

HINT TO THE CZAR

Kaiser to Manoeuvre His Army on Russian Border.

As Emperor William has a number of American guests, official and private, at the grand annual manoeuvres of the German army, it may be well to state that this year they will prove of altogether exceptional interest.

The German cavalry participating in the manoeuvres, which will consist of a fight between the First and Seventh Cavalry Divisions, will be armed with the new long carbine and bayonet, which latter is to take the place of the sabre.

The German cavalry participating in the manoeuvres, which will consist of a fight between the First and Seventh Cavalry Divisions, will be armed with the new long carbine and bayonet, which latter is to take the place of the sabre.

That the manoeuvres should take place on the eastern frontier for years, with a menace to the power on the other side of the frontier—namely, Russia. For it means the initiation of every sort of campaign which would lead to a conflict with the Russian army.

That Russia should have abandoned her former alliance with Germany in order to form an understanding with France that would be enough in all conscience. But that Russia should still further unite herself with England and seek to promote the desertion of Italy from the Triple Alliance has shown the Kaiser the uselessness of pursuing a policy of isolation.

OBITUARY

THE REV. DR. WILLIAM EVERETT

Quincy, Mass., Feb. 16.—The Rev. Dr. William Everett, well known scholar and lecturer, died at his home in Quincy, Mass., at the age of 83.

Dr. Everett was the son of Edward Everett, the statesman, and was born in Waterstown in 1827. As a boy he was the constant companion of his eminent father and enjoyed the advantage of his personal instruction in all subjects.

After preparation at the Boston Latin School he entered Harvard in 1845, and from the start held high rank as a student. He graduated with honors in 1849, but never practised. Instead, lured by the life of a scholar, he taught Latin at Harvard as tutor and assistant professor.

Then he succeeded the late Dr. Dimmock as master of Adams Academy, where he remained till that institution ceased to exist. He became one of the leading Latin and Greek scholars of the country.

He won honorary degrees from Cambridge, Williams and Dartmouth, and was made a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

At the same time Dr. Everett took an active interest in the political affairs of his state and held extreme views on many subjects of national importance. Starting as a strong Republican, in 1884 he joined the Democrats, and nine years later he was elected to Congress as a Democrat from the 7th Massachusetts District.

Dr. Everett always had a special interest in religious subjects. He was a licensed Unitarian minister and frequently appeared in the pulpits of that denomination, though he never held a charge. He published various articles and poems in periodicals and in records and annals of the churches.

Dr. Everett never married. He was a direct descendant of William Penn, died last night at his home, No. 149 Union street, Newark, from tuberculosis. He was proprietor of the Penn Lamp Works and was forty years old.

During the winter season, for the last several years, "Billy," as Penn was known, had been in charge of the press box of the Newark baseball grounds, and was well known by all ball players in the Eastern States, as well as by the baseball patrons in general.

Mr. Ronger was a member of the Harmonic Club. Three sons and three daughters survive him. His funeral will be held this morning in the Temple Emanuel, 425 Fifth avenue and 42d street, at 10 o'clock. The burial will be in Cypress Hills Cemetery.

MANDEVILLE C. JACOBUS. Paris, Feb. 16.—Mandeville C. Jacobus, counselor to the American Embassy, died today from pneumonia. The funeral will be held here on Friday.

PHILIP FRESNIUS. New Haven, Feb. 16.—A private telegraphic dispatch late to-night announced the death in Hot Springs, Ark., of Philip Fresnius, of this city. He was about fifty years old, and was one of the most extensive and best known brewers in New England. He leaves a family.

AMBROSE H. WELLS, a well known Connecticut manufacturer and a commissioner of the Board of Public Works of that city, died at his home in that city yesterday night. He was president of the Wells & Co. manufacturers of seamless metal tubing; president of the Waterbury Rolling Mills Company and president of the Waterbury Battery Company. He was seventy-two years old and leaves a wife and five sons.

FALSTAFF SONG

Destinn, Alda, Homer and Scotti Give Fine Rendition.

The younger Verdi is ever with us. As sure as return the snows of winter return to us "Falstaff" and "Rigoletto" and "Aida" too, soon follow, but "Otello" and "Falstaff" if they come at all, are usually arrivals of much later date.
