

THE ROOSEVELT EMBARK
Ex-President and His Family
Now on Their Way Home.
HIS GRATITUDE TO ENGLISH
Last Day with Sir Edward Grey
"the Crowning Experience of Three Months."

On Board the Steamship Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, Friday Night, June 10, at Southampton, England. Theodore Roosevelt spent most of the evening on the ship with Sir Edward Grey.

Southampton, June 10.—Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Miss Ethel, Kermit and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, sailed on the Hamburg-American line steamer Kaiserin Augusta Victoria to-day for New York. The steamer is due at Sandy Hook on the night of June 17, but the ex-President will not land in New York until the following morning.

In company with Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Roosevelt spent the last night of his visit in England at the Brookhurst, a hotel in the vicinity of the New Forest, Hampshire. He had been the guest of the Foreign Secretary since yesterday morning, and this forenoon he came by motor car to Southampton, where Mr. Roosevelt was joined by the others of his family, who had remained in London, coming down on the boat train this morning.

Mr. Roosevelt's final day in England was one of seclusion. He and Sir Edward Grey spent the hours through New Forest, the famous royal hunting grounds, rich in its fauna and flora, and of absorbing interest to ornithologists.

There is considerable interest in Mr. Roosevelt's visit to the Foreign Secretary. It was quite private, and it is known only to the two who reached the hotel last night gathered with mud and soaked to the skin. To a friend Mr. Roosevelt before sailing said: "My day in New Forest with Sir Edward Grey was the crowning experience of the whole three months."

Today Mr. Roosevelt said that he had been refreshed by his trip in the country. He had been thoroughly worn out by his exertions since his arrival here. After joining his family Mr. Roosevelt proceeded to the steamship pier, where he was greeted by the Mayor and the ex-President of Southampton.

Mr. Roosevelt would like to express through you, Mr. Mayor, my thanks to the people of this country for the way in which I have been received, and to say what pleasant memories I shall always retain of the last portion of my sojourn in England. Of course, it was begun under the most favorable circumstances. When I came ashore the sympathy for your country in its hour of affliction was glad to have the chance of being the American representative here at such a time, and since then your people have received me with such cordial and courteous hospitality that I cannot sufficiently express my appreciation in words.

Mr. Roosevelt's farewell to Sir Edward Grey, former military attaché of the British Embassy at Washington, and other friends who had come to say goodbye, the Roosevelt family embarked upon a tender and were carried out to the liner.

The Kaiserin Augusta Victoria had large passengers. When she went aboard a reception was given to Mr. Roosevelt by his fellow travelers. As the tender came alongside the hand on the steamer's deck played the "Star Spangled Banner" and there was a good deal of cheering. Many of those on the steamer carried miniature American flags and the "stars" were flying from stem to stern. It sailed away after the Roosevelt party had gone aboard.

London, June 10.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, Kermit Roosevelt left London on the boat train this morning. Mr. Roosevelt will sail to Southampton, whence he will sail to New York this afternoon.

Southampton, June 10.—An invitation was extended to-day by the provincial government through Dr. Jones, American Consul General, to Theodore Roosevelt to visit him and the province on the occasion of his visit to St. Paul next September.

HALF MOON GETS A HOME

New York Palisades Park Commission Made Custodian.

The Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission decided yesterday to give the Half Moon to the Commissioners of the Palisades Interstate Park, New York Commission, in perpetual trust for the people of the State of New York. The executive committee in taking this action adopted the following resolutions, which were acceptable to the Palisades Commission:

Whereas, it is the desire of the Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission to make immediate and permanent provision for the Half Moon, not only as a highly prized testimonial of the vessel with the people of the State of New York, but also as a lesson in the history of the State and the science of navigation; and

Resolved, That the chairman of the Half Moon Commission be and he is authorized to execute the necessary papers to transfer the Half Moon to the Commissioners of the Palisades Interstate Park, New York Commission.

The committee imposed, however, the following conditions: That the Half Moon shall ordinarily be kept floating upon the Hudson River in the State of New York, that the Palisades Interstate Park, New York Commission, shall keep in repair, protect and preserve the vessel and that with the consent of the Governor of the State of New York the vessel be permitted to take part in public navigation or to the Hudson River in the State of New York.

