

mean better service, greater politeness of employes, cleaner cars, everything that is essential to highest kind of management of rapid transit.

"How are we going to solve this apparently insoluble subway problem? We are going to have it solved by public opinion properly directed upon this question."

"I don't believe," Mr. McAdoo concluded, "that the people of New York will permit its officials to extend the monopoly of the Interborough for forty-nine years."

Commissioner Malthe spoke of the cooperation which the Public Service Commission had found on the part of some corporations over which it has jurisdiction. He did not mention names, but spoke of one company engaged in transportation which always tried to do what reasonably was demanded of it, while another has always been found opposed to any suggestion made by the commission.

He spoke of negotiations with that company which were drawn out for weeks, because it assumed the attitude that it had to get all it wanted or it would not take the grant.

How Would You Like a Present of a barrel containing 10 dozen bottles of good old Evans Ale

It would certainly be a treat for yourself and your friends.

Nearest dealer will supply it, or write to C. H. EVANS & SONS, HUDSON, N. Y., New York, City Depot, 25th St. & 12th Ave.

Cammeyer Stamped on a Shoe means Standard Meril

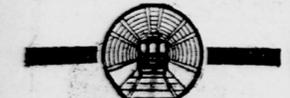

6th Ave. & 20th St. America's Largest Shoe Store.

MEN'S HOLIDAY SLIPPERS As Illustrated, Tan or Black, $2.50

Why not select your Christmas Slippers where you get the UTMOST QUALITY for your money, the GREATEST VARIETY to select from and at prices to suit YOU?

$1.00, $1.50, $2.00 & $2.50 AND THE ABSOLUTE BEST IN EVERY GRADE. Packed in Holly Boxes if Desired.

Santa Claus Is Here Bring the Children. He has a Present for Each of Them.

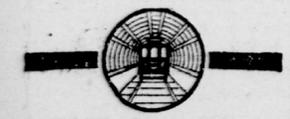

Through Trains to Jersey City

Through trains now run in each direction without change of cars between 33rd St and 6th Ave and the Penna R. R. and Lehigh Valley R. R. Station in Jersey City through the

HUDSON RIVER TUBES

Other stations along 6th Ave are at 28th, 23rd, 19th, 14th and 9th Streets. Save time, avoid delay, trains every few minutes. Travel by the Tubes.

At Fountains & Elsewhere Ask for "HORLICK'S"

The Original and Genuine MALTED MILK The Food-drink for All Ages. At restaurants, hotels, and fountains. Delicious, invigorating and sustaining. Keep it on your sideboard at home. Don't travel without it. A quick lunch prepared in a minute. Take no imitation. Just say "HORLICK'S" Is No Combine or Trust

KIDNAPPING LEADS TO FIVE NEW ARRESTS

Flynn's Men Descend on Tenement, Surprising Suspects in the Longo-Rizzo Case.

OTHER ARRESTS TO FOLLOW

Police Tips and a Deathbed Statement Expected to Aid in Round-Up of Black Hand Gang.

Under orders from Deputy Police Commissioner Flynn, Italian detectives raided a two-room flat on the top floor of the tenement house at No. 53 First street last night, and arrested five Italians suspected of complicity in the kidnaping last month of Michael Rizzo and Giuseppe Longo, the two eight-year-old lads, one of whom was rescued from his abductors by the police, and the other turned loose on the streets by the men who stole him.

Shortly after the arrest of eight men and two women a few days ago, the detectives got new clues which led them to believe there were still others in the conspiracy. They went on the hunt under Mr. Flynn's personal direction, and recently got enough evidence to convince them, they said, that the five taken last night were mixed up in the affair.

The detectives entered the tenement house quietly last night and made their way to the top floor. They met no one, and the suspects received no warning until one of the officers knocked at the door. It was opened almost immediately, and the five were revealed, sitting on chairs or sprawled on two beds in one of the rooms.

At police headquarters, where the men were taken, they said they were Luchino Maddi, thirty-three years old; Felice Buccella, thirty-one years old; Stefano Caravina, twenty-seven; Francesco Alessi, eighteen, and Salvatore Galata, forty-three years of age. They were locked up, all charged as suspicious persons. Maddi and Buccella face the additional charge of carrying concealed weapons, because the police said each of them had a revolver fully loaded.

Maddi, the first named prisoner, was arrested at the time the government agents, under Mr. Flynn, who was then in charge of the Secret Service for the Southern District of New York, with New York detectives rounded up Lupo, the Wolf, and his fellow counterfeiters. Maddi was released after his arrest in $5,000 bail, and is still awaiting trial.

