

TATTLEBEE SOLD '78 SMILES ON HIS CLASS.

President Shelves Affairs of Nation to Attend Dinner.

From far and near the members of the class of '78, Yale, gathered at the University Club last night for the annual dinner. The rallying cry brought about sixty of the "President's class" together, and for over three hours they told each other of their old experiences while undergraduate.

Seek Mother's Help Wealthy Woman Fails to Provide for Young Girl.

William Klein was appointed by Justice Newburgh in the Supreme Court, yesterday, as referee to ascertain the amount of the property of Mrs. Julia M. Curtis. The appraisal is to make it possible to provide Mrs. Curtis's daughter, Hilda Charlotte Edgerton Morris, with board, education and other requisites suitable for her position in life.

SUCCEEDS "DAN" FINN C. W. Appleton, of Whitman's Staff, Named by Mayor.

Charles W. Appleton, who had been an assistant in the District Attorney's office since 1905, was appointed city magistrate to succeed "Batter Dan" Finn by Mayor Gaynor yesterday. Magistrate Finn's term would have expired on July 1, 1910.

GRADUATE OF "BLIND" SCHOOL Boy Arrested for Begging Discloses Bowery Game New to Police.

Thought how to act blind and schooled in the successful game of begging, Bryan W. Wilson, fifteen years old, of No. 10 Bayard street, put the officers of the children's bureau on a search for a Bowery organization of men that makes a business of teaching youths to go out and beg under pretense of being sightless.

COURTHOUSE SITES. Commission Gets Many New Suggestions for Location.

Edward M. Groat, Morgan J. O'Brien and L. Lauderbach, the members selected by the commission named by Mayor Gaynor to select a site outside of the City Hall Park for the new courthouse, gave a public hearing yesterday for the purpose of receiving suggestions. Grosvenor Artbury, for the New York Chapter of Architects, suggested seven different sites for the courthouse.

HOME AIDS TO BEAUTY. COMPLEXION BEAUTIFULER.—A fine complexion beautifier that will clear and whiten the skin and take away that sallow, coarse look, is made by dissolving four ounces of spumax in a half-pint of water and adding two teaspoonsful of glycerine. Applied to the face, neck and arms, this lotion wonderfully improves the complexion.

NEW JOBS PLEASE THE TIGER. Rejoicing in Tammany Hall Over Fat Places for Two More Leaders.

There was general rejoicing in Tammany Hall last night because two district leaders had got city jobs with the approval of Mayor Gaynor. Commissioner Whitney of the Department of Correction chose William J. Wright, leader of the 31st District, as his first deputy, to succeed George W. Meyer, who resigned some time ago. Mr. Meyer was active with the McCellan forces when the former Mayor tried to oust William H. Sinnott from the Tammany leadership of the 22d District. Mr. Wright has never held public office before, but is one of the most popular leaders in Tammany Hall. His new place pays $1,000 a year.

PAPER MILLS RUN. Strike Fails to Close Upstate Plants.

Watertown, N. Y., March 28.—There are now 108 strike breakers employed in the Watertown division of the International Paper Company. A second machine at the "C. R." mill was started today, as was also the pulp mill at the Ontario mill. No violence has as yet been offered by the striking paper men at the local mills. President Carey of the union is expected here tomorrow night to address a public meeting called in the interests of the strike.

TO JURY TO-DAY. CLAUSEN CASE OVER. SHACKLETON MEDAL.

Charge by Court This Morning as to Disputed Pictures.

Justice Page will charge the jury which for two weeks has been listening in the Supreme Court to the suit of William V. Evans against William Clausen today, and the twelve judges of the facts will decide whether or not the defendant art dealer sold the plaintiff two spurious paintings which were attributed to Homer D. Martin, on which allegation Evans demands $250, the price he paid for the two pictures.

EXPLORER HONORED. SHACKLETON MEDAL.

New York Scientists Pay Tribute for South Polar Trip.

Lieutenant Sir Ernest H. Shackleton received a medal last night from the American Geographical Society for his farthest journey. About three hundred persons gathered in the assembly room of the Engineering Building, No. 29 West 29th street, and the presentation preceded a lecture by the explorer. This was illustrated with stereoscopic views.

CLAUDE COLLAR NEWER THAN CHANTELER FRILL.

