

SUN YAT-SEN CONFERS WITH WU TING-FANG

Revolutionary Leaders Meet at Shanghai and Discuss Prospects for Republic.

U. S. WARSHIPS ON THE SPOT

Opinion of Powers Gradually Becoming Reconciled to Native Sentiment Against Continuation of Monarchy.

Shanghai, Dec. 25.—Dr. Sun Yat-sen, one of the leading promoters of the revolution and a possible first president of the first republic, boarded a launch soon after his arrival here this morning and was escorted down the river by two warships. After landing he proceeded by automobile to the residence of Wu Ting-fang, the Foreign Secretary in the revolutionary provisional cabinet, to discuss the situation.

So far as is known no reply has yet been made from Yuan Shih-kai, the Imperial Premier, with regard to the establishment of a republic as insisted upon by the revolutionaries.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen is quartered in a large modern residence in the French concession. He said to-day that he preferred to make no statement until he had reviewed the entire situation. His conference with Wu Ting-fang and other leaders shows that he is evidently commanding the greatest respect and attention.

The entire movement was united, and that there would be no serious differences. It is quite evident that the revolutionaries are preparing for the constructive work of government, and are not counting on Yuan Shih-kai. They are even disregarding Peking, which they confidently assert they can take at leisure.

It has been definitely decided that Nanking shall be the future capital. Even after the abdication of the Emperor and the reorganization of the new government the leaders assert positively that Peking will not be considered.

In the minds of the revolutionists the movement has been entirely successful. One of the highest authorities said to-day:

"Fourteen provinces have absolutely declared for a republic. We control twelve divisions of the army; two more are coming. We hold the entire navy. Two provinces remain imperial and two are neutral. There is no government in Peking. Premier Yuan is its only representative, except the infant Emperor."

"The sooner the powers recognize the real situation, instead of clinging to harmful and intangible sentiment, the sooner will order be secured in China. Hesitation to recognize the republican cause will certainly prolong the stagnation of trade and will be responsible for much bloodshed should fighting begin again."

London, Dec. 25.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that the revolutionaries are incensed at the imperialists for the capture of Tai Yuan-fu, in Shan Si province, and have protested to Tang Shao-yi, the representative of Yuan Shih-kai at the peace conference, against the continued breach of the armistice. They have demanded an indemnity, the withdrawal of the troops and the punishment of the officers upon whom the responsibility rests.

The revolutionary leaders insist that unless Premier Yuan replies at once to the demands of the conference they will elect Dr. Sun Yat-sen President, along with the Cabinet which has already been formed. Tang Shao-yi explained that the imperialists had occupied Tai Yuan-fu only after the revolutionists had deserted the town. He forwarded the demands, however, to Peking.

Washington, Dec. 25.—The arrival at Shanghai yesterday of four more warships of the United States Asiatic fleet made it appear that the United States is keeping a close watch on the situation there.

With the arrival of the cruisers New Orleans, Cincinnati and Albany and the torpedo boat destroyer Dale, the total of American naval vessels in the waters around Shanghai is raised to eleven. The other vessels are the torpedo boat destroyers Decatur and Bainbridge, the colliers Abasco and Nanshan, the armored cruiser Saratoga, the naval transport Rainbow and the tender Pompey.

Tokio, Dec. 25.—A conference of members of the Japanese Cabinet, at which many of the Elder Statesmen, including Prince Katsuma, the ex-premier, were invited to assist, was held here on Sunday. The strictest secrecy has been maintained regarding the subject of the discussions at the conference, but it is generally believed that the latest developments of the situation in China were taken into serious consideration. It is understood that the conference reached the conclusion that the adoption of a republican form of government by China was apparently inevitable.

Information from a reliable source has reached here that the revolutionaries in China continue to insist firmly on a republic and that the peace negotiations now proceeding at Shanghai will result in a rupture unless the imperial authorities in Peking yield to their demands in this respect.

Most of the powers are apparently reconciled to the inevitable tendency thus outlined. Neither Japan nor Great Britain has any intention whatever of intervening in China, and the United States, while it has no form of government on that country, is generally believed that the latest developments of the situation in China were taken into serious consideration. It is understood that the conference reached the conclusion that the adoption of a republican form of government by China was apparently inevitable.

The general feeling here is that the only alternative for the present situation is for the representatives of the imperial government in Peking to yield.

Annoy, Dec. 25.—The United States monitor Monterey, which has just completed a cruise to the treaty port of Swatow, on the estuary of the Han River, in the province of Kwang Tung, returned here this morning.

Practical depredations along the West River have brought about an entire suspension of river traffic above the city of Chang Chow.

