

ROOSEVELT AT CAMP FIRE

His Talk Pleased Pinchot, but All Were Pledged to Secrecy.

GETS CLUB'S GOLD MEDAL

Promises Hamilton Club, of "Strenuous Life" Memory, to Address Members Sept. 10.

No man seemed better pleased or more enthusiastic among those who attended the "Welcome Camp Fire Luncheon for Theodore Roosevelt by the Camp Fire Club on the roof garden at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday afternoon than Gifford Pinchot, former Chief Forester of the United States, who occupied a seat near the marked President. Mr. Pinchot spoke with marked enthusiasm in the lobby of the hotel after the luncheon when he said that everybody had had a royal time and that Mr. Roosevelt's address had been a most interesting discussion on game protection, supplemented with his observations of wild animals while on his hunting trip to Africa. "It was the talk of a hunter-naturalist," Mr. Pinchot said, "but further than that I cannot talk about it because every member of the club has been pledged not to discuss Colonel Roosevelt's speech."

While it was understood that Mr. Roosevelt also touched upon the conservation of the forests and other resources in the Western states, Collector Loeb and several others corroborated Mr. Pinchot's remarks as to the value of the club and declined to go into details. Representatives of the newspapers were not permitted to attend the luncheon, it was said, at Mr. Roosevelt's request.

The Camp Fire Club luncheon was the principal event in another busy day for Mr. Roosevelt in the city. He attended a dinner at Sherry's in the evening given by Robert P. Collier, of "Collier's Weekly," at which many notable guests were present, and remained in town over night to attend the luncheon to be given for him by the Rough Riders at the Harvard Club to-day.

Receives Hamilton Club.

Leaving Oyster Bay about 8 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt motored to New York, accompanied by James B. Bishop, secretary of the Panama Canal Commission, Mrs. Bishop and G. G. La Farge, son of the painter, and a close friend of Mr. Roosevelt since the latter was Police Commissioner. All had been guests over night at Sagamore Hill. Mr. Roosevelt reached his desk at the "Outlook" office at 10 o'clock and half an hour later received a delegation of fifty members of the Hamilton Club of Chicago headed by its president, ex-Judge John H. Ratten. Several women who were in the party were presented to the former President. He made a brief address to the delegation and told them that he had received the membership of the Hamilton Club because they were such old friends.

He said he had received so many invitations to speak at various places that he could not accept one in a hundred, but he promised the delegation that he would deliver an address before the club on September 10, on his return from Kansas City. He recalled the club when he first spoke at the "Outlook" office several years ago, he had used the expression, "the strenuous life," for the first time. He said it had caused such a lot of talk that he had not used it since.

Mr. Roosevelt received several visitors at his office after the departure of the Hamilton Club members. Among them were Booker T. Washington, Colonel Cecil Lyon, chairman of the Republican State Committee of Texas; Mark Sullivan and Leslie J. Tarleton and Claud Tritton, the two Englishmen who were instrumental in organizing the Roosevelt expedition to Africa. They said they were here to organize a similar expedition for several Americans who intended to follow the exact route travelled by Mr. Roosevelt.

A committee from the Camp Fire Club consisting of its president, Ernest Thompson Seton; W. T. Hornaday, curator of the Bronx Zoo; and W. C. Demarest, called at the "Outlook" office shortly after noon and escorted Mr. Roosevelt to the Waldorf. The roof garden had been transformed into a vine covered bower, with a jungle of palms and profuse floral decorations. Sixteen standards or shields, each characteristic of some greater hunter or traveller of the early days, hung on the walls. Rifles, camp utensils and implements of the chase also adorned the walls.

Gold Medal for Hunter.

Besides Mr. Roosevelt and his son Kermit, William Loeb, Jr., and Arthur H. Scribner were the guests of honor. Mr. Roosevelt was the recipient of the gold medal which it is the custom of the club to present once a year to the man who in the opinion of the members has done the most in the recent past for the forest, game and wild life interests to which the club is devoted. The medal was a handsome emblem depending from the horns of a Rocky Mountain sheep, and was inscribed: "To Theodore Roosevelt, June 22, 1910, for his services to the protection of wild life and forests, and for his contributions to zoology."