There is another new name now for the Chanteleur frill, and that is the Claudine collar. The Claudine collar differs, however, a little from the Chanteleur, in that its fineness is laid in box pleats instead of in side pleating. It is made both in the rounded neck and pointed front style. Made of the lace and sheer tulle lawn or net, this form of neckwear gives a delicate and pretty finish at the throat.

SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

At this time of the year when the palate craves new sensations, most people are tired of the roast beef that lasted so good in winter. Lamb and veal are its logical successors, and ordinarily they are cheap at this season, so that the change was made automatically. This year the season does not correspond with prices, but the palate still craves the lighter meats.

OHIO SOCIETY ASTIR. Election of New President Not Without Some Friction.

No police were called in to guard the ballot box of the National Society of Ohio Women while for five hours the women balloted for president at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday afternoon. Yet strange rumors of padded voting lists and machine politics were rife.

GERMAN ACCUSER GIVES EVIDENCE AGAINST PROMOTER IN CRIMINAL ACTION.

Noah Barnes, the promoter and principal executive of the Cottonwood Creek Company, charged with having converted to his own use nearly $1,000 of the corporation's assets, was placed on trial before Justice Goff in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court yesterday. He is charged with grand larceny in the first degree.

DOCK COMMISSIONER SUED. Discharged Superintendent of Ferries Seeks Reinstatement.

John F. Ambrose, who was removed by Dock Commissioner Calvin Tomkins from his place as superintendent of municipal ferries on February 17 last, has applied to the Supreme Court for a mandamus to compel his reinstatement. The matter will be argued next term.

WORKMEN HURLED TO DEATH. Two Ironmongers Meet Death in Collapse of Scaffold at Sixth Floor.

Claude Hastings, a workman, was instantly killed, and William Barnard, another workman, was fatally injured yesterday when a scaffold collapsed and the two men were pitched to the street from the sixth floor of the building at No. 26 West 26th street.

BASEBALL SEASON IS HERE. Reading, Penn., March 28.—The season's first baseball fatality was reported here today. James C. Allen, fourteen years old, was hit on the head by a fly ball and died in a few hours.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

These collars may be fastened with a brooch or with one of the butterfly bows made of black tulle or velvet ribbon. Nimble fingers can easily arrange the velvet bow at small expense, as it takes only three-eighths of a yard of 2 1/2-inch wide ribbon for it. The ends must be turned

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Stuffed breast of veal and roast lamb, with its refreshing green mint jelly, appear to have been specially designed for the spring table, and there are other lamb and veal dishes, not so commonly served, which ought not to be overlooked.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Swineheads, calves' and lambs' tongues, brains and hearts, not to mention liver, which, it seems, are constantly ordered, the club is not so much a dining room as a place for the organization, say they will resign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"I will remain a member of no club that is constantly fighting," said Mrs. Mulliner emphatically. "I joined the Ohio club because I understood it was all peace and harmony, but I have been sadly mistaken. In my profession I am constantly arguing, trying to get the best of my opponent. Clubs are my diversion, and I must have harmony to remain, therefore, I am resigning from the National Society of Ohio Women."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"Bravo!" cried her friends and Mrs. Moody's supporters as they crowded around the speaker. Among others who will undoubtedly resign are Mrs. Charles C. Ruthrauff, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mrs. George Low, Mrs. Josamine Childs, Mrs. J. E. Sheaff, Mrs. John F. Sipe and Mrs. Cunningham.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Though it was announced the election would take place at 1:30 o'clock, it was not until 6 o'clock that the result was made known, because, it was rumored, trusty henchmen had been dispatched to the byways and hidden to drag in sick or recalcitrant members.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

One bit of gossip was to the effect that a woman who had resigned was prevailed upon to reconsider her determination to leave the club. She did so, and her vote proved to be the deciding one, which elected Mrs. Hatch. It was this vote, according to election gossip, who first nominated Mrs. Moody, but who since the harmony luncheon fracas has swung over to the opposition.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Thirty-three votes were cast, and if there were strange names among the voters, names that did not tally with the official list prepared beforehand, as one prominent member declared was the case, the women hadn't the faintest notion where they came from. Certainly the corridors were blocked from strange persons by determined-looking Ohio women, who allowed no one to pass unless she gave the countersign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