Quick action will be taken in the cases of the ten prisoners first arrested in the Rizzo-Longo case. The Kings County Grand Jury yesterday took the cases into consideration. The two boys testified before the jurors, as did several other witnesses. District Attorney John F. Clarke will take personal charge of the prosecution.

All of the prisoners were arraigned in the Fifth avenue police court before Magistrate Tighe yesterday morning. He held each in $10,000 bail until tomorrow. Indictments will be found against the crowd in the meantime.

The police of Red Bank, N. J., profess to know the man who kidnaped four-year-old Mamie Pettilo from her home in that town recently. They also profess to know the man who accompanied her to her home when she was freed on Friday and the names of the persons who held the child in New York. Arrests are expected soon.

BLIND VISIT HIPPODROME

Three Hundred Children "See" Show at Big Playhouse.

An unusual audience "saw" the performance at the Hippodrome yesterday afternoon, Lee Schubert having invited the blind children of the asylums and schools of the city to visit the big playhouse. They were all there, some three hundred of them, and it was a sight to remember for those with eyes. Their teachers were with them, and explained the things as they happened, but they were scarcely needed, for the little hearts were full of joy and that marvelous understanding that comes to the blind.

Their finger tips and their ears and every sensitive nerve saw for them, and it did not need the words of the kind women to tell them that Silvers had come bounding on the stage with his absurd feet and his curious clothes, or that the crashing wireless was spitting flames of blue fire, or that the air ship was swinging through the flies, or that myriads of Minnehaha's gorgeous in beads and buckskins, were whirling in a ballet, or even that the "Central American city" was crumbling and drowning in the big tank. The children knew it, anyway.

"Oh, say, can you see?" blared out the band at the close of the International Cup race. No, they couldn't see, but at the opening bar every little man and every little woman jumped from their seats and stood while the anthem was played.

WILL EXAMINE MRS. BALCH

Guardian Says She Is Held in Asylum Owing to Daughter's Animosity.

William A. McQuaid, appointed by the Supreme Court as special guardian of Mrs. Georgia Collins Balch, a wealthy widow who is confined in Bloomingdale Asylum on the application of her daughter, Miss Grace C. Balch, filed a petition yesterday in which he told of the animosity of the daughter toward her mother.

The petition of the guardian was for permission to employ alienists to examine the mental condition of Mrs. Balch. Justice Davis granted the permission. Dr. Albert W. Ferris and Dr. F. K. Hollister will examine the alleged incompetent.

HERBERT M. CLAPP SHOT

Wife of Heir to Mason, the "Shoeblicking King," Held.

QUARREL OVER A WINDOW

Struggle for Revolver in Sleeping Room—He Has Figured in Various Episodes.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—Herbert Mason Clapp, grandson of Mason, "the Shoeblicking King," and man about town, is in a hospital with a bullet in his head and is under bail of $2,000, charged with wife shooting him.

According to the police, the couple quarrelled in their sleeping room at 3:30 this morning, and Mrs. Clapp jumped out of bed, seized a .44-caliber pistol and shot twice at her husband. One bullet went wild, smashing a mirror, but the other crashed through Clapp's mouth, emerging near the left ear.

At first the family and a physician who was called in attempted to conceal the facts, saying Clapp had been drinking and was suffering from nervousness, and had accidentally inflicted the wound. Clapp is thirty-eight years old and his wife is twenty-three.

When the physicians at St. Joseph's Hospital notified the police that the woman's condition was serious, Mrs. Clapp was taken to the institution by two policemen and a magistrate. As she appeared before Clapp he cried "Take her away! Take her away!"

"She said she would get me, and she did," said Clapp. "She is the best one I know with a six-shooter," he added. "She is not afraid of a gun, man or the devil. Her name was Mrs. Leask, and she was a manicure in a Market street hotel."

It is alleged that Clapp struck his wife and that the shooting followed. A hearing which was to have been given Mrs. Clapp this afternoon was postponed until the extent of her husband's injuries are known.

Awakened for Quarrel, Says Wife.

After being cross-examined Mrs. Clapp said that the shots were fired while she was trying to wrest the revolver from her husband. The police were called, and Mrs. Clapp said that her husband awoke her for the purpose of quarrelling with her. She said he drew a revolver from a holster which he kept under his pillow and threatened to kill her.

