

MADRIZ LEADER TO SLAY ALL PRISONERS

Telegraphed to President That All Revolutionists Taken Would Be Shot.

AGAINST RULES OF WAR

Pio Bolanos, Estrada Supporter Here, Shows Original Dispatch as Proof of His Charge Against Nicaraguans.

Pio Bolanos, one of the local partisans of the Nicaraguan revolution, received irrefutable proof yesterday in the form of an original official telegram that the army of the Madriz government was not adhering to the laws of civilized warfare as universally recognized, but had resorted to the execution of prisoners taken on the battlefield.

The message in the possession of Señor Bolanos is signed by Julian Irias, former Minister General under Zelaya, whom Madriz delegated to the Atlantic coast, where he is in supreme control of the government operations around Bluefields.

Nothing new has occurred at this place during the night. I have sent on the San Jacinto eighty men to install a guard at Puerto Roca. I have information that at that point are several revolutionists from Bluefields. I have given orders to shoot the revolutionists who are captured by our troops.

General Zelaya was compelled to abandon the Presidency of Nicaragua by reason of the execution by his orders of Groce and Cannon, two Americans, after an alleged trial.

Among the prisoners of war now held by Madriz is another American, William R. Pittman. He was captured when the government forces took Bluefields bluff. While Pittman was made prisoner in the time commanded by Irias, there is not likely to be a repetition of the Groce and Cannon execution.

Advices from Bluefields yesterday, dated June 12, said that Pittman was still a prisoner at the fortress on the bluff. Commander Hines, of the American gunboat Dubuque, had been to see Pittman and found him in good health. Commander Hines gave notice to General Martinez and General Rivas that he would hold them personally responsible for Pittman's safety; that they must produce the American whenever the demand was made, and that under no circumstances would Commander Hines permit the officials to send Pittman to Managua for trial by court martial.

Pittman, who is an electrician, was employed in a civilian capacity by the revolutionists, it is said.

MADRIZ LOSING POWER

Sentiment Favors America—Pittman at Bluefields.

Washington, June 20.—Indications of demoralization are betrayed by the Madriz faction, which is evidently endeavoring to retain such prestige as it now possesses through extreme measures, says Mr. O'Higgins, United States Consul at Managua, Nicaragua, in a dispatch received to-day at the State Department.

The dispatch was dated Friday last, and was based upon the fact that on that day the Managua newspapers published the text of the telegram addressed by Minister General Baza to the principal nations of Europe and Latin America, attacking the American government for implied violation of neutrality in favor of the Estrada forces.

Through the newspapers and other channels, Consul O'Higgins reports, "Madriz and Baza are seeking to create the impression that public sentiment here and in the United States is opposed to the policy of the American government in regard to Bluefields. As a matter of fact, public sentiment in this country appears to be most decidedly in favor of the government's attitude."

Mr. O'Higgins adds that throughout Western Nicaragua the prisons are crowded with reputable citizens, and that in Granada families were being prevented from obtaining food in order to coerce them into paying the latest forced loan, amounting to $200,000 pesos.

A dispatch from Consul Moffatt, at Bluefields, says that William Pittman, the Boston mining engineer captured by the Madriz forces, had not been removed from Bluefields since he was reported, and would be in the hands of those that effect came from Managua.

In response to direction from the State Department to make an investigation of the complaints of the Spuerta Perlas Baza Company that its ships had not been allowed to call at Pearl Lagoon, Mr. Moffatt reported to-day that the Estrada faction had never furnished ships to stop at Pearl Lagoon for fuel.

KITCHENER'S SUCCESSOR

Sir Ian Hamilton To Be Mediterranean Inspector General.

London, June 20.—General Sir Ian Hamilton, Adjutant to the Forces, has been appointed to the post of inspector general of the Mediterranean forces, to succeed Field Marshal Lord Kitchener, whose resignation was communicated officially to the House of Commons by R. B. Haldane, Secretary for War, on June 13.

GIFTS TO MISS CARTER

Reception at Dorchester House—The Wedding To-day.

London, June 20.—Mrs. John Ridgely Carter held a brilliant reception to-day at Dorchester House, where hundreds of wedding presents for her daughter were displayed in two rooms.

Among them were a diamond tiara from Ambassador and Mrs. Reid, a pearl necklace from Mr. and Mrs. Carter, a diamond necklace from Lord and Lady Gosford, a pearl necklace with a diamond and emerald pendant from J. Pierpont Morgan, a diamond and emerald brooch from Mrs. Mackay, a diamond tiara from David Morgan, amethyst earrings from the Hon. and Mrs. John Ward, and a massive silver tea service from Lord Rothschild.