The club presented the medal to Gifford Pinchot last year. Some two hundred and fifty members were present at the luncheon. Mr. Seton presided and presented the medal. He referred to the ex-President as a sportsman before he became a statesman, and said that he now held the foremost place at the head of the long line of big game hunters of the world. A souvenir in the form of a new book entitled, "The Real Roosevelt," was given to each one present.

W. T. Hornaday spoke on "Colonel Roosevelt's Record as a Sportsman"; President Seton on his contributions to zoology; and William E. Coffin on "Theodore Roosevelt as a Game and Forest Protector." At the speakers' table beside President Seton and the guests of honor were Gifford Pinchot, John M. Phillips, of Pittsburg; A. A. Anderson, Van Boer, of Danvers; Irving Bacheller, Dr. T. K. Tullih and Leslie Tarleton.

Mr. Collier's Dinner.

The dinner given by Mr. Collier was private and none other than invited guests

THE GUESTS' TABLE AT THE CAMP FIRE LUNCHEON FOR EX-PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Those seated at the table on Mr. Roosevelt's left are Ernest Thompson Seton, William Loeb, Jr., Kermit Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot. (Photograph, copyright, 1910, by Pictorial News Company.)

PRIEST SAVES POLICEMAN ELLIS IN STOCK DEALS

Father Mantel Frustrates Attack of Gang on East Side.

BADLY HURT WHEN RESCUED

Reserves Find Patrolman Holding Prisoner, Though Bleeding from Gashes in Head.

Patrolman John P. Murphy, of the East 51st street station, fell into the clutches of a gang at the corner of 46th street and Second avenue, last night, and to-day he will tell his friends he owes his life to Father Mantel, of St. Boniface's Church.

When the reserves from the East 51st street station, in response to the alarm given by the priest, reached the corner they found the patrolman lying upon the pavement, bleeding from two gashes in his head, but still clinging to the man he charges with precipitating the fight.

A crowd of ten or twelve roughs congregated at 46th street and Second avenue soon after dark and were among themselves yelling and insulting passers by. Patrolman Murphy arrested a young man and had not gone more than half a dozen yards when the prisoner called back to his companions.

"Why don't you help me?" he shouted to the crowd. "I am a policeman and I am being attacked."

With that there was a rush upon the officer and he was thrown to the sidewalk and kicked.

Father Mantel was in the act of leaving the rectory and ran to where the roughs were pummeling and kicking Murphy and begged them to desist. He was laughed at for his pains and, seeing that his interference was of no avail, he ran back to the rectory and called for the East 51st street station, that a policeman was being beaten within a hundred yards of his church.

Lieutenant McEniff sent the reserves on the run, but the roughs scattered before their arrival. The officers, however, had their hands full quieting the neighborhood.

For a crowd had gathered when the word that a policeman was being beaten was passed around. The police cleared the corner and Patrolman Murphy, still holding to a prisoner, was helped to the station.

There Dr. Reid, of Flower Hospital, was summoned. He found that the injured policeman had received numerous contusions and bruises and he had to take several stitches in the gashes on Murphy's face and head.

The prisoner arrested by Patrolman Murphy said he was Patrick Bergen, twenty years old, a plumber, of No. 305 East 46th street. Another prisoner taken by the reserves said he was Thomas Woodridge, twenty-five years old, of No. 351 Second avenue, a carpenter.

Patrolman Murphy was removed to Flower Hospital for further treatment. Afterward he was taken to his home, No. 321 East 85th street.

Thomas Baldwin, Assemblyman in the 18th District, entered the station late in the night and said he wished to bail out a man named Woodridge, as he understood that he was being held only as a witness.

Lieutenant Brady informed the Assemblyman that a charge of felonious assault had been made against Woodridge, and told him of the attack upon Patrolman Murphy. If, that's the case, Mr. Baldwin said, let the station.

"BARRINGER BOYS" IGNORED

Educators Hear Caswell Defended—500,000 on Part Time.

There was not the fight expected in the Board of Education yesterday over Theodore E. Barringer, principal of Public School 33, Harlem, who has been transferred to Public School 55, Brooklyn.

Mr. Barringer was popular in the Harlem school, and his pupils, including an organization known as "Barringer's Boys," had made a spirited protest to the committee on elementary schools regarding his transfer.

