CROWD CLAMORS IN VAIN

Dreary Grind Goes on as Long Struggle Slowly Draws to Its End.

SCORE AT 6 O'CLOCK IN SIX-DAY RACE.

Table with 3 columns: Name, Miles, Laps. Lists riders like Root and Moran, Fogler and Hill, Hehr and Goulet, etc.

The record for the one hundred and twenty-second hour is 2,344 miles and 2 laps, made by Demara and Hill in 1908.

Responsive to the clamoring of the crowd, seemingly oblivious even to the fact that they were pedalling, the eight teams left in the six-day cycle race circled the snow-covered track at Madison Square Garden last night. It was a grim procession as the eight wheels swung out, one behind the other, never swerving from the pole. There was not one rider among the number but was wane and haggard. Their eyes were dull as with the hopelessness of drudgery. Their movements bespoke the mechanical action that comes from long-continued toil, without the dash of spirit or the spark of dashing vigor. The last hours of the competition were at hand. Each was reserving what power there was in him for the final burst of speed for the chief prize.

After a desperate sprint, which lasted for a period of seven minutes, shortly after midnight Rutt and Clarke succeeded in regaining one of their lost laps. The sprint eventually cost the team of Cameron and Halstead a lap. Drobach, of the Collins-Drobach team, suffering from recent injuries, retired from the race at 1 o'clock. That brought a laugh and some action. Jimmy Moran, of the Irish-American team, tried to hit up a fast pace. He had tried successfully during the afternoon. Then he had forged ahead for a lap and had carried two other pairs—Fogler and Hill, and Hehr and Goulet—with him to a tie for first place. The result then had been for first place, and the Collins and Drobach, had been eliminated from the five-team tie, as the two pairs dropped back to second place.

It was shortly after 9 o'clock that Moran displayed the first showing of spirit that had been seen for some time. Five laps of wildly disorganized riding were all that he could do. He did not gain an inch. Still the crowd, eager to catch at straws of excitement, rewarded Moran with rounds of cheers.

Each of the sixteen riders flouted the signals of physical distress. Each Moran and Root, who have led in the sprinting since the beginning, were in sore straits, since the beginning of the race. At times they labored along at times, steering such a course as might a ship without a rudder. Only constant urging on the part of the trainers and a goodly supply of stimulants kept the men on their feet. At times the racers slackened to a snail's pace. The pace was slower falling, further and further behind. Under the spur of the trainers the pace was slightly lifted, but it failed to hold for long.

Clarke and Rutt, who are three laps behind the leaders, seemed to be in better condition than any of the others. They appeared to be enjoying themselves in the race. Each followed every increase of the speed. There was no attempt, at least during the late hours of the night, to gain the distance that separates them from the foremost trio.

Root and Moran led the tied group. They were so far behind the lead group that they had no chance, as 17 miles and 5 laps have been lost to the former figures. They were then at 2,177 miles and 2 laps. As the race ends to-night at 10 o'clock all hopes of hanging up a new distance mark have faded.

Seemingly indifferent to their surroundings, the spectators cheered at the crowd, and the weary cyclists in slow procession circled the track as day dawned yesterday morning. Their order remained unchanged. Five teams were tied for first place, two for second, while Rutt and Clarke, the newly organized team, brought up the rear. So it continued through the morning. Even the regulars became restless. Occasionally either Rutt or Clarke, whichever happened to be on the track, would start a sprint. The attempts at overcoming the two laps, however, were half-hearted, and the other seven riders seemed disgusted at the interruption of their plodding pace. Rutt made a desperate effort early in the afternoon, but Eddie Root, of the Irish-American team, headed off the German and matters settled back to the routine.

Lake a flash out of a clear sky, however, there was a pell-mell rush about 2:30 o'clock that worked a material change in the standing. Jimmy Moran, of the Irish-American team, and the Australian, Patrick O'Sullivan Hehr, started the excitement. For half an hour the Garden was a seething cauldron. The noise was deafening. No one seemed to know anything except that eight teams were engaged in a struggle to which all previous sprints were as nothing.