MAN AND AUTO DISAPPEAR

Roosevelt Wedding Guest Proves Optimist in Statement.

To lose a brand new automobile, chauffeur and all, and then maintain that its disappearance is due to the faithfulness of the chauffeur proves the optimism of Edward Livingston Smith, of Woodville, Long Island.

Mr. Smith, in order to avoid the crush after the Roosevelt-Alexander wedding, instructed his chauffeur to wait for him in front of the Plaza Hotel. After a three-hour vigil he came to the conclusion that something was wrong, so he went to the Waldorf and inquired for his machine. It had not been seen.

Then he went to the West 30th street station and asked Lieutenant Welch if his chauffeur had been arrested.

"What is his name?" asked the lieutenant.

"I give it up," said Smith; "I call him Sam."

"The number?" next inquired the lieutenant.

"That I don't know, either," was the answer.

"Do you think Sam stole the car?"

"No, Sam is faithful unto death. He is waiting somewhere for me now, and will wait for me until to-morrow morning, if I don't find him."

BRINGS TONS OF ANTIQUES

Vessel from Suez Has Load of Ancient Treasure for Museum.

Boston, June 20.—The steamer Bloemfontein arrived from Calcutta late to-night with a varied cargo, among which was forty-three tons of antiques which are consigned to the Metropolitan Museum at New York. The antiques were loaded at Suez, and while the ship's papers give no inkling as to their nature, it is generally admitted that they come from the excavations which have been going on in the upper Nile.

The Bloemfontein will remain in Boston only long enough to discharge the general cargo assigned to this port and will then proceed to New York with the treasure. Captain Linklater is the commander. The steamer had an exceedingly hard passage over, encountering storms every day from the time she left Gibraltar.

AUTOIST GETS DAY IN JAIL

New Haven Man Will Lose License Unless He Wins on Appeal.

New Haven, June 20.—Robert Wallace, 31, a member of the family of Ansonia manufacturers of that name, was sentenced to spend a day in jail to-day, and to pay a $25 fine for recklessly driving his automobile the day of the Yale Hill climb, June 7.

Wallace said he steered his machine out of the line of automobiles to avoid the dust.

"So you wanted to make the other automobilists take your dust, did you?" asked Judge Mathewson. "I have heard you say that you are one of the most reckless automobilists in the city."

Wallace, who is a Yale man, appealed his case. Two women were in his automobile when he was arrested. He will lose his automobile license unless his appeal in the Appellate Court results in his acquittal.

Decorated Soldiers' Monument—One a Grandson of Garfield.

Waterbury, Conn., June 20.—When rural Waterbury awoke this morning the beautiful soldiers' monument given to the town on Memorial Day by the late General O. O. Howard was festooned with colorful emblems, ferns, bouquets and ropes. The emblems were stolen from rooms of students.