After the result of the election had been announced, when Miss Effie Stewart, who is credited with having started the hostilities at the recent harmony luncheon, had rushed up and kissed the new officer, and Mrs. Moody had generously congratulated her, and Mrs. Hatch herself had declared that there should be "no North or no South in her administration," but she would be loyal to all," Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Easton met in this corner, and Mrs. Easton declared that the outcome of the election was a load off her mind, Mrs. Hatch being so much better qualified than herself to cope with the situation. Mrs. Easton refused to admit the existence of a "situation."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"But what about the sixteen members who are resigning?" asked a malcontent. "Oh, the gist of the matter is this," put in Mrs. Moody. "When the other side is in power there is no friction, because our side is too well bred to squabble."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"That's just where the trouble is," declared Mrs. Easton. "You people are as waysward as the wind, and every woman is in a power there is no friction, because our side is too well bred to squabble."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

It is fully expected that the election will result in the formation of another Ohio society. The original organization, the Daughters of the State, formed in 1905, has promoted social and friendly relations among Ohio people in New York, was reconstituted in 1907, the offshoot, formed for the same purpose, taking the name of the National Society of Ohio Women.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There is another new name now for the Chanteleur frill, and that is the Claudine collar. The Claudine collar differs, however, a little from the Chanteleur, in that its fineness is laid in box pleats instead of in side pleating. It is made both in the rounded neck and pointed front style. Made of the lace and sheer tulle lawn or net, this form of neckwear gives a delicate and pretty finish at the throat.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Stuffed breast of veal and roast lamb, with its refreshing green mint jelly, appear to have been specially designed for the spring table, and there are other lamb and veal dishes, not so commonly served, which ought not to be overlooked.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Swineheads, calves' and lambs' tongues, brains and hearts, not to mention liver, which, it seems, are constantly ordered, the club is not so much a dining room as a place for the organization, say they will resign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"I will remain a member of no club that is constantly fighting," said Mrs. Mulliner emphatically. "I joined the Ohio club because I understood it was all peace and harmony, but I have been sadly mistaken. In my profession I am constantly arguing, trying to get the best of my opponent. Clubs are my diversion, and I must have harmony to remain, therefore, I am resigning from the National Society of Ohio Women."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"Bravo!" cried her friends and Mrs. Moody's supporters as they crowded around the speaker. Among others who will undoubtedly resign are Mrs. Charles C. Ruthrauff, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mrs. George Low, Mrs. Josamine Childs, Mrs. J. E. Sheaff, Mrs. John F. Sipe and Mrs. Cunningham.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Though it was announced the election would take place at 1:30 o'clock, it was not until 6 o'clock that the result was made known, because, it was rumored, trusty henchmen had been dispatched to the byways and hidden to drag in sick or recalcitrant members.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

One bit of gossip was to the effect that a woman who had resigned was prevailed upon to reconsider her determination to leave the club. She did so, and her vote proved to be the deciding one, which elected Mrs. Hatch. It was this vote, according to election gossip, who first nominated Mrs. Moody, but who since the harmony luncheon fracas has swung over to the opposition.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Thirty-three votes were cast, and if there were strange names among the voters, names that did not tally with the official list prepared beforehand, as one prominent member declared was the case, the women hadn't the faintest notion where they came from. Certainly the corridors were blocked from strange persons by determined-looking Ohio women, who allowed no one to pass unless she gave the countersign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

After the result of the election had been announced, when Miss Effie Stewart, who is credited with having started the hostilities at the recent harmony luncheon, had rushed up and kissed the new officer, and Mrs. Moody had generously congratulated her, and Mrs. Hatch herself had declared that there should be "no North or no South in her administration," but she would be loyal to all," Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Easton met in this corner, and Mrs. Easton declared that the outcome of the election was a load off her mind, Mrs. Hatch being so much better qualified than herself to cope with the situation. Mrs. Easton refused to admit the existence of a "situation."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"But what about the sixteen members who are resigning?" asked a malcontent. "Oh, the gist of the matter is this," put in Mrs. Moody. "When the other side is in power there is no friction, because our side is too well bred to squabble."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

