Pennsylvania Beats Princeton in Ninth Inning.

ERROR BY REED COSTLY

Tigers Unable to Stem a Rally That Robbed Them of a Victory.

RESULTS OF COLLEGE BASEBALL GAMES YESTERDAY.

Table listing college baseball games and results, including Yale vs. Andover, Holy Cross vs. Harvard, and Pennsylvania vs. Princeton.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] Philadelphia, May 7.—In a ninth inning rally on Franklin Field here to-day, Pennsylvania defeated Princeton by a score of 3 to 2.

With the score 3 to 1 in favor of the Tigers in the ninth inning, and Woodie pitching in brilliant fashion, things looked bad for Pennsylvania, but apparent defeat was turned into victory.

The score follows: PENNSYLVANIA. Inning: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Runs: 1, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 2. Hits: 3, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1, 1. Errors: 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0.

Yale defeated Andover 4 to 0. Holy Cross defeated Harvard 2 to 0. Pennsylvania defeated Princeton 3 to 2.

YALE DEFEATS ANDOVER

Schoolboys Make Good Fight to the Seventh Inning.

New Haven, May 7.—The Andover Academy baseball players gave Yale a game brim full of features this afternoon, although they failed to hold together in the seventh inning, and the collegians won by a score of 3 to 0.

The Andover third baseman, was applauded for making a double play unassisted. He has had two brothers at Yale.

Wright of Andover, pounced out a home run in the first inning, while Reynolds and Middlebrook made long running catches.

Carhart wrenched his ankle, and Taylor replaced him behind the bat for Yale. The score follows:

Score for Yale vs. Andover: Yale 3, Andover 0.

BROWN VICTOR OVER TUFTS

Only Three Hits and One Run in Entire Game.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] Providence, May 7.—In a sharp pitchers' battle here to-day Brown shut out Tufts and won by a single run.

Only one Tufts man, Knight, was allowed to reach third, and he was materially assisted by his own scorching two-bagger to left field in the fifth inning, the only hit the visitors got off Bliss, the Brunswickan.

LOWER COLORS OF CADETS

Timely Hits Capture Game for University of Virginia.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] West Point, N. Y., May 7.—By getting their few hits at the right moment and by fine base running the University of Virginia defeated the West Point cadets by a score of 6 to 3 to-day.

NO-HIT GAME FOR DAVIS

Williams College Pitcher Shows Remarkable Skill in Box.

Williamstown, Mass., May 7.—Williams won an easy victory over Massachusetts Agricultural College this afternoon by a score of 5 to 1.

CREW THAT FELL A VICTIM TO NAVY EIGHT.

COLUMBIA OARSMEN IN LAST PRACTICE RUN FOR RACE WITH MIDSHPMEN YESTERDAY.

COLUMBIA HITS HARD

Tallies Twenty Runs to Georgetown's Four.

Columbia overwhelmed Georgetown on South Field yesterday afternoon by a score of 20 to 4. Only seven innings were played.

The Blue and White nine took a big and early lead. They tallied three runs in the first, six in the second and five in the third, and added six more before the game was over.

Georgetown started off well by bringing a man home in the opening session, but was unable to score again until the fifth, when it succeeded in adding two more to the total. Another was scored in the seventh.

Heavy hitting was mainly responsible for Columbia's victory, although the Georgetown fielders aided materially by slipping up at critical moments.

The score follows: COLUMBIA. Inning: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Runs: 3, 6, 5, 2, 3, 1, 0, 0, 0. Hits: 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10, 10.

Home run—Kendall. Sacrifice hit—Sanders. Sacrifice—Gibson. (2) Error (2) O'Connell, Lommel, Kiend, Hastings, Siderling, Hunt, Dugan, Double play—Strook and O'Connell. Left on bases—Columbia, 6; Georgetown, 2.

Umpire—Kennedy. Attendance, 1,500.

CORNELL FINDS A VICTIM

Dartmouth Nine Taken into Camp in Pitchers' Battle.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] Ithaca, N. Y., May 7.—Cornell to-day broke the string of baseball defeats that has afflicted Ithaca for the last two weeks, scoring three runs against Dartmouth.

The visitors registered only one, a sliding game ball, a pitchers' battle, but in the third and fourth innings the Cornell batters got to Gammon for five hits, netting three runs.

Goodwillie allowed four hits, passed one and struck out three. Gammon was hit safely seven times and struck out four.

The score follows: CORNELL. Inning: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Runs: 3, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0. Hits: 3, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0.

ERROR FATAL TO HARVARD

Home Run by Burns Also Helps Holy Cross to Victory.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] Worcester, Mass., May 7.—Holy Cross defeated Harvard to-day in one of the best games seen on Pitkin Field this season, by a score of 2 to 1, making the winning run in the last inning with two men out.

In the second inning Burns scored for Holy Cross on a home run drive to right field. Foley's grounder to second in the last inning, which passed through Marshall's hands, sent Kennedy home with the winning run.

The score follows: HOLY CROSS. Inning: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9. Runs: 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0. Hits: 2, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0, 0.

TRAVIS BEATS TRAVERS

Golfing Wizard Wins Chief Cup on Garden City Links.

KEEN FIGHT TO THE END

Match Is Carried to the Home Green to Delight of Big Gallery.

In another of those sterling matches which almost invariably result when Walter Travis and Jerome D. Travers come together the former again came off with flying colors by winning from the latter in the final round of the thirty-six hole final round of the invitation tournament at the Garden City Golf Club yesterday.