She tried to get the pistol from him, she said, and in the scuffle it was exploded. She said she was so excited that she did not know how many shots were fired and did not know who pulled the trigger, but believed that her husband did. The police stated that the wound is of such a nature it could hardly have been self-inflicted, but that the bullet must have been fired in front of Mr. Clapp and at some distance.

Mrs. Clapp said she and her husband quarrelled last night over the question whether the bedroom window should be opened or closed. Mrs. Clapp said that she wanted the window closed, while her husband desired it open.

Clapp has had a career which has frequently brought him before the public. He inherited the "Blackening King's" fortune through his mother, and is said to have an income of $5,000 a year. Four years ago his first wife, who was formerly Miss Mary Post, divorced him in New York, and he yearly alimony of $5,500 and the custody of their child. Six months after the divorce Clapp married Marie Leask, of this city. In August, 1908, they went to Texas, where Mrs. Clapp left her husband because of his alleged abusive treatment. She went to New York, and Clapp followed her there, causing her arrest. The case was dismissed, however, and they were temporarily reconciled.

Last December Mrs. Clapp brought suit against her husband for absolute divorce, charging cruel and barbarous treatment. Later they were again reconciled.

"Made Broad Street a Speedway." In the year and a half or so he spent in Philadelphia after his return from Texas Mr. Clapp made a reputation for the number of times he was arrested for breaking the automobile speed laws. On one occasion he drove his car into a machine that was standing at the curb and was arrested for blackguarding a policeman who asked him his name and address. On various other occasions he was haled before a magistrate for what the police called turning Broad street into a speedway, and in fact became so well known in this respect that he was threatened with a revocation of his motor license if he persisted in disregard of the statutes.

Mr. Clapp's earlier career, before he became so well known to the traffic squad, was also marked by sensational incidents, including an attempt by a pseudo friend to incite him in a Southern insane asylum and steal his handsome steam yacht, and an encounter with a United States government watchman, which threatened for a time to send him to the Atlanta penitentiary on a charge of contempt of court.

It is said that in the lawsuit that enabled him to keep out of the asylum and to regain possession of his yacht, the craft was placed in charge of a watchman appointed by the United States Court of Norfolk, Va. Mr. Clapp tried to take the yacht out on the bay for a sail one day and the watchman refused to let him. Clapp is said to have assaulted the watchman. That person went to the court and entered a complaint, but the matter was finally compromised.

A lawsuit with Thomas De Witt Cuyler over a fee of $2,500 which Clapp refused to pay and which was won by the attorney after a hard fought trial, was also among his early adventures.

Mr. Clapp has maintained a fine stock farm at Erdenheim, where he has raised blooded horses, especially those suited for cavalry purposes.

HEATLY'S FAREWELL DINNER

Lion Hunter Acknowledges Hospitality of This Country.

Hugh Heately, the well known lion hunter, who, after spending several weeks in America, sails to-morrow on board the Adriatic for his ranch near Natal, in East Africa, gave a dinner last night at the Waldorf, Astoria by way of acknowledgement of the hospitality and courtesies which he has received in this country.

DIX TO KEEP VERBECK

Client in Divorce Case Admits Her Affidavit Was False.

CHARGE IS CIVIL CONTEMPT

Proceeding Grows Out of Harden Case, in Which Eugene H. Burr Was Corespondent.

The trial of John Reilly, a lawyer of No. 25 Broadway, for perjury on a charge of willfully deceiving the court by a false affidavit, was begun yesterday before Justice Greenbaum, in the Supreme Court. The affidavit, in which Reilly is charged with a civil contempt, was submitted by Mrs. Leah Harden in the suit brought by her husband, James Harden, Jr., for a divorce, wherein Eugene H. Burr, of the firm of Burr Brothers, arrested by the federal authorities for alleged misuse of the mails, was the corespondent.

When the case came up for trial, about two weeks ago, Mrs. Harden, who was a client of Reilly, submitted to Justice Greenbaum an affidavit in which she said that Nannie Bradhurst, a negro maid who was to be an important witness for her, had gone to North Carolina, and on that account she would like an adjournment of the case. William Rand, Jr., counsel for Harden, brought out the fact that the maid had spent the night before in the home of Mrs. Harden, who, it was said, had tried to keep the girl away so that she might not be a witness for the husband.

Mrs. Harden admitted on the stand yesterday that she did not tell the truth in the affidavit that she submitted to the court. She said that Reilly had made the affidavit and that when she swore to it she did not know what it contained. She said that on the morning when the case was called she went to the office of her lawyer and that when she got there the document was already drawn up.