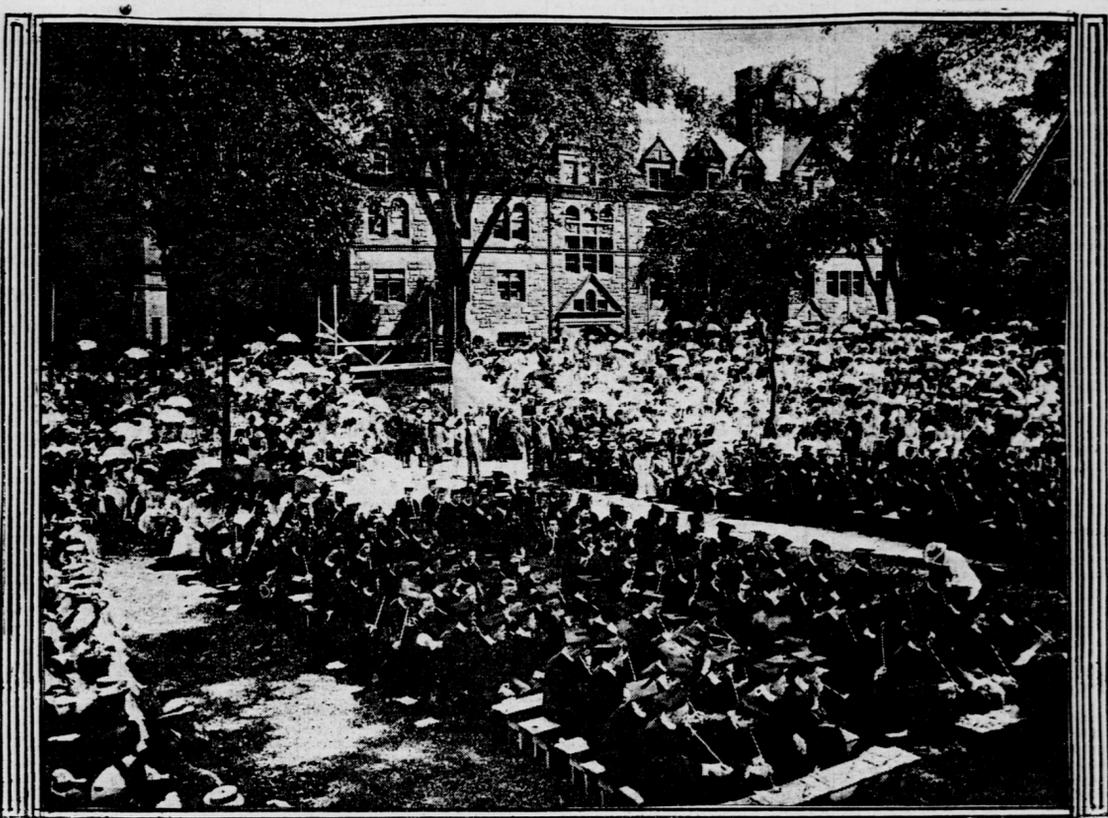

The Taft School faculty traced the prank this afternoon to John Dunham and Frank Andrews, of New York; Harry Crocker, of San Francisco, and John Garfield, grandson of President Garfield, who were promptly expelled. It took several men with ladders nearly all day to undo the work of the students.

Disgusted "Uncle Joe" Light Behavior by Congressmen Causes a Rebuke.

Washington, June 20.—Speaker Cannon took a strenuous time maintaining order in the House to-night. There was constant cursing and laughing among the members, and the temperature in the close chamber was intense. Members were restless and in light mood. The Speaker continually pounded his gavel.

The Speaker in admonishing the members, who were maintaining order, said: "I have heard a ripple of laughter by swinging myself in the chair with a dignified air, while the suspended proceedings were being restored."

YALE SENIORS LISTENING TO PROPHECIES AT CLASS DAY EXERCISES.

(For story of exercises see fourth page.)

NO DANCE; NO COLOR LINE

East Orange High School Class Solves Its Problem.

East Orange, N. J., June 20.—The problem of the color line at a dance of the seniors of the East Orange High School was solved to-day by the cancellation of the dance, which was to have been held on Friday night at the Woman's Club of Orange.

The insistence of several negro girls in their right to attend the dance, in spite of the unwillingness of the class to let them in, caused a stir in the city last week. The tickets were distributed, but none had been sent to the Misses Vandervall, negroes, who made a demand for them and succeeded two days later in getting one ticket for Isabella Vandervall. The second was withheld on the ground that Irene Vandervall, though graduating this year, had been dropped from the 1909 class on account of failure in some of her studies.

ENGLAND'S ARMY PAGEANT

A Wonderful Show on the Fulham Palace Grounds.

London, June 20.—The army pageant, which opened to-day on the grounds of Fulham Palace in the presence of Lord Roberts and a great assemblage of wealth and fashion, is a marvel of organization. The evolution of arms, costumes and tactics was shown in the prologue dealing with the Romans and ancient Britons, in a series of sixteen battles from the times of Kings Arthur and Alfred to Naseby, and in six famous engagements of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

It was at once a splendid pageant of medieval armor and a series of dramatic battle pictures, with exciting cavalry charges, infantry rushes, hand-to-hand combats and rapid manoeuvres of soldiers. Not one of recent British pageants has equalled it in the management of large masses of men and horses.

About four thousand supers and regular troops swept across the field of twenty-five acres, and with realistic falls of wounded men from the galloping horses and dashing battle charges there was action enough to satisfy the theatrical master of the pageant, F. R. Benson, who himself appeared as Henry V.

Hastings, Crecy and Agincourt were brilliant spectacles, and Naseby was a fiercely contested fight between the Cavaliers and Roundheads; but the greatest enthusiasm was caused by the charge of Jeanne d'Arc at Patay, by the heroine being impersonated by Mrs. Hohler, an accomplished horsewoman and a daughter of a veteran of Balaklava. Splendid also was Marlborough's victory at Malplaquet, with Handel's "Te Deum" played by an orchestra of three hundred musicians, and the most impressive was the retreat from Corunna, with the death of Sir John Moore.