Outside the limits of the track it was like a riot. Within the narrow strip trainees were working with feverish haste. Here, among all the teams, were frequent Moran and Hehr as they started appeared to make a simultaneous dive off the bank along the 7th street side. In a twinkling they were a quarter lap ahead of the others. Root and Goulet, who had been resting, rushed to the rescue. They took up their partner's sprint and succeeded in getting a lap.

By the best riding seen so far in the long race Fred Hill and Joe Fogler, of the Boston-New York team, finally pulled up even with the leaders, their relief work being superb. It was almost by inches that the two made up the distance. When they finally came up even with Moran and Hehr, Joe Fogler, riding for the team, trailing at the latter's elbow, and Hehr, who was expected to know anything, threatened to crack the race.

ATHLETICS AT COLUMBIA

Freshmen Beat Sophomores by Two Points in Swimming.

The Columbia freshmen defeated the sophomores in the annual interclass swimming meet in the Columbia pool yesterday afternoon, by a score of 2 to 1. The sophomores turned the tables in the water polo game, winning after a hard fought match by a score of 1 to 0.

It was the first time that the new pool has been used, and it was found to be much superior to the old one. The time in every instance was better than has previously been made in the tank, and the water polo players were not handicapped by the tower which used to jut out into the water.

The sophomores won the relay race and the 50-yard swim, but the freshmen, thanks largely to the efforts of Sulliffe, who won first place in the 200-yard swim and took third in the plunge for distance, carried off the meet.

The summaries follow: 200-yard relay—Won by L. D. Dinkelspiel, C. W. Dunn, Campbell and A. Ulrich; 100-yard swim—Won by E. H. Sulliffe; 50-yard swim—Won by E. H. Sulliffe; Plunge for distance—Won by L. M. Kottke; Water polo—Won by the freshmen 1 to 0.

PRINCETON GYMNASTIC DATES

Dual Meet with Pennsylvania for First Time in Years. The Princeton Gymnastic team will meet the Pennsylvania team for the first time since the introduction of the game at the two universities. The game will be played at Princeton, and will afford an opportunity to see how the Tigers compare with one of the teams in the intercollegiate water polo league.

N. Y. U. TO MEET PRINCETON

New York University will play the first game on its basketball schedule when the five meets Princeton at Princeton to-night. The Tigers were defeated twice last year by the New York team. Three members of last season's team have graduated and new men appear in the line-up to-night. The team is strong and fast five has been developed, however.

FOGG SYRAUSE CAPTAIN.

Syracuse, Dec. 9.—At the annual banquet of the Syracuse University football team last night Preston D. Fogg, of Dorchester, Mass., was elected captain for 1911. Fogg has been on the team two years, and is also a member of the university track team.

NEW HOCKEY GUIDE OUT

Spalding's "Official Ice Hockey Guide" for 1911 has just been published in the Sporting Athletic Library Series. This book, which is edited by Frederick R. Toombs, is more complete than ever before. It contains the laws of hockey of the American Amateur Hockey League and the Intercollegiate Hockey League, also the laws across the border, constitution of the Intercollegiate Hockey League and a very interesting in the line of rules which a hockey player should know.

TIMED DAYS OF SPORT

Last Echo of Football Heard on Morningside Heights.

FUND REVERTS TO COLUMBIA

Husuzagh, Once of Amherst, Sets New Swimming Record in Chicago Pool.

The last echo perhaps of Columbia's football days was heard on the campus at Morningside Heights yesterday when it was announced that the trust fund of $10,000, which was put by when football was abolished, five years ago, had reverted to the University trustees. The actual abolition of football at Columbia took place on January 1, 1906, and on that date $10,000 was placed in the hands of Harold H. Weeks, the all-American halfback, Albert W. Putnam and T. Ludlow Chrysler, who were to keep the money to subsidize athletic sports, one-fourth to the track team and three-fourths to the crew.

The trust was not to continue longer than the first day of January, 1911. In case football was not restored, and the trustees were directed by the association to pay the fund over to trustees of the college athletics. The deed of trust was signed by John R. Fisher, who was captain of the 1905 Columbia eleven, and Gerald B. Curtis, the manager.