Rand, who is prosecuting the contempt case by the designation of Justice Greenbaum, asked Mrs. Harden yesterday if it was true that Reilly whispered to her, "Stick to your affidavit," as she was about to go on the stand in the case, and she called for trial. Mrs. Harden answered that her lawyer did so instruct her. She said that later she criticized him for making her do what was not right.

"I really don't know why I did it," said Mrs. Harden. Rand instructed Mrs. Harden that she need not answer questions if thereby she feared she would incriminate herself, but the woman seemed anxious to tell everything she knew about the case.

"I guess I must have done it to help him," she said, meaning Reilly. Douglas Leven, a lawyer who is associated with Reilly, testified that he, and not Reilly, dictated the affidavit signed by Mrs. Harden. He said that Reilly, who was busy, told him that Nannie Bradhurst was in North Carolina and that he did not want to go on with the case until she returned. Leven said he drew up the paper for Mrs. Harden to sign on the facts given him by Reilly.

Ethel Walters, a stenographer in Reilly's office, was called to the stand and contradicted Leven, saying that Reilly, and not he, dictated the affidavit. George Gordon Battle, who appeared as counsel for Reilly, argued that Justice Greenbaum lacked jurisdiction in the case, as the alleged contempt was not committed in the court. Justice Greenbaum reserved decision on this point. The case will go on to-day.

Reilly withdrew from the divorce case when it came to trial the day after Mrs. Harden submitted the false affidavit, and the latter did not defend the action, the jury giving a verdict for the husband.

WILL CONTEST TO REFEREE

Many Charges of Fraud Made Against Keller Trustee.

In the special proceedings for the removal of Hugo F. Keller as testamentary trustee under the will of Adolph Keller, who died May 18, 1904, instituted by Clotilde R. Keller and Charles Meyer, co-trustees, Justice Davis rendered an opinion yesterday referring the matter to a referee to take evidence.

Adolph Keller was a member of the firm makers' supplies, at No. 24 Nassau street. His cousin, the trustee in the present proceedings, was also a member of that firm, which settled up its accounts upon the death of Adolph. The subsequent troubles arose in part over the division of the assets of this firm. Clotilde Keller, one of the trustees, was the principal beneficiary under the will. Justice Davis said:

"It is impossible to determine from the affidavits submitted on this motion whether or not the charges against the trustee, Hugo F. Keller, are well founded. I do not assent to the proposition that one trustee can displace another trustee simply by suing him in behalf of the estate and then ask the court to remove him. But many charges of fraud, forgery and theft are made against Keller and each charge is emphatically denied under oath. If these charges can be sustained, the accused trustee should be removed and indicted. If they are not true, and he is not a trustee, his accounts should be removed, and it is now the duty of the court to have these charges investigated as soon as possible in the interest of the estate. A referee is ordered to take proofs of allegations in the affidavits.

CENTRAL HONORS ROSSITER

Officials to Act as Pallbearers at the Funeral To-day in Flushing.

The funeral of Edward Van Wyck Rossiter will take place this afternoon from St. George's Episcopal Church, Flushing. A special train will leave the Pennsylvania Station in Manhattan at 2 p. m. for Flushing, conveying many business men, including representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the New England Society, the Union League and Transportation clubs and directors and officials of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad.

The honorary pallbearers will be William B. Brown, president of the New York Central Railroad; William H. Newman, former president; Senator Chauncey M. Depew, chairman of the board of directors; Frederick W. Vanderbilt, John Carstensen, vice-president, and Alfred Skitt, all of the New York Central, and John W. Weed and James A. Macdonald, two personal friends.

The directors decided yesterday to have the general offices of the company closed at noon to-day to give the employes an opportunity to attend the funeral.

FIRST TO TEST BOAT

If Successful Leach Will Board Her and Go Over Horseshoe Falls.

(By Telegraph to The Tribune.) Niagara Falls, N. Y., Dec. 12.—"Bobby" Leach does not intend to go over the Horseshoe Falls of Niagara in the Mitchell lifeboat without testing its sailing qualities. For this reason he has planned to send the craft through the rapids and over the falls to-morrow afternoon, but he does not intend to be a passenger on this trip. If the boat comes out all right Leach will then consider going over in it himself. Of course, there is a possibility that even should the boat make a safe trip to-morrow it might meet with a mishap when he is aboard.

LAWYER PUT ON TRIAL

Client in Divorce Case Admits Her Affidavit Was False.

CHARGE IS CIVIL CONTEMPT

Proceeding Grows Out of Harden Case, in Which Eugene H. Burr Was Corespondent.

