

KILLS TWO IN COURTHOUSE

Boston Murderer Prevented from Committing Suicide.

IN OFFICE OF PELLETIER

Man Shoots Stepfather of Girl He Is Accused of Assaulting, and a Policeman.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Walter S. Hall, a State House employee who was at liberty on bail awaiting trial on a charge of assaulting Esther H. Fogg, fourteen years old, to-day shot and killed Frank A. Ross, stepfather of the girl, and Police Sergeant Frederick Schuebler, the principal witness against him, as they were waiting to try the case before the District Attorney.

Fall was indicted recently on the charge of assaulting the Fogg girl, but Schuebler was released on bail. Ross was a resident of Dorchester, and Sergeant Schuebler, who was attached to the Dorchester police station, came into the city this forenoon to lay the facts in the case before District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier.

Fall and his attorney, Benjamin Haines, called at the District Attorney's office. Haines had Fall enter the outside office used as a waiting room when he drew a revolver from his pocket and fired at Schuebler and Ross. Ross fell dead and Schuebler died within a few minutes. Fall fired two more shots, but they hit no one and entered the wall.

The policeman on duty in the District Attorney's office grappled with the murderer as soon as he could reach him. The slayer struggled fiercely in an attempt to end his own life. He was soon overpowered, however, and taken across Pemberton square to Police Headquarters.

Fall was committed to the care of Captain Eugene, the department investigator of all homicide cases. Mr. Haines said after the shooting that Fall's action was entirely unexpected. He had appeared calm and had given no indication that he had any feelings of resentment toward either Ross or Schuebler.

Mr. Haines said that Fall carried a revolver. He said that Fall fired at his victims as soon as he entered the District Attorney's office, and in each case the bullet entered the face, probably penetrating the brain.

Walter G. Fall is a slim young man, about twenty-four years of age. He was employed in the office of the Sealer of Weights and Measures. Ross was employed at a South Boston house as an auditor.

TILT AT TRIAL OF GRESSER

Spectator Huris Epithet of Liar at Witness on the Stand.

Contending that the charges of alleged incompetency and gross neglect of duty by the late Justice Greaser against President Lawrence Gresser of Queens have been proven, Charles Pope Caldwell and George W. Foren, of counsel for the taxpayers, at the close of the hearing before Special Commissioner Ordway, in the Queens County courthouse, Long Island City, last evening, announced that they would demand their evidence within the next two hearings. A dozen hearings or more after that, they may be necessary, for it is understood that President Greaser will present a long array of witnesses to offset all the testimony given against him, and this doubtless will take as much time as the prosecution has consumed.

Excitement was injected into the afternoon proceedings yesterday when, from his seat among the spectators, former Under Sheriff John M. Phillips hurled the epithet liar at Joseph Burns, one of the foremen in the highway department who had been laid off and was on the witness stand. Burns had just testified that Phillips told him that former Assemblyman Thomas H. Todd, now cashier in the Sewer Department, procured his discharge because Burns refused to join a club. He retorted in kind when called a liar.

In addition to the testimony that brought on the tilt with Phillips Burns also gave testimony intended to corroborate statements of several other witnesses involving Commissioner Halloran in the "tin house and cart" scandal. The hearing will be continued to-morrow.

SAVAGELY ATTACKED BY BEAR

Bruin Furiously Resents Being Target for Toy Pistol.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Nov. 10.—James H. Davidson, a lumber buyer for the Pennsylvania Railroad, was attacked and badly wounded by a large black bear near Soneston, Columbia County, this morning. He was walking down the railroad tracks with the bear, which had been drinking at the river, burst through the bushes Davidson foolishly drew a small revolver and wounded the animal slightly. The bear turned and furiously dashed at Davidson, knocked him down with a blow of one of its forepaws, and lay on the ground. He fired a second shot into the animal and then lost consciousness. Davidson probably would have been killed had not a freight train just then frightened the bear away. Davidson's face was cut open, his body scratched and lacerated, and his clothing torn to shreds.

THE EXPRESS STRIKE

"OPEN SHOP" or "CLOSED SHOP" the Real Issue

Which Will the City of New York Stand for?

What the Strike Leaders Say:

"They announced that nothing less than complete recognition of the labor unions and the application of the 'closed shop' principle would not be considered."

And shortly after this stand had been decided upon William H. Ashton, General Organizer of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, gave out this statement:

"We intend to insist that the Express Companies and all other concerns against whom we may call a strike shall recognize the Union before the men return to work."

—N. Y. Times, Nov. 10, 1910.

What the Express Companies Say:

"Each of the companies is standing for an 'open shop,' the right to employ men, union or non-union, with respect solely to their fitness. . . ."

We beg to say that the terms upon which each company is willing to take back the employes are as follows:

It will take back its employes into the service without discrimination upon the ground of whether or not they have joined a union.

It will not take back those men, whether they be members of a union or not, who have committed or who have incited acts of violence and hostility against the company.