WANTS HAYWOOD EXPELLED

Socialist Thinks He Should Be Ousted for "Direct Action" Speech.

Denver, Dec. 25.—W. H. Leonard, a Socialist leader of Denver, stated to-day that at a meeting Tuesday of a local branch of the Socialist party resolutions will be introduced calling for the expulsion of William D. Haywood, former secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, who in a recent speech is reported to have advocated "direct action" in obtaining their rights for labor organizations.

Mr. Leonard stated that if the ward organization fails to act a city-wide meeting will be called for Wednesday night to act on a proposition to submit the matter of expulsion to a referendum of the party throughout the country.

KAISER'S SON COMING HERE.

London, Dec. 25.—"The Daily Mail" says it has been decided that Prince Akihito, third son of the German Emperor, shall go abroad on the protected cruiser Bremen, the German Atlantic steamer, in July. He is to visit New York, Boston and San Francisco.

HELPS "DOWN AND OUTERS"

Bowery Mission Feeds 12,000 Men, a Larger Crowd than Usual

It was an "eating Christmas" for every one of the twelve hundred guests who went to the Bowery Mission, No. 27 Bowery, last night. Every one of them got one turkey sandwich, four crullers, one-half of a pie, two apples and two hours of rest and comfort from the streets.

The Bowery Mission has done the same thing every year since it was founded, but the gathering last night was a little larger than ever before. Hours before the doors were opened, at 7 o'clock in the evening, the "down and outers," as they are known on the Bowery, began to assemble, and by 7 o'clock the line stretched for blocks.

As the men filed through the basement they were handed a tin cup of coffee and a box containing the food, and went into the streets to eat, allowing the rest to get in.

Eight hundred men were taken care of in this way, and four hundred who had membership cards of the Bowery Mission Brotherhood were admitted to the hall, to hear "down and outers" who were put on their feet by their association with the Bowery Mission. There were songs, too, and prayers, and kindly little talks.

STEAL AUTO; WRECK IT

Husband's Gift to Wife Disappears—Two Men Arrested.

A large automobile, which Julian Van Gelder, of No. 311 Ritter place, at Christmas had just given to his wife as a Christmas present, was stolen late yesterday afternoon from in front of No. 1235 Boston road and was found two hours later at 120th street and Boston road, where it had been driven against a telegraph pole and wrecked.

Two men who were arrested later were identified by Mrs. Van Gelder as men who had been loitering about the machine. They described themselves as Charles Wilson, of No. 310 Cedar avenue, and Edward Hunter, of No. 1235 Union avenue. They were locked up in the Morrisania station, charged with grand larceny and malicious mischief.

Mr. Van Gelder and his wife were taking their first ride in the automobile, and stopped at the home of Mr. Van Gelder's mother, at the Boston road address. Mrs. Van Gelder, who was seated near a front window, saw two men saunter past the automobile several times. She and her husband were about to leave the house, when she looked out of the front window and discovered that the automobile had disappeared. They hailed a passing taxicab and hurried to the Morrisania station house. Detectives who went with them in the taxicab soon found the wrecked machine and towed it to a garage. Mr. Van Gelder estimated the damage at $1,000.

Wilson and Hunter declared that they had no knowledge of the theft.

CATAPULTED OUT OF AUTO

Machine and Surface Car Crash in Race for Crossing.

William Meyer, twenty-four years old, of No. 727 Madison street, Brooklyn, was hurled out of an automobile which was driving and landed twenty feet away early yesterday morning when his machine struck by a streetcar near Sunnyside and Madison street. All the windows in the car were broken by the collision, and the car was broken up as a result of being pinned between the motor box and the door of the car.

Meyer was driving a car belonging to his brother, Robert Meyer, of No. 125 Patchen avenue. He tried to cross the street ahead of the streetcar, but the motorman had speeded his car to cross ahead of him, and the car struck the machine broadside on. The automobile was wrecked.

Richeson Eats Jail Fare

Parishioners Fail to Send Christmas Meal to Minister.

Boston, Dec. 25.—The chiming of neighboring church bells, ringing out their glad messages of Yuletide, penetrated the walls of the Suffolk County jail to-day as they were heard by the Rev. Clarence W. T. Richeson as he rested on the little cot in his cell, convalescing from self-inflicted wounds of last Wednesday. The clergyman, accused of the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, was not forgotten by friends. Flowers, some beginning to fade, decked the cell. A few presents and delicacies had been received. Richeson's Christmas repast, however, was of the prison order. It was said. Although it had been understood that some of the clergyman's former parishioners would provide the holiday meal, persons who called at the jail were informed that he had about the same food as did the other prisoners. Richeson has so far recovered that his liquid diet has been changed to one of solid food.