It is fully expected that the election will result in the formation of another Ohio society. The original organization, the Daughters of the State, formed in 1905, has promoted social and friendly relations among Ohio people in New York, was reconstituted in 1907, the offshoot, formed for the same purpose, taking the name of the National Society of Ohio Women.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There is another new name now for the Chanteleur frill, and that is the Claudine collar. The Claudine collar differs, however, a little from the Chanteleur, in that its fineness is laid in box pleats instead of in side pleating. It is made both in the rounded neck and pointed front style. Made of the lace and sheer tulle lawn or net, this form of neckwear gives a delicate and pretty finish at the throat.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Stuffed breast of veal and roast lamb, with its refreshing green mint jelly, appear to have been specially designed for the spring table, and there are other lamb and veal dishes, not so commonly served, which ought not to be overlooked.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Swineheads, calves' and lambs' tongues, brains and hearts, not to mention liver, which, it seems, are constantly ordered, the club is not so much a dining room as a place for the organization, say they will resign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"I will remain a member of no club that is constantly fighting," said Mrs. Mulliner emphatically. "I joined the Ohio club because I understood it was all peace and harmony, but I have been sadly mistaken. In my profession I am constantly arguing, trying to get the best of my opponent. Clubs are my diversion, and I must have harmony to remain, therefore, I am resigning from the National Society of Ohio Women."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"Bravo!" cried her friends and Mrs. Moody's supporters as they crowded around the speaker. Among others who will undoubtedly resign are Mrs. Charles C. Ruthrauff, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mrs. George Low, Mrs. Josamine Childs, Mrs. J. E. Sheaff, Mrs. John F. Sipe and Mrs. Cunningham.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Though it was announced the election would take place at 1:30 o'clock, it was not until 6 o'clock that the result was made known, because, it was rumored, trusty henchmen had been dispatched to the byways and hidden to drag in sick or recalcitrant members.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

One bit of gossip was to the effect that a woman who had resigned was prevailed upon to reconsider her determination to leave the club. She did so, and her vote proved to be the deciding one, which elected Mrs. Hatch. It was this vote, according to election gossip, who first nominated Mrs. Moody, but who since the harmony luncheon fracas has swung over to the opposition.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Thirty-three votes were cast, and if there were strange names among the voters, names that did not tally with the official list prepared beforehand, as one prominent member declared was the case, the women hadn't the faintest notion where they came from. Certainly the corridors were blocked from strange persons by determined-looking Ohio women, who allowed no one to pass unless she gave the countersign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

After the result of the election had been announced, when Miss Effie Stewart, who is credited with having started the hostilities at the recent harmony luncheon, had rushed up and kissed the new officer, and Mrs. Moody had generously congratulated her, and Mrs. Hatch herself had declared that there should be "no North or no South in her administration," but she would be loyal to all," Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Easton met in this corner, and Mrs. Easton declared that the outcome of the election was a load off her mind, Mrs. Hatch being so much better qualified than herself to cope with the situation. Mrs. Easton refused to admit the existence of a "situation."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"But what about the sixteen members who are resigning?" asked a malcontent. "Oh, the gist of the matter is this," put in Mrs. Moody. "When the other side is in power there is no friction, because our side is too well bred to squabble."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

It is fully expected that the election will result in the formation of another Ohio society. The original organization, the Daughters of the State, formed in 1905, has promoted social and friendly relations among Ohio people in New York, was reconstituted in 1907, the offshoot, formed for the same purpose, taking the name of the National Society of Ohio Women.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There is another new name now for the Chanteleur frill, and that is the Claudine collar. The Claudine collar differs, however, a little from the Chanteleur, in that its fineness is laid in box pleats instead of in side pleating. It is made both in the rounded neck and pointed front style. Made of the lace and sheer tulle lawn or net, this form of neckwear gives a delicate and pretty finish at the throat.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Stuffed breast of veal and roast lamb, with its refreshing green mint jelly, appear to have been specially designed for the spring table, and there are other lamb and veal dishes, not so commonly served, which ought not to be overlooked.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Swineheads, calves' and lambs' tongues, brains and hearts, not to mention liver, which, it seems, are constantly ordered, the club is not so much a dining room as a place for the organization, say they will resign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"I will remain a member of no club that is constantly fighting," said Mrs. Mulliner emphatically. "I joined the Ohio club because I understood it was all peace and harmony, but I have been sadly mistaken. In my profession I am constantly arguing, trying to get the best of my opponent. Clubs are my diversion, and I must have harmony to remain, therefore, I am resigning from the National Society of Ohio Women."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"Bravo!" cried her friends and Mrs. Moody's supporters as they crowded around the speaker. Among others who will undoubtedly resign are Mrs. Charles C. Ruthrauff, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mrs. George Low, Mrs. Josamine Childs, Mrs. J. E. Sheaff, Mrs. John F. Sipe and Mrs. Cunningham.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Though it was announced the election would take place at 1:30 o'clock, it was not until 6 o'clock that the result was made known, because, it was rumored, trusty henchmen had been dispatched to the byways and hidden to drag in sick or recalcitrant members.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