WOMAN TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Marilla M. Ricker, Lawyer, Files Application in New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., June 20.—Marilla M. Ricker, of Dover, is planning to be the next Governor of her home state. She filed a formal application to-day with the Secretary of State, accompanied by a check for $100, which is necessary to enter her name as a candidate under the new state primary law, to be tried for the first time this fall. The check was forwarded through Mrs. Ricker's local attorney, and is to be followed at once by a declaration of platform.

HOOKEWORM IN PHILADELPHIA

Hospital Authorities Think They Can Cure Victim.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Philadelphia has a genuine case of hookworm, the first to be diagnosed in this city. Charles Keel, thirty-five years old, is under treatment at the German Hospital, and physicians are watching the case with deep interest. Keel was taken to the hospital on June 5, complaining of abdominal pains. His stomach plating of abdominal pain, and six female worms, about the thickness of a thread, and hundreds of eggs were removed. Keel is undergoing a course of treatment that the doctors think will result in an early cure. The disease, for the eradication of which John D. Rockefeller gave a fortune, is practically unknown in the North.

Dewey's Sparkling Burgundy. A great social favorite. H. T. Dewey & Sons Co., 135 Fulton St., N.Y.—Adv.

MEXICO CHECKS REVOLT

Martial Law Proclaimed in the Border Towns.

Cananea, Mexico, June 20.—The premature discovery of smuggled arms and ammunition, followed by the arrest of leaders of the discontented faction and the proclamation of martial law in Cananea and other border towns, probably has checked and discouraged a serious outbreak against the Mexican government scheduled to take place on June 26 (election day).

The revolutionary movement originated among young men of Northern Mexico, followers. It is said, of General Bernardo Reyes, now in Europe, and of Señor Madero, candidate for President, now under arrest in Monterey on the charge of causing crowds to form. The discontented faction demands political liberty, free speech and the "right to vote." They announce that they will go to the polls on election day prepared to fight if their constitutional rights are denied.

The discovery that men were smuggling arms across the border from the United States was followed by police raids in many villages of Northern Sonora. Four men were arrested yesterday at Villa Verde, and a number of rifles and revolvers and four thousand rounds of ammunition were captured.

At Chiverticia, near Cananea, forty-five rifles with ammunition were captured, and at Buena Vista one house yielded twelve rifles with ammunition. Dealers at Bisbee, Douglas and Naco, Ariz., have sold all the rifles and ammunition in stock. The police are now conducting a house to house search for arms in all the border towns.

Cananea, the centre of the movement, is guarded by two companies of the 25th Infantry and a company of rurales under Colonel Emotio Kosterlitzky. The gendarmes are under arms. General Torrez has assured the Cananea authorities that he will send four hundred men by special train, if necessary.

Hundreds of arrests for causing a disturbance in public meetings have been made throughout Sonora and leaders of the revolutionary movement have been deported. Twelve leaders at Cananea have been taken to Hermosilla, where they will be held until after the elections. The troops have orders to disperse any gathering of fifty or more persons.

Rafael Lopez, Chief of Police of Cananea, has resigned and disappeared. It is said that he fled after receiving warning that his fate would be the same as that of the mayor and the chief of police of Culican, who recently were killed.

WOMAN TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

Marilla M. Ricker, Lawyer, Files Application in New Hampshire.

Concord, N. H., June 20.—Marilla M. Ricker, of Dover, is planning to be the next Governor of her home state. She filed a formal application to-day with the Secretary of State, accompanied by a check for $100, which is necessary to enter her name as a candidate under the new state primary law, to be tried for the first time this fall. The check was forwarded through Mrs. Ricker's local attorney, and is to be followed at once by a declaration of platform.

The magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Mrs. George W. Cobb, of No. 738 Ocean avenue, Flatbush, whose husband is a close friend of the missing magistrate, said that her husband had not been seen by her since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of the court it would draw a distinct line of demarcation between the power of a police and a county court.

At the St. Mark's Hotel, St. Mark's Place and Bedford avenue, where the magistrate lives, the clerk said that he had not seen the magistrate for some weeks. The clerk added that Mrs. Higginbotham was not in, and, moreover, did not know where her husband was. The magistrate's private secretary said that he had not seen his employer since last Friday, the last day that he has been present at the Bedford avenue police court.

Just what punishment Judge Humphrey may mete out is not known, but it was declared that in addition to being sufficient to uphold the dignity of