During the forenoon Dr. Lothrop visited the clergyman. Upon leaving the jail the physician reported that his patient was making a good recovery and before the end of this week would be practically well. Ex-Senator William A. Morse called on his client during the day and had a short conversation with him.

Counsel for Richeson still refused to comment on the case. There have been persistent rumors of a postponement of the trial owing to Richeson's physical and mental condition, but verification of these reports has been impossible.

MYSTERY IN MAN KILLING

Victim Stops Bullet and Falls to Sidewalk Without a Word.

Munzie Schlabe, twenty-one years old, of No. 45 Carroll street, Brooklyn, was shot and killed last night by an unknown person as he was on his way to spend the evening with some friends. He was walking along Carroll street, near Columbia, with a companion, Ulysses S. Lichian, when some one fired a revolver from a doorway. Schlabe pressed his hands to his head and dropped to the street without a word. He was dead when Dr. Dwyersky, of the Long Island College Hospital, arrived.

The police have not been able to find any one who could shed any light on the shooting, though Lichian is held as a material witness at the Hamilton avenue station. The neighborhood where the shooting occurred is largely inhabited by Italians, and several similar shootings have taken place there.

TWINS CELEBRATE AT 93

Four Generations Represented at Birthday Gathering in Babylon, L. I.

Samuel Munsey and his twin brother, William, celebrated their ninety-third birthday yesterday in their home at Babylon, Long Island. Four generations were present at the gathering, and scores of friends called at the house during the day to extend greetings.

The twins took their guests how they attained longevity. "Don't drink and don't smoke, don't overeat and don't worry. Work a little, play a little and try to make others happy" was their advice.

YOUTH STABBED IN HEAD.

Harry Clark, twenty-four years old, of No. 15 Warren street, is in the Newark City Hospital with several stab wounds in head, and the police are looking for James O'Donnell, of No. 11 Hartford street, who, it is charged, did the stabbings.

GRAFT ATTEMPT DENIED

for successfully handling a situation such as had arisen.

When we then met later you asked Mr. Henneberry whether he would serve on the committee and help you out to which he agreed. Mr. Henneberry said that the thing to do was to call the executive committee together, place the situation before them and let them decide. Mr. Henneberry then said that the President could be gotten to attend, if so, that of course Mr. Carnegie and all the rest would be glad to do their part. Otherwise, Mr. Henneberry advised against attempting to hold the dinner, as the facts behind Mr. Taft's absence would leak out, and one by one the committee would back out and it would be a failure, but that, properly explained to the President, he would come because of his great interest in the matter.

The next time I saw you, you asked me whether I would go to Washington with you and see the President. I said I would if you wished, but that Colonel John T. Moore knew the President far better than I did, and with his persuasive eloquence could surely secure his appearance. You made an appointment with Mr. Henneberry and me at the former's office on the 22d, which you did not keep. The next I heard from you was by "phone," when you told me that Colonel Graves had seen Secretary Knox and secured the President's promise to attend that Mr. Carnegie had gone what he could to prevent it, but, as the President told him, he was coming anyhow, had picked up in and out of it, and that Mr. Short was working with you enthusiastically, as he followed his head and but, and even wanted headquarters removed to the Press Club.

Whether the slight to my friends is Mr. Short's assurance of your cordialness, I feel that fairness requires this plain narrative of the facts, in order that those to whom I unfortunately mentioned the matter may see the basis I had therefor.

"But enough said," the letter ends. "I'll stick to engineering from now on, and if ever another occasion arises to help save a great function I'll reply 'Never again' unless the applicant for my services be a man who makes his word of value and conforms to the courtesies of good usage in civilized society."

"I understood that the applications in hand insure the success of the dinner, which I trust will satisfactorily help one of the world's greatest measures. Concurrently with this goes my resignation to the Peace Society."

"Of course, this letter is written without the knowledge or consultation of Mr. Crosby or Mr. Henneberry."

Mr. Muschenheim, at the Astor, yesterday refused to make any comment on the reason why the place of holding the dinner had been changed from the Astor to the Waldorf, although it was understood that the reason was because he had refused to have anything further to do with the dinner. At the rooms of the executive committee of the dinner it was stated last night that Mr. Muschenheim never refused to serve the dinner. He wanted, it was said, a guarantee in regard to the number of plates that should be taken, which the committee was unable to make.