One bit of gossip was to the effect that a woman who had resigned was prevailed upon to reconsider her determination to leave the club. She did so, and her vote proved to be the deciding one, which elected Mrs. Hatch. It was this vote, according to election gossip, who first nominated Mrs. Moody, but who since the harmony luncheon fracas has swung over to the opposition.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Thirty-three votes were cast, and if there were strange names among the voters, names that did not tally with the official list prepared beforehand, as one prominent member declared was the case, the women hadn't the faintest notion where they came from. Certainly the corridors were blocked from strange persons by determined-looking Ohio women, who allowed no one to pass unless she gave the countersign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

After the result of the election had been announced, when Miss Effie Stewart, who is credited with having started the hostilities at the recent harmony luncheon, had rushed up and kissed the new officer, and Mrs. Moody had generously congratulated her, and Mrs. Hatch herself had declared that there should be "no North or no South in her administration," but she would be loyal to all," Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Easton met in this corner, and Mrs. Easton declared that the outcome of the election was a load off her mind, Mrs. Hatch being so much better qualified than herself to cope with the situation. Mrs. Easton refused to admit the existence of a "situation."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"But what about the sixteen members who are resigning?" asked a malcontent. "Oh, the gist of the matter is this," put in Mrs. Moody. "When the other side is in power there is no friction, because our side is too well bred to squabble."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

It is fully expected that the election will result in the formation of another Ohio society. The original organization, the Daughters of the State, formed in 1905, has promoted social and friendly relations among Ohio people in New York, was reconstituted in 1907, the offshoot, formed for the same purpose, taking the name of the National Society of Ohio Women.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There was even a handsome pink violet accessory to protect the ballot box from any effect of soil vibrations and violet rays emitted by the priestess of the cult, Mrs. Mildred Manley Easton, the retiring president.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

There is another new name now for the Chanteleur frill, and that is the Claudine collar. The Claudine collar differs, however, a little from the Chanteleur, in that its fineness is laid in box pleats instead of in side pleating. It is made both in the rounded neck and pointed front style. Made of the lace and sheer tulle lawn or net, this form of neckwear gives a delicate and pretty finish at the throat.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Stuffed breast of veal and roast lamb, with its refreshing green mint jelly, appear to have been specially designed for the spring table, and there are other lamb and veal dishes, not so commonly served, which ought not to be overlooked.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Swineheads, calves' and lambs' tongues, brains and hearts, not to mention liver, which, it seems, are constantly ordered, the club is not so much a dining room as a place for the organization, say they will resign.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"I will remain a member of no club that is constantly fighting," said Mrs. Mulliner emphatically. "I joined the Ohio club because I understood it was all peace and harmony, but I have been sadly mistaken. In my profession I am constantly arguing, trying to get the best of my opponent. Clubs are my diversion, and I must have harmony to remain, therefore, I am resigning from the National Society of Ohio Women."

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

"Bravo!" cried her friends and Mrs. Moody's supporters as they crowded around the speaker. Among others who will undoubtedly resign are Mrs. Charles C. Ruthrauff, Mrs. A. E. Smith, Mrs. George Low, Mrs. Josamine Childs, Mrs. J. E. Sheaff, Mrs. John F. Sipe and Mrs. Cunningham.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Though it was announced the election would take place at 1:30 o'clock, it was not until 6 o'clock that the result was made known, because, it was rumored, trusty henchmen had been dispatched to the byways and hidden to drag in sick or recalcitrant members.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

One bit of gossip was to the effect that a woman who had resigned was prevailed upon to reconsider her determination to leave the club. She did so, and her vote proved to be the deciding one, which elected Mrs. Hatch. It was this vote, according to election gossip, who first nominated Mrs. Moody, but who since the harmony luncheon fracas has swung over to the opposition.

Of Interest to Women. SMART NECKWEAR. SPRING MEATS.

Thirty-three votes were cast, and if there were strange names among the voters, names that did not tally with the official list prepared