Companions Stand Helpless. Panting for breath, their bodies refusing longer to do the will of their minds, Bengier and his friends stood reeling on their feet and trying to discover the spot where Elbrecht was slowly being drawn down to his death.

"My God! boys, it's up to my neck now. Every struggle sends me deeper. I guess this is the end—good-by, fellows." The last words came faintly from the dark recesses of the marsh grasses, then followed a brief space of silence; then the sound of bubbles and a low splash in the water. Elbrecht must have been drawn under by the relentless sands at that moment, for though Bengier and the others waited with straining ears to catch another word, only the noise of wind and tide broke the silence.

TRUMPET OF MONOPLANES

New Records Made on Last Day of Meeting at Rheims.

A 393-KILOMETRE FLIGHT

Morane Attains a Speed of 68.42 Miles an Hour—Future of Airships.

Béthény Plain, Rheims, July 10.—The international aviation meeting, at which new records for height, distance, speed and time were set, closed to-day. The meeting was a triumph for the monoplanes, which made all the records and carried off the majority of the prizes. The experts say that the most important achievements were those of Leon Morane, who yesterday attained a speed of 106 kilometres (65.93 miles) an hour...

KINET FALLS AT GHENT

Belgian Aeronaut's Injuries May Prove Fatal.

Ghent, Belgium, July 10.—Daniel Kinet, the Belgian aeronaut, was seriously hurt to-day. The rudder of his machine broke when he was at a considerable height, and the aeroplane turned over several times, dropping like a stone in a wheat field. It is thought that Kinet is fatally injured.

ENTRIES FOR ST. LOUIS MEET

Ten to Compete in Six-Day Contest, Opening To-day.

East St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—The first annual aeroplane meet for novices will open to-morrow in Washington Park under the auspices of the Aero Club of St. Louis. The last three of the ten entries arrived to-day. No trial flights were made to-day.

GET AERONAUT AS FUGITIVE

Taylor, Who Fell Thousand Feet, Arrested Leaving Hospital.

Bellefonte, N. J., July 10 (Special).—Just as George Taylor, the young aeronaut who fell a distance of nearly a thousand feet while making an ascension here about ten days ago, got out of the hospital last night, he was arrested as a fugitive from the Glenn Mills Reformatory, in Pennsylvania. He had planned to make another flight to-day.

HURLED FROM AUTOMOBILE

Cornell Abell, of No. 127 Washington street, Brooklyn, a son of the former Postoffice Commissioner, was thrown from a sight-seeing automobile on the Merrick road at Jamaica last night. The steering gear broke, and the machine crashed into a telegraph pole. Abell suffered from severe shock and bruises and was taken home.

INVITES HAMILTON TO GO

Daring Aviator Declines To Be Passenger—Harmon Expects to Make Trip To-night.

Clifford B. Harmon was forced yesterday once more to postpone his projected flight from the Garden City Aviation Park to Greenwich, Conn. Should the wind and weather prove favorable, however, he will fly this evening between 5 and 7 o'clock. Several thousand persons had gathered around in expectation of the flight yesterday, and things looked decidedly favorable. Among those who came down to watch the flight was Charles K. Hamilton, the daring aviator who made the Garden City field famous, yet he was denied admittance to the inclosure about the aero sheds. This was for only a minute, however, for when Captain Baldwin heard that Harmon had been held up by the attendants at the ropes he exclaimed: "Let him stay there!" but laughingly proceeded to go outside and give the men the word to allow the aviator and his companions to go wherever they pleased.