As a result of this business detail, it was said, the dinner was changed to the Waldorf, where conditions more to the taste of the committee could be obtained. In explaining the manner of payment for the dinner it was stated that the price a plate was to be to the diners $10. In order to meet necessary expenses a rebate from this price of $2 was obtained, and when it was found that this would not meet the needs Mr. Towne was sent to make arrangements for the additional $150 a plate rebate. These facts, it was said, were all made clear to those engaging plates for the dinner.

The banquet arrangements are progressing smoothly and rapidly, an officer of the committee said last night. "Over $1,000 was taken in to-day and reservations of seats are being made with great enthusiasm. To-day over one thousand people expected have signed up, and we expect the capacity of the hotel, which is seventeen hundred, to be taxed."

"Every member, every committee, every speaker and the special guests have seats, which are paid for at the regular price of $10 each. Some of these are paid for by private subscription, and others pay individually. Senator Charles A. Towne, one of the speakers, has paid into the treasury $150 for sixteen guests. John Temple Graves pays for his dinner and those of his invited guests."

It was stated that Senator Towne was no relative of Edward Owens Towne, as asserted in Mr. Granger's letter. It was also said that the executive committee expected that when accounts came to be checked up there would be a deficit.

"But this contingency is already provided for," a member of the committee said. "J. Pierpont Morgan said when the subject of the dinner was first broached that he would stand behind it with thousands if necessary."

New exhibits are made in all parts of the Two Great Buildings, presenting in many quarters an entire change of merchandise shown for the first time today, including three important shipments of

New Cottons New Parasols New Millinery

Those who have travelled and have given careful thought to the subject know that nowhere in the world is there gathered in one store a collection of manufactured goods so representative of the world's best markets as that assembled every day in the year in

These Great Houses of Merchandise

To instance a few of the unique features of the business:

The sixteen Rue de la Paix Shops in the women's building, in which are shown fine French underclothes and blouses.

The Artistic Piano Salons with their fine exhibits of the world's great pianos. The largest collection to be seen in any store.

The Marcelle Demay Paris Salons for exclusive millinery and gowns, now showing new hats created for the season at St. Moritz, Biarritz, and approaching Riviera season.

The Art Gallery, and its collection of paintings from the Paris Salons since 1896.

The House Palatial—a $250,000 two-story mansion built into the store, as a house setting for fine furniture, rugs and art goods, superbly arranged.

The Spacious Restaurant and Tea Room, for the convenience of shoppers who are in the store at lunch time.

The Furnished Rooms—a series of more than twenty practical suggestions for the fitting up of houses at a moderate price.

The Bridge of Progress—a two story bridge over Ninth Street, connecting the old A. T. Stewart building, which is now the women's store, with the new Wanamaker building, its men's store and its great stocks of furnishings of every sort for the home.

The Wanamaker Auditorium with mural paintings by Frieseke, and the great pipe organ.

The London Book Shop—for rare editions and unusual books in fine bindings.

The Land of Spring

The Wanamaker Exposition of Spring Dress Cottons

Banished is every thought of winter. Forgotten are mysterious packages. Left behind are perplexities and long shopping days, confusion and vexations. Instead are peace and quiet and charm: The transition from Christmas to Spring is effected in a night.

Mother Nature may be content to start her spring painting in March. The Wanamaker Store presents to-day—

Cottons—the Court Costume of Spring

Not the poppies and bluets that form enchanting color schemes in every field of golden grain in southern France. Not the splendor of the Holland crocus fields. Not the sweetness of marguerites and pink geraniums which bloom all over England in the Spring.

This Wanamaker Spring Cotton Exposition provides wherewithal for the clothes one wears among the flowers.

It is the first showing of all the novelties which make cotton tissues the wonder of the artistic world.

The first showing of imported novelties which can be seen in America only in the Wanamaker Store.

Novelties of which many have been woven to our order from sketches or from our own suggestions.

ODD FELLOWS HALL BURNS

Historic Building in Hoboken Destroyed—Loss, $50,000.

Old Fellows Hall, Hoboken, was destroyed by fire yesterday morning.

The flames threatened to sweep through the entire block, and three alarms were sounded. The firemen fought for three hours before they had subdued the blaze. The damage is estimated at $50,000.

The building had a frontage of fifty feet in Washington street, between 4th and 5th streets, and ran through the block to Bloomfield street. It was built by the Odd Fellows lodges in 1853 and was the only hall in the city suitable for social gatherings and entertainments for many years.

A Jewish literary society occupied the hall Sunday night. Richard Hagen, the lessee, made his customary tour of the building after the crowd had gone, and everything seemed all right. It is supposed the stub of a cigar or cigarette caused the mischievous.
