

New York Tribune

Picture Coupon - Six Coupons like this, together with one from THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE...

10 CENTS at the office of The New-York Tribune Main Office, Spruce and Nassau Sts.

FINES EAST SIDE BUTCHERS

Magistrate Ignores Holiday Leave Promised by Mayor.

Seventeen East Side butchers were arraigned before Magistrate Cornell in the Essex Market court yesterday...

Louis Weissinger, of No. 225 7th street, admitted selling veal, but said he had been told that he could sell meat yesterday because it was a Jewish holiday.

Magistrate Cornell called the brother in and asked him about the visit to Mayor Gaynor.

"Yes," said Joseph Weissinger, "I went down to the Mayor's office and told him the Jewish Feast of Shavuot began at sundown Sunday evening, and that we ought to be allowed to sell meat on that day."

"Well, what did the Mayor say?" inquired the magistrate.

"He said if it was a holiday, he guessed he would have to give us a little leeway. Then he told the man in his office, Mr. Adamson, to notify Commissioner Baker."

"Did you hear Mr. Adamson telephone to the Police Commissioner?"

"No, sir, I did not hear him telephone, but he left the room as if he was going to do it, and I thought it was all right to sell yesterday. I told all the other butchers, too, that it would be all right to sell."

The policeman said he had only the ordinary instructions, to arrest any one found selling uncooked meat, and the magistrate then fined Louis Weissinger $5, the minimum penalty.

BLACK WILL RUN, ANYWAY

"Anything to Defeat Dalzell," a Pittsburg Battle Cry.

Pittsburg, June 12.—Dr. Robert J. Black, who is contesting the primary election of Congressman John Dalzell, announced to-day that if the recount shows Dalzell was the choice in the primaries he will run independently at the November election.

It will not be necessary for Black to circulate a petition to have his name placed on the official ballot, as he won the prohibition nomination, getting nineteen votes, to thirteen cast for Dalzell.

Another feature of the contest is the announcement that James A. Wakefield, the Democratic nominee for Congress in the Dalzell-Black district, will withdraw from the race and endeavor to throw the Democratic vote to Black.

It is believed Wakefield has been persuaded to do this by ex-Senator William Flinn, who is an enthusiastic Roosevelt man. The present line-up here is "Anything to defeat Dalzell."

OIL TO PROTECT GARDENS

South Orange Discovers Way to Keep Out the Rabbits.

South Orange, N. J., June 12 (Special).—At their wits' end to devise some means of getting rid of an active garden pest which the law forbids them to molest, the residents of the more rural portions of this town have just discovered that chance has placed in their hands the means to protect lettuce and other tender shoots.

Wild rabbits from the preserves of the South Mountain Park reservation have been feasting in the gardens of the industrious commuters. Rabbits are not lawful prey to the hunter at this season of the year, so the amateur gardeners have been in a quandary as to what to do. They have discovered, however, that such gardens as are entirely surrounded by the roads that have been closed to keep down the dust have thus far been immune to the invasion of the cottontails.

Petitions are now in circulation throughout the Maplewood section of the township asking for oiled streets, and the township committee will be given no rest until the oleaginous relief is forthcoming.

ELKS INVITE ROOSEVELT

Detroit, June 12.—A special messenger representing the Detroit Lodge of Elks will leave Detroit on Monday morning by automobile for New York City, carrying an invitation to ex-President Roosevelt to attend the forty-sixth grand lodge reunion in Detroit, July 11 to 17.

DON'T WATCH THE TICKER

How many people who operate in Wall Street are really ahead of the game? When the market goes your way you spend money recklessly—when it goes against you—you lose your capital.

NO TRACE OF CHARLTON

Italian Police Without News of Murdered Woman's Husband.

FEAR A DOUBLE MURDER

Persons Who Say They Saw Charlton After Bod Was Found Uncertain on Dates.

Como, Italy, June 12.—The police to-day seem no nearer a solution of the mystery of the murder of Mrs. Porter Charlton, of New York, than they were on the day the body was found huddled up in a trunk at the bottom of Lake Como.

Searching parties have assiduously dragged the lake, in the expectation that perhaps the body of the woman's husband might be recovered, or at least something having connection with the crime, but so far the searchers have labored in vain.

The opinion is gathering strength that a double murder has been committed. This is the view held by the American Consul at Milan, Charles M. Caughey, who is investigating the case.

It is pointed out that the amount of blood on the mattress, sheets and curtains of the bedroom in the villa which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charlton could not possibly come from the wounds of the woman, which were in the nature of severe bruises on the head.

Several persons, however, say that they saw Charlton after the date of the crime at Moltrasio, and later at Como. These statements are controverted by the investigations of the police, who have found that the alleged witnesses have failed to give dates definitely.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

"The police have in their possession a letter written by Mrs. Charlton to her former husband, Neville Castle, which had not been mailed, asking him to return her letters and photographs, as she wished to show them to Charlton in order to relieve his mind concerning that distant love episode.