Abraham Stern made a report for the committee, stating that although it had been published that Professor Barringer was transferred because of a false report on a pupil's standing, this had nothing to do with it. He said the transfer was made only after complete investigation of complaints as to the school's condition.

The report of the committee was adopted. The committee on special schools recommended that Benjamin Viet be rejected as the successor of John F. Waters, principal of Public School 24.

General G. W. Wingate spoke scathingly of Mr. Waters, and so did Abraham Stern and Frederick Couderc, the latter saying that the elementary schools committee has connived at fraud. He did not see how this board, having in charge the normal education and character of 750,000 public school children, could retain Mr. Waters in the position.

Horace E. Dresser and Superintendent Maxwell said that to dismiss Mr. Waters from the evening high school would be to punish him a second time, as he had already been fined. The matter was finally reported back to the committee.

Arthur S. Somers made an elaborate defense of the memory of Professor Caswell, speaking of the Brooklyn teacher whose name was brought into discussion, Mr. Somers said:

"For this young woman, who lives, and must live, give her justice. She has done no wrong, unless following the example of her saintly mother in being a help and a power for good be wrong. I have known her home life. I have lived in that home, and as far as Mrs. Burns is concerned the matter ends. The board is justified in placing a garland around the memory of Professor Caswell, for he was a good and faithful servant, and deserves good, not ill, at your hands."

Hamburger Wrote Details of Transactions in His Diary.

When an inquest is held to-morrow into the death of Paul Hamburger, who was found shot to death in the office of Samri Ellis, the Hindu magnetic healer and psychic, at No. 8 West 45th street, the coroner's jury will be asked to consider heavy evidence which has been written in a diary.

A memorandum in this notebook shows that young Hamburger was the owner of five hundred shares of the stock of the Blue Ridge Mining Company. How much money changed hands during this particular transaction the entry does not tell, but the face value of the certificates is $1 a share. The capital stock of the company is put down as $50,000, of which $1,200, at least, was sold. The diary notes this fact. The names of Cook and another appear on the certificates of the concern's promoter.

A large number of these certificates were found in Ellis's office. The rest, it is said, is interested in another mining property as well.

Miss Lulu Small, who was employed as a stenographer in Ellis's office, gave further details of the Blue Ridge Mining Company. She was examined on Tuesday in Coroner Holtzhauser's office, and at that time declared her duties did not include handling the stock business. Assistant District Attorney Turnbull, who has been conducting an investigation prior to the inquest, was baffled then, but yesterday the stenographer said that she had drawn up the constitution and bylaws of the Blue Ridge concern.

Another witness at the hearing yesterday was a woman known as Laura Stewart, who was associated with the Boston man, near 4th street. She said she knew "Jack" Dempsey, one of Samri Ellis's assistants in the office, under another name; that she had paid him $36 to be invested in Blue Ridge stock and that he repaid part of this sum when she grew dissatisfied with her securities. The Stewart woman told Mr. Turnbull and Coroner Holtzhauser that many rich women had handed over to her in return for certificates in the mining company, and that some of these women had paid frequent visits to the office for "medical treatment."

Assistant District Attorney Turnbull, who was asked late yesterday afternoon to amplify the statements made during the examination of the two women, said he was unable to do so, as the relation between Samri Ellis and a well known Boston psychic, who has been selling stock in the New York and Mexican Mining Company, a concern capitalized at $300,000 or more, was not ascertained definitely, but that he was associated with the Boston man, before Hamburger's death and that the latter held all the facts regarding their transactions is confidentially asserted.

DOCTOR HIS OWN LAWYER

Court Dismisses Complaint of Non-Payment of $3,000.

Dr. Mark I. Knapp, of No. 416 Madison avenue, had a busy time of it yesterday in the Supreme Court before Justice Gerard. He appeared as plaintiff against his father-in-law, Adolph Schlesinger, and acted as his own counsel, but not with much success. He alleged that Schlesinger had failed to make good a promise to give him $3,000 as a sort of marriage settlement.

The doctor asked himself questions and answered them with so little hesitation that counsel had hardly an opportunity to interpose objections. One question Dr. Knapp put to himself—referring to himself and his wife was:

"Did they live happily?" And he promptly answered, "Yes." Several times Dr. Knapp had to leave the witness stand to consult his papers lying on the counsel table. Another time while testifying he endeavored to argue as counseled with Justice Gerard. The opposing counsel objected to the unusual proceeding and Dr. Knapp left the witness stand to continue his argument.