Pursuant to the terms of the agreement the trustees have paid the income arising from the fund annually to the crew and track team, and up to each 24 last year, which $112.51 was given to the crew and $73.88 to the track team. At the present time Albert W. Putnam has $182.21 on hand, and will receive $181.75 as income prior to January 1, when the college trustees take actual title. This amounting, $363.96, will, of course be subdivided according to the terms of the agreement.

Football not having resumed the university will receive the principal of the fund. It is directed that the money shall be applied to the athletic teams, as has previously been the case, and it is also stated in the trust "that if at any time during the continuance of the trust either the intercollegiate sport, then the whole of said interest shall be applied annually to the use of the remaining sport; and in the event that both the said track athletic team and university crew of the college take part in intercollegiate sport, then the intercollegiate dividends or income shall be paid annually to the trustees of Columbia College in the City of New York for the general uses of Columbia University."

The principal of the fund at the present time amounts to $10,077.21, and is so invested as to yield an annual income of $68.48. Kenneth Husuzagh, representing Lewis Institute, established a new intercollegiate swimming record in Chicago on Thursday evening by slashing his time for 100 yards in the water in 1:12.5, through the course of which 1:12.51 was held by the amateur record for the distance at 55.2 seconds, only three seconds faster than the mark set by a speedy schoolboy.

Husuzagh matriculated at Amherst two years ago and made the swimming team, but did not return after his freshman year. The story comes from Cincinnati that August Herrmann, editor of the national commission and owner of the Cincinnati club, will hold the proxy of John T. Rinn, owner of the New York Giants, at the annual meeting of the National League of Baseball Clubs in this city on Wednesday.

Mr. Brush has gone to Texas for the winter without announcing who would represent him at the meeting, which lends some interest to the report. This indicates that four votes and probably five can be counted on to re-elect Thomas J. Lynch president of the league.

Lovers of athletics can pick and choose between two interesting sets of indoor games. A varied and attractive programme has been arranged for the fifty-eighth games of the 7th Regiment at the army park and 66th street. Wall-scaling, tent-raising, relay racing and a hand concert will be features out of the ordinary.

The games of the 7th Regiment will be held in the army park and 66th street. Two hundred and fifty entries have been received, and the meet should be productive of some fine sport. The feature will be the two-mile bicycle race, which will be contested by Van der Dries, of the New York Athletic Club, who will ride from scratch. The entry for the track events is the heaviest in the history of the regiment. Among the good ones entered are Dorland, Goggin, Egan, Gels, Malone, Lovell, Sweeney, Wright, Flood, McNeill and Nerent.

FOOTBALL TRAFFIC COUNTS

Receipts Mount High from the Yale-Harvard Struggle.

New Haven, Dec. 9.—Football traffic returns of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad Company for the Yale-Harvard game on November 19, in this city, show receipts, including parlor and sleeping car fares, of $72,785, as against $71,296 two years ago, and as compared with $45,578 for the Yale-Princeton game one year ago. The increase was due to the greater amount of travel from Boston to New Haven. Actual passengers fell off from 20,777 in 1908 to 15,753 this year on the day of the game.

New York and every place in Connecticut except Bridgeport showed a decrease. An increase of 286 passengers from Bridgeport is attributed to stop-over automobilists, who anticipated that there would be lack of hotel accommodation in this city and so came on by train the next day. The New York passenger traffic fell off from 12,922 in 1908 to 12,362.

The football traffic receipts of $72,785 were greater than the daily average of $8,180 for the entire system. In handling the football crowd the only accident reported was the breaking of a trolley car fender by an automobile. The first train from New Haven to New York after the game carried 1,218 persons.

GOOD SHOOTING WITH RIFLE Five Perfect Scores in Match Won by Stuyvesant High.