Under the law of the District of Columbia it is required that the name of the minister or marrying justice appear on the license application and the license before it is issued. Knowing of this provision Mr. Duke, accompanied by a friend, called on Dr. MacLeod before he applied for his license. Having arranged to be married in Dr. MacLeod's study at 4 o'clock, Mr. Duke procured the license. He gave his residence and that of Miss Roschelle as Durham, N. C., his age as sixty-two years and hers as twenty-eight years.

Later in the day some seeker after news discovered that Brodie L. Duke, the tobacco man, three times married, twice divorced, and on several occasions in marital difficulties, the chief of which involved his last wife, the late Alice W. Duke, was to be married. This fact was announced to the public through the newspapers.

Warned of the forthcoming wedding, reporters and photographers gathered at the First Presbyterian Church. Half an hour before the appointment Dr. MacLeod arrived. He entered his study and a few minutes later came out and asked the camera brigade to leave the churchyard. Summoning the reporters he informed them that there was to be no wedding.

"The marriage license bureau records show that you are to marry Brodie L. Duke," was suggested.

"Well, I am not going to marry him here or anywhere," replied the minister, vigorously.

"Have you refused to marry him on the ground that he has figured in the divorce courts?"

"Well, that is not for me to say," was the reply. "You are a good guesser."

Then the Minister Balked. Subsequently Dr. MacLeod declared he did not know Mr. Duke and that when he had come to him in the morning and engaged him to perform a marriage ceremony he had agreed to do so, not having known the applicant's marital history.

When the facts had been communicated with Mr. Duke and informed him that he could not officiate.

The time for the ceremony was then drawing near, and in order for Mr. Duke to be married in the District of Columbia it was necessary for him to procure another minister or justice, and to file his name on the record of the congregation.

Miss Roschelle was found late to-night at the home of Mrs. Mary L. Horsley, a private tutor, under whom she had been studying. Mr. Duke called there shortly after 9 o'clock, had a drink and then returned to his home. Miss Roschelle was highly indignant over the notoriety attending the attempted marriage and announced her intention of returning immediately to her home, in Durham.

"I was going to marry Mr. Duke to-day," she said, "but I don't know now whether I will or not."

Miss Roschelle is the daughter of a Durham merchant.

Durham, N. C., June 10.—The announcement that Brodie L. Duke had applied for a license to wed Miss Wylanta Roschelle in Washington to-day caused the greatest excitement among his relatives here. An automobile took several members of his family to Raleigh to-night through a down-pour of rain in an effort to catch the night train to the national capital.

Brodie L. Duke is the son of Washington Duke, of Durham, N. C. His marital affairs made him conspicuous in the early part of 1905. On December 15 of the previous year he had married Miss Alice W. Duke, who had been married herself as a member of a well-to-do family. Soon after the wedding it was charged that the new Mrs. Duke was a mere adventuress and had inveigled the tobacco man into marriage.

Duke's relatives obtained his commitment as an insane person on an order by Justice Truax, and he was removed from the Park Hotel, where he was living with his bride. Taken to Bellevue, he was subsequently transferred to Sanford Hall Sanatorium, in Flushing, but was set free by Justice Gaynor. Eventually the relatives dropped all proceedings against Duke.

Following that Mrs. Duke sued for a limited divorce on the ground of abandonment. She brought a counter suit and won. The divorced wife was declared insane in Chicago last year.

THE WEATHER REPORT.

Official Record and Forecast.—Washington, June 10.—The Western disturbance has advanced eastward, and Friday night the area of low barometric pressure, partially obscured by the Ohio Valley, was situated over the Gulf of Mexico; its normal eastward advance is retarded by an extensive area of high barometric pressure that covers the western Atlantic and the Canadian maritime provinces.

There will be variable weather in the Atlantic states, the upper Ohio Valley and Eastern Tennessee, followed by unsettled weather in these districts on Saturday, with rains on the immediate Atlantic coast. Fair weather will prevail Saturday and Sunday in the lake region, the Mississippi Valley, the Gulf states and the plains states and the Rocky Mountain and plateau regions. The middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the Gulf states, however, will have moderate showers to-day.

For Eastern Pennsylvania, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the Southeast, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the West, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the North, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the South, moderate to heavy showers to-day.

Forecast for Special Localities.—For Eastern New York, unsettled with showers in South and central portions to-day; for the West, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the North, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the South, moderate to heavy showers to-day.

For Western New York, unsettled, probably showers to-day and Sunday; moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the East, moderate to heavy showers to-day; for the South, moderate to heavy showers to-day.