BULL MARKET FOR GRIZZLY

Brown Bears Go Begging, and No Demand for Red Foxes.

Almost by the same mail the director of the Central Park menagerie has been notified by a citizen of Portland, Me., with a black bear, and a citizen of Portland, Me., with a black bear, that the respective animals can be bought "dirt cheap."

The Portland, Me., citizen says it takes all his time and money to feed the foxes and the man in Portland, Ore., says his bear is an elephant on his hands.

From all indications the four red foxes and the bear will remain where they are, for Keeper "Bill" Snyder voiced the sentiment of the menagerie officials when he said they "were no good"—the foxes, because they ate so much, and the black bear, because the Central Park zoo was "long on black bears already."

"We want a grizzly," said Snyder, "for we've got three black bears now."

INDICTED FOR GRAND LARCENY

Diamond Broker Charged with False Representation of a Necklace.

Frank Grant, a diamond broker of No. 115 Broadway, who was recently arrested on a charge made by Mrs. Carrie Lee, of Bay street, Stapleton, Staten Island, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury for grand larceny in the second degree.

According to the woman Grant represented a necklace was worth $3,000. He borrowed $500 from the woman on the jewelry, and it is alleged that experts said it was not worth more than $50. This necklace was represented to her, so Mrs. Lee says, as one that John B. McDonald, the subway builder, presented to Miss Jeanette Lovrie, the actress. McDonald denied ever giving the woman this necklace and the actress herself said she never owned it.

SCHERMERHORN AT SING SING

Officers Fear Wife May Aid Murderer to Commit Suicide.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.—Frank Schermerhorn, who was convicted last night of the murder of Sarah O. Bryner and sentenced by Justice Morschauer to be executed at Sing Sing prison during the week of August 8, was taken to the prison to-day in an automobile driven by Under Sheriff Hornbeck, while Sheriff Townsend and the condemned man, handcuffed together, sat on the back seat. Schermerhorn smiled faintly at the unfriendly crowd of spectators as the car started.

Earlier in the day the prisoner had taken a tearful farewell of his mother and wife in a cage in the county jail. Officers watched them closely, for fear that his wife would hand him some article for suicide, a bottle of laudanum having been removed from her handbag in court last evening. Notice of appeal will be served at once by Mr. Ringwood, Schermerhorn's attorney, which will act as a stay of execution.

WANTED TO SEE "BIG FIGHT"

Two Pennsylvania Boys Picked Up Half Starved in Chicago.

Chicago, June 22.—William Rogers, sixteen years old, and Ralph Berg, sixteen years old, who ran away from Bellevue, Penn., to beat their way to the Jeffries-Jackson fight, were arrested here yesterday. The boys were half starved when picked up by officers, and said they had been without food for three days. They said they wanted to see the "big fight," and their parents would not let them go, they left home of their own account. The parents of the boys were notified of their plight.

MARINE INTELLIGENCE.

MINIATURE ALMANAC. Sunrise, 4:27; sunset, 7:34; moon rises, 8:50; moon's age, 11.

HIGH WATER. A. M. P. M. Sandy Hook 9:59 10:15 Governor's Island 9:59 10:15 Hell Gate 9:59 10:15

SPITZER WITNESS IN AUTO CASE.

In the bankruptcy proceedings of creditors against the New Amsterdam Motor Company, of No. 132 West 57th street, the receiver, Jesse Watson, had Oliver Spitzer, who was partitioned by President Taft when the company came up for liquidation, to testify against the Havemeyers & Elder fraternity docks—as a witness in an effort to clear the name of the company.

The Spitzer firm, reported as 373 miles east of Sandy Hook at 1:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this afternoon.

The Hellig Olav, reported as 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this afternoon.

The Blücher, reported as 203 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this afternoon.

The Adriatic, reported as 333 miles east of Sandy Hook at 3:30 p. m. yesterday, is expected to dock this afternoon.

INCOMING STEAMERS.

Table with columns: Vessel, From, Line, Arrival. Includes ships like Adriatic, Hamburg, and others.

OUTGOING STEAMERS.

Table with columns: Vessel, For, Line, Departure. Includes ships like La Lorraine, Esperanza, and others.