These rivals had not clashed since the semi-final round of the national amateur championship tournament over the same green in 1908, when Travers finished 3 up. The victory of the veteran yesterday, therefore, was in the nature of sweet revenge.

Comparing the play of these two rivals with that of the two years ago, it is said that neither showed any improvement, and if one was to judge solely by the figures recorded on the card yesterday's golf fell far below the former mark.

From a strictly competitive point of view this latest meeting of the pair was interesting in the extreme, first one, then the other, showing in front.

Travis was up on the second green, and he got out of the hole at one time had an advantage of 2 up. Later on he lost this, but by winning the home hole retired for luncheon 1 up.

After rushing away like a wild horse and winning three out of the first four holes in the afternoon, making him 2 up on the last hole, he was again in the lead.

The race was roused on the inner course on the two-mile stretch above the railroad bridge. All the stake boats had been set out on the outside course in the morning, when there was hardly more than a ripple on the river, but as the day wore on a light breeze increased into a blow and made the outer course impossible.

After waiting around until 4 o'clock the Navy "pickets" and the eight of the Central High School, Philadelphia, who were to row the first race of the afternoon, were sent upstream. The start was made about 4:15 o'clock, and the young middies had no difficulty in pulling out victory by a length.

When the crews settled down into the steady swing that was to carry them through the greater part of the race the New Yorkers began to gather speed, and by the time the half-mile mark was reached they had forged into the lead and were more than holding their own half a length ahead.

The water was getting very rough at this point and Murphy dropped the Columbia stroke down to 30, while the Navy, on the inside course, where it was a trifle smoother, rowed 35. Despite the rougher water, however, Columbia constantly increased her lead, and at the mile mark was swinging along a good length in advance.

By this time the supporters of the Navy were shouting for a spurt, and the few Columbia adherents who were following the race seemed satisfied that their crew had a safe margin. Through the third half mile the crews maintained their same relative positions, and when they got ready for the home stretch Columbia still had a length, with the crew rowing like a well-balanced machine.

The Navy eight, however, was going along just as smoothly, and when Loftin called for the spurt the seven men behind him responded with a will and a suddenness that brought joy to every midshipman's heart.

Slowly at first, inch by inch and then by foot, the Navy shell began to crawl up the boat, with the light blue crew, until he hit the stroke out to 38, and the Navy boat fairly thrilled through the water, cutting down faster and faster the Columbia advantage until it had been entirely overcome and the Navy's bow showed ahead. Still driving the boat at the same 38, Loftin kept his men plugging right at it, and the Navy boat fairly thrilled through the water, cutting down faster and faster the Columbia advantage until it had been entirely overcome and the Navy's bow showed ahead.

RUTGERS YIELDS TO N. Y. U.

University Heights Boys Bat Out a 12 to 4 Victory.

[By Telegram to the Tribune.] New York University defeated Rutgers at Ohio Field yesterday by a score of 12 to 4. In the second inning the New York boys found Andrae and hit him freely throughout the remainder of the struggle.

Brennan started the scoring for New York with a neat single over second base. Yule, with his smashing two-bagger, advanced to third, and he scored on Lawrence's infield out. Elliffe singled and Yule scored.

In the third inning Ladofsky hit for two bases, stole third and crossed the plate on Fisher's drive to short. Brennan then smashed out a three-bagger, scoring Fisher, Yule, in turn, brought in Brennan with the double, made third on Lawrence's single and scored on Andrae's error.

In the fourth inning, of Rutgers, walked, stole second, and scored on Gladding's "Texas leaguer." In New York's half Gorsch singled and scored on Fisher's three-bagger, the latter crossing the plate when Brennan went out to the infield.

In the final round for the beaten eight cup of the first afternoon, John M. Ward, of New York, got going in something like his best form and defeated G. W. White, of Oakland, by 9 up and 8 to play, while in the second round H. Hoyt, of Allenton, defeated E. A. Thomson, of Lenox, by 2 and 1 margin.

Ward, who was won by Donald McKellar with a 76 net, resulted as follows: HANDICAP. Gross. Hcp. Net. Donald McKellar, Middletown, 81 5 76.

AMATEUR LEAGUE OPENS

Montclair and Crescent Teams Play No Score Tie.

DARKNESS ENDS THE GAME

Fast Fielding by Both Sides Shuts Off Runs in Eleven-Inning Contest.

An eleven-inning no-score game marked the opening contest between the Crescent Athletic Club and the Montclair Athletic Club for the Amateur Baseball League trophy on the latter's field yesterday.

After battling for many innings, with neither team succeeding in getting a runner across the plate, darkness put an end to the proceedings. Several snappy plays and sensational catches on each side prevented the scoring of runs which seemed imminent.

The brilliant performance of "Burr" Coleman, who was on the mound for Crescent, was the feature of the afternoon. For nine innings not a semblance of a hit was secured from his delivery, while eleven men struck out and only two flies were sent out to the outer garden.

Burns, of Montclair, spoiled what would have been a remarkable achievement when he got a scratch hit behind first base in the tenth inning.

Frank Kane, the former Amherst star pitcher, began on the mound for the Jersey team, and after holding his opponents to three hits in six innings and having seven strike-outs to his credit he showed signs of the hot struggle, and was relieved by Walter J. Travis. The brilliant performance of "Burr" Coleman, who was on the mound for Crescent, was the feature of the afternoon.