FIGHT OVER CAPITAL

capital removal bill, Judge A. H. Huston, of the District Court, on the application of Guthrie citizens, issued an injunction last night against the Governor and other members of the state administration to prevent the removal of state offices to Oklahoma City.

Arriving in a special train from Tulsa at daylight to-day, Governor Haskell and his secretary opened the Governor's office in a hotel. He issued a statement declaring that his office force would remain here. The removal of all the offices probably will be made to-morrow, in the face of the Guthrie injunction.

When Sheriff John Mahoney of Guthrie attempted to serve papers on Governor Charles N. Haskell to-night the Governor refused to accept service, and vehemently ordered the Sheriff to leave the hotel, telling him if he did not do so he would have him incarcerated in the guard house. Sheriff Mahoney lost no time in leaving the hotel.

To-day's returns from over the state indicate that the majority for Oklahoma City as the capital is about 30,000. Oklahoma City's plurality over Guthrie and Shawnee is probably 65,000.

AMERICANS ENTERTAINED Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

Officers of Special Squadron Guests at Montevideo.

Montevideo, June 12.—Rear Admiral Staunton and the officers of the United States special service squadron, after a week of continual receptions and excursions, were the guests yesterday of the Minister of Marine, who gave a dinner in their honor.

The American minister, Edwin V. Morgan, gave a ball in the evening, which was attended by President Williams, the Cabinet Ministers and the diplomatic representatives.

The American admiral gave a dinner to-day on board the scout cruiser Chester. President Williman also being present at that function.

SOMEWHERE SUN SHONE

But It Entirely Overlooked This City and Coney Island.

ZOO BEARS SOLVED PROBLEM

What the Wild Waves and the Seashore Merchants Said Was Not Fit for Publication.

It must be that the earth is not in tune, for heaven has been alternately weeping and spitting upon her since Thursday night, taking the mean revenge of a highly emotional nature.

What are the wild waves whispering? Will there be a sufficient lack of discord to-day for heaven to lay its warm ear softly over earth's bosom, or is it really true that there is nothing so rare as a day in June—that is, a real day, not a Turkish bath? The "fans" want to know; so does the permanent population of Coney Island, not to mention the purveyors of straw hats and outing flannels, and last, but not least, the piddling cave-dwellers of Manhattan.

An example of how to make the best of the conditions, of how to administer an exquisite rebuke to the weather gods without getting peevish, has been set the city's entire population by two black bears in the zoological gardens at Bronx Park. Originally from Pennsylvania and West Virginia, they have chosen to accept the continual downpour for the rainy season ushering in their period of hibernation, and have been asleep for three days.

Not even their rations have tempted them into full consciousness. They have poked their noses out of their caves to take a squint at the sky two or three times since Thursday and then dozed off again with little grunts which the nature fakery in the Park Department have interpreted to mean:

"We don't care whether Hamilton flies or not. So, there!"

Tears Add to Coney's Dampness.

All Coney Island went to bed Saturday night hopeful of the morrow, and awoke with execrations. The whole day was like a nightmare to the inhabitants of Dreamland. The umbrella peddlers again had a field day, and the diving Venuses wore raincoats both inside and outside the tank. In Luna Park, named after the moon, it seemed as if that luminary had drawn the tides right up over the island, which was considered pretty poor etiquette after such a compliment. The proprietors were wishing they had named the place after the sun, but then they reflected that in that case it might have been a solar plexus blow, whatever that means in the language of weather.

The Dreamland Band, being under cover (that is, from the rain), gave continuous concerts. Among the selections played were "Put on Your Old Gray Raincoat," "Little Drops of Water," "The Sun Shines Bright in Dixie," "Wait Till the Sun Shines, Nellie" (by request), "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By" (by demand), "Take Your Girl to Coney on a Sunday Afternoon" and the "Dead March" from "Saul."

Among the notable visitors of the day were two newspaper men of Rome, N. Y., who came down on excursion tickets.

The captains of the steamboats reported that it was raining in New York.

Big Cave-in at Bellevue.

They had a cave-in up near Bellevue. Two brick retaining walls that had been erected to prevent a collapse of the earth surrounding the excavation under the new hospital laundry building in 29th street, east of First avenue, collapsed suddenly, themselves having been undermined by the rain. Several girders and strips of planking that had bridged them fell into the debris at the bottom.

In the street in front of the building a long, deep fissure suddenly appeared and the police and watchmen opined that if the rain didn't take a day off soon the stationary engines and supplies stored there would be swallowed up. The steel frame of the new building is all of it that is standing so far, supported by concrete foundations. There is thought to be no danger of its collapse.