The trial of John Reilly, a lawyer of No. 25 Broadway, for perjury on a charge of willfully deceiving the court by a false affidavit, was begun yesterday before Justice Greenbaum, in the Supreme Court. The affidavit, in which Reilly is charged with a civil contempt, was submitted by Mrs. Leah Harden in the suit brought by her husband, James Harden, Jr., for a divorce, wherein Eugene H. Burr, of the firm of Burr Brothers, arrested by the federal authorities for alleged misuse of the mails, was the corespondent.

When the case came up for trial, about two weeks ago, Mrs. Harden, who was a client of Reilly, submitted to Justice Greenbaum an affidavit in which she said that Nannie Bradhurst, a negro maid who was to be an important witness for her, had gone to North Carolina, and on that account she would like an adjournment of the case. William Rand, Jr., counsel for Harden, brought out the fact that the maid had spent the night before in the home of Mrs. Harden, who, it was said, had tried to keep the girl away so that she might not be a witness for the husband.

Mrs. Harden admitted on the stand yesterday that she did not tell the truth in the affidavit that she submitted to the court. She said that Reilly had made the affidavit and that when she swore to it she did not know what it contained. She said that on the morning when the case was called she went to the office of her lawyer and that when she got there the document was already drawn up.

Rand, who is prosecuting the contempt case by the designation of Justice Greenbaum, asked Mrs. Harden yesterday if it was true that Reilly whispered to her, "Stick to your affidavit," as she was about to go on the stand in the case, and she called for trial. Mrs. Harden answered that her lawyer did so instruct her. She said that later she criticized him for making her do what was not right.

"I really don't know why I did it," said Mrs. Harden. Rand instructed Mrs. Harden that she need not answer questions if thereby she feared she would incriminate herself, but the woman seemed anxious to tell everything she knew about the case.

"I guess I must have done it to help him," she said, meaning Reilly. Douglas Leven, a lawyer who is associated with Reilly, testified that he, and not Reilly, dictated the affidavit signed by Mrs. Harden. He said that Reilly, who was busy, told him that Nannie Bradhurst was in North Carolina and that he did not want to go on with the case until she returned. Leven said he drew up the paper for Mrs. Harden to sign on the facts given him by Reilly.

Ethel Walters, a stenographer in Reilly's office, was called to the stand and contradicted Leven, saying that Reilly, and not he, dictated the affidavit. George Gordon Battle, who appeared as counsel for Reilly, argued that Justice Greenbaum lacked jurisdiction in the case, as the alleged contempt was not committed in the court. Justice Greenbaum reserved decision on this point. The case will go on to-day.

Reilly withdrew from the divorce case when it came to trial the day after Mrs. Harden submitted the false affidavit, and the latter did not defend the action, the jury giving a verdict for the husband.

WON'T EAT WITH ROOSEVELT

Baldwin Makes No Reply to New Haven Invitation.

New Haven, Dec. 12 (Special).—No response has been received by the officials of the New Haven Chamber of Commerce from the invitation which was sent to Governor-elect Baldwin to attend the annual banquet here to-morrow night. The Chamber officials have believed until to-day that Judge Baldwin would not ignore the courteous invitation which was sent him. No invitation ever sent by the chamber to any guest it wished to entertain has met such a reception.

Judge Baldwin's friends have asserted since the invitation was sent to him that he would not attend the banquet because he did not wish to sit at the table with Theodore Roosevelt, with whom he has a controversy because of the criticism of Judge Baldwin's law decisions made by the ex-President during the recent campaign.

Little credence is given by Judge Baldwin's friends to the rumor that he will serve papers here on Mr. Roosevelt in connection with the suit which Judge Baldwin says he will bring against the former President. While they do not explain the judge's silence over the invitation to the Chamber of Commerce, they point out that Mr. Roosevelt will come here as a guest, and that service of legal papers would be an act of gross discourtesy, compared with which ignoring the Chamber's invitation to a banquet at its annual banquet would pale into insignificance.

The judge's friends believe that it is his plan to send a letter to the officials of the Chamber after the banquet, giving an explanation for his non-attendance, but they think the most critical members of that body. Mr. Roosevelt will reach here to-morrow afternoon.

WOMAN DEAD; FIRE IN ROOM

Hotel Guest Insisted on Using Candles for Lighting.