Five perfect scores were made in the rifle shoot between the Stuyvesant and Erasmus Hall high schools on the former's range yesterday. It was won by Stuyvesant by a score of 265 to 262. The members of both teams shot well and returned the best of the season. The brilliant work of the Curry brothers, of the Stuyvesant team, was directly responsible for the victory, as they each had a clean score of 35. Smith, Van Buskirk and Williamson were the others who always found the bullseye. The scores follow:

Table with 2 columns: Name, Score. Lists Stuyvesant and Erasmus Hall scores for various shooters like De Pietro, Jacobson, etc.

CLINTON RIFLE TEAM WINS Defeats High School of Commerce in Spirited Match.

The De Witt Clinton High School marksman, shooting under difficulties, defeated the High School of Commerce in a schoolboy tournament match on the latter's gun yesterday by a score of 264 to 253. Hubbard, the winner's captain, who returned his first perfect score this season, was forced to shoot left handed, which probably accounted for his missing two bullseyes. Shapiro and Black each made clean scores.

The scores follow: DE WITT CLINTON, H. S. OF COMMERCE. Buckbee 34, St. John 32, etc.

AUTO NEWS OF THE DAY

Date Is Fixed for Big Exhibition To Be Held in Brooklyn.

PLANS NEARLY COMPLETE

23d Regiment Armory Being Turned Into a Mammoth Showroom for Cars.

Greater New York will have four automobile exhibitions this year instead of three. The motor car dealers of Brooklyn, at a meeting held recently, decided definitely to hold an exhibition in the big 23d Regiment Armory, on Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, the week of February 15 as determined upon yesterday as the date. The Brooklyn Motor Vehicle Dealers' Association is supporting the show, which is being managed by Charles H. Green. Mr. Green is president of the National Automobile Exposition, which is held at Chicago. The exhibition will be the first of its kind held in Brooklyn. Careful consideration was taken in selecting the dates, so that they would not conflict with shows held in other cities. The week of February 15 is decided upon because it came between the national show at Chicago and the exhibition at Boston. The former ends on February 11 and the latter begins on March 4.

The Brooklyn dealers declare that there are enough prospective automobile purchasers on Long Island to make a show in that view. The cars shown by the Brooklyn men are representative enough for a prospective buyer having his choice of any car from the lowest to the highest priced on the market.

Work has already been started to convert the big armory, which has an area of 50,000 square feet, into a showroom, where the cars will be displayed. Plans for the show have already been made by a number of dealers, who are enthusiastic over the idea. The spaces are now being allotted. It is expected that at least one hundred and fifty exhibits will be housed.

The rush for yearly 1911 New Jersey automobile licenses has set in and the New York deputy commissioners are being kept busy. W. J. Morgan, deputy commissioner for New Jersey licenses, at No. 177 Broadway, explains the rush by saying that a suspicion of Trenton may accept the advice of the New Jersey Grangers' Association given at their Atlantic City annual meeting, as well as that of others, and double the present yearly license fees if tourists are to travel in Jersey without a license. Another explanation is that many want to get low numbers for their license plates, as applications for licenses are registered in the order they are received.

The New York Automobile Trade Association has a bowling league three-man tournament. The Ford Motor Company has the highest team score, with 671. D. S. Dunn, of the Diamond Rubber Company, has the highest average, with 178, while J. Skelly, of the Hartford Rubber Company, holds the high score record, at 215.

The standing of the teams to date follows: Team Won Lost Team Won Lost. Ford 10 2, Diamond 9 3, etc.

RACING RESULTS AT JUAREZ. Juarez, Mexico, Dec. 9.—Racing at Terrazas Park to-day was ordinary. Frank Mullens, at 1 to 2, won the handicap, five furlongs, by a head, but only after a long drive. The summaries follow:

First race (two furlongs)—Suey (Smith), 7 to 1, won; Aggie (Keeble), 5 to 1, second; Beechmont (Parks), 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:01.5. Second race (two furlongs)—Suey (Smith), 7 to 1, won; Aggie (Keeble), 5 to 1, second; Beechmont (Parks), 15 to 1, third. Time, 1:01.5.

TO PLAY HARVARD AT SOCCER. Philadelphia, Dec. 9.—Another step toward the resumption of athletic relations between the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard, was made public here to-night when the soccer football schedule was announced. Harvard will be played in Cambridge on March 23.
