

GUNS DIDN'T WAVER HIGH SCORES AT C. A. C.

James Takes Trophy—A Record Crowd Out.

Yesterday was a record day at the Crescent Athletic Club traps in point of attendance, and there was plenty of enthusiasm for it was the final day of the month and the winners of the season's trophies were to be decided. A clear eye and a steady aim were necessary, for high scores were difficult to make on account of a quartering wind.

C. R. James proved the winner of the Dreyer trophy, a handsome cup, his best score for the month being 23, 25 and 21—a total of 69. F. B. Stephenson was the runner-up, with 66 to his credit. In yesterday's match for the leg for this prize H. M. Brigham won by shooting a full score of 25 from scratch.

The first cup offered by C. R. James for the month was captured by F. B. Stephenson, who had a total of 23, 25 and 21, giving him 69 points. F. B. Stephenson, who was the runner-up, with 66 to his credit. In yesterday's match for the leg for this prize H. M. Brigham won by shooting a full score of 25 from scratch.

Several interesting events that have been running at the Travers Island traps of the New York Athletic Club came to an end yesterday, and in the majority of cases it was necessary to hold additional shoot-offs to find the winners of the various prizes.

The Dreyer trophy, an event at ten pairs of doubles, was won by O. C. Grinnell, Jr. The first put the gunner into a tie with G. F. Pelham and F. A. Schaeffer. The three gunners shot off at twenty pairs of doubles, and the winner was Dr. Brown, who broke thirty-five of the flying targets. In the second shoot off at ten pairs of doubles the winner was Grinnell, who broke fifteen against fourteen targets for Pelham.

The Hodgman cup also found an owner yesterday. This event was a distance handicap, and the leg was captured by Dr. Brown. The victory put the doctor into a tie with G. F. Pelham, as each gunner had scored three legs on the prize. The shoot-off was decided under the same conditions, and the winner was Dr. Brown, who returned a card of twenty-two out of a possible twenty-five targets. Competition for the February cup also came to an end yesterday, and although the final leg was taken by F. H. Schaeffer with a full score of 25 targets the event was won by T. C. Durham, who previously had scored two legs on the cup.

Full scores were the rule during the afternoon. T. A. Wilson scored a leg on the Westley-Richards cup with a straight run of 25 targets. C. Beal recorded a win on the club special only, however, after a shoot-off in which G. L. Brady competed. F. H. Schaeffer scored in the Haslin cup and J. J. O'Donohue was the winner of the Stoll cup.

Fast Hockey Game Promised Toronto University Players Likely to Give the Wanderers a Hard Battle.

The Toronto University hockey team, which claims the amateur championship of Canada, will cross sticks with the Wanderers at the St. Nicholas rink to-morrow night. The game promises to be hard fought from whistle to whistle. Of the Toronto players the most conspicuous is Captain E. R. Evans, who plays rover. He has been a member of the varsity team for three years and is the only member of the present team who played on the seven which beat McGill University two years ago for the intercollegiate championship in one of the most sensational amateur games ever played in Canada. He is a heavy player and an accurate long distance shot.

The goal keeper, C. E. Richardson, acquired his experience in playing two years with the Upper Canada college and two years with the Toronto second team before being selected for the varsity. His work in the cage is little short of marvellous, and some of his stops are of the most brilliant. The New York Athletic Club team won the admiration of all the local hockey experts.

J. G. Galle is a brother of Dr. W. E. Galle, who formerly played here on one of the New York amateur teams, but is now coaching the Toronto second team. He has played point for five years, and his most effective work is in breaking up dangerous rushes by opposing players. In this he is greatly aided by A. Code, one of the fastest skaters on the team, although he weighs 190 pounds.

B. M. Frith, who made a favorable impression upon the local experts when he played here in December, is an Ottawa boy, and was a member of the Ottawa Cliff slides before he joined the Toronto team. He, too, is a speed skater, and few racers in Canada can beat him on the ice. His accurate shooting when close to the cage has earned him the reputation of being the best goal getter on the team.

