroft Thinks Humorous Daughter Caused Foreclosure.

Mrs. Ralph W. Ashcroft, former secretary to Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), arrived here yesterday on the Cunard liner Carmania, from Liverpool, especially to see the author regarding his recent attachment of her home in Redding, Conn., to recover a sum of $3,000, which he says he lent her.

Mrs. Ashcroft, who, before her marriage was Miss Isabel V. Lyon, married Mr. Clemens's financial secretary, and as a wedding gift received from Mr. Clemens a house and sixteen acres adjoining the author's villa at Redding. The gift was made while Miss Clara Clemens, Mr. Clemens's daughter, was abroad on a concert tour, and after her return it is said differences arose which resulted in the departure of the Ashcrofts from Mr. Clemens's employ.

"I am sure Mr. Clemens would not have brought the action of his own accord," said Mrs. Ashcroft. "He is a man of honor, and if this is so, he must know we had the gift and the loan with his father's consent. The whole matter will soon be settled, as I shall visit Mr. Clemens on Friday."

SECRETARY BALLINGER DENIES CLASH. No Quarrel with Secretary Wilson, but a Difference with Mr. Pinchot.

Seattle, July 14.—The idea seems to have gone forth that I have clashed with Secretary Wilson over the forest reserves, but such is not the case. R. A. Ballinger, Secretary of the Interior, said last night, "I have no quarrel with Secretary Wilson. My views and those of Gifford Pinchot, head of the forestry bureau, which is a part of the Department of Agriculture, diverged in the matter of forest reserves. I maintained that the law should be enforced, and it is now up to the Attorney General for a decision."

MRS. MACKAY INVITES SUNDAY SCHOOL. Mrs. Clarence Mackay will entertain the teachers and children of Trinity Protestant Episcopal Sunday School, of Roslyn, Long Island, at Harbor Hill, her home at Roslyn, on July 31. The mansion and grounds will be thrown open to the visitors, and the outing will take the place of the school's annual picnic. Mrs. Mackay offered the use of her home because the officers of the Sunday school couldn't agree whether to convey the children in wagons to Locust Grove or take them to Rockaway Beach. Mrs. Mackay will provide games and various amusements for the children, as well as ice cream and cake.