The beavers up in Bronx Park are sore. Their dam in Beaver Pond was carried away by the high water, and they are too nervous to sleep it off like the bears. The Bronx River is angry, too. A foaming flood is thundering over the waterfall at the lower end of Lake Agassiz.

Rain leaking through the roof of a freight car standing on a switch in the railroad yards at Twelfth avenue and 45th street soaked a load of lime in the car and caused it to take fire.

Employees in the yard sent in a fire alarm. In the mean time the train was broken and the burning car taken from the switch. A freight engine drew it to a point about two blocks north, where it was found that an engine which had responded to the alarm could not be driven across the tracks. The burning car was then run south to 59th street and another engine called. The fire was put out, with a damage of about $1,500. No other cars were damaged.

And now here is what the weather man hands out: Monday—Fair and warmer. Tuesday—Fair, rising temperature; light, variable winds, mostly west.

BOSTON RAINFALL 2.22 INCHES.

Boston, June 12.—The rainfall in this city for the last seventy hours, which has been practically continuous, is already up to the normal for the entire month of June. Up to 8 o'clock to-night there had fallen 2.22 inches, of which amount 1.29 inches fell in the last twenty-four hours. The Weather Bureau to-night promised Bostonians clearing weather, with the first view of the sun since Thursday, and higher temperature to-morrow.

SHOOTS THREE IN CHURCH Released Prisoner Seeks Vengeance for His Conviction.

Canton, Ohio, June 12.—Armed with two revolvers and a dagger, Frank Nunamaker, a former convict, broke into a church to-night at Louisville, near here, where a Rumanian christening was taking place, and shot three men, one of whom will die.

A couple of hundred persons were present in the church when Nunamaker appeared and, drawing a revolver, threatened to kill John Pops, of Alliance, Ohio, whom he accused of having caused his conviction for theft two years before. He was disarmed and put out of the church. In a few moments he returned with a revolver in each hand and a dagger stuck in his belt. He opened fire on the crowd, shooting Pops through the breast and inflicting minor wounds on two other men. He was then overpowered, and would have been snatched but for the influence of the priests of the church.

CAPTURED MADRIZ ARMS Insurgents' Attack at Nandame Yielded Munitions.

Washington, June 12.—Jose de Olivares, United States Consul at Managua, Nicaragua, has informed the State Department that it is there reported that the revolutionists who on the 10th of the month attacked Nandame captured a quantity of arms and ammunition before retiring to the mountains.

It is further reported that Dr. Madriz has placed another forced loan for $90,000 pesos, collected from the inhabitants of Granada, and that political arrests continue.

HAMILTON READY TO FLY

Continued from first page.

good view can be obtained. The landing place selected is a big field at 4th street and Erie avenue. In the northern section of the city.

BALDWIN SOARS HIGH Readjusted Biplane Sails Fast Over Mineola Grounds.

Mineola, Long Island, June 12.—For about twenty-seven minutes this afternoon the sun peeped through the clouds over the flying grounds here, and for just about half that time the couple of hundred curious who had gathered watched Captain Thomas S. Baldwin circle about in a biplane. Captain Baldwin had shipped a new propeller and had his engine overhauled.

He went faster and higher and remained up longer than he ever did before, and when he alighted he expressed himself as greatly pleased with the readjusted machine.

Clifford Harmon's wrecked machine is once more assuming working shape, and if the weather is good on Tuesday he plans a trip aloft.

WILLARD SAVES CROWD But Wrecks Aeroplane and Injures Himself.

Springfield, Mo., June 12.—Prompt action on the part of Charles F. Willard, who made an ascension in an aeroplane to-day, caused the almost complete destruction of his machine, but prevented it from swooping down into the crowd of spectators. As it was, the biplane fell 150 feet and landed about twenty yards from the crowd, breaking the engine and severely bruising the aviator.

Willard was sailing about one hundred and fifty feet in the air when the engine suddenly stopped. The biplane darted downward, directly toward the center of the crowd. The aviator, instead of trying to right the machine, turned his entire attention to preventing it from falling into the crowd.

Willard says the machine cannot be repaired inside of two weeks, and he will try to get another biplane to make a flight from Lawrence, Kan., to Kansas City on Wednesday.

Just as the engine broke to-day R. R. Young, Willard's manager, informed the crowd through a megaphone that the machine was flying at the rate of fifty miles an hour. Many believe Willard would have made a successful landing but for the fact that a barbed wire fence caught the rear end of the biplane. A defective magneto brush in his engine caused a delay of two hours in Willard's flight yesterday.

WRIGHT AT INDIANAPOLIS Wilbur to Direct Six Aviators in Week's Meet.

Indianapolis, June 12.—Eleven aviators will start in the aviation meet which will open to-morrow at the Indianapolis speedway, and continue throughout the week. The entrants will try for world's records in heavier-than-air machines.