McSloy, the left wing, learned hockey at St. Catharines, where he played on the Toronto team. He has played three years on the Toronto seven, and won his "T" with the varsity lacrosse team. He is the most effective forward on this year's team, with a fine reputation for boring through the defence line, fast skating and accurate shooting. Hanley, the right wing, was a former member of the all-star Canadian amateur team. He is noted for his consistent back checking and determined rushes, and is a fine shot from the wings.

Armstrong, the utility forward, has played in many of the senior games this season, taking the place of either Hanley or McSloy. He is a reliable stick handler and a smooth, fast skater, and one of the best all around players in Canada.

IGNORANT U. CLAIM MAY PLAY FOR TITLE. FURLONG ON STAND CHARGES CONSPIRACY.

Accused Magistrate Testifies in His Defence. Action Planned on Company's Refusal of Its Books.

The first time in the trial of Police Magistrate Henry J. Furlong, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, some new features came to light yesterday. The morning's session began with the opening of the defence. Martin T. Mantel, of counsel for the defence, took the floor in place of W. Bourke Cockran. He told the jury that a great conspiracy had proved to them that the defence intended to force on East New York, with the avowed object in ruining the prisoner.

While his political followers struggled for a foothold in the packed courtroom, Magistrate Furlong was called to the witness stand to be the first to give testimony in his defence. The courtroom gasped in his defence. Furlong called upon the magistrate to tell the jury about the Merg-Hedden scandal which stirred up the borough about five years ago.

Mary Hedden, Furlong said, was a fallen girl, who had been brought before him by her relatives. He committed her to the House of the Good Shepherd, but had her removed later and had placed her in the custody of Mrs. Ida M. Tietjen, the woman probationary officer of the Gates avenue court. Some time afterward she was arrested for stealing and taken before another magistrate. It was upon her arrest, developed by Mr. Furlong, of wrongful relations with her. Mr. Furlong was involved and was compelled to appear before the grand jury, but was exonerated.

From this case the lawyer passed to the Mary Donlin case. Furlong said Gotthelf informed him that Miss Mary Donlin had been arrested on the charge of stealing. Gotthelf said that he knew the woman's father, and he could reach a settlement with him. The magistrate told him to try to do so. Gotthelf returned with the proposition that Mr. Furlong pay $500. He declared that he did not have it to pay. Then the emissary found that he could settle for $1,000. The magistrate said that on this sum he would not touch, but that if Gotthelf could arrange a settlement for $100 to do so. Gotthelf finally returned with a proposal that the magistrate pay $150. To this he agreed, and Gotthelf got him a release upon the payment of the money. He said that he later found by questioning the girl's father that Gotthelf had paid over the $1,000 more than $50 of the money that he had procured for the settlement.

The direct examination occupied the morning. As soon as court convened in the afternoon Assistant District Attorney Elder took up the cross-examination. He began with questions regarding a Mary McGovern, who, he suggested, had been Mr. Furlong's servant while Mrs. Furlong was in Europe and he alone on his ranch in Manitoba. The magistrate denied any relations with her. He admitted that he had owed Mr. Donlin $300 and still owed him $75.

Regarding the Halsey case, the magistrate admitted that Mrs. Halsey had brought an action against him to collect $100,000 damages. Mr. Elder produced a register, which he intimated came from a Plainfield hotel. He showed the signature of "Mr. Gotthelf and wife." These the magistrate recognized. He denied that he had designed the register for "Mr. Halsey and wife, Newark." The register was put in evidence.

Magistrate Furlong was apparently wrathful as he left the stand when court adjourned at 4 o'clock. As he greeted some friends he said, referring to Mr. Elder: "He must have got hold of some of these journalistic 'morgue'."

Baseball practice is getting a poor start this season. Dave Fultz has not yet started to take hold of the net, and only eighteen candidates have reported to J. J. O'Connell, the captain, for preliminary work in the cage. It is believed that when the coach gets to work next week there will be a large squad on hand.