Mrs. F. A. Hillard, seventy-six years old, a widow, was burned to death yesterday morning in her room in the Hotel Bristol, No. 122 West 49th street. The woman's death was due to her eccentricities, according to the hotel management. She set fire to her clothing in attempting to light a

CEMENT USERS IN CONVENTION

Many Delegates from Foreign Countries in Attendance.

The seventh annual convention of the National Association of Cement Users was held last night at the concert hall of Madison Square Garden, with an address of welcome by President McAnany, of the Borough of Manhattan, who represented Mayor Gaynor. The convention, which attracted delegates from all over the world, was held in connection with the cement show, which opens to-morrow night.

The opening of the show to-morrow evening revives the bitter code fight of two years ago between the terra cotta and the interests of New York City. The management of the cement show refused to permit the National Fireproofing Company to participate in this exhibition. After making strong efforts to obtain space at the show, President W. D. Henry, of the National Fireproofing Company, said the terra cotta interests would hold a similar exhibition of terra cotta products next year.

WANT TAMMANY UPTOWN

Members Start Talking of Getting Away from Old Site.

Artistic Gifts

Water Colors and Small Bronzes and Special Exhibition

Macbeth Gallery 450 Fifth Ave. (40th St.)

The fire has started again the talk of having Tammany move further uptown. Its headquarters have been in 14th street for forty-three years, and many of the leaders have thought that the organization has rather grown away from the district. Mr. Murphy has repeatedly said that the Tammany Society, which owns Tammany Hall, would never move to Fifth avenue, but there is much sentiment for a change to some site on the East Side not far from 59th street.

The Tammany Society has plenty of money, and could afford to put up a modern building on an expensive site. There is to be an examination of the old building to-day, and if it is found that the fire has so weakened the structure that a large amount of money would have to be expended in order to put it in shape again the society may decide to sell the property and move north.

The Tammany general committee has two meetings scheduled for this month, one on Saturday to select a man to recommend to the Mayor for appointment as Commandant of Elections, and the other on December 29 for reorganization for the coming year. A place for these meetings will be selected to-day.

B. Altman & Co.

HAVE IN THEIR DEPARTMENT FOR FURS AND FUR GARMENTS

SILVER FOX, RUSSIAN AND HUDSON BAY SABLES IN SETS OF MUFFS AND NECKPIECES. MATCHED SABLE AND SILVER FOX SKINS FOR THE MAKING OF GARMENTS AND OTHER FUR PIECES TO ORDER.

FUR GARMENTS IN FASHIONABLE STYLES OF FINE FURS SUCH AS RUSSIAN AND HUDSON BAY SABLES, CHINCHILLA, ERMINE, EASTERN MINK, BROADTAIL AND SEALSKIN.

ALSO FUR GARMENTS AND NECKPIECES IN LARGE VARIETIES OF THE DIFFERENT FURS AT POPULAR PRICES.

MOTOR FURS, MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S FURS.

Fifth Avenue, 34th and 35th Streets, New York.

FURNITURE SUGGESTIONS

FOR HOLIDAY GIFTS

- Card Tables, Desks, Book Racks, Night Tables, Cheval Mirrors, Magazine Stands, Servers, Tea Trays, Chairs, Gout Stools, Nest Tables, Linen Chests, Music Cabinets, Sewing Tables

English Tea Wagon

Beautiful and Artistic Remembrances From $7.50 to $50.00

Write for Pamphlet

TIFFANY STUDIOS

Madison Avenue and Forty-fifth St.

Green Trading Stamps With All Cash Purchases

Double Stamps Before Noon. Single Stamps After Noon.

Dry Goods Greenhut & Co. Wearing Apparel

Extra Green Trading Stamps Free To-day

Special Sale To-day

Double Width

French All-Silk Marquiseite

at 58c. yd.

One of the most fashionable imported materials of the season, which promises to be very popular for Spring and Summer wear. Every desirable street and evening shade, as well as black. Tuesday at the extraordinary low price, yd. 58c. Main Floor.

Greenhut & Co., Sixth Avenue, 18th to 19th St.

McGibbon & Co. HANDKERCHIEFS

Ladies' and Gentlemen's Handkerchiefs, in splendid assortment of beautiful designs and qualities, tastefully arranged in pretty boxes.

Lace Centre Pieces and Luncheon Sets

A large variety of Lace Scarfs, Doyleys, Centre Pieces, Tea Cloths and Luncheon sets at moderate prices.

Centre Pieces 24-inch 3.00 to 25.00 28-inch 4.50 to 50.00 36-inch 6.00 to 75.00 Lace sets, 25 pieces, 15.00 to 115.00 BROADWAY & 19TH STREET