TRANS-PACIFIC MAILS.

Table with columns: Destination and steamer, Close in N. Y., P. M. Includes routes to Hawaii, Japan, and other Pacific destinations.

ARRIVED.

Table with columns: Steamer, From, Arrival. Lists incoming ships and their origins.

DEPARTING.

Table with columns: Steamer, To, Departure. Lists outgoing ships and their destinations.

ARRIVED.

Table with columns: Steamer, From, Arrival. Lists incoming ships and their origins.

DEPARTING.

Table with columns: Steamer, To, Departure. Lists outgoing ships and their destinations.

Stern Brothers

Dressmaking and Ladies' Tailoring Dep'ts (On the Third Floor). Orders executed at short notice for Costumes, Waists, Walking Suits and Coats, At Large Concessions from Regular Prices. Tailor-made Gowns, at $59.00. Linen Coat Suits, at 35.00. Riding Habits, of Linen, Side or Cross Saddle, at 35.00. West Twenty-third Street.

A Red-Man Collar BASSWOOD has the close-front "Teakwood" effect and is lower all around. A summer collar; 2 for 25 cents. EARL & WILSON.

Can't scare us, Mr. Sun. We've thin suits of the coolest fabrics for street wear—batistes, homespuns, musclicloths, silk homespun, linen crash. Not to speak of a very unusual variety of coats for office wear—many of them quite dignified enough for street wear on a torrid day. These separate coats begin with the stand-by black alpaca and mohairs, and include gray sycilian, black-and-white striped brilliantine, tan pongee, silk, and three very handsome silks with hair line stripes—two black silks and a gray. The most expensive is but $8—from that to $4. Specially strong this season on flannel trousers—White flannels, striped white flannels, striped gray flannels and English "Cricket Cloth" in white and gray.

ROGERS PEET & COMPANY

Three Broadway Stores at Warren st. 13th st. 34th st.

Excelsior Liquid Polish

A Very Superior Article for Cleaning & Polishing Sterling Silver, Plated Ware, Glass Windows and Mirrors. For Sale by LEWIS & CONGER, 130 and 132 West 42d St., New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

NEW YORK'S LEADING THEATRES. KNICKERBOCKER. "Don't miss it at any cost." THE ARCADIAN. "The Fantastical Musical Comedy." HUDSON. "Last Matinee Saturday. LAST 3 NIGHTS. RESUMES IN THE EVENING."

The Spendthrift

CRITERION. "A play every man should take his part in or prospective wife to see." HER REVENGE. "HER REVENGE. HANDS UP!"

NEW AMSTERDAM

60 of Them. None of Them Married. With Jos. Cawthorn and Maudie Berman.

JARDIN D'PARIS

SMOKING. REFRESHMENTS. F. ZIEFFELD, JR. S. NEW YORK. FOLLIES 1910. 60-ANNA HELD GIRLS.

GAITY

FORTUNE HUNTER. WITH JOHN BARRYMAN.

Broadway

The Summer Widowers & Irene. CASINO THE MIKADO. All Star Cast. New Fields Herald Sq. By 8:35. Evening 8:15. Max. Sat. Sat. 2:15. Marie Dressler in "The Mikado".

AMERICAN ROOF

THE BARNYARD ROMEO. Joe Welch, Chuck Curtis, Wm. Connelley, Co. Mile. Lo's Artists' Models. ASTOR. By 4:15. By 8:15. Mat. Sat. 2:15. Evening 8:15. Max. Sat. Sat. 2:15. Marie Dressler in "The Mikado".

SEVEN DAYS

THOMPSON & DUNDY'S LUNA PARK. Roosevelt Rough Riders' NOW OPEN. Day to Day.

CONEY ISLANDS GREATER DREAMLAND

30 NEW SHOWS—FREE ODDS. EVERYTHING NEW BUT THE OLD.

BRIGHTON BEACH PARK

Giant Statues. Edén. World in Wax. Theatricals. Back Book. MUSEE. King Edward's Funeral. AMERICAN ROOF. MILE. POLINE. H. ROOF. Matinee. ASD 12 200 100.

European Visitors will find the European Columns of the New-York Tribune a reliable guide to the best shops, hotels and resorts. Consult These Columns Before Sailing and much valuable time will be saved for sightseeing.