Prizes are offered for match races for machines making the shortest surface start, for machines landing closest to the starting point, for longest continuous flight, for altitude, for carrying more than one passenger, for "cross-country flights and return, for speed from one mile to ten miles, and for gliding, with the motor shut off.

The Wright brothers have entered six biplanes, and Wilbur Wright is here to superintend the six aviators.

Other contestants are: Joseph Curzon, with a Farman biplane; M. Marquette and Russell Shaw, with their own biplanes; Lincoln Beachy, with his monoplane, and G. L. Bumbaugh, with a Fisher biplane, built at the speedway.

The aviators to-day made short test flights, trying out their motors and steering apparatus in preparation for the public exhibitions to-morrow.

FELL INTO THE MISSISSIPPI Two St. Louis Balloonists Were Short of Ballast.

St. Louis, June 12.—St. Louis Von Phul and Wooster Lambert, aeronauts, fell into the Mississippi River north of St. Louis to-day. Both were rescued unhurt. They ascended in the St. Louis III, and after sailing northward for two hours found their ballast insufficient.

The balloon came down rapidly from a height of a thousand feet, but when near the water settled easily. After a thorough wetting the men were taken up by motor boats.

BERRY OFF AGAIN FOR LAHM CUP. Waterloo, Ill., June 12.—Captain John Berry, the St. Louis aeronaut, ascended at 8:30 o'clock to-day in the balloon University City in a second flight for the Lahm Cup for long distance flights. He took a southwesterly direction. Captain Berry started from St. Louis yesterday, but descended at Maestown, Ill., last night.

MARS FLIES AT TOPEKA. Topeka, Kan., June 12.—Six successful flights in a Curtiss biplane were made here by J. C. Mars yesterday. Three flights were straightaways, about two miles. Two others were circuits of the field. In the fifth flight Mars rose to a height of about 150 feet, when a counter air current forced him to alight.

PURSUING CHAVARRIA General Carton Following Up His Victory.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, June 12.—General Carton, who has been in pursuit of General Chavarria and his column of government troops, has sent a dispatch to General Mena at Rama that he expected Chavarria's surrender within a day or two, as he has cut off the Madriz leader between Chili and Ceiba. Chavarria's men have been widely dispersed and many of their rifles, which they cast away, ammunition and stores have been picked up on the roads.

The steamer Venus yesterday landed two hundred men at Laguna de las Perlas. These will reinforce the government troops occupying the bluff.

The United States auxiliary cruiser Prairie has arrived here from Colon with two hundred marines. It is likely that a strongly worded declaration of independence will be issued by the people of the Atlantic Coast, owing to the fact that General Estrada is receiving no support from the inhabitants of the interior.

CAPTURED MADRIZ ARMS Insurgents' Attack at Nandame Yielded Munitions.

Washington, June 12.—Jose de Olivares, United States Consul at Managua, Nicaragua, has informed the State Department that it is there reported that the revolutionists who on the 10th of the month attacked Nandame captured a quantity of arms and ammunition before retiring to the mountains.

It is further reported that Dr. Madriz has placed another forced loan for $90,000 pesos, collected from the inhabitants of Granada, and that political arrests continue.

KILLED MAKING ARREST

Sheriff Warned of Fate Before Entering House.

POSSE SEEKS DESPERADO

Man Hidden in Hoosac Mountains Also Accused of Stabbing Mill Superintendent.

Monroe Bridge, Mass., June 12.—While trying to arrest Silas Phelps on an assault charge early to-day Sheriff Edward F. Haskins, of Charlestown, was shot and killed. An armed posse of several hundred officials and citizens has searched the woods all day for Phelps, who is armed with a double barreled shotgun.

The search was directed principally at Monroe Mountain, a foothill of the Hoosac range, near the Vermont line. A heavy rain fell during the day and night, probably obliterating any scent, but those in charge of the search have requested from Springfield the two bloodhounds recently added to the Police Department of that city.

Last night Mr. Penman, superintendent of the paper mill where Phelps was employed as a laborer, was stabbed seriously with a long bladed jackknife, following a quarrel with the man. When Sheriff Haskins, of Charlestown, reached Phelps's cottage here at daybreak, after a hard drive over the country roads, Mrs. Phelps warned him that her husband would shoot any person who entered. The Sheriff broke down the door and had started to mount the stairs leading to the second story when a shot was fired and he fell dead.

Lewis Sears, a hotelkeeper who had accompanied the Sheriff from Charlestown, asked permission to remove his friend's body, and three minutes were given him to do so. Small of stature, Sears could only drag the heavy form of the Sheriff slowly across the floor.

He had reached the piazza when Phelps declared the time was up, and, pointing the gun at Sears, ordered him to go. Sears was forced to obey.